Spawned by National Power Lobby

Any person naively assuming that Initiative 166 represents a spontaneous gesture of self-protection on the part of local citizens who are concerned about "defects" in the present power district law, should be quickly disabused of this impression by examination of the incontestable facts.

Initiative 166 needs only to be viewed on the background of national utility policy and practice to be revealed as what it is—the latest attempt on the part of eastern-controlled monopolies to deceive the people of Washington, through a trick, into voting against their own economic interests in favor of the special privileges of the private utility companies.

In 1930, long years of patient effort by the rural people of this state finally culminated in a successful initiative to the legislature which enables counties, or lesser areas within counties, to establish by majority vote their own utility districts for the purpose of owning and operating their own electric and water business. Since then the people have voted again and again in confirmation and substantiation of this right.

The people of 29 counties of this state have gone on record in favor of purchasing, or condemning and purchasing, or building their own electric systems.

Year after year, when P. U. D. commissioners have come up for election or reelection, the people of these counties have reaffirmed this same strong intention.

Moreover, in 1940, when the private utilities sponsored a Let the People Vote campaign, based on a measure similar in all important respects to the current innocent-sounding "166," the people sent the measure—Initiative 139—to its legislative grave.

Yet the proponents of "166" have the gall to claim that the people have not been consulted in the matter on their public power acquisition program, but must submit to yet another vote all attempts on the part of their own elected representatives to accomplish the expressed will of the people.

If the private utilities can succeed in interposing the barrier of the costly and infrequent election process between every business-like proposal of the PUD commissioners and its actual realization, they will have succeeded in putting public power officials into a sack-race in which the commissioners must flounder and stumble in helpless inefficiency while the private companies go scot-free about their profitable business.

This, and only this, is the intention of the current power-company-inspired Initiative 166.

Management Must Lead

What Ira Mosher, chairman of the board of the National Association of Manufacturers, told a group of California industrialists recently comes with particular force and good grace from the management side of the table. Good employer-employee relations, says Mr. Mosher, could be "more instrumental in solving our labor troubles than all the courts and boards and commissions you can think up."

And he adds some heartening observations:

I've travelled this country from side to side and from top to bottom this year, and I know that management is impressed with the absolute necessity of having the good will of their employees in a successful enterprise. The management that thinks workers can be shoved around in this day and age had better wake up. The parade has passed him by.

Union labor has brought upon itself plenty of criticism from management—and for its irresponsible tactics, from the public also. It is a healthy sign that management, in its own gatherings, has been going in for some introspection and self-criticism too. Mr. Mosher's remarks are but typical of many.

After all, management has the tools, the plant, the money capital, the executive experience, and it sits in the control tower. As several of its spokesmen have said and underlined: It must lead the way. — The Monitor.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read next Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.
Golden Text: James 1:12. "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."
The following verse from I Corinthians is included in the Lesson-Sermon: "When this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory."

MILK-WHOLE GRAIN DIET

Farmers With Plenty of Skim Milk Advised To Feed To Pullets

Pullets will lay well on a diet of skim milk or buttermilk and whole grain.

So says Fred Frasier, extension poultryman at the State College of Washington, who gives the following tips for poultry raisers who have plenty of milk for their laying pullets and prefer to feed it to them.

A combination of wheat-oats-barley makes a satisfactory whole grain mixture, Frasier believes. The proportion to use is 50 pounds of wheat; 25 pounds of heavy oats; and 25 pounds of barley (or a 2-1-1 mixture).

For Leghorn pullets, he recommends about 17 pounds of grain mixture per day per 100 birds; this amount should be increased to about 19 pounds for heavier breeds. He says this mixture is ordinarily fed three times a day in clean, dry litter—at morning, noon, and late afternoon or early evening.

51 Pounds Per 100

The amount of milk that laying pullets will drink, if it is kept before them at all times, is approximately 51 pounds a day for 100 birds, according to the extension poultryman. However, the quantity that is fed may be as small as 43 pounds, but should not be less than this (which is about 5 gallons).

Either sweet or sour milk is satisfactory, continues Frasier. "But it is better if you stick to one kind," he says. "A practical program is to feed uniformly sweet milk in the winter and uniformly sour milk in the summer. Birds should have about 18 feet of milk drinking-space. Containers made of tin, wood, enamel or crockery are ordinarily best for milk. They should be kept thoroughly clean and disinfected.

