Petitions requesting that an "L" shaped area between South 96th and South 99th along Pacific Avenue be considered for annexation to the City of Tacoma are being checked by the Tacoma Public Works Department.

They are being reviewed for validity and correct legal descriptions of the property involved, Associate City Planner Jack Creighton said. If such an annexation is found to be contiguous with the city, Creighton stated the matter will be submitted to the Planning Commission for recomRowley Leaves Rodeo Gate On Goodwill Poultry Trip PUYALLUP - A leader in Washington poultry industry

Despite record crowds, Business Club officials were pessimistic about record profits. The $1000 added purse paid cowboys as prize money was cited as one reason profits might be slim. However, club treasurer Irene Clemmons said she thought when all bills were paid, there would still be money for Gonyea Field.

Other groups found Roundup week more profitable. Parkland Lions president Dale Collison reported over 450 people ate cowboy breakfast, and he expected the Lions grossed over $350. The Jaycees

"We hope to have this building completed by the end of the year," said Mr. Harper. "Much depends upon the availability of money, so our plans are necessarily flexible. Nevertheless, we contemplate more than ten years of construction and a total of fore ultimate completion." The Observatory is located approximately 20 miles southeast of Tacoma, on the Pole Line Road, about one mile south of the Roy-ChristyRoad intersection. The youngsters are enrolled in the Metropolitan Park recreation program for mentally retarded and physically handicapped children. They normally participate in activities designed for them at the South Park Community Center. "Uncle Rupe" Rhinehart and his assistant Rick Over direct the program with the help of a large staff of volunteers.

The pony party idea originated when Rhinehart spotted 5 Shetlands in a field on the way home from work. Knowing that most of the children had never ridden a pony, he contacted the Wood's to see if one or two of the Shetlands could be taken to the South Park Center. Official Newspaper, City of Puyallup, Washington by John VanDevanter Untried political hopefuls, who stayed away from the primary filings like the clerks had scarlet fever, may have passed up one of the great years for fledgling vote getters. The dull campaign atmosphere, which will have most observers asleep by mid-August and voters planning election day funerals for excitement, is just the kind of stagnant air which breeds a good upset.

In a "good" year, with clear issues and images, the incumbent and the veteran opposition already would be hammering the hay out of one another and the newcomer would be lucky if he didn't get his fingers stepped on. With a limited budget, he couldn't compete with the flood of advertising which supported the leading protagonists and his voice would be lost on the storm.

son - to - person campaign would have to reach something like 6,000 in the primary and 12,000 in the general. This year it would only have to cover about 3,800 in the primary and 7,500 in the general. The proportions may not be significant, but the point is clear -- fewer people need be won over and in the absence of any other excitement, it will be easier to get their attention.

Coffee hours, doorbelling, receptions, "rooter" busses, postcard campaigns and dozens of other methods are available for this type of crusade. One of the most effective, particularly in newlyarranged districts, is the registration team. The candidate organizes a team of voting registrars which goes through the district, precinct by precinct, adding voters to the books where it will do the most good. There is another advantage in working on reluctant, inactive or marginal voters. If he CAN get them out to vote, they are apt to be committed to him personally at the polls. If he CAN'T get them out ... well, they won't vote AGAINSThim.

If the name of A. L. (Slim) Rasmussen is removed from the primary ballot as the result of current court action, it will be a loss to the voters of the 29th District and the state. The loss is not necessarily of Slim himself. The incumbent 28th District senator may not be worth the powder to blow him back into his old district. But the operation of the vested political and judicial power to deprive the electorate of its prerogative is a great loss indeed.

There are plenty of good reasons why a person might be disqualified as a candidate for office and there are a number of statutory and constitutional provisions protecting us from such invasions. But when the interpretations of these laws are designed to exclude candidacies for other reasons that the protection of the election procedure, they are party to an injustice — not only to the candidate, but to the voters.

To plough once again through the manipulations which have been used to get rid of Slim Rasmussen may be a bore. But the latest move revolves around a clear constitutional question, the spirit of which is being circumvented for the expediency of shutting out Slim.

