Building Boom
The house-building boom is very much in evidence at the foot of Hayes street in Parkland. While canvassing for subscriptions, your Prairie Pointer representatives learned that the last two homes on the street are being built for Jack Bowers and Ingvald Ulberg. Mrs. Ulberg is the former Valerie Olson. Two very large modern colonial homes are being constructed for sale by George M. Brewer and son. Don't get excited, house-seekers! Mr. Brewer already has two veterans vying for the two homes.

Spotted Colt
R. C. Boone of Lobo Service, "Lo" for Lowry and "Bo" for Boone, is very proud of the red and white spotted colt which one of his mares recently presented to the world. Mr. Boone now owns three colts all born this spring. A red and white spotted colt was also born to a white Arabian mare belonging to Ed Draper of Spanaway. All four of these beautiful young animals are out of a registered spotted stallion owned by L. G. Boone.

Good Samaritan
Bessie Roland of Clover Creek is carrying her right arm in a sling these days. On one of those rainy, rainy days of last week Bessie was being a "Good Samaritan," helping her brother Omer deliver his papers. She said the bicycle didn't stop at the paper box as she thought it would and she took a spill which resulted in a broken arm.

Dignity Put to Test
The dignity of Judge Delbert Breseman of Spanaway was put to a severe test last Saturday night at the Spanaway Firemen's Ball. With all due ceremony, the judge was called to the microphone and presented with a large box. He didn't get very far before the bottom fell out, "accidentally on purpose," and with it four lively banty roosters.

Credit Due
Don Eastvold, former editor of the Prairie Pointer, originated the idea of publishing the pictorial included in this issue and expended much thought and energy toward making it a success. Don is now attending law school at the University of Minnesota. According to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Eastvold, who arrived from the middle west last Friday morning, the future lawyer is knee deep in studies. Congratulations, Don! A good job, well done.

GROCERY FIRM HERE 31 YEARS
JOHNSON & ANDERSON STORE HAS GROWN UP WITH SOUTH END

Iver Johnson of Johnson and Anderson in Parkland has seen many Parkland businesses come and go for it was in the horse and buggy days that he started his career as a grocer. On July 5, it will have been 31 years that Iver has been working at the same location.

Originally the firm was called Johnson and Son and 90% of the business was done by taking orders on horseback one day and delivering them the following day. Regular trips were made each week as far north as Fern Hill and south as far as Roy and Fredrickson; east to Collins, Midland and Larchmont and west to Lakeview. A fresh team of horses was required every morning to take these all-day trips; a distance of twenty to twenty-five miles a day being covered.

New Partnership
In the fall of 1919, Johnson and Son sold out and a partnership consisting of Iver Johnson and Arthur Bloom was formed. Feed and hay were bought by the carload and the business grew and prospered.

It was in 1927 that Mr. Bloom relinquished his partnership which was taken over by Oscar Anderson, who is known by the old-timers as "Ocky" or "Stick" and was known in his time as one of the fastest forwards to be seen on a basketball floor. Both Johnson and Anderson are with the company at the present time and having lived in Parkland for at least 40 years are considered quite permanent residents.

Complete Lines
During all these years, it has been the desire to handle as complete a line of merchandise as possible. In 1934, the Brookdale Market was purchased from J. A. Irwin. An up-to-date walk-in cooler was installed, consisting of two tracks so that no lifting or carrying of carcasses is required. A new cooling unit was recently installed.

As soon as material is available, modernization and greater expansion.

MIDLAND WATER USERS TO MEET

WILL DECIDE FUTURE COURSE OF ACTION FOR MUTUAL COMPANY

Having brought in a fine flow of soft water from a 408 foot well South East Tacoma Water Company officials have called a special meeting of mutual members to determine the future course of action. Tests of the well at 98th and Washington streets have proven that a sufficient supply of pure water is available for the needs of water users in the Midland area, and company officers will ask the approval of a plan to build a standpipe and install facilities so that the organization can cut loose from Tacoma city water and its exorbitant rates.

The meeting has been called for the night of Monday, July 15, at 8 o'clock in Midland Community Hall. A full discussion of the problem will be undertaken, and those attending will decide if the company shall complete the project with a second well that could be used in case of emergency.

Easton Goes South
Meanwhile, the company office in Midland is being managed by company repairman Carl Sodergren and Mrs. Floyd Cook while its regular manager, A. P. Easton, and his wife are vacationing in Los Angeles, Calif., with their daughter and two sons.

