

Take-off!

That battle-scarred Lockheed Ventura bomber which has been evoking comment since it has been berthed in a residence yard at 94th and Pacific will soon be permanently in the air again... as a trademark over the office of the newly-established Ash Motors Co. at that address. The office building for the used car and truck lot is now under construction, expected to be completed next week when the Ventura—which saw service with the Royal Canadian Air Force—will be mounted above the building. Glenn Ash, founder of this new business in this district, has been operating from his home behind the newly-paved lot. He formerly was associated with the Tacoma Auto Exchange, a used car and surplus truck firm in South Tacoma.

Building Up

Another new business setting up on Pacific is a lumber yard and building supplies store now being erected at the corner of Washington street by owner L. R. Magdanz and son, Robert. They were hard at it this week framing a 20x60 foot warehouse extending back toward the Fire hall, which is to form an L with a 36x66 store structure to front on Pacific.

The yard area has been graded with dirt fill, later to be gravel surfaced. The main store building will also include an apartment for father, Mrs. Magdanz and son, who now are house guests of Jennie Palmer. The elder Magdanz has years of experience in the lumber business, having been an executive of several thriving Midwest companies.

Birthday Party

Louise Lynd's "Parkland Hour" on October 1 will celebrate completion of its first full year of airing over station KTBI with a "first birthday" party at the broadcast studio. Invited guests will be program sponsors. Listeners may miss out on the cake but will cut in on a list of birthday presents which the lusty infant will give, not get.

Taking no chances on the birthday party's being an anti-climax, Director Lynd has put the finger on a minor character for the guest spot this coming Friday, September 24. Your new Prairie Pointer editor will try to tell how he got this way. If you think you can stand it, tune in from 12:15 to 1 p.m.

Dig Down

Parkland's Volunteer Fire Department is still looking around for shrubbery contributions for its Fire Hall landscaping project—also for purchasers of tickets for the Firemen's Ball, October 2.

It's a Secret

Under cover of darkness—going on for some several nights—expansion is proceeding at the Garfield Variety Store. Proprietor Turk is being close-mouthed on the nature of the new department being added to his store. He only admits a section of his adjoining warehouse is being fitted up for more store space, with new floor, walls, all-new lighting and fixtures and an added door onto the street. No date for the unveiling is set yet.

Harvard-Midland P-TA Entertains Teaching Staffs

The first regular meeting of the Harvard-Midland P-TA was held September 15 at 8 p.m. in the P-TA hall at Midland, with Mrs. Clarence Johann presiding. Mrs. Mike Hansler reported on a meeting she had attended which was given to better acquaint the people with the benefits that may be received from the Pierce county and city of Tacoma public health services.

It was decided that the P-TA would supply the remaining $50 needed to purchase an electric scoreboard that each class for the past several years has donated to. If the scoreboard is available it will be installed for use at this year's basketball games.

After a short business meeting, Mrs. Johann asked Mr. Keithley, superintendent of the Harvard-Midland schools, to introduce the teaching staffs, after which the meeting was turned into an informal reception for the teachers. Supper was served from a beautifully-arranged table, with Mrs. Stanley Lipke and Mrs. William Hiller pouring. Host for the meeting was the executive committee, headed by Mrs. Hiller, assisted by Mrs. George Turner, Mrs. Charlotte McClatchey, Mrs. Elmer Morud, Mrs. Floyd Ayers, Mrs. Ruth Eshpeter, Mrs. Harold Stavig, Mrs. Floyd Jensen and Mrs. Lipke.

Primed For Loggers

Capt. Jack Guyot (above), power thrust of the Gladiator attack, shattered St. Olaf's line for the first Lute TD.

Strategist John Jurkovich (above) guides the Lute assault on the field. His passing and punting are a heavy scoring factor. At left is Bob Andrew, named by Coach Tommervik to start against the Loggers at end. Andrew is in his third season for Pacific Lutheran and is regarded as one of the best defensive wingmen in this section.

Local P-TA Season Is Successfully Inaugurated at Meeting and Reception

The Parkland P-TA calendar of activities for the current year was inaugurated last Friday and this Tuesday with a very successful and well-attended first meeting and Teacher Reception-tea. Friday evening's meeting, particularly, earned comment as being a departure from customary parent-teacher gatherings. Much of the novelty is attributed to this year's emphasis upon father participation in P-TA work.

