AUGUSTANA COLLEGE GROUP TO APPEAR IN TACOMA CONCERT

VOL. 2, NO. 26

To appear in Central Lutheran church on Monday, March 24, will be the famed Augustana College Choir, Sioux Falls, South Dakota under the direction of Dr. Carl R Youngdahl, singing a program of Lenten music in anticipation of the Easter season.

A nationally recognized musical group, the choir membership consists of 50 young men and women, who are interrupting their studies for a three and one-half week singing tour to the west coast. All trained musicians, the singers, under the guidance of Dr. Youngdahl, have reached a high degree of perfection in sacred a cappella inging.

Highly Praised

The Augustana College Choir has appeared in leading cities from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific and Canada, and has been awarded the highest praise by music lovers and critics everywhere. This year marks the 26th annual tour made by this pioneer a cappella organiin Seattle, Tacoma and Helena.

Opinions of noted critics place the Augustana College Choir on a level of equality, and in some instances superior, to the best choirs anywhere. Authorities have been unreserved in their praise of the freshness of the blended voices, the clear beauty of the tone and the spiritual feeling expressed by the young choristers.

Sing Sacred Music

The choir will sing a program of classical sacred music, including compositions and arrangements by their director, a recognized composer of choral music. Ensembles and soloists will vary the program, which includes such well-known favorites as "Wake, Awake, Children of the Heavenly Father," 'Lord's Prayer" and two Bach motets.

Dr. Youngdahl, founder of the choir, is dean of music at Augustana college, teaching music theory and organ. He is a member of the American Guild of Organ-