Selles Establish Thriving Business

The story behind the modern establishment of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Selle which is located on the Mountain highway at Thurman street in Parkland is an interesting one. It was late in 1944 when they first purchased the old service station and garage and began the remodeling which changed it into a garage and paint shop. The building was rented, but the new tenants were soon dispossessed by a fire which destroyed the entire building.

In the first part of 1945 the ground was broken for the new concrete block building designed by Mr. Selle, and on July 1st R. A. Clark opened his repair shop in the garage section. It was November of 1945 when the Parkland Fuel Oil and Service Station opened for business under the management of Mr. Selle and in March of this year he was joined by Leo S. Rytkenon who was with the armed forces for four years.

Mr. and Mrs. Selle and Mr. Rytkenon wish to take this opportunity to thank their many friends for their patronage. It is their aim to give the people of this vicinity the best material obtainable with satisfactory workmanship assured.

The happy couple left for a honeymoon in Canada. They will make their home at Mr. Moe's house on Imhoff Road near the Collins schoolhouse.

Spanaway Team Loses to Midland

At Spanaway last Sunday Midland's baseball squad poked a hole in the Valley League aspirations of Spanaway when they whopped that club 9 to 4. This loss puts the lakeside lads on a par with Orting which is in third place in league standing; both squads have three wins and three losses.

Spanaway will be at home this Sunday to the Edgewood team.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor and their son Morris are visiting some of Mrs. Taylor's relatives in Oregon.

Wrong Hastings Hastens Because Of Hasty Telephone Summons

It was a hectic afternoon for the Hastings last Tuesday afternoon when a hasty telephone call by Mrs. Hastings brought the wrong father Hastings hastening to the hospital. This story began when little Milton Hastings Jr., on Arthur street in Parkland was bitten by a dog. In fear of rabies, Mrs. Hastings telephoned the police for help. The police came out immediately and rushed the child to the Pierce County Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Hastings called the trucking firm where her husband is employed to inform him of the accident, leaving the following message: "Tell Mr. Hastings that his little boy was bitten by a dog and is being treated at Pierce County Hospital."

By some strange trick of fate, Mrs. Hastings had been connected with the firm next door which employed a Mr. Hastings who was also the father of a small son. Upon Mr. Hastings' arrival at the hospital, the mistake was discovered when the nurse pointed out the Mrs. Hastings who was not his wife. Well, anyway, the boy got well.

COMMISSIONERS GRANT ZONE

Parkland Area Is Granted Right to Regulate Future Building

Pierce county commissioners at a meeting last Monday morning unanimously granted zoning rights to a specified area in Parkland for the regulation of future building. This action was taken pursuant to a petition which was sponsored by the Parkland Community Club. It is primarily to make a large area of Parkland strictly residential that the zoning program was first instituted and carried through by the club under the guidance of Herbert Socolofsky, president.

The club's committee which did a fine job in carrying this project through was headed by Jennie L. Palmer as secretary and included Mrs. E. M. Akre and Dr. Philip E. Hauge.

The committee wishes to express its gratitude for the work done by the several persons who circulated the petitions among the property owners.

Approximate Boundaries
Generally the boundaries for this zoned district are from Harrison and Yakima streets east to Tacoma Avenue and then north to Lafayette; east on Lafayette to C. thence south to Harrison, east to within 200 feet of the Mountain highway; south to Maple street, excepting the business district of Parkland, and then west to Yakima.

LOCAL PIONEER PASSES AWAY

MISS ANNE PATTISON DIED LAST SUNDAY; SPENT LIFETIME HERE

Miss Anne Elizabeth Pattison, 80, who lived on Yakima Avenue, just north of Sales Road, died Sunday, June 23, at 6:30 a.m. in the Bellevue Sanatorium where she had been taken June 12th. Services were conducted by Rev. George W. Cooper at the Buckley-King Funeral Home Wednesday at 1 p.m. Interment was in the Tacoma cemetery. The only living relatives are two cousins in Iowa.

Miss Pattison was born in Steilacoom February 2, 1866. She had been ill and infirm a long time but lived alone and managed to get about her home to which she was devoted and where she had lived practically all her life. It was the donation claim of her father, Hugh Pattison.