Well deserved credit for arrangements at both the meeting and reception was bestowed upon the committees. Committee chairman for the reception and tea was Mrs. Agnes Colton, assisted by Mrs. Nell Pederson, Mrs. C. O. Olson and Mrs. Emil Johnson. Mrs. Olson, in charge of musical arrangements, presented Carl Fynboe who sang two well-received selections, and Mrs. Stanley Willis, who provided piano accompaniment throughout the affair.

Floral arrangements for the reception were achieved by the Mesdames Johnson, Ray Renwick and Storaasli. Mrs. Stella Jacobs provided corsages and boutonnieres. Flower decorations in the school auditorium for Friday's opening P-TA meeting were the work of Miss Freida and Miss Elsie Blandau, while Miss Gladys Carlson and Mrs. Lottie Gregory were in charge of the flower arrangements in the basement for the refreshments following the meeting.

CUB SEASON TO START MONDAY

Pack 33, Cub Scout activities for the coming year will get underway Monday evening, September 27, at 7:30 o'clock, when the first monthly pack meeting will be held at the Parkland school.

The Monday evening opening date was set Tuesday evening, this week, when the pack committee met at the home of Dr. Robert Olson, chairman, to lay out the program of activities for the season ahead. Other committee members participating were: Robert Thomas, cubmaster, Harry Chambers and Olaf Jordahl.

At the first pack meeting, dens will be re-organized and den mothers and other officers will be introduced. Cubmaster Thomas will explain the program for coming meetings.

All Cubs are asked to bring their parents to the opening meeting and other parents, who may wish to have their sons become Cub Scouts, are advised to attend in order to learn the requirements.

Dr. Olson will direct a preliminary play period for the Cubs in the gym, beginning at 7:15 p.m., and refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

P-TA parliamentarian, was the program principal for the meeting.

Monday, September 27, Mrs. W. W. Cline, local P-TA president, has announced.

First district meeting, to be conducted by officers of the State P-TA Congress, will be held at the USO building at 13th and Fawcett Sts., Tacoma, beginning at 9 o'clock a.m. Monday, September 27, Mrs. W. W. Cline, local P-TA president, has announced.

This district meeting will take the place of a school of instruction and will offer a P-TA training school which is important for local officers to attend. The meeting is open to all and local committee chairmen also are advised to be there. Mrs. Anna Crampton, State Congress president, and Mrs. E. W. Emory, national representative, will conduct the conference.

MAKE OREGON TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Modahl and daughter, Nancy, returned Tuesday evening from a three-day highway tour to Mt. Hood and the Oregon beaches. They left their Spanaway home Sunday.

Spanaway Lassies Rate High in 4-H Canning Exhibits

FAIR GROUNDS, PUYALLUP—Two Thurston county brothers with scant regard for traditional feminine supremacy in the kitchen topped the field of 142 exhibitors in the 4-H canning exhibits contest by winning a combined total of 27 blue ribbons. The two are Robert and Jerry Taylor of Olympia.

A 14-year-old Pierce county miss, Marlene Ettlin of Spanaway, was a close challenger for the top spot with a total of 12 blue ribbons. She outranked the two Taylors in the number of individual entries, but nine of her canning exhibits placed in the red classification.

Eight blue ribbons were won by Betty Thiel, Spanaway.

Another 4-H canning exhibitor winning over five blue ribbons was Helen Thiel, Spanaway, 6.

Pierce county, with 44 exhibitors, led the list in the number of competing 4-H'ers; Skagit was next with 22, and Lewis with 20, Thurston and Pacific counties had 15 competitors, Clark 11, Grays Harbor 7, (Continued on Page Four)

CROSTOWN MIX SATURDAY WILL OPEN LUTE HOME SEASON

Roadways Report To Be Made Public At Olympia, Friday

A comprehensive engineering report on Washington's highway transportation system will be presented to the Joint Fact-finding Committee on Highways, Streets and Bridges at a public meeting in the senate chamber of the Legislative building, at Olympia, Friday, September 24, Senator J. H. Robertson of Creston, committee chairman, has announced.

Because of the widespread interest in this report, the meeting will be open to the public, and the committee is inviting all interested persons to attend, the chairman stated. The meeting will convene at 1:30 p.m.

