

Washington has a new weekly newspaper. It's the first post-war weekly for the state. We are going to give you a community newspaper full of local news, features, and personals. We are out to serve the folks on the Prairie—and to make this community a better place in which to live.

One of the features of this newspaper will be this column, "Along the Street." Through this medium, we hope to give you interesting personal news paragraphs about the folks of this area.

H. Schmidtke of Parkland has a big job ahead. He purchased a home on Arthur street in April—a home without a full basement. No. 1 project for the Paramount Supply Company employee was to excavate the 200 tons of dirt from the basement, by hand. He thinks it will take him five or six years to get the job done in his spare time. At any rate, if you care to find Mr. Schmidtke in his spare time, go down in his basement. Chances are he'll be busy moving dirt from his 46 x 30 basement.

Everyone driving by the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kelson, Route 13, Box 249C, will be attracted by the horse and buggy display on top of their mail box. Mr. and Mrs. Kelson have been residents of Parkland for the past year. He is an employee of the Washington Hardware Company in Tacoma.

Official recognition as mayor of Brookdale came to L. E. Williams, genial gas and oil merchant of that community, last week. Williams has been known unofficially as mayor for many years, but the National Ronzite Industries of Chicago sent a communication to the Mayor of Brookdale, Wash., and it was promptly and officially delivered to Williams. There'll be no more arguments with Tom Crone, known as the town marshal.

Young Tommie Mandison, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mandison, Route 1, Box 134, Graham, will be kept plenty busy for the next few months. His parents were in Spanaway on Monday and purchased three calves and one pig at the auction sale.

You wouldn't take R. H. Victor to be 58 years old. The retired telephone engineer keeps in good physical condition and as a result you would miss guessing his age by at least ten or twelve years. The Brookdale resident will challenge anyone to a ten-mile race or two hours at a punching bag. He's a regular fellow and his manner of living should be a real inspiration to hundreds of Prairie youngsters.

Our hat goes off to the American Legion Post, No. 118. For the past three months, the Legionnaires have staged free movies for the Spanaway Boy Scouts on every Thursday night. Two fine American organizations doing a splendid job.

We find that Harold Andersen, partner in the Park-n-Shop, has little trouble calling hundreds of his customers by their first names. The young business man, a product of Parkland who received his college training here at home, was coach and teacher at Lincoln high school for three years. He became acquainted with many boys and girls, and with their parents. Many of them are now his customers. His previous connections have become a great asset.

Fourteen-year-old George Ridley of Spanaway, has a lot of friends. We found that out in making rounds along the streets of Spanaway. Everyone was interested to hear how George was getting along. They said that he was a swell youngster. George was seriously hurt in an automobile crash and he's now doing nicely in a local hospital. Let's all hope that he'll be out before too long.

We've had a pleasant tour "Along the Street" in our first week. We'll be back next week with more news stories, news that is different about men and women of the Prairie community.

This is slightly under last year's total enrollment, but according to Principal R. J. Fraser, late-coming pupils will bring the enrollment up to last year's figure.

Two new features have added to the school program for this year. A. R. Mulvaney is teaching a remedial class for those students needing special help. These classes have proved very beneficial in many schools.

Spanaway school district has purchased a movie projector and during the school year a show will be put on every Friday night. Good pictures will be secured and a nominal fee will be charged to cover the film rental. This program has been decided upon in order to give Spanaway children good clean entertainment.

Besides Principal Fraser and Mr. Mulvaney, teachers at Spanaway this year are:

Eighth grade—Mrs. Nins Hagen. Seventh Grade—Mrs. Anne Brame. Sixth Grade—Mrs. Queenie Cook. Fifth Grade—Miss Shirley McKenzie. Combination Fourth and Fifth Grade—Mrs. Opal Rose. PRAIRIE TO GET NEW THEATER; TO COST $50,000

F. W. Willard of Orting is planning on building a new $50,000 theatre on the Prairie. The new, modern movie house will be located across the highway from the Parkland School.