Attended Byrd School
In early days she attended the Byrd school near the Andrew Byrd mill on Chambers creek, and later the Fern Hill school. In later years she had been something of a recluse and spent all her time on the ancestral home with her flowers and books. She was a member of the Parkland Methodist Church and was well known to the pioneers and old timers in this vicinity.

Father First Nurseryman
It will interest the old timers to remember that Hugh Pattison was the first nurseryman in Pierce county. He located his claim September 1853 near what is now Fern Hill. He established his nursery in 1854 and did a business which extended over a large part of the Sound country, his day-book showing sales between 1854 and 1865 is almost a roll call of the first pioneers of the county. It is now in possession of the State Historical Society. The society also has in its possession Pattison's naturalization papers, issued by the United States District Court for Pierce county in 1854.

At the outbreak of the Indian war Pattison buried the papers in a tin can near a tree growing on his farm, and wrote relatives in the east telling where it could be found in case of his death, so his heirs might prove up on his donation claim. After the close of the war Pattison returned to his claim and recovered the papers.

Eastman's Market Being Expanded

When Samuel V. Eastman came to the South End after serving his country with the rank of army major and seeing action on Okinawa and the Philippines where he won the Purple Heart and the Combat Infantry Medal, he envisioned possibilities for business and growth in this area. As a result he purchased the Frigid Locker plant and started a grocery store and meat market where he also provided meat cutting and freezing services.

As his business showed a steady progress he found it necessary to take in a partner, Albert J. Stern, Jr., who is a home owner in this community. "Slim" Stern is ideally fitted for this work for he was raised on a farm, has had much experience in meat cutting and years of work with the preparation and freezing of foods at Kelley Farquhar and Co. at the Port of Tacoma where he recently resigned as assistant superintendent to become associated with Eastman's Market. A crack shot, Mr. Stern spent some time in the United States Marine Corps Reserves coaching and instructing in shooting technique.

Clover Creek Grange Hears Fine Report

An interesting report on the Grange convention which was held in Bellingham recently was given by Master Roy Renner at a meeting of the Clover Creek Grange held in the Grange hall last Friday, June 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Clausmitzer of Edgewood Grange invited the members of Clover Creek to the Fourth of July celebration that Edgewood is sponsoring.

GIBBONS GAINS BUTTER FAME

Store Gets Mention In Publisher's Trade Publication For Advertising Feature

Through the offering of butter to their customers on Saturday mornings, Gibbons Grocery in Spanaway has drawn much attention. Fast gaining a reputation as the "butter store," mention was made of this form of attracting customers in the May issue of Pacific Printer and Publisher.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons wish to thank their customers for their cooperation and interest in the new store which the Gibbons had built last summer and which was opened last September 21. The grocery store had been operated five years previous to this time at another location in Spanaway.

Appreciation
Before entering the retail grocery business, Mr. Gibbons had worked at the wholesale end in Tacoma. Mr. Gibbons is now recuperating from an illness and feels appreciative of the many kindnesses which have been extended to him by Spanaway residents.

In addition to groceries, the Gibbons store has a drug department, magazines and cards and a confectionery which is managed by Jean Mark. The meat department in connection with the grocery store is owned and operated by Al Hull.

BASKETTS ARE LUMBER FOLKS

MIDLAND MILL HAS BEEN FAMILY VENTURE FOR MANY YEARS

Since he was a lad of twelve Steve Baskett, Sr., has worked in the lumber business which explains why he brought up his own six boys to be interested in the work. The family first moved to Midland in 1919 and in 1923 they opened a butcher shop where the Southeast Mutual Water Company now stands. Lumber work was still a lure for him and since he had owned a mill in Klaber he again decided to have his own place and began construction in 1929. It began producing in 1932 and has never been idle since.

Working with him are Mike, Steve and George, lately in the army, Frank, Charles and John. Daughter Leona and her husband Paul Turosik and daughter-in-law Mrs. Frank Baskett are other helpers. During the war Leona drove their truck at Chambers Creek and her picture once appeared in the paper with the caption "Miss Paul Bunyan." Steve Baskett, Sr., manages the sawmill and machinery and Frank handles the retail lumber and manages the hardware department with the two women clerking.

Hardware Store
Before the war the Basketts had made plans for building a hardware store and office across the street from the mill, but it wasn't until October of 1945 that they were able to lay its foundation. By March of this year the new establishment was ready for use and the family has been especially anxious to fill the needs of home building veterans.

