BOXHOLDER OR OCCUPANT
RURAL ROUTE

By Clarence LaCrosse

We've been missing some of our city people these days since most of them try to get a vacation during this time of the year. Already on their are Mr. and Mrs. Jensen, Walt Young, Herman Larson and a host of others. Some of the ones who would like to go are being content with a week off and spending that at a local lake or on the Canal. Anyway, a vacation is a vacation, no matter where it is.

Speaking of vacations, this week is sort of one here at the Times. With Tuesday being the Fourth it makes a short week. Your Times will appear as usual on Thursday, mostly due to the fine efforts of Joe Ghesquiere, Joe Hamanaka and Paul Arlton, who are working on Monday in order to get it on the press. This individual is hoping to be enjoying a few days in the Olympics, fishing and taking some photographs which I have been wanting to get for several years. That all depends, however, on whether or not my boy gets over the chicken pox before that time. Sure are a lot of children going through the inconvenience of staying inside for ten days or so while nature takes its course. According to the latest health report for the county there are some 500 youngsters going through the same waiting period.

Don and Shirley Strandemo, too, are getting all fixed to take off for a short vacation. No, they are not closing up in the meantime. We understand, too, that Floyd Hicks has been spending some time in Detroit, vacation or otherwise.

The Times office has been a busy place the past week, what with two sides of the very hot school district out in Spanaway, together with several of the more aggressive political candidates working on publicity and printing problems. Looks like the election is under way. Filings for the various offices began right after the first and continue through the 20th. After that the big push is on. Well, that certainly is what makes life interesting.

PLC campus is again buzzing with people participating in a district convention, that of the Luther League. With building under full steam ahead on the new Music and Chapel building there is much activity hereabouts this summer. Many improvements have been made and others are under way. Thus progressive people continue to make a good school better.

Parkland's championship-aspiring junior American Legion club added another pelt to their collection last Friday when they shellacked Shelton 14 to 2.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schnelle of Lake Shore Drive celebrated their 43rd wedding anniversary last Saturday.

Hiway 99 Merchants Worry About Tenino Cut-off Signs

The battle of the Tenino cut-off has flared up again after a three-year "truce." And again it's the clamorous Olympia Chamber of Commerce that's starting the fuss.

There are two highways between Tenino and Tacoma. One via Yelm and Pacific Avenue is 40 miles long and the other via Olympia and South Tacoma is 43 miles.

Back in 1947, the merchants along Pacific Avenue in Parkland and Spanaway joined with businessmen of Yelm to erect a nine-foot neon sign at Tenino to point out to tourists the shorter and faster route—Highway 5-H.

Immediately more and more travelers started forsaking congested Highway 99 in favor of more direct Highway 5-H.

For some reason this got the Olympia CC all riled up and they reportedly applied pressure on the state highway department to force the removal of the sign.

A few days later, Ray Pochel, president of the Tenino Cutoff Association, got a letter from Clarence Shain, director of highways, declaring that his office "had received numerous complaints regarding the traffic hazards created by the sign."

"You are therefore directed to immediately remove or cover this sign so it cannot be seen by motorists," the letter continued.

After having invested nearly $2,000 in the sign, the Parkland-Yelm businessmen were naturally a trifle perturbed by the mandate. But they agreed to dismantle the sign on the promise that the state would erect two signs showing the mileages on the two highways in question.

So the Cut-off sign was removed and the state highway department put up two neutral signs as pictured on this page. For awhile it looked like everyone was going to be happy.

But no, not the Olympia Chamber! It soon was able to dream up new grievances to fume about.

They didn't like the first sign. A few days ago they started insisting, as quoted in the South Tacoma Star, that the word "Olympia" be in larger letters.

But the second sign irritated the Capital City moguls even more. They started to cry that this sign was "diverting almost 50% of incoming tourists away from Olympia, South Tacoma and the Olympic Peninsula, and over a non-scenic cutoff which leads them quickly into Seattle."

Now the Olympians have joined with South Tacoma businessmen and motel owners along Highway 99 to form a new association whose main purpose, according to the Star, seems to be "erecting a much larger sign instructing tourists regarding the ad-

THE HIGHWAY SIGNS near Tenino are "confoozin' but not amoozin'," according to a newly-formed association of Olympia and South Tacoma businessmen who hate to see traffic diverted toward Spanaway and Parkland on Highway 5-H. In the pictures is F. W. Mathias, secretary of the Olympia Chamber of Commerce. He points out that Olympia should be in larger letters in the first sign, and that everything should be in smaller letters in the second sign.—(Cuts courtesy South Tacoma Star).