Seating capacity for the theatre will be 1,000, according to an announcement made by Mr. Willard, owner of two theatres in Washington. He is associated with North Coast theatre circuit.

Although ground has already been excavated for the foundation, no announcement was available concerning construction of the building.

Mr. Willard, who has purchased a frontage on the Mountain Highway 300 feet by 60 feet and 380 feet deep, has been making many contacts in hopes of securing a contractor for the building.

"The material has not been lifted from the priority list and it is very difficult to get a contractor at this time," said the successful theatre operator. "I am making every effort to get going on the building as soon as the material is available and when I find a contractor we will start the building."

He mentioned that he plans a modern, up-to-date building that will be an asset to the Prairie community. Mr. Willard stated that lots he purchased will make available plenty of parking space for his patrons.

Lady, Age 90, Travels 3,000 Miles In Plane To Visit Spanaway Daughter

Mrs. H. C. Lindsly waited 90 years to enjoy one of the "most thrilling moments of her life." The thrill came when she boarded an airplane in Philadelphia and flew 3,000 miles to Seattle. She came to the West Coast to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. C. G. L. Phipps, postmaster at Spanaway.

Although near the century mark, Mrs. Lindsly is spry and very pleasant. She is an interesting lady to talk to and she possesses a very keen memory.

"The trip was perfectly grand. I was thrilled and very much satisfied," said Mrs. Lindsly.

The highlight of her trip was the first glimpse of Mount Rainier from the air. "It was a grand scene to view the snow-capped mountain top," added the lady.

It was the first airplane ride for Mrs. Lindsly. She admitted that she was a bit nervous when she first boarded the plane. But that feeling soon was forgotten, due to the first rate service she received aboard.

Mrs. Lindsly left Philadelphia on Friday morning at 8:30 a. m.

Wendell Birkhoefer New Patrol Leader

Wendell Birkhoefer was elected captain of the Spanaway School Highway Patrol at Wednesday's election, at which time leaders for the organization were chosen.

Fifteen members comprise the governing board of the organization.

So They Say . . .

Kayleen Jordan, a seven-year-old newcomer to our community after her first day in school at Parkland:

"I really like school. My teachers are so nice." Kayleen came to Parkland from Texas. Her father is stationed at Fort Lewis.

Common sense is the most uncommon thing in the world.

THE POINTER'S Editorial Comment . . .

For Rent: Five Room House — Children Only

The Prairie is becoming known as the "Children's Paradise" of Tacoma. Reason for such recognition is self evident. First of all, there are plenty of healthy youngsters living in this community. Secondly, there is plenty of space for the youngsters to roam and play.

Many of the residents of this community include sons and daughters who have traveled hundreds of miles with mother so they could come and visit their dad, who is stationed at Fort Lewis.

We are glad to have these folks in our midst. We know that these families were outstanding citizens in their respective states and communities; we know that these families may have been living in comfort and luxury before Uncle Sam sent greetings to the head of the household.

The opportunity for mother and the youngsters to be with dad while he is serving in the army at Fort Lewis is a morale booster for the youngsters and it is a privilege every youngster should have.

Some of these men, who have returned from overseas, are living with their families for the first time in two or three years. These families are not asking for nice, comfortable homes—such as might have been theirs back home. All they ask is a "roof" over their heads.

We believe that these men, who slept in the foxholes and were willing to sacrifice their lives, are welcome to the best this community has to offer.

Yet, there are some money mongers who have become wealthy on an easy chair while the men were fighting and dying in the foxholes. Yes, there are some folks who will deny the servicemen the pleasure of having their families with them.

They forbid children in their houses or apartments. They will not rent their places to families with children.

From the very first issue on, the Prairie Pointer will not accept any classified advertisement listing a house or apartment for rent which is restricted as far as the children are concerned. We don't want that type of advertising.

