PLU, Bethel Scientists To Study Eniwetok Life

The Pacific Lutheran University biologist who discovered 35 new species of crabs last year at Eniwetok Atoll is going back to see if he can find more.

Dr. Jens Knudsen leaves Friday for a five week trip to the atoll, which is in the Marshall Islands. Accompanying him will be Richard Myking, Bethel High School science teacher, who will gather data for a PLU master's degree thesis.

Research expenses for the men will be underwritten by the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Knudsen and assistants on the earlier trip found the new crab species at ocean depths of less than 20 feet. "I feel that if we go down to 250 feet we might bring back additional species," he said.

Crab collecting will be done only inside the 30-mile wide ring of the atoll lagoon which has maximum water depths of 250 feet. Outside the ring, the ocean depth drops off to 12,000 feet, Knudsen said.

Data collected this trip will be combined with notes from the first trip. The whole will become part of four monographs to be jointly produced by Dr. Knudsen and Dr. John Garth of the University of Southern California, world authority on crabs.

Dr. Knudsen said he will serve as artist for the monographs and supply natural history data, such as where the crabs live and what they feed on. Dr. Garth will be responsible for exactness of crab names. Producing the monographs "will take eight years of writing," Dr. Knudsen said.

On the return trip to Tacoma this summer, Dr. Knudsen said he plans to compare species he may find with the collection at the Bishop Museum in Honolulu. He also hopes to have time to confer about any new species found with Dr. Garth in Los Angeles. Dr. Garth has been in Europe this summer comparing the 1965 Eniwetok crabs with European species.

Myking, 32, of 620 South 133rd St., Tacoma, will be assisting Dr. Knudsen in the crab collecting effort, as well as doing independent research. "We'll be working jointly part of the time because of deep water dangers and sharks," Dr. Knudsen said.

In his spare time Myking will work on a study of the ghost crab, which lives on land. A 1958 PLU graduate, he is working on a master's degree in general science with major in biology. He has taught science at Bethel Junior High School since leaving PLU, but joins the Bethel High School staff this fall.

Fun For All At Graham Playday Sun.

GRAHAM - Those attending the play day Sunday at Graham Frontier Park on the Meridian Highway near Graham will find activities for young and old beginning with a cowboy breakfast.

Horse shows, games, food and Little League championship baseball will highlight the affair.

The Washington Quarter Horse Association will sponsor ten events for adults and juniors from 9 to 10:30 a.m. Following these events they will challenge all comers to a variety of running and relay races on the new quarter-mile track.

Ponies will be featured in trotting, chariot and saddle races from 1 to 2 p.m. ending with the Orville Evelth Challenge Chariot Relay Race. Horse relay and saddle races are also scheduled, featuring the Sheriff's Posse Challenge.

No advance entries are required. More information may be obtained by calling Orville Evelth, VI 7-7684.

The public Fun Day is sponsored each summer by the people of Graham who operate and maintain the Park and Clubhouse. Funds for operating and improving the area are obtained by this one annual event.

LEAVING FRIDAY for five weeks research at Eniwetok Atoll are Richard Myking, left, Bethel High School science teacher, and Dr. Jens Knudsen, biology professor at Pacific Lutheran University. Both will study crabs. Dr. Knudsen will gather material for four monographs and Myking will collect data for a master's degree thesis.

New Visitor Center Opens At Paradise

LONGMIRE - The new Paradise Visitor Center opened its doors Saturday to serve Mount Rainier National Park guests on a year-round basis.

Paradise Inn, with accommodations and meal service, will continue to operate during the summer seasons.

A great deal of attention has been focused on the unique center, according to Supt. John Rutter.

The top level of the multi-level building consists of a glassed-in observation area affording views of Mount Rainier to the north and the Tatoosh Range to the South. A 200-seat auditorium will be the focal point for National Park Service illustrated lectures on Mount Rainier, to be presented throughout the summer on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. and at other times throughout the week. The spacious and well appointed lobby area will feature National Park Service information service. The long established Rainier National Park Company will provide a large cafeteria, souvenir shop and headquarters for all climbing guide services during the summer season and ski shop during the winter months.

The building was designed by Wimberly, Whisenand, Allison, and Tong Architects, Ltd. of Honolulu in association with architects McGuire & Muri of Tacoma. Principal contractor is Earley Construction Company of Tacoma, Wash.

