BOX INTO SUBMISSION WITH BODY TOOLS

Ray Pochel, who operates the Pochel Distributing Company at Brookdale, was plenty mad Monday morning when he arrived at the plant to find that burglars had entered the office and demolished the safe for a take of an undisclosed amount of "rasbucknicks." Then when he discovered that the culprits had used heavy body tools taken from his own shop to crack the strong box that was adding insult to injury. However, some salve was spread on his wounds by the fact that only a small amount of cash was in the loot, the balance being non-negotiable checks, and all loss was overed by insurance.

Entry to the establishment was made through a rear office window and the safe was worked on under the display room lights. It is considered remarkable that the robbery took place within easy sight of passersby on the highway. From the condition of the safe it is certain that an enormous amount of pounding was necessary which must have created plenty of noise.

Sheriffs deputies investigated professionalism was evident by the method used in breaking open the safe. It is believed the job was pulled in the wee hours before sun-up Monday morning.

Support of the public in the sale of Christmas Seals this year has been splendid, according to Mrs. I. W. Kalkus, Pierce County sale chairman for the Tuberculosis League.

"We certainly desire to thank the chairman of the various communities in the county and their assistants for their fine work," she said. "We also owe a debt of gratitude to the newspapers for their support in giving at this time of paper shortages such a great deal of space for the fight against tuberculosis. And lastly, we wish to thank all those who have purchased Christmas Seals and have used them.

In and around Parkland the sale this year has been particularly gratifying, according to Mrs. Stanley Rosso, local chairman, who stated that by January 1 she had receipts of $603.74.

There remain a number of persons to whom Christmas Seals were mailed in November who have not yet made a report and follow-up cards will soon be sent to them to remind them that the success of the tuberculosis fight lies in all taking part in the cam-

The Pointer Nominates "Man of the Year"

The Prairie Pointer hereby places in nomination for the South End's "Man of the Year" the name of Herbert Socolofsky! Why? Because . .

He has contributed so much to his home community that Parkland has seen its residents solidly knit into a fine cooperative group in the year § 1946 and although it is unincorporated Parkland has become in every sense a real town.

In January of 1946 a handful of residents met as the Parkland Community Club to elect officers for the year. Herbert Socolofsky had recently bought a home in the community, was interested in its welfare and he attended the meeting. The folks liked his enthusiasm and named him president of the club. From that day to this the Parkland Community Club has been a vital and lively organization. Herbert got ? busy and his enthusiasm stirred the interest of others. At the first meeting some sixty-five persons attended. This was very good considering that the club meetings previously brought out maybe two dozen folks. But he was not satisfied and good programs were arranged for future meetings with constructive community betterment as the theme. Attendance grew with each meeting and when the Coffee-Tollfson debate was staged in Parkland last fall over 400 people turned out and all of Pierce County took notice of Parkland.

A residential zoning district was established during his regime. He put the club into full support of a fire protection 🖁 district for Parkland with a result that only four negative votes were cast in the avalanche of 500 ayes. Obtaining assurance of paving for the community's main thoroughfare is another achievement. Cecil Solly came for a grand { open meeting in Parkland school which drew nearly 400 $ people. A Parkland War Memorial is planned through a playing guard. Paul Steen, also solicitation of several thousand dollars by the Community new this year, is a good shot and Club. These are just a few of the achievements of the club plays forward. Bob Schibig is the under the guidance of Socolofsky. He has had many helpers and willing ones, too, which he himself would give most of the credit. But the fact remains that this man spent many, many hours of his time calling the committees together and prodding this one and that one to greater action.

One wonders where he found the time for all the work he put into Parkland Community Club, for Herbert has carried on a full time job as route superintendent for Medosweet Dairies. And in between this he and Mrs. Socolofsky have kept immaculate a beautiful home and grounds at the corner § of Hendricks and G street in Parkland.

On the record The Pointer not only nominates but casts a unanimous ballot for Socolofsky for "Man of the Year." We know those who have worked with him this past year will concur.