CAPITAL STUDENTS VISIT PARKLAND

Two school friends of Raymond Pflueger left Parkland recently for their respective homes. They were Ewald Bash of Portland, Indiana, and Milton Linhart of Detroit, Mich. Both boys are seminarians attending Capital University at Columbus, Ohio.

While in Parkland the boys made their headquarters at the Pflueger residence but were kept busy with several short excursions and sight-seeing trips, including an all-day outing at Mt. Rainier, a trip to the ocean and around the Olympic Peninsula, a drive to eastern Washington and several short jaunts to scenic spots in this vicinity.

NEW BUILDING PARK 'N SHOP

TWO-STORY STRUCTURE WILL BE ERECTED IN NEAR FUTURE

As soon as building restrictions are lifted, a new two-story building will be erected for Park 'n Shop on a large tract of land which the firm has purchased across the street from the present location, near 96th and Pacific. In addition to the grocery, meat, vegetable and restaurant departments, the new Park 'n Shop store will house a modern dry goods store with ladies' and men's ready-to-wear and various other wearing apparel departments.

In the very near future the firm expects to have the architect's plans of the new store on display at the present location. It was in October, 1930, that Park 'n Shop was first opened for business by the late Ernest Ballard. The business grew rapidly into a large concern and in December, 1938, when Mr. Ballard passed away, it was taken over by L. H. Darrow.

New Partnership
In 1942, Mr. Darrow and Thurman Givens, meat operator for the past five years, purchased the rest of the business and consolidated the store under one head as a corporation. In July of 1945, the corporation was dissolved and a new partnership organized since additional executive management become necessary due to the influx of business. The new partnership is comprised of Darrow, Givens and Harold M. Anderson who had been employed with the firm for many years.

The present personnel at Park 'n Shop consists of L. H. Darrow, senior partner and general manager; Thurman Givens, partner and manager of the meat department; Harold M. Anderson, partner and grocery department manager and buyer; John Stroh, office manager; Don Jacobs, produce department manager and buyer; Ora Erickson, restaurant manager and buyer and sixteen to thirty clerks, depending on seasonal fluctuations of business.

Spanaway Firemen Draw Neat Profit

The Firemen's Ball, which was held in Spanaway Park last Saturday evening, is reported to have been a gala affair with a profit of $750 for the fire department. An amusing part of the evening occurred when members of the fire department answered the call of a siren and came running out in red underwear carrying their fire chief, Harold Baker.

The boat was awarded to J. L. Raymond of Puyallup by Win Hunt, master of ceremonies. The next meeting of the ladies' auxiliary will be held Monday night, July 1, at Spanaway school.

Insecurity of Children

As a result of World War II the experiences with men suffering from emotional disorders have provided doctors with new understanding of human behavior. It has been shown that when even the most physically and mentally fit persons are subjected to adverse conditions of a severe nature they will reach the breaking point where maladjustment occurs.

When individual histories are studied it has been repeatedly found that neurotic behavior and maladjustment have their beginnings in early childhood. In order to live happily and normally a human being has three basic needs which must be satisfied. The first is a need for physical well being, second, a need for love and affection and safety, and third, a need for confidence in the worth of self. If the individual is not satisfied on these three counts he becomes frustrated and emotional tension results.

Parents and teachers when faced with disobedient and nervous children would do well to avoid the use of force, sarcasm, hints of the undesirability of children in general or that one in particular. Socially undesirable behavior is a danger signal a child's elders dare not ignore. So that a child can develop a wholesome personality he must be educated for self respect and self esteem and find in his home the security he needs to make him strong for the future.

Inside Information

It has been said that trying to please the public is to attempt the impossible. A newspaper public is particularly hard to please. The Prairie Pointer has been subjected to occasional criticism which is softened by considerable praise. Undoubtedly some of the criticism is just but before judging us too harshly, we ask that you consider our side of the story.

Perhaps you need to know something about how the paper is made up. In a small print shop facilities are limited, making it necessary to run the inside pages earlier than the rest. Often there is a deluge of news at the last minute but then it is too late to include it. Last minute stories must be read, edited, typed, set, proof-read, corrected and then a space must be found in which they'll fit. When all these things are considered you can see why stories are often omitted.

Perhaps you have not figured that the subscription price of the paper hardly covers the cost of the newsprint, the commission paid the solicitor and the expense of mailing the paper to you for a year. Add to that the cost of operating the machinery, the expense of engraving pictures and the high wages paid to the skilled workers and there isn't much left for the writers, editors, office help and the business.