We love our youngsters. And we love the fine boys and girls from all states who come to Washington to visit and live with their G. I. daddy.

We want them to have a home or apartment in the "Children's Paradise" of this community.

Prairie Folks Have Big Job Ahead

The service stars in the windows are evidence that the men of the Prairie were well represented on the battlefield; men and women in working clothes, a scene very familiar about the Prairie, is evidence that the folks were well represented in army and navy defense plants.

Every man, woman, and child can be proud of the Prairie's war record.

While the boys were fighting to preserve American freedom and liberty and while their fathers and mothers were busy in the defense plants supplying them with ammunition and supplies to carry on their effort, many things have been neglected on the home front.

No one had time to do the things that "make the community a better place to live in." There wasn't much time to do any post war planning; there wasn't too much effort made, for reasons listed above, to do much community service for Brookdale, Spanaway, Parkland, Midland, and other points of the Prairie.

The Prairie, with many possibilities, is due to grow and prosper. Many businesses are planning to get started; many of the boys from overseas are coming back to their own community. Some will start businesses of their own. That has been their dream and plan.

Improvement of the streets, construction of children's playgrounds and supervision of same, expansion of the fire protection, community buildings and planning is a job that now lies ahead of us.

The fine people that have been guided to settle on the Prairie is the greatest asset that we have; it is the first fundamental in building a fine community.

Let us work together in peace as we did in time of war. Let us work as faithfully and diligently for our community as we did for our country during the past five years.

The end of one job means the beginning of another

Traffic Light Needed At Airport - No. 99 Intersection

Immediate steps should be taken to remedy traffic congestion at the intersection of Airport Road and Pacific Highway. The servicemen and civilian workers from this area who drive to work daily agree that something should be done.

At the present time, the heavy traffic from this area must come to a complete stop and await their chance to slip into the heavy traffic line approaching from Tacoma way.

One man reported that 25 cars were lined up at one time waiting their chance to get on the main highway.

The winter fogs will not lessen the driving hazards. No relief is in sight during the coming six months.

There is only one remedy. A stop-and-go traffic light should be installed immediately. We hope proper action will be taken as a safety measure for the hundreds of servicemen and civilian workers driving daily to Fort Lewis.

and become familiar with pastoral duties.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York State writes: "It is a deeply disturbing fact that no fewer than 17 million children in our Country receive no religious instruction whatsoever."

"For the future of the Nation it is desirable that we leave no measures untried to enroll all our future citizens in the Sunday Schools of America. We should try for this goal not only for the benefit of the youngsters themselves, but for the benefit of all the people of the country."

"A Growing Firm"Sunshine Club Now
23 Years Active

A club of twenty-three years active service in the Prairie community is worthy of special mention in the first issue of the Prairie Pointer. Such a club is the Sunshine Community Club, which is the outgrowth of a World War I group of Minute Women. It officially came into being in 1922 and has been meeting regularly ever since.

A fine club house, built by voluntary labor, is owned by this group and is located just north of Sales road on Tacoma avenue. Members gather there on the first Friday of each month at 6:45 for a no-host dinner and evening of entertainment.

At present the club has an active membership of approximately fifty, and has been so popular that even though persons move to other parts of the county they retain their membership and attend the meetings.

The present officers are: Otto Siburg, president; Russel Kasseleman, vice president; Otto Damkier, treasurer, and Mrs. Ray Renwick, secretary.

ON TO MANILA

T-5 Walter E. Young recently traveled through the Panama canal on his way to Manila, according to letters received by Mrs. Young. His army unit has been transferred from the European theatre to the Philippines. Young has gathered many souvenirs in Europe which he sent to his home in Parkland. Mrs. Young is physical education director for girls at Pacific Lutheran College.

BACK FROM CALIF.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Senner returned to their home in Seattle last Thursday after an eight-day trip to California. Mrs. Senner is the daughter of Mrs. Esther Davis of Parkland. Mrs. Davis cared for her grandson while the parents were away.