Rasmussen, you may recall, was scalped into a hostile Republican district in the reapportionment and, although a holdover in the Senate from the 28th, decided to move back among his constituents and stand for election in the 29th this fall.

But a legislative pay increase, which Rasmussen had voted AGAINST, is being used in an attempt to remove him from the ballot.

The constitution prohibits a lawmaker from running for an office, the pay for which has been increased, until AFTER the expiration of the term he held when the vote was taken. To avoid such a conflict, the pay raise bill was worded to make the increases effective "at the earliest time allowable by the State Constitution." But Rasmussen's After a few successful camfoes are contending that it is allowable January 1 and paigns, veterans tend to lose contact with the type of camtherefore Slim is NOT allowable in September. paigning which got them start-The constitutional provision is a standard one. It is ed. They lose some of the designed to prevent a lawmaker's using his legislative posibright - eyed support that tion to improve his financial position iwthout submitting his-action for voter approval. It is NOT designed to restrict the candidacy of otherwise qualified politicians. But a lawsuit has been filed to keep Rasmussen's name off the ballot on these constitutional grounds. Now, Rasmussen did VOTE for the pay increase passed by his fellow lawmakers. And he has signaled his intention of taking the new position (if successful) at the old salary anyway. So the operation of the constitutional So the old pro may have his lawn mowed, his rockery provision is unnecessary to protect the people .Further, weeded and the leaves raked, the lawmakers specifically stated that increases would be but that isn't proof against the effective when constitutionally permissible. But this year's storm is more like a muffled snore and a well-organized and energetic newcomer might carry the day without either name familiarity or issues.

The best hope for an underfinanced and unknown newcomer ANY time is to appeal to voters one or two at a time on a person-to-person basis. In a year of heavy balloting it is harder to cover them all and harder to get their attention. A deadly dull campaign season is ideal.

A business that's up in the air . . . that's the story at TAHOMA FLYING SERVICE in Spanaway. Not only is the business up in the air but so is the whole family ... Boss man, Slim Lawson, Boss woman Jeanie, and all the little high flying Lawsons . . . Take for instance son Gary, 16 years old and already soloed, in fact, 1 minute after midnight on his 16th birthday he took his solo ride. The 2 remaining Lawsons, Linda 19, and Juanita 17, have both soloed also.

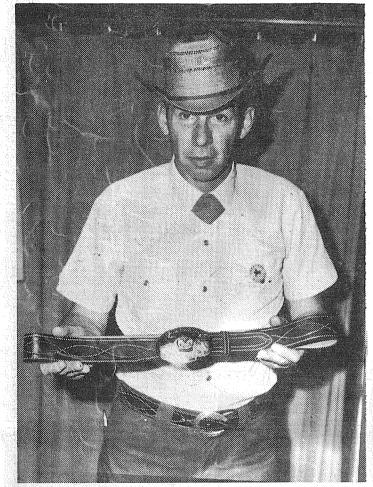

The Lawsons first lowered their flaps in Spanaway in 1957. They started with two 1946 Champs, one Cessna 140, a 170 and a Stinson. In the past 9 years they have acquired the dealership for Cessna aircraft, offer maintenance, private, commercial, and instrument instruction through their Approved School.

You'll find that learning to fly with an approved school will lower the required number of flying hours to obtain your private license.

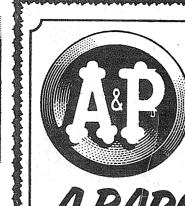

Owning and operating an airport is a 24 hour, 7 days a week job. Yet the Lawsons do find a little time to sneak away on a flight. Their favorite hobby at one time was airport hopping. Pack a picnic lunch and explore the country side for strange airports . . . it all sounds like fun doesn't it . . . just ask the Lawsons . . .