Undoubtedly you do not realize the importance of the advertisements in the paper. This advertising produces the revenue which keeps the Pointer coming and it also performs a valuable service to the reader by giving unlimited market data. A perusal of our advertising columns will supply much money-saving and time-saving information.

Perhaps you have not considered the time element in regard to stories. If someone must be sent out to get information or if several telephone calls must be made, the story becomes quite expensive. Many hours are spent in writing and editing the news.

After the paper comes off the press, the pages must be put together. It is then folded and the addresses are pasted on in feverish haste to meet the mailing deadline. Next time you read the paper, keep in mind the many many phases of its publication and temper your criticisms with the proverb, "To err is human; to forgive, divine."

Let's Read

Forty books from Norway have arrived at the P.L.C. library, according to O. J. Stuen, librarian, and anyone interested is invited to come in and look them over. Complete with illustrations, they are all written in Norwegian and picture life in prison camps and reflect the conditions, religious life and attitudes of the Norwegian people during the war.

The following books may be found in the Pierce County Library, Parkland branch. Any resident of Pierce county is eligible to check out books from this library which is open from 1 to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and 7 to 9 on Thursdays and is located in the old "defense" room, southwest corner of the Parkland school building. Mrs. Ray Renwick is custodian.

CHIEF SEATTLE, by Eva Greenslit Anderson. Caldwell, Idaho: The Caxton Printers, Ltd., 1941.

This is a story of one of the great Indians of America, a friend of the whites yet a champion of the Indians. A book as fascinating as an adventure story or one of romance, it also gives the background of the city of Seattle which gained its name from the chief. Chief Seattle is not one of the newest books, but it is one which no person should miss reading if he is at all interested in the background of the Northwest.

CLUNY BROWN, by Margery Sharp. New York: The Sun Dial Press, 1944.

Cluny Brown is the tall, good natured niece of a London plumber who decided that she is becoming so attractive that she will be better off if sent into "service" in the country. As parlor maid at the Carmel home in Devon, she upsets things for everyone, including Andrew, the son of the Carmels; Betty Cream, a beautiful young lady; Mr. Wilson, the local chemist, and Mr. Belinski, a famous Polish writer. Read this book if you want an amusing time while you find out if Andrew marries Betty or if Mr. Wilson proposes to Cluny and what happens to stop Mr. Belinski from staying with the Carmels all the rest of his life.

CARTOONING, For Fun and Profit. By Lois Fisher. Chicago: Wilcox & Follett Co., 1945.

In her foreword, the author states that this book is meant especially for the person who has wanted all his life to draw—and thinks he cannot. "Many people fail to see the beauty and expressiveness of their own simple drawings, for these people judge their own work against a standard of photographic perfection. The application of a few fundamental principles of drawing technique, plenty of practice, and the will to persevere until the goal is reached will make a skilled technician of anyone," says Miss Fisher. Besides offering practical suggestions on drawing, this book contains many interesting cartoons and pictures which make it interesting to readers of all ages.

THE COKEBURY GAME BOOK, by Arthur M. Depew. New York: Abingdon-Cokesbury Press, 1939.

This book is a compilation of countless games to fit all ages and occasions and the author has had in mind the seeking of ways and means by which individuals may improve their leisure time. Cokesbury Game Book is an ideal one to use when planning a young people's party or as a reference book for things to do on a quiet evening at home.

MIRACLES AHEAD, by Norman V. Carlisle and Frank B. Latham. New York: The Mac-Millan Company, 1945.

Here is an intriguing glimpse into the future as a result of war-production techniques. It gives numerous clues to the future of new metals, fabulous plastics, private flying, miracles of home conveniences, global transportation and many other fascinating subjects.

Theo. L. DeBord For Prosecutor

TED DEBORD

In announcing his candidacy for the republican nomination for prosecuting attorney Theo. L. DeBord cites experience in that office as one of the qualifications for the position he is seeking and adds that he is willing to be judged on his record.

In the fall of 1941 DeBord was appointed to the civil service commission of the city of Tacoma and was elected to succeed himself the following spring. He resigned shortly thereafter when called into army service and after being returned to civil life for physical reasons accepted appointment as a deputy in the office of the prosecuting attorney. For the last two years he has been chief civil deputy.