Production Loss

Time lost from farm accidents last year equaled that required to produce five bushels of wheat for every person in the United States.

Local Poet Publishes Book Containing
Eighty Six Poems; One on Parkland

Claude Harrington, Parkland resident who lives on Wheeler Street, has published a book of poems, "Corns and Sweet Peas." The book, now on the market throughout the Northwest, was published by the Beard Printing Company, Parkland.

The book contains 86 poems that Mr. Harrington wrote over a period of several years. He is an employee of Todd Shipyards, and gained a considerable reputation there for several poems about his co-workers. He also won a citation from Boeing Aircraft Company for a poem on the B-17 Flying Fortress.

HOMECOMING

By
Cpl. ROBERT FOSTER
Fort Lewis, Wash.

By Cpl Robert E. Foster
"Yew shore took natural-like settin' there, Paw," the woman said wiping her eyes with the back of her hand. "Reckon yew'll be goin' back to work pretty soon?" she asked uneasily.

The tall man didn't answer for a minute. He just rocked quietly in the dilapidated rocker. "Thought I might rest up a bit," he said, and wished the kids would stop making so much noise.

The woman whirled and whacked little Sally across the side of the head. "Put that down," she snapped. "That's one of Paw's souvenirs." Sally dropped the Luger and rubbed her head. "These young uns," she said, "there's no doin' nothin' with 'em." The man nodded.

"There's a job open in the ice plant," the woman continued. "Ain't hard work. Pay's on the shares, but yew always wuz a good worker. Yew'd make out."

He shifted around in his chair. "I'm tired," he said, "thought I might loaf awhile."

The woman whirled around again, grabbed a small boy by the ear. "Put that board down," she said in a loud exasperated voice. The boy wriggled from her grasp.

"Flies," Jimmy said in his high voice. "Flies." He took the board and hit his father a resounding whack on the head. "Yew little devil!" the woman screamed. "Yew little devil!"

Jimmy looked at her, wide-eyed. "Flies," he said again. The woman paddled him with the board and he ran squalling from the room.

"Did it hurt?" she asked, but her husband didn't answer. There was a tired look on his face.

"Don't think I'm pushin' yew to go to work," she went on, "it's just idle as idle does. Don't do a party no good to set around doin' nothin'." "Course I know you been to war, and no one's got more right to sit around."

There was a loud crash in the kitchen and the woman grunted nervously. "Yew kids!" she yelled in a strident voice. "Yew kids go outside! Yew wanta drive your paw crazy?"

She turned to her husband. "Jimmy set fire to the house one day. There's no peace around this house."

The man winced, shifted in his chair again.

"About the ice plant, Paw—" The man didn't hear her. He was thinking about Africa and Sicily.

"The ice plant," she said more sharply.

He looked up in a daze. "Never did like the Army, Maw," he said.

"Yew want me to tell Jim yew'll be down to see him about the job?" There was expectancy in her voice.

The man got up from the rocker and walked to the doorway and stood looking out across the fields, listening to the noisy clamour of the children in the backyard.

"I'm going to reenlist," he said slowly.

One of his poems in his book, which was dedicated to his wife, Ora, featured the Parkland community and is printed below:

PARKLAND—MY HOME
I'm proud of the community where I live

Nestled there among stately trees.
The grandest neighbors in all the land—
Our Parkland families.

There's a wealth of beauty surrounding us.

We've a lake and a mountain view.

A beautiful creek with wild berries,

And wild flowers of every hue.

We've our churches and schools,
Our stores and shops,
So convenient for you and me.

Another institution for which we boast
Is our grand old P. L. C.

This fine old school has a birthday now.

She's in her fiftieth year.

With an excellent record for what she's done,

'Tis a name that we all hold dear.

There are countless places in our Pacific Northwest,

I'll admit are very nice;

But I'm happy to live in Parkland;

It's just a corner of God's Paradise.