Castle Site Picked for Bethel Hi

By the fairly decisive vote of 867 to 478, patrons of the Bethel School District last Saturday chose the Castle site at the Muck-Kapowsin Road and George Brown Road as the location for their new $750,000 consolidated high school.

Voters in the Spanaway precinct favored the Bowman site by a five-to-one margin, but every other precinct turned in one-sided majorities for the Castle site. A total of nearly 1,400 ballots were cast.

This decision will allow the school board to start planning the new high school. The next board meeting is set for this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Roy grade school. The public is invited.

Spanaway registered a total of 84 ballots for the Castle site and 387 for the Bowman site. A mild surprise was the 71-44 preference for the Castle site in Roy. Eleven voters in the Orting precincts turned down both sites. The unofficial returns, not including some 30 absentee ballots, are as follows:

Fireworks "Big Biz" Outside City Limits

"Hey, grandpaw, you can come out of your air raid shelter now. Firecracker season is over!"

One of the dubious advantages of living outside the city limits is that there are no restrictions on the use or sale of fireworks every Fourth of July.

As a result, fireworks has become a "big business" in the suburban areas of the county. In the one-mile stretch between 96th Street and Airport Way on Pacific Avenue were located no less than 14 firecracker stands during the recently-completed season.

Competition was keen; one stand at 99th Street employed two gigantic searchlights to attract customers every night during the past week. Several stands were reportedly selling sky-rockets, Roman candles and other illegal pyrotechnics on a black market basis.

But most of the dealers report that sales were quite poor this year; some commented that they didn't intend to ever try to sell fireworks again.

THIS IS probably the last time this 50-acre tract will be sown to oats. Before long, a spanking new high school will rise here and will be the secondary education center for the vast south-central Pierce county area now served by two inadequate high schools, Roy and Kapowsin. This field is located one mile east of Elk Plain on the road to Graham. The site was approved by nearly a two-to-one margin in the Bethel district election last Saturday, although Spanaway voted decisively against it. The school board will convene tonight to outline plans for the future.

JULY 4 WAS 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF TERRIBLE TROLLEY TRAGEDY

Last Tuesday was celebrated throughout America as the 174th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. But many residents of Pierce county grimly remembered the date as the 50th anniversary of the worst tragedy in the county's history.

It was on the 4th of July, 1900, that a jam-packed streetcar from South Tacoma plunged off Delin Street into the gulch below, carrying with it 110 passengers, no less than 44 of whom were killed and an equal number injured.

Parklanders and Spanawayites are especially interested in the accident because many residents of these two communities were aboard the ill-fated trolley that morning. "Old Betsy," the little steam train serving the South End, connected with the Tacoma traction system in South Tacoma, which was then known as Edison.

Practically everybody in southwest Washington was heading for downtown Tacoma that day. Tacoma was to be the scene of the "grandest festival pageant in history," featuring a gigantic parade.

The whole county had been aglow on the night before. In Parkland, the

PICNIC DAYS AHEAD

THE picnic season is on, and from now until the end of summer, picnicking will be a favorite pastime among the young people. Families who indulge in trekking to the wide open spaces for lunch or supper should have one of those lightweight insulated ice boxes which are on the market and which keep food hot or cold for many hours.

For a cold meal, they are especially ideal. Beverages can be carried along in the container, cold cuts, salads, greens, pickles and all the trimmings can be packed, even ice cream for dessert. An assortment of sparkling drinks can be carried nicely.

Pale dry ginger ale, cola and fruit flavored beverages are all good picnic drinks. The individual sized bottles are excellent for this purpose, and give everyone a choice of drinks.

It's easy to carry fruit juices in jars too, and, prepare a delicious drink for the crowd.

LADIES AID HAS 31ST BIRTHDAY

A feeling of warm friendship prevailed in the Chapel and Friendship Room of the new Trinity Lutheran parish hall when the Ladies Aid celebrated their 31st anniversary last Wednesday.

Mrs. L. L. Vodden greeted the assembled members and friends. The group sang two hymns and Mrs. Kellmer N. Roe led in Scripture reading. Several important events dating as far back as Jan. 2, 1896, were brought to the attention of the group. The present Ladies Aid dates back to June, 1919.

Mrs. S. C. Severson, life membership secretary, presented life memberships to Mrs. T. H. Olson and Mrs. Ed Thompson. This is an honor given to the faithful workers in the church. In the absence of Mrs. H. L. J. Dahl, the Ladies Aid historian, Mrs. Anna Fenney related the reasons why Mrs. Olson and Mrs. Thompson had been chosen.