Determined Effort
"During these past war years the problems of law enforcement are going to be many and difficult. Certain social problems will have to be solved before the whole broad problem of criminality and delinquency will be eased. Insofar as the prosecuting attorney's duties in the solution of these problems are concerned, it will take a bold, determined and thorough effort to bring law violators to justice to the end that the surety of punishment may act as a deterrent. We in this county are today faced squarely with grave problems of juvenile delinquency. I recognize that they are not solely legal. They stem from the very roots of our social order, but I will, if elected, do all that a prosecuting attorney can do to enforce the many laws designed to curb the manifestations of delinquency and to correct its causes. Pierce county's outstanding problem in this respect is organized lawlessness conducted for profit. The enforcement of the criminal laws in such a manner as to remove the profit from commercial lawlessness will tend to aid the solution of juvenile delinquency."

DeBord was born in Kentucky, reared in Montana, took one year of law at the University of Montana and completed his law training at the University of Washington. He came to Tacoma in 1934, lives at 3408 North 21st St., where he owns his home, is married and has one son.

Prizes at Rose Show
The first venture of Mrs. Robert Hamilton of Rt. 4, Box 81, to enter prize roses from her own garden proved successful June 15 and 16 at the South Tacoma Recreation Center. Her roses took first and second place and honorable mention in the amateur class. Taking first place was the McGreedy Yellow, second by Fantasia, and honorable mention by Sonata.

Midland Birthday Club Meets
The Midland Birthday Club held its monthly meeting June 21 at the East 98th street home of Mrs. Lily Campbell. After a delicious luncheon the club honored Mrs. Vera Johnson with individual gifts. Members present were Mesdames Verna Lloyd, Ila Cook, Cora Taylor, Ann Kemp, Vera Johnson, Ruth Williams, Rose Perkins and Alex Kreshak.

Anniversary Party
The 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Mason was honored June 23 by their daughters Mrs. Evelyn McMann and Miss Helen Mason at their home on Knapp and Polk streets. Summer flowers decorated the home and a large two-tiered cake inscribed with the words "Happy Anniversary" topped the luncheon. Numerous guests arrived during the afternoon and evening to pay their respects to the couple who have lived in Midland for 26 years.

REcuperATING
Mrs. McGinnis of 98th and East Monroe streets is now recuperating from blood poisoning, which she got after stepping on a rusty nail.

CHURCH DRIVE SHOWS RESULTS

$17,730 Contributed in First Month; Carload Of Dried Milk on Way

Every penny of the $17,730 contributed in this state to famine relief during the first month of the United Church Overseas Relief drive is going into actual food for war victims, since campaign operating expenses are paid out of other funds, State Chairman Arthur B. Langlie pointed out this week. He said that $15,204 was already on its way in the form of a carload of dried milk sent to Europe.

"All overhead costs are provided for by special appropriations made by church denominational boards from funds specifically designated for this purpose," Langlie said, "plus donations made by individual business men who have been interested in developing an effective functioning organization for overseas relief."

Good Results
"In addition" Langlie said, "we employ the already established channels of state and community Councils of Churches to promote the campaign, thereby keeping operating expenses down to a minimum."

In reporting the first month's accomplishments, Langlie stated that 23,074 pounds of good used clothing and 2,635 pounds of shoes are ready to ship. Almost 16,000 pounds of food have also been donated, mostly by Washington producers, since individual food contributions are not encouraged. "We can buy and ship food much more cheaply and quickly in bulk lots, hence we urge those who desire to help war's helpless victims to contribute money, not food," Langlie said.

Fight House Fly, Health Dept. Urges

An all-out campaign against flies, including the widespread use of DDT insecticides, could eliminate much sickness and even many deaths, the Pierce County Health Department said yesterday.

The fly is mankind's enemy, and he uses germ warfare. By spreading the germs of such communicable diseases as typhoid fever, diarrhea, dysentery and possibly infantile paralysis, flies have killed probably more people than have been killed on all the battlefields of the world.

Flies breed in filth—manure piles, trash dumps, garbage dumps and human wastes in non fly-proof privies. Here they pick up millions of germs and carry them to food, milk, babies' nursing bottles, dishes and cooking utensils.

Destroy Breeding Places
Destruction of fly breeding places is the most effective method of control. Farmers can help by proper disposal of manure. Persons living in rural areas can build sanitary privies. Housewives, restaurants, grocers, butchers, and bakers can eliminate unsanitary garbage and refuse accumulations, and should store foodstuffs properly protected from flies, the health department said.

