

PARKLAND POST 228 AMERICAN LEGION Meetings every second and fourth Friday at 8:00 p.m. in the Sunshine Hall

The carnival spirit will reign, in a modified degree of course, when the May Day festival goes into full swing next Saturday afternoon and evening. The Post and the Auxiliary are looking for a record turnout at this event, which is destined to become an annual affair. Lots of prizes and favors are being rounded up to add to the zest of the day. The articles that the ladies have manufactured in their "spare time" the past few months will go on sale and from the looks of the lineup there is something for everyone from baby to Grandpa and Grandma. Everything has that professional look about it. The ladies are to be congratulated on their fine work. We hope that everyone in Parkland will take us up on our invitation to come, look, and enjoy themselves.

Bring as friend with you when you come. Even if you don't find anything you want to buy, at least come down and get acquainted.

All of this good spirit and fur as enumerated above will take place right on Garfield street in the vacant store next to Jensen's barber shop.

We may be a little late in this, but we would like to convey the best wishes of the Post to member Tommy Lumsden and his partner, Frank Boers, in their recent opening of the Donut Bar. By the way, that sign you see in the church. Mrs. K. A. 'Kapa-a' in Hawaii, Sugar in America; Still Just As Sweet It's "Kapa-a" in Hawaii, but it' just plain "sugar" in America.

But whether it's called "kapa-a" or sugar," the colored film to be shown at the Parkland Business Club meeting will be just as interesting. The movie is a traveiogue of the Islands and will show everything from surf bathing to the sugar refining industries.

The film is sponsored by the C and H Sugar Refinery and one of their representatives will be present at the meeting.

Time, place and date of the meeting is 7:30 p.m., May 4, in the Indian Inn. As the meeting is the first in the fiscal year for the club, the yearly dues become payable, said Neal Thomas, president of he club.

He also extended an invitation to any business man or woman in this vicinity who is not now a member of the club and would like to join, to contact any member of the club in regards to be coming a member.

Metropolis Adding a metropolitan touch Garfield street in Parkland is the new neon sign for Johnson's Drug Store, which will soon open in Parkland Centre. The drug store will be owned and operated by Bill Johnson of Parkland.

It Was Free

On their opening day two weeks ago, the Donut Bar in Parkland gave away 400 dozen donuts and 60 pounds of coffee for the free coffee it served. That's a lot of donuts and coffee.

Clean-up Committee

Garfield street looks a bit cleaner since the Parkland volunteer fire department washed it down last Wednesday. However, only three of the business men with stores on that street came out to help them. We need co-operation from everyone if he street is to be kept clean.

Another New Look

Another store in Parkland has that new look. Johnson and Anderson's Red & White Store on the Mountain Highway has been remodeled for self-service. The remodeling includes new shelves and a complete paint job.

Popularity Rising Mrs. Flora I. Behmer of Parkland, author of "The Dear Old State of Washington," is achieving statewide recognition.

Mrs. Behmer recently took several copies of her song to Olympia and seems to have gotten some good results.

Last week she received a letter from Governor Mon C. Wallgren 7 up. Cliff Olson, second place, as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Behmer:

"I have received the copy of your song, "The Dear Old State 6 up. Frank Gratias, second place, of Washington," and I like it. Please accept my thanks for it and my best wishes for your continued good health and well being.

"Mon C. Wallgren." Mrs. Behmer was also informed FESTIVAL POSTPONED by Dick Frye of the United Press.

COMMITTEE GOING AHEAD WITH PLANS FOR WAR MEMORIAL PLAQUE

The names of nine veterans have been listed so far as those which will be placed on the bronze plaque of the Parkland War Memorial honoring those who gave their lives in World War II.

They are Vernon F. Becker Robert J. Benson, George Church Galbraith, Robert E. Hutchins, Rodger W. Lunde, Laverne O. Nelson, Lloyd Jensen, Richard Warren Selden and Lester Skanse.