Those who have previously received life memberships are Mrs. Guri Fjelde, Miss Rena Jermstad, Mrs. Marit Kittleson, Mrs. Anna Fenney, Mrs. Elfrida Colton and Mrs. Ed Antonson. The two oldest members present were Mrs. Kittleson and Mrs. Colton.

Mrs. Gudrun Ness Ronning sang three numbers, after which the affair was closed with prayer and doxology.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a long table decked with sprays of roses and centered with a large, beautifully-decorated anniversary cake. Mrs. T. H. Olson and Mrs. Ed Thompson poured. Hostesses were Mrs. L. Stanke, Mrs. John Nelson, Mrs. Ed Antonson, and Mrs. L. Halvorson.

New Parochial School Hires Two Teachers

Mrs. Iver Johnson of Parkland and Richard Hawley of Tacoma have accepted calls extended by the Parkland Lutheran Church to teach in its Christian day school to open in September.

The school will be conducted in the same building that has been used by the Concordia Lutheran School for the past two decades. The Concordia school will move into its new building in Tacoma this fall.

Hawley is a graduate of Bethany Lutheran College in Mankato, Minn. Last month, he received his B.A. from Concordia Lutheran Seminary in St. Louis. This will be his vicar year in Parkland.

Rev. Walther Gullixson, pastor of the sponsoring church, announces that applications for enrollment in the school will be accepted starting August 1.

Next Thursday's speaker will be Paul Benton, whose subject will be "Future of Television." TIMES REPRINTS GOEBEL'S STORY OF SPANAWAY MURDER MYSTERY

Robert Goebel is back in the headlines again. Back in the county jail where he spent 47 days without charge last year, the 70-year-old Brookdale handyman is wondering how long the sheriff's department is going to detain him this time.

He was hauled off to the cooler last year simply because he had found the clothes of the missing girl while he was on a morning walk. Last week, he was first spirited off to Shelton, then back to Tacoma on a warrant served by Sheriff Lee Croft.

In April, 1949, right after he had been released from jail the first time, Goebel wrote a letter to the Parkland Times (then known as the Prairie Pointer) in which he, for the first time, was able to tell the public his side of the story. The letter said, in part:

"... John Kendersi (sheriff's deputy) took me to the county jail where I was held three days without being questioned. When they did question me, I told them I was not guilty of any of the charges they tried to pin on me. I not only told them this once, but a dozen or more times. All they did was stall me. Then I asked when they would let me out to go home? I was told: 'You'll have long whiskers when you get out.'
"I can't remember all dates, but from then on they tried to break me down but failed to do so as I am not guilty on any charge. So they would try any old way and keep me as long as they could. I asked for counsel 18 or 19 times. Every time I asked, John said murder charges would be filed against me then.
"This has been a one-sided newspaper story all the time, so they say: 'Talk for yourself, Bill.' If they found evidence but not enough to allow filing charges, why didn't they turn me out before I got to be a nervous wreck? They kept all newspapers from me so I could not see outside news...
"One evening I was called into Kendersi's office and he and another officer tried to break me down by saying: 'You yellow rat, you ape man, you murderer, you murdered Miss Noreen McNicholas...' I was asked to take a truth serum test. This dope put me under and I am not all over it yet. Still, they got nothing from

Married Seventy Years Ago Today . . .

THE DEMERS ARE ALERT, HEALTHY

He rocked himself in his chair as he spoke. John Demers' voice was soft and faint, but his memory was sharp and clear.

it, the better I like it . . . milk and corn flakes—no sugar."

WENT TO DANCES
Seventy years ago today, Justine M. Roy and John Demers were married in the little town of Rice Lake

Demers went on to advise "any man" to leave tobacco and liquor alone. Said he: ". . . must be an awful bother to a man when he gets it in his system . . . He suffers . . ."

Romance? "There wasn't much to it . . . We just lived one mile apart, went to the same school together and went to dances," the 90-year-old woman replied crisply.

Demers was born in 1859 in the village of St. Patrick, Kingwick province, Quebec, and his wife in 1860 in St. Alphonse province. Nine years after they were married, they moved to the Pacific Northwest, settling first in Buckley, where for the next 14 years Demers worked as a fireman in a mill.

Last Sunday at the Midland hall over 350 persons gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Demers of 10436 South Brayton. Five generations—6 from the second, 16 from the third, 44 from the fourth, and 3 from the fifth—were represented at the reception planned by Mrs. William Thaden Sr., one of the couple's three living children.