Close-fitting screens should be used to keep flies outside the premises. Swatting, trapping and spraying are all effective fly-killers. A 5 per cent DDT solution, dissolved in white kerosene, can be used to paint or spray the outside of house doors, screen doors, and walls and ceilings of porches. However, the health department cautioned, DDT should be used with care. Additional information about this effective insect killer can be obtained from the Pierce County Health Department offices at 2324 Pacific Avenue, Tacoma, Washington.

Miss Kathryn Arntzen of Parkland Has Several Interesting Collections

An interesting home to visit is that of Kathryn Arntzen of Garfield street in Parkland. Among some of the antiques she owns are bone dishes which were used in times past for depositing chicken bones or any other bones which one might want to remove from his plate at mealtime. There is a set of six designed with gold which is really a collector's item, and also she has four lone bone dishes.

the glass. Among the salt and peppers of ancient vintage is a set of diamond cut glass salt dips which belonged to Miss Arntzen's grandmother. She also has some unusual salt and peppers which were her mother's.

Oriental Items
An oriental corner contains some very beautiful cloisonne vases and dishes. A nick in the enamel of one of the vases discloses the bent wire fillets which outline the leaves and flowers, the colored enamel being used to fill in between the metal wire. Also in this corner are ebony chopsticks which were brought over from China by a missionary friend, a back-scratcher, brass candle snuffs and candle holders. Particularly intriguing is a small statuette of the god of longevity, holding the apple of long life.

Gardening is Miss Arntzen's hobby. At one time she had a cactus collection of 150 cacti but finding them too much work, she has given most of them away or set them outdoors. She does have the beginnings of a rock collection, however, having an almost perfectly spherical rock which she found while digging in the garden.

Hagerson-Nicholson Rites Saturday

One hundred and fifty persons were present at Ferguson Memorial Chapel in the Presbyterian church Saturday, June 22, at 7 p.m. to witness the wedding of Miss Frances L. Hagerson, daughter of Russell L. Hagerson of Elmhurst and Mrs. Leona Burman of San Francisco, and Alan Welch Nicholson of the Tacoma Country Club whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Nicholson of Vancouver, Washington.

The bride wore a custom made gown of French jersey which she herself had designed and her bouquet was of calla lilies. Her attendants, wearing ecru gowns and carrying sweetpeas were Mrs. R. G. Hopper as matron of honor and Geraldine Johnson and Ruth Horr as bridesmaids. Mrs. R. W. Burman lighted the candles.

John R. Klarich acted as best man and James Hoff and Richard Crabtree were the ushers. Mrs. R. C. Ortlund, at the organ, accompanied her husband as he sang.

For going away the bride changed into a three-piece black suit also of her own design. After June 27 the young couple, who are Stadium high school graduates, will be at home at Clover Park.

a corsage of gardenias and carnations and the groom's mother wore pale green and black jersey with the same flowers. The tea table was centered with an arrangement of white sweet peas and snapdragons flanked by candles in crystal holders. The tea service which was used is an heirloom in the bride's family. Mrs. Viola De Vries of Seattle and Mrs. J. H. Coblentz, aunts of the bride, poured while another aunt, Mrs. C. E. Beymer of Seattle, and Miss Lucille Saugen cut the cake which was in the shape of a Maltese Cross topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Dave Teodoro, Miss Arline McLellan and Miss Lois Lester assisted with the serving. Mrs. Earl Dryden was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Hal Davis and Mrs. Tom Wilson were in charge of gifts. Little Jo Marie Coblentz, a cousin of the bride, posed the groom's cake in an antique silver basket.

Home at Clear Lake
Before leaving for a southern Oregon ocean resort, the bride changed into a black dressmaker suit with which she wore a large hat and patent and white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. The young couple will make their summer home at Clear Lake until they return to Washington State College in the fall. Both are graduates of Lincoln high school and at Washington State College the bride is an Alpha Phi pledge. The groom is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha there, was president of his sophomore class and a prominent athlete in basketball, baseball and golf.

George Davis, son of Mrs. Esther Davis of Parkland, was recently awarded a high honor at the University of Washington. Each year one student is chosen from the graduating class of a school to receive the American Institute School Medal for general excellence in architecture. As president of the fraternity, George presided at the banquet functions.

At the present time he is working in the Davis mill in Tacoma which is a millwork supply organization.