OLYMPIA - The Board of Natural Resources has approved an exchange of Tacoma owned land in King County for other lands in Eagle Gorge adjacent to its own reservoir. State Land Commissioner Bert L. Cole announced that the 279 acres of state land is located in Eagle Gorge. The 280 acres of the City of Tacoma's land is in two parcels, in King County. It includes 3,600 feet of river frontage on the North Fork of the of the state lands in these Snoqualmie River and a series of ponds through which small streams flow, creating a potential for recreational development. The exchange will enable the state to consolidate its land

59 To Enter Dog Show

The 4-H dog project is one of the gastest growing in Pierce County with 59 members preparing to take their dogs to the Pierce County Junior Fair.

To learn more about judging and showing, they have had the opportunity to show at several 4-H Community Fairs. Winners of the Valley 4-H Community Fair were Misty, Pam and Tammy, Misty, owned and shown by Janis Atlee of Parkland won champion in fitting and showing and a reserve in obedience. Pam owned and shown by Becky Shinpaugh of Summit won champion in obedience and a reserve in fitting and showing. Tammy owned and shown by Judy Hanson of Summit won a champion in fitting and showing, senior and champion in obedience senior. These dogs will compete again at the fair in fitting and showing, novice Y, novice, open Y, and advanced obedience.

Judging will begin at 10 a.m. Thursday and Friday, August 11 and 12. The dogs will be on exhibit to the public from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. each WIDE, ROOMY AISLES are evident in Larry and Margie O'Neil's brand new Kapowsin Korner market. The large, 2400 square feet of shopping space was completed about 2 months ago by contractor George Henley of Eatonville. The O'Neils are both from the Eatonville area and have lived in Kapowsin for 3 years. They are holding their Grand Opening this Friday and Saturday and have gone "all out" with prizes and bargains in every department.

Circus Moving In On Sumner Thursday P.M. SUMNER - The big top is moving in on Sumner Thursday afternoon and by 2:30 Friday, 100 boys and girls strong from Wenatchee will be ready to thrill Pierce County Fair goers with acts from fire eating to high wire.

All the thrills of the circus except for animals will be brought to fair patrons in an hour and forty-five minutes of fast moving entertainment. A band of Wenatchee youth will provide background music for the four circus performances along with the traditional circus calliope. Jeff Hedder, 14-year-old son of former Sumnerites, the Chuck Hedders, will be playing in the band as a coronetist. He was a musician in Sumner junior high.

The youngsters, ranging in age from five to teens will be eating and sleeping on the fairgrounds, as well as performing twice daily Friday and Saturday in the Spartan stadium. The greatest little show on earth, the Wenatchee Youth Circus will perform Friday and Saturday 2:30 and 7:30, Spartan Field Sumner, Admission to fair grounds free.

I'm surprised you even ASK what I'm doing, Officer. I was the most jubilant at the Jubilee and the most wound. up at the Round-Up. So, at the Junior Fair there shouldn't be anybody more juvenile. You wanted maybe to run me in for curfew violation?

The sack? At 5 a.m. you are going to see Rotarians carrying hammers, Kiwanians carrying saws and the Jaycees carrying crescent wrenches. What is so unnerving about finding me at 3 a.m. with a gunny sack? Am I to be castigated for lack of a secret handshake or a lapel pin?

What is IN the sack is a pair of young chickens, your Officership, but I can assure you I wouldn't be removing them from the area if I had not FIRST disqualified them.

Well, it's hard to explain to a novice in the chicken judging business, but suffice it to say that it is done in the interest of good taste.

So, if you don't know what taste has got to do with judging a chicken, then you must consider my life a mockery. I have NEVER judged a chicken by any other criterion. Now, paintings or sculpture, of course . . .

No. Nobody ASKED me to judge these chickens. I just saw my duty and went for it. When I thought of the consternation of the judges when they were confronted with these totally unsuitable speciments of . . .

To YOU they look all right. But how do you judge a chicken, anyway? Comb? Feathers? Feet? Beak? Cackle? Punch and squeeze and see how the wings fold?