Pacific Lutheran College

S. C. EASTVOLD, PRESIDENT
PARKLAND, WASHINGTONOFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

MY DEAR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS:

It gives me, the undersigned, a real sense of joy to greet the readers of the "Prairie Pointer." I join with 3,000 other homes in greeting the first issue of this new venture into the field of newscasting. During the past four years we have witnessed what can happen when individuals join into nations and nations become allies and have one great passion for a given objective.

The coming of this newspaper from the spontaneous thinking of Elmer Beard, the publisher, and Garfield Kiel, the editor, is indicative of something real in the community represented in Midland, Parkland, Brookdale, Spanaway, and surrounding areas.

When Pacific Lutheran College was founded and its great central building was dedicated on October 14, 1894, fifty-one years ago, there was only one single house in this entire area. For a long time there was comparatively little development. However, the pioneers who founded Pacific Lutheran College had a vision which challenges the people of today. They looked down through the decades and saw the possibilities of a great democratic community. Even though we are an accumulation of unincorporated villages, we are larger than many incorporated cities throughout America. This is true notwithstanding the fact that we are a sidewalkless area without a police force and with only a volunteer fire department. It is a compliment to our area that we get along without a police force. I think we need to attribute that to the fact that we have a God-fearing group of people in our homes which have been made by our churches and by our Christian colleges and other institutions of a like kind.

However, we need something to bind us together. We need a medium of communication. We need to know something about what each other is doing in these community areas living so closely knit together. These communities are on the march. As our great West grows, so our own population will grow.

Pacific Lutheran College is in process of setting up some fine new buildings. We will attract scores of families to take a place in our faculty and staff. We will attract hundreds of families who will want to live in a community where there is a good Christian college. This will mean that new business enterprises of a smaller and larger kind will spring up. These will want to get their notices out in the form of advertisement in order to attract the legitimate business that should be kept in a community.

Already this year, as soon as the war had ended, the young people have crowded to Pacific Lutheran College so that we have more boarding students living in the Old Main than ever before in the fifty-one years of our history. It has been found necessary to put as many as four girls in a room intended for two, and seven to ten boys in comparatively small rooms while we are getting ready to build new dormitory space.

Pacific Lutheran College is here to serve this community. What is good for this college will be good for every law-abiding, Christian minded citizen throughout all of these areas represented in the editorial comments of the "Prairie Pointer."

We salute the publisher and the editor. We encourage every person getting this paper to hurry and send in a subscription so that it may be a permanent weekly enterprise. Without our help and cooperation, this issue will be one of a few and then the paper will die away and we will be left without any means of newscasting in the form of a community paper. Call the editor, or write a letter, or get your interest registered so that these good men who have volunteered this community service may have the encouragement they deserve.

Cordially yours,

S. C. Eastvold

Parkland Woman Probably Has Largest Salt And Pepper Shaker Collection In State

Meet Mrs. Norman Olson of Parkland, Washington, who today probably has in her possession the largest and most unique salt and pepper shaker collection in the state of Washington.

Started in 1941, Mrs. Olson today has a collection consisting of 112 pair of shakers. They consist of every shape, form, and description imaginable.

"Believe it or not, every pair of shakers that I have in my collection today has been given to me," said Mrs. Olson, who lives on Cleveland street.

Mrs. Olson maintains a book in which she lists every shaker that she has received, the party who gave it to her, and the date it was presented.

"All my life I have been crazy about salt and pepper shakers," remarked Mrs. Olson, "so I decided to start a collection. I have a lot of fun doing it. Not only that, the collection that I now have should be worth between a thousand and fifteen hundred dollars. Of course, no one could buy my "business." It is priceless to me."

One pair of shakers, given to Mrs. Olson by a lad in Seattle, is over 100 years old. Another pair is a pair that belonged to Ella Raines, the movie actress. Miss Raines' mother gave them to Mrs. Olson's sister-in-law.