The National Park Service will install an extensive and unique series of exhibits this winter, to include displays on wildlife, wild flowers, climbing and history. Also featured at a later date will be a full color motion picture on Mount Rainier.

A special open house and coffee is scheduled for the building on September 3 of this year, and a full dedication will take place in 1967.

Lightning Hits Home In Spanaway

A bolt of lightning struck the property of W.H. Brandfas, 122 South 168th, Spanaway early Saturday morning, shredding a locust tree and causing extensive damage to house fixtures.

"It sounded like a bomb when it hit," Mrs. Brandfas reported. She said that impact of the bolt knocked the bathroom mirror from the wall, and electrical surges burned out her 15 cubic foot deepfreeze, damaged the television set, ruined an electric living room clock, melted house fuses, and burned out electrical switches.

According to Mrs. Brandfas, the lightning apparently first struck the tree scattering it over an area of 300 feet. One large piece of locust wood was thrown across four vacant lots, knocking shakes loose from a neighbor's house. She stated that falling branches ruined her garden.

"At first we thought our house was on fire," Mrs. Brandfas recalled. "But after checking the only thing we found burned was insulation off of some of the electrical wiring." Outside lights were also broken, she added.

Mrs. Brandfas said the loss was covered by insurance, but until a survey of the damage is made exact amount of the loss cannot be determined.

Co. Planners Accept Two Zone Changes

Pierce County Planning Commission approved a request for a zone change on a tract of land bounded by 80th Street E. on the south, 62nd Avenue E. on the east, Pioneer Way on the north and Canyon Road on the west from general use to SA-9 suburban agriculture last week.

On the request of petitioner Lawrence T. Newsham three pieces of property in the area were deleted from the rezoning.

They denied a request by W.L. Jenkins to rezone from suburban residential to highway service property on the south side of E. 112th Street extending 740 feet west of the Tacoma railroad as improper use for the land.

Approval of a request by Charles R. McAvoy was recommended for a zone change from general use to SR-12 suburban residential on property 630 feet north and south of E. 136th Street east of Canyon Road for 1,300 feet.

County Police Beat

Police Catch Parolee Burglars

By EM MATSON

Summer and Puyallup police units surrounded and captured a pair of surprised parolees last week as they were attempting to burglarize Bob's Building Center, 1020 North Ryan in Sumner, Chief Jonas Anderson reported.

Apprehended inside the building were Eugene J. Napoleon, 27, Tacoma, and Benny Van Finley, 21, Sumner. As the subjects searched the premises, police said they quickly surrounded the building placing three men at each exit. Two officers entered and approached the pair, who surrendered peacefully. The suspects were unarmed.

Chief Anderson said the suspects were advised of their civil rights while still in the building, and told the reason the arrest was being made. The Sumner chief stated that both men refused to talk with officers after the arrest.

Assisting Sumner Officers Doug Fraser and Dave Shumake were Puyallup officers Gonseth and Bateman. Also assisting in the capture was merchant patrolman Richard Morrison. The Puyallup officers and merchant patrolman responded to a radio call for help by Sumner police. Investigators said the building had been broken into by the removal of a window.

After being booked and processed in Sumner, the suspects were transferred to the County jail.

PUYALLUP - A painter working at Rasco's 5 and 10th Store, Main and Meridian, was injured last week when his supporting scaffold collapsed. Officers arriving at the scene found George Egge, Rt. 1, Sumner, lying on an injured right foot.

Police reported the accident was caused by ladder jacks slipping off supporting ladders. The victim was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Power's Ambulance where he was admitted with a broken foot.

SPANAWAY - Bail was set at $50 in Judge Elizabeth Shackelford's court on a pair of 18 year old Spanaway youths charged with illegal possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages last week.

Deputy Lowell Johnson reported he paced the boys travelling at speeds up to 63 m.p.h. in a 35 m.p.h. zone, and upon stopping them noticed the odor of rum in the car. Investigation disclosed two plastic glasses partially filled with rum on the floorboards, and a bottle of rum on the back seat.

Johnson said both suspects admitted drinking, and the boys were transported to the county jail and booked. Their car was impounded.

