

Lloyd Eastman Ready to Go

By Clarence La Crosse
Now that the bit of relaxation and change of pace which comes with the coming of Christmas and the New Year is over, it is sort of hard to buckle down again to the rough fight of life and daily business, which knows no pause.

We here at The Times are grateful of the past year and the many friends which it has been our pleasure to know and have. We only hope that in some small way we have contributed our bit to making our world a better place to live. After all, what else is there to do.

It has been our pleasure to help in many worthwhile community projects. It has been our pleasure to assist some who we felt deserved help on life's road. Others we have helped by just not doing anything, if you know what we mean.

As in the case of all, we have made errors in the past year. We feel that we have made more than our share. Our friends have been very kind in overlooking some of our errors and mistakes. Some have told us in friendly fashion, others in not so friendly fashion. We will endeavor to avoid those same mistakes in the new year, but in so doing will probably make others equally as large. But such is life . . . no errors, nothing done.

Parkland area has grown considerably in the past year, even yet it is feeling the stretch of expansion. New businesses and business firms are looking more and more to this area for their future expansion plans.

Quite reliable sources have it that one of the larger department stores from downtown are considering this area as their next expansion move. If so, the area certainly is to be helped as it becomes a source of a better shopping area, thus more dollars are spent here even though some of them never stay here, as in the cases of outside firms drawing money from the area. But then, at any rate, new jobs are opened up and more need for extra housing facilities; and so the circle grows.

Along the lines of expansion is the new Safeway store at 82nd street, which has just been completely renovated, making it one of the most modern stores in the entire state.

Just across from Park 'N Shop, too, is a bit of activity attributed to the fact that competition is opening up. Here, too, will be the need for more help, more jobs, more money for the community . . . it all adds up . . . we are growing.

Lutes, Rangers Raise Curtain Here Tonite

It's time to throw pre-season scores out the window and start playing for keeps.

With a 6-6 "dry-run" record, the hot and cold PLC cagers raise their Evergreen conference schedule with an engagement tonight against the invading St. Martin's Rangers.

GI's Warned Against "Side" Payment Deals

Veterans Administration has again warned veterans, builders and lenders against the consequences of making or accepting so-called "side payments" in the sale of home properties to veterans with the aid of G.I. loans.

The VA said such side payments—usually made for the purpose of evading the prohibition against sales to veterans in excess of appraised "reasonable value"—are a direct violation of law and subject offenders to possible Federal prosecution.

In spite of repeated warnings, the VA said cases continue to come to light wherein veterans have been induced to pay the builder or seller an amount over and above the sales price shown on the loan report submitted to the VA, and upon which the government loan guarantee is based.

Veterans who knowingly conspire to evade the law by making such side payments risk loss of their rights under all veterans' laws, the VA warned. In addition, all parties involved are liable to prosecution under Federal Law.

The VA said veterans should remember that the provision of the GI Bill stipulating that the selling price to the veteran may not exceed the appraised reasonable value, was placed in the law for their own protection against over-priced properties.

A veteran who seeks to circumvent this provision by making an illegal side payment is only working against his own best interests, the VA said.

MRS. WALTER YOUNG, head of the department of physical education for women at PLC, was elected vice-president of the Washington Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the 1950 convention held in Spokane. Her husband operates the Young's Gift Shop on Garfield street in Parkland.

H. SOCOLOFSKY HEADS KIWANIS INTO BIG YEAR

Parkland Area Kiwanis Club is in high gear, ready to roll in 1951, according to Herbert Socolofsky, newly-elected president. The local club enters its third year of existence during which time it has undertaken many civic tasks which have helped various causes. Highlighting last year's achievements was the accomplishment of raising money for the new band uniforms for the PLC band. As the result of the fine gesture and work on the part of the Kiwanis Club, the PLC band now has one of the best marching bands of any college, bowling to none in appearance.

The National Kids Day of which this club participated was another outstanding bit of community help for which the club is especially noted, that of helping underprivileged children. Even greater plans are under-way for 1951 in this respect.

At the last meeting of the Kiwanis Club, held at the home of then President Clay Roley, new officers were installed for the year 1951. James Repp, newly-elected Lt. Gov. for the Third division, installed Herbert Socolofsky as president, Jack Foster as vice-president, Ole Stuen as secretary, and Carl Taylor as the new treasurer.

Also elected and installed were new directors, as follows: Ken Jacobs, Harold Leraas, Gunnar Malmin, Jack Quill, Stan Willis, Rufus Parker, Wayne Swinney; also Clay Roley, who automatically becomes a member of the board, being immediate past president.

Smorgasbord

Differing from the usual dinner, held ordinarily in the Trinity Lutheran Church parlors, the group attending were treated to a fine smorgasbord, prepared by Mrs. Clay Roley, Mrs. Carl Taylor and Mrs. Roy Rostedt. Also assisting was Mrs. Rufus Parker, who sent a fine baked salmon to the affair.

Thursday Meeting 6:15

Every Kiwanian of the area is asked to attend the Thursday evening meeting which will begin at 6:15 at the Trinity Lutheran Church Parlors. Dinner will be served. Special music is promised for the evening, with audience participation featured. A photo of President Herb Socolofsky and Clay Roley which was scheduled for this week's paper will be delayed until next week because of holiday rush and the non-return of an engraving.