A sailor found out about the collection and following a voyage to points throughout the world came back and gave Mrs. Olson eight pair.

"When asked whether the public was welcome to see the collection, Mrs. Olson invitingly stated: "Why, of course, I would be tickled pink to show my collection to any group or individuals."

Victor's Market Changes Hands

Neil W. Thomas, an experienced groceryman, will take over Victor's Market at Brookdale on Monday. He makes the official announcement in an advertisement in this issue of the Pointer. The name henceforth will be Clover Creek Market, and an expansion program has been planned for the near future.

Mr. Thomas, with his wife and young son, live on the Brookdale road in a home he purchased a year and a half ago. Before coming to the Prairie he worked for a number of years with the Safeway Stores and for Johnson Brothers at Dupont.

H. R. Victor will devote his time to operating Froze food lockers and is now erecting a modern locker building adjacent to the present store.

EMPLOYMENT PLANS LISTED BY CIVIL SERVICE

All departments and agencies of the federal government have received from the United States civil service commission details of a comprehensive program designed to provide returning war veterans and displaced federal workers with the maximum possible opportunity for future employment in the federal service.

The principal points in the commissions' program include:

1. Applications for employment from disabled veterans of World War I and II who file within one year of their discharge from active service or from hospitalization, will be received at any time.

2. Except where needs of the service absolutely require it, no further applications will be received from other persons who are not now a part of the federal services.

3. Where federal employees are scheduled for discharge, arrangements will be made immediately for representatives of other agencies that are hiring new personnel to interview those about to be discharged.

4. When present federal employees are not hired by another agency prior to their discharge, they may file, within 60 days, an application for reemployment in the federal service.

5. All vacancies in positions subject to the Civil Service Act will be filled by persons whose names appear on the commission's list of eligibles.

FORMER P. L. C. HEAD VISITS IN PARKLAND

Dr. O. A. Tinglestad, former president of Pacific Lutheran College, visited his brother and sister last week. He left Sunday, accompanied by his brother, Ed T., for a short trip to Oregon, after which he returned to Decorah, Iowa, where he is a member of the faculty at Luther College.

Dr. Tinglestad arrived here last Friday, date of his sister, Marie's birthday. She is recovering from injuries received in an accident several months ago.

Doctors are so busy nowadays that lots of people get well before the date of the appointment arrives.

End of War Brings Budget Cut

WASHINGTON — Victory over Japan resulted in a cut of $18,500,000,000 in the budget for the fiscal year begun July 1. This reduced it to $66,400,000,000.

On Aug. 1, before Japan's surrender, the Budget Bureau had estimated total spending in the current fiscal year would be $84,900,000,000—assuming the war would continue until the year ends next summer.

Actual spending in the last fiscal year was $100,100,000,000.

Under a revised budget issued Thursday by Harold D. Smith, budget director, war spending is estimated now at $50,500,000,000.

The Aug. 1 estimate was seventy billion dollars. Actual war expenditures in the fiscal year 1945, just ended, were $90,500,000,000.

Receipts for the present fiscal year now are estimated—under existing legislation—at thirty-six billion dollars. If Congress reduces taxes January 1, this estimate would have to be cut again.

In the last fiscal year receipts amounted to $46,500,000,000. The Aug. 1 forecast for receipts in fiscal 1946 was thirty-nine billion dollars.

Concerning the $50,500,000,000 war spending estimate, Smith said this figure takes into account the high rate of spending in July and August.

Former Texas Coach Lives In Parkland

Possibly very few people know it, but one of Texas' most successful football coaches is now a resident of Parkland.

The outstanding and well-known Lone Star grid leader is Cpl. Buck Prejean, who lives on Arthur Street.

Buck, who at the present time is director of physical reconditioning at one of the Fort Lewis hospital units, was coach of the Lufkin Panthers, a club that won the Texas title two years ago.