WILLOWS CORNER - Burglars used a tire iron and crowbar to break into the Willows Tavern, Airport Road and Meridian, last week stealing punchboard items, wine, and beer. Deputy R.R. Fuller said 5 eight transistor radios, 24 lighters, 35 fifths wine, 8 pints of wine, and 15 cases of beer were taken. Total loss was valued at $123.

SPANAWAY - Burglars with expensive tastes stole 29 milk valued at $1000 from a Spanaway milk farm. Deputies reported the live animals were removed from small cages holding 1-8 milk.

Listed as stolen were 26 kittens and 3 adult orchid females. Deputy Sheriff Donald Dale investigated.

PUYALLUP - E.L. Dohie, 1005 9th Ave. S.W., told police while his young daughter was swimming at the Puyallup pool last week, thieves removed the rear wheel of her 24 inch bicycle. He said she left the bike in the rack, but found it upside down behind the building with the rear wheel missing.

Arvid Keith Wins Contract

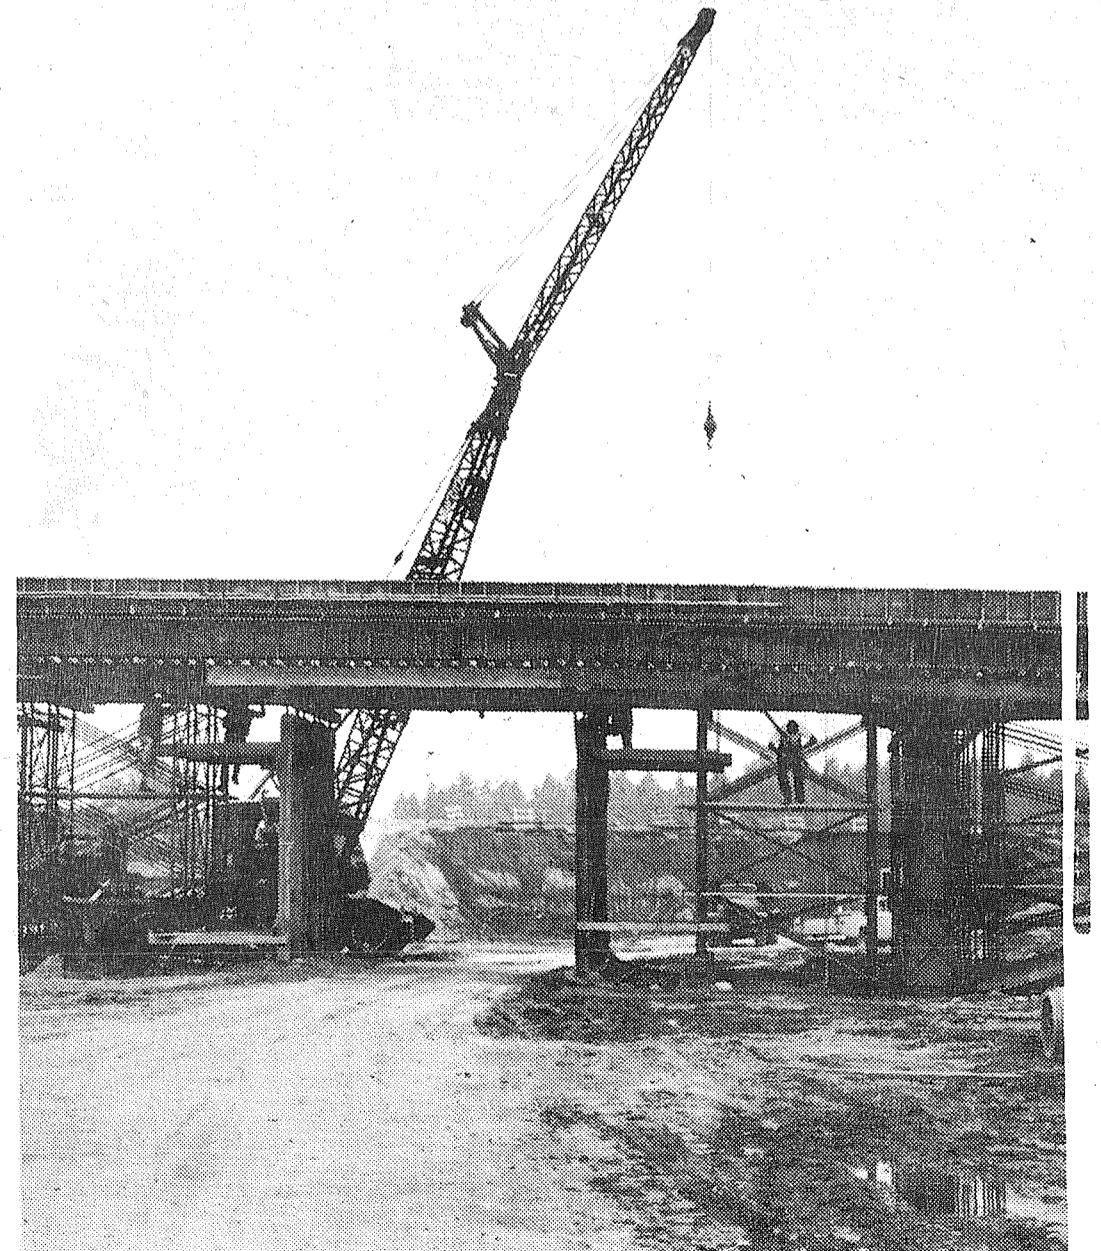

SPANAWAY-Arvid E. Keith was awarded three construction and repair contracts totaling more than $52,000 recently by McClord Air Force Base.

Keith's was one of eleven contracts totaling over a quarter million dollars let since June 24, according to Fred J. May. Other Tacoma area contractors include Freigang Construction Co., Superior Laundry, H & C Construction and Woodworth & Co., Inc.

School Crossing

WITH THE AID OF A CRANE, workmen remove the forms from the Franklin Pierce pedestrian undercrossing. The Freeway right-of-way divided the campus of the Franklin Pierce Schools. This 226 foot bridge will carry pedestrian and service vehicle traffic between the two sections of the school grounds. Ostruske-Murphy Company, Incorporated, is the subcontractor building this one-lane bridge. State Highways Department engineers estimate that this bridge is about 75 percent complete. Five bridges crossing the Freeway are included in the prime contract for this job.

Dr. Paul Vigness Leaves For Purdue

Dr. Paul C. Vigness, professor emeritus of history at Pacific Lutheran University, will join the Purdue University faculty this fall, on a one-year appointment as professor of American history. Dr. Vigness, who has resided at 1110 Wheeler St., since his retirement a year ago, has been doing historical research on the role of Norway in the second world war. A book on the subject, encompassing data gathered in Norway last summer, is expected to be finished in about a year, he said.