MRS. DEMERS OBJECTS
"The second time he came back broke," Mrs. Demers interjected laughingly. He wanted to go back up again, but Mrs. Demers put her foot down. It made her so "mad" that she told him: "If you go again, I never want to see you again . . ." (And she meant it, she said.)

SHE STILL COOKS
For the occasion Demers' younger half-brother, Mike—the only other living member—his wife and son drove west from Rice Lake to attend the reception.

Moving to McKinley hill in 1904, Demers worked as a freight car inspector, before settling down on a Waller road chicken ranch in 1923. During the last war they moved to their present home in Parkland.

Both pioneers are quick and in good health. Says Mrs. Demers: "I still cook . . . we just eat plain cooking. We don't eat much, but have good appetites . . . and we sleep pretty good."

Of the six children born to the couple, three are still living. They are Arthur and Henry Demers and Mrs. Thaden, all of Tacoma.

However, she says her eyes are bothering her. To guard them from the summer sun, she wears a sunvisor, even indoors. "I can't read much," she shook her head, "my eyes are pretty bad, but I like to read."

The Demers are active members of the St. John of the Woods church in Midland, where they were specially honored by the Rev. Father Robert Logan last Sunday morning. Church friends presented them with 70 one dollar bills for the occasion.

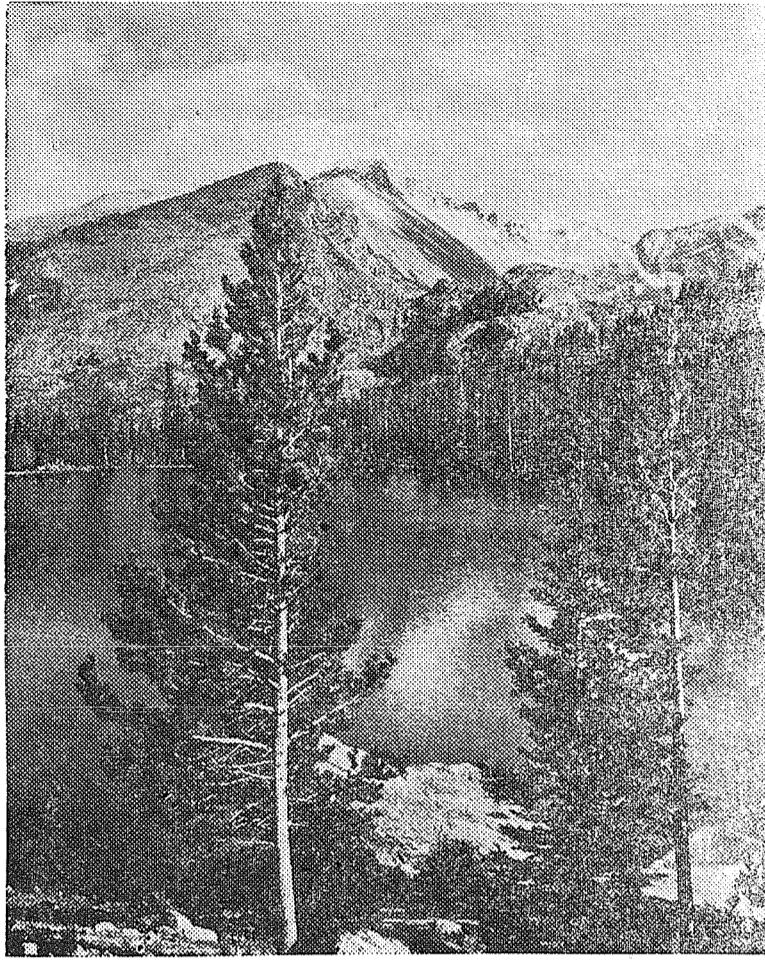

Since she can't read much, Mrs. Demers added that they both listen to the radio as a "pastime." He favors "The Lone Ranger" program and she, "Life of Riley."

BABBITT MAILES RECORD
On Monday, at the request of Mrs. A. L. Bombardier, a granddaughter, radio singer Harry Babbitt mailed the Demers the singer's special recording of "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

LIKES CORN FLAKES
The couple are up around 7 and retire about 8, taking several rest periods during the day. The Demers always have cereal for breakfast, soup at noon and tea in the evening. Smiled Demers: "I've eaten corn flakes for the last 30 years . . . The more I eat

Silver threads among the gold . . . He rocked himself easily in the newly-upholstered chair . . . 70 happy years together. She listened attentively, contributing this and that to his story. Through the window the warm afternoon sun streamed into the living room and danced on their silvery hair. "Vive la Demers!" the birds outside chirped—vive la Demers!