He was coach at Pampa, Texas, before he received an offer from Lufkin. Pampa, in the heart of the Texas oil belt, has been one of the Plains' most powerful clubs in the last decade.

The Texas coach was an outstanding grid star for Schriener Institute and Texas University during his college days.

Mrs. Prejean is teaching at the Horace Mann school. Their six year old son, David, is starting kindergarten.

Parkland welcomes the Prejean family. We hope their stay in our fair community will be a pleasant one.

Winning Story

While down in Texas in the prewar days, it wasn't anything unusual to pick up a daily newspaper and read about the "11 iron men" of Pacific Lutheran College. Although some 2460 miles away from Parkland, we can recall reading about those galloping gridsters of P. L. C. We saw photographs of Tommervik over all of the sport pages.

And we remember that scribes referred to the Lutherans as Cliff Olson's boys. He was putting P. L. C. and Parkland on the map.

Several Sundays ago, while we were coming down the steps of a local church, it was our fortune to meet this Cliff Olson, the builder of P. L. C.'s undefeated teams.

After meeting him and hearing Parkland folks talk about him, it is easy to understand why he could get the most out of his men and as a result maintain such a splendid athletic record at the college.

It's true that you have to have a good bunch of boys to have a winning ball club. No one will deny that the Lutherans were tops in the State. But you can't win with good athletes alone. You need more than that.

It seems that Cliff Olson supplied the punch. He was the one that brought out the "fighting spirit" in the boys.

Now that the war is over and plans are under way at P. L. C. for a real expansion program, we hope it will be possible for Cliff Olson to return to his alma mater. (Cliff was on leave to serve as personnel director at Todds').

We know it will be a tough grind to start from scratch and build another winning combination, not only out on the gridiron but also on the basketball floor.

But Cliff Olson did it once and he can do it again.

The folks on the Prairie are pulling for him.

P. L. C. Back to Bigtime Football In 1946

Work on Gym To Start in January

The Pacific Lutheran College, who four years ago ranked as one of the top small college elevens in the nation, is going back into bigtime football in 1946.

That is the announcement made by Dr. S. E. Eastvold, live-wire president of the institution.

Although the Lutherans will carry on a heavy basketball program during the current year, they will have to wait until next year to start building another winning grid combination.

Friends of the college are hopeful that Cliff Olson, successful mentor now on part time with the college so that he can carry on as personnel director for the Todds Shipyard, will be back at his alma mater directing the athletic program.

Announcement was made by President Eastvold several weeks ago that both Tommervik and Harshman, the touchdown twins of the "golden" P. L. C. era, will return to their alma mater to serve as assistants on the coaching staff.

In the meantime work will begin on P. L. C.'s $150,000.00 gymnasium. According to word from President Eastvold, construction of the new, first class gym will begin in January, 1946, or at least the first part of the new year.

Brookdale Golfers Hold Monthly Meet

Prior to the supper, a golf tournament was staged, which was won by Paul Larson, Parkland school teacher. Don Gannon, Lincoln high school lad, came in with second honors.

The next monthly meeting, scheduled for October 2, is time officers are selected for ensuing year. Leaders to be named include president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and delegate-at-large.

Peaches Profit Brookdale Pair

Peaches have become a profitable business for Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Younce of Brookdale. Eleven years ago, the family purchased a 12-acre farm in the Brookdale valley, a farm that had 225 young peach trees.

Today the trees are paying big dividends. This year, the healthy Pacific Gold trees are yielding approximately 150 pounds per tree.

Total production will run in the neighborhood of 33,000 pounds this year. The yield comes from two acres, the portion of Younce farm which has been allotted to peach grove.

"It is a lot of hard work," said the genial, pleasing Mrs. Younce, "but it has its happy moments, too, when people come by and sample those peaches. You should watch the expressions on their faces when they start biting into those delicious peaches."