ED FOX, 18, Route 2, Box 2682, Spanaway, was named winner of the Tappan Electronic Cooking Center offered in a contest recently held by Tacoma Savings and Loan. Parkland manager Ron Richards is pictured showing Fox his winning entry. The youth said he will probably give the range to his mother.

Sto-Box Derby

by John VanDevanter
When someone has an "un-speakable" problem which needs help, he always seeks remedies "for a friend". But, when a politician wants to send up a trial balloon on his chances in a coming election, the ideal always comes "FROM his friends."

State Representative Buster Brouillet (D-25th) and former sheriff Frank Stojack weren't speaking a bout un-speakable problems last week, but both of them were being urged to seek public offices. While your friends and my friends were street dancing, water skiing, sailing and hoeing the beets, THEIR friends, we are given to understand, were urging them to seek destruction against a couple of pretty skookum incumbents.

Brouillet, who will seek re-election in the 25th this year, is checking the wind for a possible assault on state school superintendent Louis Bruno in 1968. Stojack would like to take another go at Sheriff Jack Berry, who defeated his re-election bid in 1962.

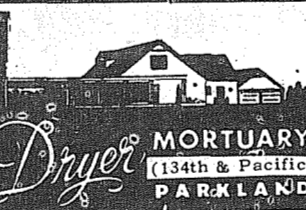

By leaking the news that their friends are pounding down the portico to find a leader for another crusade against the Saracens, the candidates can test their chances without risking their reputations. It can put a guy down to get all armored and horsed and find out that his friends are all shanking down to Redondo for a clam tide.

Of the two balloons, Stojack's is the more likely to produce a campaign. He will look to a lot of fellow Democrats like the only candidate with a chance against Berry. He has name familiarity throughout the County and experience in the job. And, even though this sentiment is not shared by all of the party, there doubtless will be enough to push him into filing. Coming so close to filing time, his balloon may be more of an announcement.