The committee arranging the list consists of Mel Pedersen and Ross Cory, Parkland Community Club; Eddie Dickson and Kenneth Haves, Parkland Amvets; Severn Kittleson and James St. John, Parkland Post of American Legion, Herbert Gullberg, Parkland V.F.W., and Morris E. Ford, Community Club and American Le-

The group has asked that any person in this vicinity who knows of any other serviceman who died in World War II and was an actual resident of this district, con tact the Prairie Pointer.

The committee is contacting several metal works shops to price the cost of the plaque.

tional $500 will be needed for the installation cost after the fence is put up. Then tennis courts are expected to be ready for use within two weeks. As the drive surges on, a houseto-house campaign headed by Mrs. Robert Haner, Mrs. Tom Fleming and Miss Mable Seamon, has been started. "We want to see every house," or even every member of a house, buy a button," said Herb Socolofsky, head of the general War Memorial committee.

Colorful Sign

The sign which depicts the progress of the War Memorial drive was painted and donated by the Goodrich Sign Co. It shows a pitcher of gold being poured into a bowl with a graduated scale on the side.

Watch the sign for further progress of the drive. Button sales have been very encouraging, according to Walt Young, chairman of the sales. Here are a few incidents he cites to substantiate this statement: Mayor C. Val Fawcett and H. S. McIlvaigh, secretary of the Tacoma Central Labor Council, are among the persons wearing the buttons. Bob Haner and Walt

Young were the salesmen. Good Salesman

Jack Cimino took ten buttons to sell along automobile row in South Tacoma. He came back in a very short time with the $10 for the buttons and took ten more to sell. One man wrote out a check for $25 without ever being asked to contribute. "A true giver," says Young.

As business men have been asked to sell buttons to all salesmen stopping in Parkland, Young approached Lyle Kriedler of the Tacoma Tent and Awning Co. with this in mind. Kriedler bought a button, but protested, "I was just passing through.' Incidently, the Tacoma Tent and Awning Co. sold the street sign which stretches across Garfield street from the Parkland post office to the Gratias building, at a greatly reduced price to the Community Club.

Support Your Civic Club

The first two weeks in every month seem to be the weeks set aside for civic club meetings in many of the surrounding communities.

Scheduled for May 4 are the meetings of the Parkland Business Club, the Spanaway Progressive Community Club and the Midland Improvement Club. May 13 is the date of the Parkland Community Club, while May 12 is the date set for the Harvard Improvement Club.

These groups have one common purpose—that is to improve the community which they represent. They can't do it without your help.

Attend the meeting of the civic organizations in your community this month and support their projects. Active interest is needed to keep these worthwhile organizations alive.

Give the Kids a Chance

Every parent whose child rides a bike should be grateful for the county-wide safety tests which are being sponsored by the Washington State Patrol.

Not only is the child's bicycle checked to see that it is in proper running order to be safe for the child to ride, but it also teaches him something of the traffic rules to be followed, and more skillful use of the bike.

Take a look at the statistics on bicycle accidents recently totaled by traffic authorities. More than 25,000 bicyclistsmost of them children—were killed or injured in street and highway accidents last year.

Ever since the coming of automobiles, bicycles have been tolerated somewhat grudgingly as hybrids in the vehicle family -neither pedestrian or motor vehicle-and were unaccepted by both.

Where there are no proper regulations for their operation, cyclists ride to the right, to the left, through red lights, in and out between moving cars, and sometimes even travel afoot beside their bikes in crowded traffic.

This condition is hair-raisingly dangerous. It is unfair to cyclists, motorists and pedestrians alike; for accidents are often caused by cyclists even though the bicycle itself may not be hit in the crash.

The community should be grateful for the county safety test which was held at the Parkland school Saturday and should welcome any other constructive program which provides for the enforcement of traffic regulations, licensing and inspection. These programs give the kids a chance.