Well, I happened on these two youngsters in the Chicken Needle and I said, "John, there is a pair of chickens which is going to cause great consternation to the judges if left hereabouts. By judging time," I told myself, "those two won't have ary a comb, feathers, feet, beak, cackle or ought to punch, squeeze or fold. Best we disqualify them right now," I said.

Okay, if you think the judge would be interested. But honestly, Officer, this isn't something you can't LEARN about chickens, you've just got to have the FEEL for it.

PUYALLUP - Four boys in an older model car piled into a parked pickup truck in Puyallup last week, then fled the scene before identifying themselves. The hit-run incident took place at 110 5th N.W. late last Thursday night.

Extensive damage was done to the right front fender of the hit-run vehicle, described as a dark blue 1955 or 1956 Chevrolet by witnesses. A package containing a baseball left by the boys was picked up and tagged for evidence. EATONVILLE - Hot weather was blamed for this strange story reported by Sheriff's Deputies last week. A 14 year old Alder girl was driven home by Deputy Sheriff H.N. Holstad after she complained she was stopped by a nude motorist seeking directions near the Eatonville Cutoff.

As she was walking east along the Mountain Highway, the girl said a car pulled up and the driver asked if she knew the way to Graham. Glancing into the vehicle, she was shocked to see the driver was completely nude. With the help of a nearby resident, police were notified. The suspect was described as fat, bald, and between 40-45 years of age. He made no obscene gestures or remarks, and did not threaten her. according to Deputy Holstad, She only objected to his lack of attire. He drove off when the girl

Eleven new teachers and one new principal will greet students when District 404 schools open September 6, Superintendent H.C. Olson announced last week.

Assigned to Columbia Crest Elementary were first grade teacher Mary Lou Swanson, second grade Mrs. Norma Eisentrager, fifth grade Ann Laine, sixth grade Cleo Lile and Dennis Clevenger will supervise upper departmental and boys' athletics.

Weyerhaeuser School will have a new principal and one new teacher. Burleigh Hombel was transferred from Columbia Crest as Weyerhaeuser's new chief administrator and Mrs. Claire Knight will teach 3rd and 4th grades. Three new teachers will report to Eatonville Grade School. Errol Collins will teach upper elementary, while Mike Gavda has been assigned to 5th grade classes. Mrs. Alyce Lile will teach first graders.

New Eatonville High School assignments include Miss Colleen Whyatt to the Home Economics Dept. and Mrs. Virginia Cummings as librarian and Washington history teacher.

FRANKLIN PIERCE

Franklin Pierce School District has been preparing for an enrollment of 7534 students for classes starting September 6, the district administration office disclosed last week.

Four new portable classroom buildings will be pressed into service September 6 to accommodate additional elementary school students. The portables, now about 65% complete, will be assigned to James Sales, Andrew Christensen, and (two) Central Avenue.

The Collins School multipurpose addition should be completed on or before August 26, according to architects. The addition replaces an old gym torn down earlier this year.

Completion of Central Avenue School addition will be delayed until after September 15. architects reported. However, school officials have been assured the new facilities will be ready by October 1. Shortage of certain materials was given as reason for the delay.

Four new teachers recently were hired, in addition to the 53 previously reported. Their employment filled all known vacancies as of July 25, Dr. E. E. Hill, superintendent, stated at last week's board meeting.

Larry Hoffman, a sciencemath teacher, was assigned to Ford Junior High, Reporting to Keithly will be Jill H. Jurvelin, who will teach English. Central Avenue School will have a new 4th grade teacher in LaWanna Ahrendt, and Betty J. Byrum has been assigned to teach 5th grade at Harvard.

District maintenance crews are completing interior painting projects in the school buildings. Exterior trim was painted at Ford Junior High. Keithly Junior High, Brookdale Elementary, and Franklin Pierce High School.

Oh. That Krussow Kid!