Brouillet's balloon may be lost on the air completely. In the first place, state school superintendents practically never are defeated. Secondly, Bruno is credited by nearly everyone with an outstanding job. And thirdly, much as he would like to think otherwise, Brouillet's name is not a household word outside of the 25th District. His statewide popularity would have to come from the teachers themselves and that is Bruno's great strength.

It costs a lot of money to run a statewide campaign. Without party support, a candidate almost has to find enough friends to raise $40,000 or $50,000 for his own financing. It takes a lot of turmoil to make people care that much even if they are your friends.

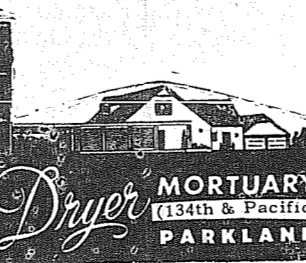

Stojack shouldn't have any trouble financing a campaign, and it appears likely he will file next week. Brouillet's hasn't hurt his chances for re-election this fall by making it appear that he is capable of a joust with Bruno, but it will be a surprise if actually enters the lists.

Most natural thing in the world, you're wanting ME in the Round-up parade, Hackamore. But the least natural thing in the world is ME on a horse. So, unless you can have me on the boot of a convertible, or riding a float, I'm afraid you'll . . .

No horse? Boy, that's a relief. You know horses don't even TRY to throw me. With them it's a challenge to keep me in the saddle. I walked up behind a stable one afternoon and heard a bay gelding giving 8 to 5 to a dapple gray that she couldn't carry me past the fourth round. We held hands through the whole parade. So, if there's no horse, then I'm your boy. About a costume . . .

Optional? Now Hackamore, I know you'd do anything to get me in the parade, but don't you think that the grand marshal . . . well, if he doesn't ride a horse, he ought at least to be dressed . . . show a little class.

The heel and toe will do for the Camp Fire drill team and the bagpipe band, and you can carry the governor and the port commissioner in open cars, but the grand marshal of a Round-Up parade has to be horsed or dressed or maybe even both.

He will? Then you've got another grand marshal and you just want me to symbolize the spirit of spring on a hay fever float or ride on the back of a convertible with the princesses? Oh, they'll be riding horses, too?

Hackamore . . . I hope it isn't going to bother you too much, but I think I'll pass up the parade. I never WAS a very good sport, and if everybody else is going to be riding horses and I'm . . . oh, I'll feel so out of place on foot with . . . well, what will I do with my hands?

Hmmm. It's not what you'd call top billing, Hackamore, but if you'll let me use a dustpan, I'll do it. It ought to keep me from biting my nails.

Good Samaritan To Reopen Bids

PUYALLUP - A contract for construction of a new 72-bed Extended Care addition to Good Samaritan Hospital is expected to be let this week, the Board of Governors reports.

The new wing will provide facilities for physical and occupational therapy including an indoor remedial swimming pool. It will offer more than the custodial type of care typically found in nursing homes but not the concentrated nursing care given in a hospital said hospital administrator Paul A. Teslow.

Bids were opened last month and found to be higher than the estimates, forcing the hospital board to reconsider its plan for financing the building. A federal grant is providing some of the funds.

Looney, Stanley Take Mid-Season Mains

Sports

BY WALT TUPPER

ARI Racing Slate Attracts 2,000 Fans

SPANAWAY - Over 2,000 shirt-sleeved spectators jammed into Spanaway Speedways last Sunday afternoon to take in the ARI sponsored mid-season championships. The slate drew 51 cars and featured 4 trophy dashes, 7 heats and two 50 lap main events.

When the dust had finally settled, Ed Looney and Bruce Stanley proved to be the hottest pilots as they toolied their super-modified stocks to victory in the double A and A mains.