The highway study, authorized by the 1947 Legislature, has been in progress for more than a year. Its purpose was to survey state highways, county roads and city streets, determine present deficiencies and construction needs for the next ten years, and develop a balanced program of improvements needed to accommodate present and future traffic.

Win Over St. Olaf Tones Gladiators For CPS Clash

Saturday night at 8 o'clock under the lights of Tacoma Stadium, Pacific Lutheran Gladiators will open the home season against their crosstown rivals, the College of Puget Sound.

The Lutes tore open their season last Saturday in Northfield, Minn., with an impressive 14 to 6 victory over the St. Olaf Lions.

But a champion can't let down. Monday morning the Lutherans arrived in Parkland and received an ovation from the student body. Monday afternoon, they were out on the football field drilling away, hard, for Saturday's encounter with the Loggers.

Especially gratifying to Lute backers this fall is the manner in which the passing attack clicked against the Lions. John Jurkovich, Gene Strandness, Wayne Brock and Lowell Knutson were all tossing the ball around and the Lutes completed 11 out of 23 attempts.

Blaine McKanna is still "Mr. Glue Fingers." The speedy Lute back set up one touchdown with a beautiful catch, and nabbed another one on the goal line for a touchdown. Mac also made both points after touchdown with some neat place-kicking.

Jack Guyot still hits as hard as ever, and the Lute captain and fullback ace tore through the St. Olaf line for one of the PLC scores.

John Jurkovich at quarter is doing a good job. His punting and passing ability give added power to the Gladiator attack.

Coach Mary Tommervik expects a tough, grueling battle against Coach John Heinrich's 1948 eleven. "We will have to improve 100 per cent over last Saturday if we are to get anywhere against CPS," Tommervik commented this week.

In the line, Tommervik will start Bob Andrew and Vern Morris at ends, Jack Proud and Carl Hatley at tackles; Rick Daniels and Jack Carbone at guards; and Steinar Gorud at center.

Dormitory Group Is to Honor New Faculty Members

An informal program has been arranged for next Tuesday evening, September 28, when Dormitory Auxiliary No. 1 of Pacific Lutheran College will entertain new members of the faculty with their wives or husbands. Pastors and their wives also will be honored at the affair, which is set for 8 o'clock, in the Student Union Building.

DUCK STAMPS NOW READY FOR THE BIRD HUNTERS

Duck hunters are again reminded that the Parkland post office has a supply of the 1948 duck stamps on hand. These $1.00 stickers must be pasted to each hunter's license before he ventures after the water fowl, if he would avoid a pinch from the game warden, game officials declare.

Good Job, Nearly Done

Progress on Parkland's war memorial to date is gratifying and the committee of the Community Club which has carried the project through to near completion is well deserving of praise and thanks, as are the many members of the community who have contributed generously in the two fund-raising campaigns. As should be, early diversions of opinion over the form the memorial should take have all but disappeared as the community has united in support of the plan adopted.

The memorial which has been steadily taking shape embodies a compromise of views in the best tradition of democracy—including elements of both monument and living memorial.

Now, there is opportunity for every resident to take an active part in completion of the project. Over-subscription of the minimum-fund goals set when the memorial first was visualized has opened the way to achievement on a finer scale than first was hoped. Add now a few hours work, a few drops of sweat from the individual members of this community and full accomplishment of an ideal will be realized.

Volunteers to help in landscaping the memorial park area have been asked. Some already have answered the call, turning to with rakes and shovels last Saturday. More such willing workers are needed these coming Saturdays. It's a good bet that the spirit which furnished the funds to carry forward this fine project will not bog down now that only a share of healthful, companionable outdoor work is needed to win the cause.

Giving Credit Due

The war memorial achievement and the deserved praise earned by the Community Club for its big part again points up how great an asset are really active, organized civic groups. Gradually coming to light too is the very effective work of the Parkland Business Club in securing establishment of a National Bank of Washington Parkland Branch.

Officials of the bank have not stinted their praise of the efforts and influence of the Business Club in gaining the bank for this area. Were it not for the perseverance and efficiency of that club's committee, the application to establish a bank here might still be waiting possible future approval along with the hundreds of others on file at Olympia. The Business Club's committee put in plenty of genuinely hard work to overcome many obstacles in the way of the now assured Parkland bank. More applause than yet has been heard is merited for that accomplishment.