Milk Before Water

Water should not be placed before the birds until they have drunk their quota of milk, Frasier stresses. "But, as soon as the milk is gone, it is important that it be replaced immediately with water."

In closing, Frasier adds that it is well if "hen-size oyster or clam shell and grit be kept before the birds at all times to furnish calcium and assist in the digestion process. Succulent green feed or alfalfa hay improves the ration." He also adds that "a source of vitamin D, during the fall, winter and early spring months, is essential."

CVA Endorsed by Secretary Krug

SEATTLE—Unqualified endorsement of Senator Hugh B. Mitchell's Columbia Valley Authority plan was voiced by Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug at the Public Ownership League annual meeting held in Seattle at Eagle's hall last Saturday afternoon, October 12.

Secretary Krug declared that "the idea of that bill (Mitchell's CVA) was sound, the principles were right, the objective was not only desirable, but in my opinion essential to the rapid development of this region. I wish to endorse the idea, principles and objective."

Appearing with Secretary Krug at the Seattle meeting, Senator Mitchell warned that "Power Initiative 166 is a tricky measure devised by private power interests to obstruct the progress of public power in this region."

Churches Send Relief Overseas

Less than half of one per cent has been lost of the over 12 million pounds of food and clothing sent to war victims in the past year through the nation's Protestant churches, according to Rev. Vinton E. Ziegler of New York City, executive secretary of Church World Service, in Seattle this week to inspect the Pacific Northwest depository for United Church Overseas Relief. Even that slight loss, he said, was fully reimbursed through insurance coverage.

"Black market pilfering of shipments is avoided by carefully guarding of goods at the docks," Ziegler said. "Once off the docks, the food and clothing are safely channeled through our organization to the local parishes where they are distributed on the basis of need. Our shipments now total 1 1/2 million pounds each month. Incidentally, overhead costs are practically nil, since we use church channels already set up and operating."

Rev. Ziegler is in charge of the material aid department for the national church relief organization and has just completed a tour of the eight regional depositories in this country, preliminary to the national fall drive for overseas relief gifts.

Washington's United Church Overseas Relief drive which started in May has added materially to the success of the national effort with its contributions of clothing and money to buy food, Rev. Ziegler stated.

For safety: inspect, clean and repair flues, chimneys and stovepipes now.

In a double ring ceremony performed at 8 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Parkland, Miss Barbara Jeanne Dorfner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dorfner of Elk Plain, became the bride of Mr. Donald N. Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris E. Ford of Parkland.

The Rev. J. P. Pflueger performed the ceremony with more than four hundred guests present. Mrs. Clifford Olson sang "I Love Thee" and as the bride and groom knelt at the altar, "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Brann Malmin at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin made with a court train and topped with a fingertip veil cascading from a tiara of seed pearls. She was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Marie Dorfner, who wore a gown of pale yellow net. Both carried bouquets of rosebuds and carnations.

Mrs. Howard Libby of Seattle, a former roommate of the bride at Washington State College, and Miss Shirley Williams were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were of pale blue chiffon and they both carried pink chrysanthemums. The three attendants wore rhinestone bracelets, gifts of the bride. As flower girl, little Kathleen Willis wore white net and carried a basketful of pink chrysanthemums and wore the bride's gift of a gold locket.

Mr. Ford chose for his best man his brother, Mr. Morris E. Ford, Jr., and as ushers Stanley Willis and Paul Larson, who also lit the candles.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a black crepe skirt and blouse of pale yellow while the groom's mother wore a gown of aqua crepe. They both wore corsages of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

The reception was held in the church parlors where pink and blue lilies and tall white tapers decorated the serving table. At the urns were Mrs. Leslie L. Becker, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Lyle Ford Drushel, aunt of the groom. Mrs. Ralph D. Simpson cut and served the bride's cake. Assisting in serving were Mesdames Lloyd Dillingham and Chester Barker, aunts of the bride; Leslie L. Beckstead, cousin of the bride; Harold Smallwood, Misses Lois Rohr, Agnes Pink, Elaine Barker, cousin of the bride, and Arlene Walk, Miss Alice Ford, sister of the groom, had charge of the guest book.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rubicam and son Nicholas of Seattle, Mr. Lee Niles who at the present time is serving with the merchant marine. Also Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conner, Mr. Earl Conner and little Robert Conner, Jr., from Centralia; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Penny, Mrs. Dora Mullaney of Tenino and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Breckert of Centralia. Also Mrs. Wm. S. Lingley of Chicago, who will be joined soon by Mr. Lingley, making their home in Seattle.