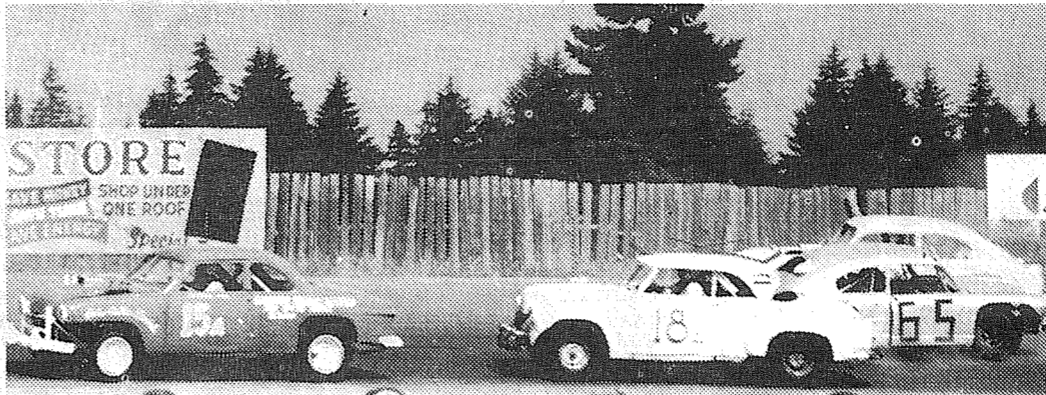

Looney simply overpowered his competition in the double A feature, grabbing the lead early with some daring driving then just cadilladed around for the final laps, Jack Kuper finished 2nd with Don Hall 3rd.

Stanley found more unsolved problems than a math professor as Paul Welsh and Arlyn Wolanski duelled him on even terms through the first 15 laps. Wolanski had to throw in the towel when his new 65 car developed engine trouble and quit on the back shute.

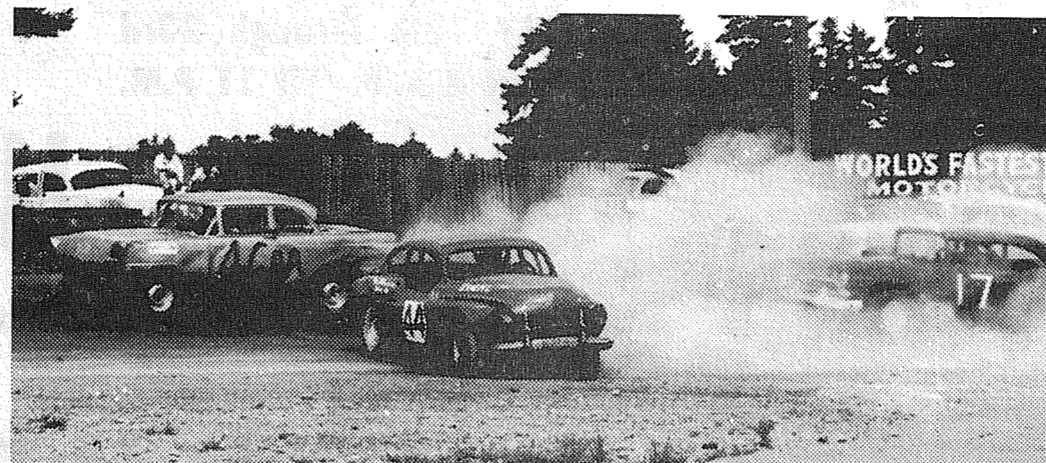

Welsh hung tight in the corners and hot in the straight-aways, keeping Stanley on his hip until the race was in its final laps. Stanley finally snookered him with a change of tactics by diving in low coming off the west turn and beating him to the good groove going in to the east corner. Welsh never gave up and took starter Lucky O'Neil's checker flag just seconds after Stanley flashed across to victory.

Next week will find Spanaway featuring motorcycle racing Saturday evening, with time trials slated for 7:30 and racing at 8:00 p.m. Many of the name riders who competed at the Castle Rock nationals last week are expected to be on hand. Sunday will find the super-modifieds back with another full schedule, plus a return of the powderpuff set, those wild women drivers who use the track, infield and pit area, not to mention an occasional fence, in order to get around Spanaway's asphalt oval.