LACK OF WATER CAUSES TOTAL LOSS OF DWELLING

A fire which could not be checked due to lack of water hydrants completely destroyed an inoccupied dwelling in Parkland Monday afternoon. The house, owned by Mrs. Emma Brown of Tacoma, occupied the corner of Cleveland and C streets. Major C. R. Bender, Jr., of Richmond, Calif., who is now stationed at Fort Lewis, was in the process of moving his family into the house. Some of their personal belongings were saved. The most serious loss to Major Bender was personal and official papers which could not be reached before the flames engulfed them.

The fire started at approximately 1:00 p.m. The only persons on the scene at the time were two soldiers who were assisting in the moving. They stated that the fire started on a wall adjacent to the living room stove and therefore would indicate the cause as either

South End's Golden Opportunity

A chance for the entire South End to make a leap forward with seven league boots is now within its grasp. All that is necessary is for voters in the several school districts involved to approve a consolidated high school. This election will be held on Saturday, January 18, by call of County School Superintendent Olai Hageness. The one fact that a high school in this area would start with a student body of over 500 is certainly argument enough to prove the need of such an institution.

The election of January 18 will decide the question, "Shall the districts of Central Avenue, Collins, Midland and Parkland consolidate for the purpose of providing high school facilities?'

For years our students of high school age have been attending Tacoma, Puyallup, Clover Park and Roy schools with the people of those districts standing the expense of providing buildings and equipment for our children.

With the arrival of war conditions, overcrowding of all the schools became a serious problem and the anticipated decline in school population as a result of termination of war activities has not taken place. Our school attendance over the area is larger now than it was a year ago. A study of the lower grades indicates a large pre-school population which can only mean that increasing numbers will be enrolled in our schools for a number of years to come. Then, too, we must consider the many new homes going up over the entire area.

The problem of providing facilities to relieve our overcrowded schools lies squarely on our shoulders.

Now that the war is over and the unusual employment opportunities are rapidly disappearing we can safely say that an even larger percent of our boys and girls will be completing their high school education. This number will be still larger if we do our duty and provide a high school in the area-conveniently located and with transportation provided for those living beyond a reasonable walking distance.

Consolidation throughout the states goes to show that the existing schools will continue to operate but upon a much sounder basis. The activities of the school would remain un-

The question of financing the construction of a high school in this area must not be overlooked when considering the coming election. Other districts, Clover Park and Gig Harbor for example, have lived through it and are now rightly proud of their fine school systems. We have every right to expect the same state aid that they have received to help us in accomplishing our goal.

We owe it to our young people to provide equal opportunities for them. It is important that you and I vote.

Announcement of definite plans and routing of this land is reported to be ill at home roadway came recently and it places this area of Greater Tacoma with influenza. in a strategic location.

Pacific Avenue from the business section of Tacoma to junction of the new road near the Roy Y is planned as the main feeder line and widening it to a four-lane highway from the city limits south this coming summer is scheduled.

An enormous flow of traffic will be carried by the avenue and business along the route will no doubt be even thicker than on South Tacoma Way which now carries the north-south highway traffic.

Keep your eyes focussed on this great South End section. It is due for a development that is almost beyond imagination.

New steel wires for an ever-expanding telephone service

in rural areas

Speeding telephone expansion in dozens of rural areas throughout Washington, this new steel wire - developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories—is so strong the number of poles needed can be cut almost in half.

With other type wires, poles were generally placed less than 250 feet apart. Now, with the new steel wire, the distance can be extended to 400 feet or more. This is only one of many improvements now on the way. Ranchers and farmers can expect fewer parties on their lines;

fewer rings for other parties and the replacement of crank type telephones with modern instruments.

It all adds up to better service for the people who supply food for you and the world. And it's still another example of how, in an expansion program that will almost double our plant investment in Washington, we are working to provide a better, more far-reaching telephone service than ever before... so that the telephone