For her wedding trip by motor to Canada the bride wore a black wool crepe dressmaker suit with gray topper and black accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Kapowsin high school and attended Washington State College. She is a past Royal Princess of the Sunshine Girls of the Knights of Pythias. Her husband is a Lincoln high school graduate, served three years in the U. S. naval air corps. His decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Presidential Unit Citation and two air medals.

The new home will be in Parkland.

$135,000,000 Can Explain a Lot of Strange Things! Where does the moneyed opposition to Initiative 166 center? Who is making the greatest effort to deny the people the right to vote on how their money is spent? It is not just coincidence that the opposition centers where a $135,000,000 deal is in the making for the purchase of Puget Sound Power & Light Company by a PUD syndicate, with a $1,300,000 fee to the promoter. What would this opposition do? It would withhold from you—the citizen, voter, taxpayer, user of electricity—the right to vote on such serious expenditures of public money. Initiative 166 simply provides for a public YES or NO vote on PUD bond issues for the purpose of buying out power systems—the same privilege of citizenship which is freely accorded you on school bonds, city and county bonds, and other public bonds. ROADS

By E. L. Bower

Good roads and a good newspaper are two requisites for a good healthy community. As the Mountain Highway was being opened up there was a man who fought against it; then he fought against the paving, declaring the taxes would eat him up. Today that man is living in a one-room house just waiting for death to overtake him.

I never knew him to favor anything that he would have to help pay for. This was not his philosophy: "Give to the world the best that you have and the best will come back to you." His was:

"Give nothing," and his returns were just that.

We must elect leaders who love the people and love life with all its sacrifices. Lewis and Clark and that noble, loyal Shoshone Indian woman gave their best in giving to us this great Northwest and now we must carry on where they left off.

Trunk lines are not enough. Arteries must have veins to supply them with a perfect circulating system. Cities will take care of themselves if we develop the rural communities by connecting them with good roads. It is one of the sickening sights to see our county money being wasted on roads that go nowhere, while fertile lands lie idle because they offer stout resistance.

It was one of the state's worst mistakes to allow foreign and domestic capital to exploit our great timber crop, without a deposit large enough to clear roads through the logged-off areas where now, nothing can penetrate the dense undergrowth.

Just give me a road and let me live,

Just give me a chance to work and give.

(Concluded next week)

Entertain Canadian Newlyweds—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flannery entertained at dinner on Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Riden of Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Riden were married at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Edie, on October 12. Guests at the Flannery home were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Riden, Mr. and Mrs. John Edie, Mrs. Betty Cronquist, Mrs. Oscar Edie (the bride's mother) and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Dobeash (the former Jean Flannery). The newly-married couple expect to return to Canada soon where they will make their future home.

Returns From Trip—Edward Flannery Jr., has recently returned from a trip and according to "Eddie" it was a pleasure trip indeed. After sightseeing in Yellowstone Park he traveled east as far as Minneapolis where he bought a motorcycle and started toward home. He visited his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Warburton, in Hanna, Wyoming.

Hunting Season Again—Among those who shouldered a rifle and took off in search of big game were Kenny and Earl (Dutch) Kuper, Emmitt Rich, Oz Olson, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Tibbets, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Ockfen. But as far as we can learn there was only one animal brought home and that was a four-pointer killed by a young man by the name of Reynolds.

 Fall leaves and dahlias were used throughout the rooms and a Columbus day motif was carried out. The tea table was centered with three miniature ships on which were printed "Joe and Avis, Dec. 27." Assisting were Mrs. Merle Loop (Inez Hovland) and the Misses Edna and Charlene Martens. Miss Gladys Hovland and Mrs. Stewart Severson, an aunt of the bride, poured.
 The guests included Mesdames T. K. Bowles, William Engler, Burrill Bresmann, Kenneth Cogdill, Kenneth Miller, Arthur Stolz, John Klinzmann, Byron Bryson, Ronald Gratias, Keith Karpen, Olai Hageness, Robert E. St. Clair, Robert Clark, Norman Magness, Misses Florence and Laure Hauge, Edna and Charlene Martens, Anita and Elizabeth Stuen, Jean and Bernice Doering, Janet Hauge, Janice Kittleson, Vivien Wehnam, Beverly Swanson, Marilyn Pflueger, Dorothy Satterlie, Gwynne Williams, Frances Rosensweig, Mildred Knudtson, Gladys Mohr, Jean and Dolores Magness, Shirley Severson, Gertrude Tingelstad and Marie St. Clair.
 Out of town guests were Mesdames Merle Loop, Andrew Jensen, Amiel Wolfe and Miss Marlene Wolfe from Seattle, Mrs. Art Pelell from Belfair, Miss Marjorie Wentworth from Puyallup, and Mrs. George Welling from Olympia.