Shades of Greg Schumacher! Just two short years after the tall Tacoma boy knocks over the All-American Soap Box Derby, up jumps 12 year old David Krussow who does a repeat performance. Winning the national title at Akron, Ohio, is difficult enough, but when entries from one city dominate the classic event two out of three years, the odds begin to border on the incredible. Tacoma will be thought of in the same light as New York when other American League team owners used to holler "Break up the Yanks", or when Washington used to send their powerful crews back east to dominate every rowing regatta they entered.

My first sight of a soap box derby was this year in Tacoma.

Actually, we covered the race in hopes one of our local entries would come out on top, but how well I remember that sleek gray racer of young David Krussow booming down the smooth incline to win every heat he entered with effortless ease.

If you've ever done any gambling and figured odds, then this feat of David's begins to approach the impossible. First of all, he had to wade through local competition, which in itself is bucking the odds. Then after nailing down the local championship, he arrives in Akron to take on 251 other hopefuls, all winners in their own right, representing 107 communities in the United States and also 6 foreign countries. Now the odds begin to multiply like compound interest from a loan shark in a Damon Runyon story.

The championship heat back in Akron, witnessed by over 60,000 fans, must have been something to behold. Young Krussow, probably as surprised as anybody he was in the finals, drew the left lane looking down the course. His ride was flawless as he guided his gray racer down the slope and won by almost a car length over Matthew Grusler of Levittown, Pa., and Larry Gilmore of Midland, Texas.

No doubt Tacoma will give David Krussow a hero's welcome when the family arrives back in town. It was a splendid achievement by a wonderful boy ably representing a thriving community . . . congratulations.

Razor Clam Closure Set For Aug. 12

Director of Fisheries Thor C. Tollefson announced today a closure, to razor clam digging, of that portion south of the schoolhouse approach at Grayland. The closure will be effective at midnight Friday, August 12 and continue thru September 30.

Wastage of small 1-1/2 year old clams on Twin Harbors Beach during July was double that of June, but most critical in this one area to the south of Grayland. There is a definite size differential to the north and south of this line with larger clams more prevalent north of the schoolhouse approach.

"Any further harvest and waste of these immature clams in the southern area would seriously deplete the stock available for next year's digging in this area," said Tollefson.

We wish to emphasize that the area north of the schoolhouse approach at Grayland will remain open and this area encompasses 7 miles of beach. The closure of the South Part of Twin Harbors Beach is just for razor clam digging. Surf fishing, tide pool collecting and other beach activities are not affected carefully. They can deteriorate with time and the moisture which creeps into a tackle box from time to time. If you buy your own hooks and line, each leader will cost only a few cents.

Swivels can get old too. Salt water plus the constant flexing as you open and close a swivel will eventually weaken the metal so that it can break under the pressure of a big fish. I know this one from bitter personal experience. Also check the last 50 feet or so of line on your reel. That's where most of the wear is. If you find any nicks or marks on it, cut if off and throw it away. If its color has changed from the color of the line deeper down on your reel, cut it off and deep six it, for sunlight is one thing that weakens most monafilament.

By using new leaders and making sure any weakened line is off your reel, you'll be spending only a few cents, a dollar or two at the most. Compare that to the price of a charter boat trip, plus herring, plus your auto expense to get there, plus meals and incidentals and it's next to nothing.

When you compare it to losing a big salmon -- well. there's really no comparison to that. It can't be measurto unate ed in money: ***

SOME of the friendliest people in the world are the attendants at state parks in Washington and Oregon. Among other stopping spots this summer we hit two parks in Washington and two in Oregon. Without exception, the rangers and their assistants greeted us with a smile and had another smile when we asked for information, even through they probably had answered that same question a thousand times before during the summer.

We found some basic differences between the park systems in the two states. Oregon parks tend to offer more in the way of services such as hot showers, supplies of firewood and organization. Washington parks tend to be a little for some time, check them cheerfully agreed. I noticed quite a few campers doing the same thing. It seems to me that an assignment policy such as that won't last. At least let'shope it never catches on in Washington state parks or at camp grounds in Forest Service and National Park lands. C PANAWAY J PEEDWAYS - PRESENTS -RACING DOUBLE HEADER! SATURDAY AUGUST 13