Incidentally, the Younce orchard will be productive until September 20. Maybe you will want some of their samples.

Prairie Vet Back After 33 Months

Last Friday night, the phone rang in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kramer, Sr., Route 12, Box 268A. On the other end of the line was their son, T/Sgt. Richard, Jr. It was the first time they had heard his voice in 33 months.

He called and told them he was homeward bound to spend a furlough with his family. Kramer, a ground crewman in the Army Air Corps, has been in England for the past three years.

Sgt. Kramer will be home via plane on Sunday morning.

His wife and three-year-old son, Dickie, live at 1706 S. Prospect in Tacoma.

"What's the first thing you do when you clean your rifle?" asked the corporal.

Veterans Benefits

Q. Has the G. I. Bill been amended to permit the use of money obtained under a loan guaranty for an additional purpose?

A. Public Law 98, 79th Congress amended the G. I. Bill to provide that money obtained under a loan guaranty can be used to purchase stock in a cooperative association where the purchase of such stock is required by Federal statute as an incident to obtaining a loan on which guaranty is sought. The amendment is an act of coordination along with amendments to the Federal Farm Loan Act. It will serve to permit the Federal Land bank to make some loans a part of which are guaranteed under the G. I. Bill.

Q. Are any restrictions placed on the sale of any property purchased with the aid of a loan guaranty?

A. There are no restrictions on the sale of such property.

Q. If a veteran is in vocational training on the job and the employer pays him for part of his service, will the amount of pension received by the trainee be reduced?

A. The administrator is authorized to reduce the pension of such a veteran to an amount considered equitable and just but not below the amount of pension to which he would be entitled for service connected disability if not following a course of vocational training.

Q. Are all benefits being paid veterans of World War II deductible from any possible future bonus?

A. No, only benefits provided in the G. I. Bill are deductible from any future bonus that may be provided.

Q. May a veteran purchase jointly with a non-veteran and receive a loan guaranty?

A. Yes. The guaranty in this case would apply only to the interest of the veteran in the loan and may not exceed 50 percent of his interest. Under no circumstances could it cover any part of the interest of a non-veteran.

There is no advantage in waiting until tomorrow, because there will be no more time tomorrow than there is today.

Sugar Scarcity Is Big Problem

COLLEGE STATION — Today the United States has the least sugar she's had since the last war. Our sugar reserves probably can't be rebuilt until 1947.

As you probably know—only about one-fourth of our sugar is grown in the 48 states. So when the war started our sugar troubles began, too. Not only the United States, but our allies were cut off from sugar in the Pacific areas—except from Hawaii. And likely many more months will pass before most of the Pacific producers will ship sugar to us again—even from the Philippines.

In the meantime, our allies who were formerly dependent on home grown sugar and on sugar from the Pacific have had to obtain some of their sugar from the Caribbean area—That means less sugar to buy for the United States. With less sugar to buy on the world market and more people to buy it, our national supplies have gradually dwindled.

In the face of that, we used 450,000 tons more sugar for home canning purposes last summer than we actually needed for the food we put up. With the money to buy it and the appetites to eat it, we probably used some of that canning sugar for cookies, lemonade and the like.

Now we have practically no reserve stocks of sugar to fall back on. Unfortunately Cuba has suffered from the worst drought in 87 years—The sugar crop in Cuba was 900,000 tons short of expectations.

Fortunately, more sugar beets were planted in the United States this year—but not enough to balance other shortages and we can't expect much improvement in supply for many months.

Fatality Causes
Gasoline, kerosene and other petroleum products are among the main causes of loss of life on farms and rank high among the causes of property loss in farm fires.

More than 17,000 farm people died last year because of accidents on their farms. Another million and a half rural residents were injured. Two-fifths of the fatal farm accidents occurred in farm homes. Common causes of accidents are falls, burns, poisonings, suffocations, accidents with firearms, and drownings. Most farm-work fatalities involved farm machines while they were in motion.