FARM INCOMES TO STAY HIGH
STATE ECONOMIST SAYS FARMERS WILL ENJOY PROSPERITY IN 1947
 Farm incomes are expected to continue at relatively high levels in 1947 even though some weakening demand for agricultural products is anticipated in the last half of the year, says R. M. Turner, extension economist at the State College of Washington.
 Turner, just returned from the national agricultural outlook conference in Washington, D. C., reports that national leaders expect prices received by farmers in 1947 to exceed the 1945 average, which was twice as high as the average from 1935 to 1939. Along with this, the prices farmers pay will also average higher next year.
 The export market for farm products is expected to hold up well through most of 1947 but toward the end of the year this demand will probably slacken. Economists feel that as many countries begin to get back into food production they will begin to use their dollar credits to buy larger amounts of industrial equipment and manufactured goods rather than agricultural produce.
 Strong domestic purchasing power is expected to create a continuing heavy demand for farm products with the result that farm incomes will remain at relatively high levels during the year. Consumer incomes generally are expected to average higher in 1947 than in 1946. A large share of this increase in consumer income, however, will be absorbed in the purchase of manufactured goods as these products begin to come on the market in increasing quantity.
 Turner points out that should any of the farm crops, known as Steagall crops, drop considerably they will be supported by the government at about 90 per cent of parity. He says that this support program means that during the next three years, no serious drop in farm prices, such as occurred in 1921, appears probable.

PARKLAND SCHOOL EMPTIES IN 55 SECONDS
 The Parkland School building was emptied in a flat 55 seconds last Wednesday morning in response to an insistent bell which meant "fire drill" to the students.
 The fire drill was considered very successful as there has been a large increase in the enrollment this year. 685 children now attend the school.

Washington Cows Lead the Nation
 The State of Washington stands first in the nation in average butterfat production per cow on Dairy Herd Improvement Association test.
 Figures released by the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that in 1945, Washington cows on DHIA test produced an average of 376 pounds of butterfat. This compares with a national average of 346 pounds. California was in second place with 373 pounds average, with Delaware and Utah tied for third at 356 closely followed by Idaho with 355.
 The report showed that during the year there were 14,575 cows on test in the 14 Washington DHIA's that turned in a report. The steady development of pure-bred and grade herds, good management by dairy operators and the production of high quality pasture and forage crops, are credited with having placed Washington in top place. M. B. Nichols, extension dairyman at the State College of Washington says that these three have combined to boost the state to the top in the dairy production picture.
 Nichols also believes that the steady increase in the making of grass silage by Western Washington dairymen and the spread in the use of sprinkler irrigation on pastures has contributed to the advances made.
 He points out that testing under the DHIA plan is on the increase in this state and that now there are approximately 25,000 cows under standard test plus another 15,000 being tested under the owner-sampler plan.

All County Votes For Commissioners

Les A. Hudson, who was nominated for county commissioner in the first district by a 2 to 1 majority over his present opponent, pointed out to residents in the rest of the county that they vote for all commissioner candidates in the finals.

Hudson won a splendid endorsement from his neighbors in Edgewood and Puyallup Valley friends in the primary election when he carried Edgewood, North Puyallup, Milton, Fife, Sumner and was high democrat in five Puyallup precincts.

With nearly 12 years of experience in county government as a road laborer, road foreman, deputy assessor and superior court clerk, Hudson has an up-to-date knowledge of county affairs which no other candidate can match.

Hudson is running for the office on a broad program of county development including road building, increased hospital facilities, flood control, traffic safety and economy.

HOW'S YOUR LIPSTICK?
How does your lipstick look? Smooth and satiny? If it doesn't, perhaps you aren't putting it on correctly. Try this formula. First, powder your lips lightly. Then take your lipstick and outline your upper lip, using nice firm strokes. Bite down. Now fill in both lips with up and down strokes until smooth. Take a tissue and blot. Powder once more... lightly and apply just a thin film of lipstick.