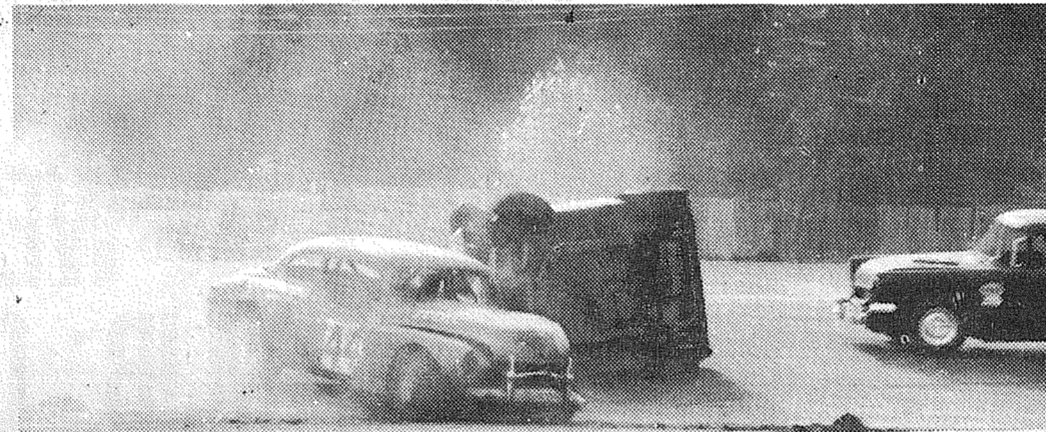

Bill Hunter; 2, Dick Williams; 3, Lew Williams; 5:03.82.
First AA heat (six laps)-1, Jim Sinclair; 2, George Hollenbeck; 3, James Bond; 1:57.79.
Second AA heat (six laps)-1, Joe Hill; 2, Ed Curry; 3, Larry Curry; 1:55.68.
Third AA heat-1, Looney; 2, Russell; 3, Hall; 1:48.65.
First A heat (six laps)-1, Dick Williams; 2, Mr. X; 3, Bill Hunter; 2:02.83.
Second A heat (six laps)-1, Larry Davis; 2, Pearly Rogage; 3, Bruce Linder; 1:57.74.
Third A heat (six laps)-1, Don Thompson; 2, John Mustered; 3, Al Crowe; 1:55.09.
Fourth A heat (six laps)-1, John Winsett; 2, Bruce Stanley; 3, Dale Little; 1:49.24.
AA trophy dash-1, Ed Looney; 1:10.79.
A-B trophy dash-Jim Rossen; 1:17.15.
A trophy dash-Stanley; 1:12.84.
B trophy dash-Rogage; 1:17.17.

WRONG WAY WOLANSKI--Arlyn Wolanski found the going a little bit hairy when he spun out in the East turn during last Sunday's ARI mid-season championships at Spanaway Speedway. Both Dale Little (15) and Bruce Stanley (18) managed to miss the skidding 65 car.

THIS TIME HE MADE IT--Jim Rossen (44) spins out in east turn and gets away with it as Joe Hill (46) and Bob Short (17) slide by without incident.

THIS TIME HE DIDN'T--Rossen spun on the 29th lap of the AA main and found Ray Goodman (turning over) all over him. Both drivers escaped injury.

Ahola, McLeod Dominate Graham Cycle Races

GRAHAM - Emil Ahola and Don McLeod, both national TT class champions last year, dominated Graham Speedway's mid-season championships last Thursday night before 3,500 spectators.

Ahola, apparently completely recovered from a spill at Castle Rock three weeks ago, had his matchless up to peak performance in the expert main that found 8 national numbers competing for honors. The popular Ahola simply beat his competition to the first turn, flipped on his afterburner and never looked back. The issue was never in doubt from the 2nd lap on.

McLeod, who rides his Harley like he was a part of the equipment, methodically chewed up his competitors with a brilliant display of handling skill. He won the amateur main with almost a half lap lead over his closest pursuer.

Another Tacoman, Sandy Saunders, rode his whining Bultaco to victory in the novice main after Sumner's Dan Huletton had to withdraw when he jammed a chain through the gear housing. Huletton had established a quick lead over Saunders before the accident forced him out of the race.

The bikes will go back to their regular Friday night schedule at Graham this week, with a full slate in the offering. Time trials are set for 7:30 with racing at 8:00 p.m.

Dick Taylor of Kirkland established a new fast time record by touring the TT course in 18:60 during time trials.
Expert main-1, Emil Ahola; 2, Skip Van Leeuwen; 3, James Paterneau.
Amateur main-1, Don McLeod; 2, Larry Worden; 3, Chuck Winters.
Novice main-1, Sandy Saunders; 2, Ross Roberts; 3, Randy Bowman.

Top Trapper

DAN RUDOLPH, 16 year old Puyallup High School junior, knocked over 191 out of a possible 200 clay birds to take first place in the Washington State Junior Trap shoot held at the Tacoma Gun Club last June 16th. Young Rudolph, a member of the Summer Sportsman's Club, placed 2nd in the same event last year, losing by only one bird.

