Spanaway Water Company Starts Drilling Soon

Spanaway water is becoming a reality. At a hearing held in the office of the Pierce County commissioners on Sept. 28 Commissioner Harry Sprinker made the recommendation that led to the granting of the 25-year pipe franchise to the Spanaway Water company. In Olympia on Oct. 4, the Washington State Hydraulics department issued a permit to the local Company authorizing them to proceed with the drilling of the 12-inch well; this work was started on Oct. 5 by the local firm of Richardson Well Drilling, low bidder for the construction of the well.

"Slaves" Have Their Day Saturday

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM—Residents of the Parkland area are assured that there is no danger of an uprising of the "slaves" in that locality. In fact, the "slaves" held the public spotlight Saturday and had themselves the time of their lives! In the above composite picture are shown several scenes depicting amusing goings on resulting from the recent Parkland Slave Auction which netted over $500 for development of the community center. At upper left are shown "Slave" Jack Whisler, who acted as chauffeur, and "Slave" Frank Stojack as both worked out their debt of a day's labor to Armstrong Poultry Co., starting their stint by a visit to the packaging room of the Armstrong plant, with regular workers showing them how it's done. Left to right, Florence Winder, Jack Whisler, Edith Guinn, Frank Stojack and Margaret Most. On the right above will be seen "Slaves" Whisler and Stojack, and their "master," Lawrence Armstrong, loading the truck for the first trip. The middle picture was made at the first commercial delivery stop the Shamrock Tavern, where Armstrong, Whisler and Stojack are seen with Bud Mathies of the Shamrock and his "slave" for the day, Howie Snowdown, bartender pro-tem. Below, left, shows the Armstrong team making a delivery to Mrs. Alfred H. Tisch, 212 So. 117th St. At right, lower, "master" Otto Gomache cracks his bull whip as "Slave" Kent Erickson tries to sell a wheelbarrow of horse manure to Lee Smith. The fertilizer was finally sold to Bart Payne and Gomache donated the purchase price to the Parkland Business club, which sponsored the Slave Auction. Photos by McKewen

Kittie Declares Mrs. Dillinger Contest Winner

Mrs. Paul H. Dillinger, 1017 South State St., Tacoma, is announced as winner of the novel contest sponsored by Flagpole Kittie, pretty Kathleen Donham, from her perch atop the 60-foot flagpole at Pochel Distributing Co. The contest was for a name for Kittie's little 8-foot-square house and Mrs. Dillinger's suggestion was "Kittie's Flagpole Hide-Away." The prize was a table model Zenith radio from Pochel's. Ray Bartley's Western Rhythmaires will serenade Kittie Friday evening at 8 o'clock and Bob's Place service station has (Continued on Page 8)

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

By Mary Lee Taylor

Corned Beef and Cabbage

1 small head of cabbage
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups shredded corned beef, cooked or canned

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup Pet Evaporated Milk
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Cut cabbage into 8 wedges. Stick toothpicks in loose ends to hold together. Put into skillet with boiling water and salt. Cover and cook over medium heat about 20 minutes, or until tender. Remove cabbage wedges to warm platter. Mix in the skillet the corned beef, soup, milk and mustard. Put cabbage wedges on top of corned beef mixture. Cover and cook over medium heat for 10 minutes. Serve meat sauce over cabbage wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Recovering
Mrs. Richard Reed of East 62nd St. is able to see friends at her home again after a five-week illness, part of which was spent in a Tacoma hospital.

College Bound
Young people of the community who are going to college are: George Oeh and Tom Demmitt, University of Washington; Donald Geise and Eleanor Gilreath, Pacific Lutheran college; Loren Carlton and Bib Singleton, Bethel Theological seminary in St. Paul, Minn.

Many at Reception
The reception for the teachers held at last week's Waller Road P-TA meeting was reported a huge success with about 75 people attending.

Oakie Armstrong To Start Season At Bresemann's

Opening Saturday night, Oct. 9, at Bresemann's hall on Spanaway lake will be Oakie

Armstrong and his Western Gang, specialists in Western swing. A fine program of dance music to suit every taste is promised from 9 till 2 every Saturday night through the winter season.

Armstrong and his orchestra have been appearing in Olympia, where they have been very popular. There are eight members of the ensemble: Jimmy Torrence, steel guitar; Jack Sharbone, Spanish guitar; Walt Moss, second violin; Oakie Armstrong, first violin; Morris, bass fiddle; John Halvorsen, accordion; Wally Tee, drums; Chuck Whitt, vocalist.

Hanson - Hartloff

A pretty ceremony at the Bethesda Baptist church Friday evening, Sept. 24, united Miss Barbara Jean Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred William Hanson, and Sidney Duane Hartloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney James Hartloff.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle over lace and satin and her fingertip veil of tulle and lace was caught to her hair with seed pearls. The bride's white orchid was surrounded by stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Eleanor Frost (Peterson), matron of honor and Miss Beverly Morud, bridesmaid, wearing maize and pale green formals. Kermit H. Johnson was best man and C. Dale Frost ushered. Lighting the candelabra were Miss Sally Marie Hanson, sister of the bride, and Miss Ellen Pouise Johnson, niece of the bridegroom. Background music was played by Mrs. Zora Sorenson, organist.

The mother of the bride chose an afternoon dress of turquoise crepe while the bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue and white ensemble. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

The 25 wedding guests were received in the church parlors. Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Hanson, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Colbein Jangard, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Frank Heady and Mrs. Don Evers.

For their honeymoon trip to Oregon, the bride chose a turquoise knit suit with brown accessories, complemented with her white orchid corsage. The bride attended Lincoln high school and the bridegroom, Fife high school.