Tourists Tramp to Park's Peak

Long's Peak in Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado, across Bear Lake, carries snow on its lofty peak the year 'round. Highest peak in the park, its whitened summit looks down on many such cool, blue lakes and each year is the goal of tourists who scale the slopes to place their names in a register. Within the park is a 35-mile chain of rugged peaks, a section of the Continental Divide.

Wartenbe in Race For Commissioner

Wartenbe points out that he is thoroughly familiar with the need for good roads and bridges and is capable of directing a long-range road improvement program.

Also on Wartenbe's 12-point platform of progress are county parks, traffic safety, drainage, juvenile delinquency, social security, health and garbage, flood control, labor and business, economy, hospital facilities and advisory council.

During his long residence in suburban Tacoma, his friends and neighbors have recognized him as a tireless civic booster. Wartenbe is now serving his fifth term as president of the Midland Improvement Club, is secretary-treasurer of the Midland Water Co., and precinct committeeman.

He also holds memberships in the Eagles Tacoma Aerie No. 3, Collins Grange, Paul Bunyan Rifle and Sportsmen's Club, the Teamsters Union Local 313, and the Sawmill and Timber Workers union. He has been active in promoting Boy Scouts, 4-H, schools, churches and other organizations of vital benefit to the community.

The candidate is married and has two daughters and one son. His campaign will be conducted from his home at Rt. 4, Box 382, Tacoma.

Trolley Wreck of 1900

But Car 116 wasn't to be stopped. As it rounded the curve, it toppled on its side, skidded 25 feet and plunged over the side of the high wooden trestle into the ravine.

A man and a boy who had jumped off the car a split-second before the catastrophe were first to sound the alarm. People who had already started to line downtown streets suddenly forgot the parade and rushed to the death scene. The 60 wounded and 44 dead had to be hauled to the top of the gulch by rope.

All hospitals in the city were jammed. St. Joseph's had to treat some of its patients on the lawn. Because thousands of people had come to Tacoma from all directions, the parade wasn't called off, but about half of the entries cancelled their appearance after learning of the tragedy.

Hiway 99 Merchants

Residents and businessmen along Highway 5-H are now wondering whether the state highway department will allow such a sign to be put up at approximately the same location as the one it ordered taken down three years ago.

Get-Acquainted Party At Benedict's Parish

A get-acquainted party will be held for all parishioners of St. Benedict's parish of Spanaway, next Sunday afternoon, July 9, at the home of Mrs. L. Boyle.

Plans for the get-together were made at a recent meeting of St. Benedict's Altar Society at the home of Mrs. Boyle. Those assisting the hostess will be Miss Mary Keough, Mrs. Ted Kintz Jr., Mrs. Mary Gardner and Mrs. Ed Flannery, ways and means chairman.

Mrs. William Schmechel and Mrs. Leo Monahan were appointed to a committee to visit the sick. A brief talk was given by Father Grier.

Next meeting of the Altar society will take place July 10 at the home of Mrs. Jennie Kanton's mother, 78th and A in Tacoma. Hostesses will be Mrs. Kanton and Mrs. Eutrophia Keough.

FEDERAL TAXES CONTROL OVER OLEO REMOVED

All Federal taxes and control over the manufacture, sale, or use of oleomargarine have been removed effective July 1, 1950, Internal Revenue Collector Clark Squire announced today. Dealers in oleomargarine are reminded that they need not renew their oleomargarine special tax stamps for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

The law does not provide for refund of tax paid on oleomargarine still in the hands of dealers on or after July 1.

Sgt. Jens Jensen Back From Philippine Duty

Staff Sergeant Jens A. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jensen, of Route 1, Spanaway, has returned for reassignment in the United States after a nine-month tour of duty with the U. S. Air Force in the Philippines, the War Department announced this week.

The sergeant arrived in San Francisco Monday. Upon arrival he reported to the 2349th Air Force Overseas Replacement depot at Camp Stone-man in Pittsburg, Calif., for his new assignment.

During his stay in the Philippines, he was stationed at Clark Air Force base in Central Luzon, where he was on duty at headquarters, Philippines Command (Air Force) and Thirteenth Air Force.

A former member of the Army, Jensen previously served with the 2nd and 95th Infantry divisions. He joined the Air Force in March, 1949, and was with the 62nd Troop Carrier group at McChord field before going overseas in September, 1949.

His wife, Marie, lives with his parents.

Last year in America, death rode the highway with 16,500 off-the-job workers, while his fellow-traveler, accidental injuries, paid an unwelcome visit to 550,000 others.