Red Ebb Tide

Now I'm not one to point an accusing finger at anyone, mind you, but when the Russians and Poles pulled out of track meets with a super-honed United States contingent with an excuse of not liking our aggressive Viet Nam policies, it somehow smacks of what you would call "face saving." It's a pity when a nation has to smear the sports arena with political hog wash . . . especially when the keen, competitive spirit of sports seems to be the only place where the Russians and Americans can shake hands and really mean it.

Somewhere along the lines of suspicious Communist philosophy, they'll pull the plug wherever it will do the most harm . . . in this case, they cancelled a track meet. Childish? You better believe it.

Maybe the Kremlin psychology club felt this just wasn't the time for another capitalistic victory over Communism, regardless of the nature. I mean, how you gonna keep 'em down on the farms (collective) after they see L.A.? Then again, there's always the problem of counting noses on any Russian track team whenever they're in another country. One of the best ways to hurdle the iron curtain could well be with a seven foot high jump or seventeen foot pole vault.

And there's so many to watch on a complete squad of thinclads. Who's to know where Ivan's going when he leaves his hotel room to get a pack of gum in the lobby? If they happen to be out of his favorite brand, he could quite possibly wind up getting lost in the big city . . . and you know how that goes, he misses the boat back to Minsk, Pinsk or wherever.

One other thing . . . after Jim Ryan's record shattering performance in the mile last Sunday, the political move to cancel a sporting event no doubt saved more busfare for the Reds. In fact, it probably was their avenue out of the annual dual meeting. About the only place left for competition between the two countries will be in the Olympic games every four years.

Track Trophy

STEVE HARLOW points with pride to the 2nd place ribbon and number worn last July 9th at the Washington State Junior Track and Field Championships where he was clocked in 9.3 for the 70 yard low hurdles. Harlow was just a tenth of a second off the existing record which was equaled by the winner. Representing the Lakewood Jaycees, Harlow was one of 390 boys representing 35 areas throughout the state entered in competition in the prep, intermediate and senior division.

Pool To Host PNW Regionals

The Puyallup Swimming pool will play host to the Pacific North West regional age-group diving championships this weekend. Both the one and three meter diving boards will be used. The diving will be held from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, Saturday and Sunday. Everyone is invited to watch the diving free of charge.

A ROUGH ROAD--Taking a spill on a motorcycle is a little different than stock cars councing off each other. Protection provided by "leathers" do a lot to keep bumps and bruises at a minimum. Almost without exception, someone hits the dirt at every race.

Swim Signup At PLU Pool Held Today

Registrations for the third learn-to-swim session at the Pacific Lutheran University pool will be conducted today, July 20, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. The three-week classes run from July 25 to Aug. 12. Pacific Lutheran and the Pierce County Park Department co-sponsor the classes, directed by PLU swim coach Richard A. Alseth. Enrolled in the second session are 425 youngsters. Another 310 participated in the first session. Alseth said the pool will remain open for public swimming during the summer seven days a week from 1-3:30 p.m. The public also is admitted from 6:30 to 9:30 nightly except Thursdays and Sundays. There is a small admission fee.

A lot of people at Longacres have overlooked a four-year old bay gelding named Melmitch. He just may turn out to be the best four-year old of the meeting.

At Turf Paradise, Melmitch was dubbed "The Cinderella Horse" and many said he came from "rags to riches".

In the beginning of his career, Melmitch was not much of a performer but he has proved himself a comer. He has won seven of fourteen starts with two of these at Longacres. He has won two allowance races, a handicap and two claiming races at $4,000 and $5,000.

His trainer, Auburn's Walt Pelitier, says, "He is primarily a middle-distance runner but has proven himself at all distances. He can run on any kind of track including a sloppy muddy track."

The gelding's name is unusual. It goes back to Herb Armstrong, a long-time Washington breeder and perhaps one of the biggest Thoroughbred operators in the State of Washington. Herb had a son-in-law named Mel and a grandson named Mitch. The gelding carries both names.

Melmitch first ran as a two-year old and damaged a cannon bone. Walt turned him out and it took 23 months for recovery but he's back showing his heels to a lot of Thoroughbreds, to wit: his sound beating of the female recordholder Have Faith in the recent Bellingham Purse.