Spanawayite Writes Role Navy Playing Off Coast of Korea

(Editor's Note: The writer of this letter is R. E. Cook, RDSN, USS Higbee DDR806. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Winston of Spanaway. Our offer is still good—we will send to overseas servicemen copies of The Parkland Times, if parents or mothers would write us a request.)

At sea off the Coast of Korea

Hello Gang:

Received your post card and I have been receiving The Parkland Times as regularly as could be expected. You don't realize how much a little gossip and the like of that mean.

As to stories, I am not much of a writer but I would like to put in a plug for the job the Navy is doing over here. I have one story which might interest you.

The U. S. S. Higbee DDR806, which happens to be my ship, has had quite a time over here. One bright, cold day about two months ago, we received word that "plane in water," all hands go to your plane guard station. As smooth as clock-work they went.

The next thing you know, we are alongside the doomed plane which overshot the carrier deck and the pilot is floating about. One of our special swimmers jumped in and dragged him to the ladder over the side. He was taken directly to sick bay where he was treated and helped back to life.

The day the helicopter came to take him back, a load of "cokes" came to us via "windmill" (helicopter). On top was: "To the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Higbee who strive to bring them back alive."

Everyone enjoyed the cokes from the captain to the lowest seaman. We are proud to say we are the only Navy ship to bring back a pilot alive . . .

I am trying to repay you for sending me the paper. Thanks again.
DICK.

Civil Defense Program Shifts Gear to Participation Phase

No Mass Evacuation, Says State Director

Washington residents will be expected to stay on the job even in the event of an enemy attack, the head of the state's civilian defense program announced last week.

In a memorandum which he said followed the thinking at the federal level, Philip D. Batson said it would be impossible to stage a mass evacuation, because of the need for continued production of essential materials.

No Deserting

"We cannot anticipate a complete evacuation," Batson said, "of large centers which would mean the scattering of essential productive workers to the four winds. There can be no wholesale evacuations because we would, in the final analysis, be deserting our posts in the face of enemy fire."

The director of the state program deplored what he called a developing "take to the hills mentality."

"As these escapists view civil defense they expect some government agency will pick them up at the door well ahead of time and drive them to places of safety until the whole thing blows over."

"If this service is not available, some are ready to jump into their own cars and make for the hills themselves."

Ignores Reality

He continued: "It is apparent that some civil defense workers are thinking in terms of evacuation of large cities, mass feeding and shelter of the homeless as the first consideration of civil defense. This attitude ignores reality. It is contrary to the practical experience which the British can recall in World War II."

The existing federal civil defense plan, the memorandum goes on to explain, allows for the removal of priority groups such as school age children, mothers and pre-school youngsters, expectant mothers and the aged and infirm. Such evacuation would be on a voluntary basis.

Up to Family

Each family should be free to decide for itself in advance whether its more helpless members should go or stay. Once an attack has occurred, however, no immediate mass evacuation would be practical, the plan states.

In the first congressional answer to many complaints, the Senate armed services committee unanimously approved a vast plan which the chairman of the committee estimated would

Atomic Film Shown Monday in Parkland

On Monday, Jan. 8, a factual and informative film titled "Atomic Medical Cases, World War II—Japan" will be shown to area residents at the Parkland school, Mrs. Al Seaman, Parkland civil defense coordinator, announced this week.

All adults are urged to see this 50-minute government film. The time is 7 p.m.

At the same time Mrs. Seaman announced the start of first aid classes, beginning next week. Enrollments will be taken following the movie. Red Cross instructors will conduct the 5-week course.

Classes will be divided into two groups—group I meeting from 7 to 10 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays and group II, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, also during the same hours. All meetings will be at the Parkland school.

Group I and II, however, will both meet on Monday night and see the film, but group II will not meet on Tuesday night. Group I's second meeting will be on Wednesday, Jan. 10, and group II Friday, Jan. 12.

Mrs. Seaman also said the national code for attack is a "fluctuating or warbling" 3-minute siren. As the audibility of the Parkland fire department siren, she explained that three fire trucks will go to designated places in the area fringes so that warning will be adequate.

Test raids, three in number, are planned for the middle or latter part of January. Residents will be notified in advance, Mrs. Seaman said. "No one need be alarmed," she said. "There will be no test alarm without publicity."

It was announced, too, that Art Swindland has been chosen to head the communications department and Floyd Hicks will be the chief block warden.

Parkland will be divided according to its ten voting precincts with a captain for each. Under the captains will be block wardens who will be the person with whom residents will have personal contacts for instruction and information.

Volunteers For CD Police Work Sought

"Essential to the successful operation of the civilian defense program in any community is the auxiliary police unit," Lou Innerarity said this week, in seeking volunteers for the Parkland area CD organization.

Explaining the policing work, Innerarity said that "protection of property, preserving order to prevent panic and insure the evacuation of large groups of people, supervision of alarm systems, and generally assisting the regularly constituted police agencies" are his unit's duties.

Volunteers are asked to contact the unit chairman at MA 8784 before 5 p. m. or GR 5731 after 5.

Washington State had 2,400,000 out-of-state tourist visitors who spent a total of $122,700,000 with us in 1950.

Midland Gets Rolling With First Aid Class

Midland's civil defense program got off to a flying start with the initial meeting of the first aid class held Jan. 2 in the Dawson fieldhouse. Classes will continue for three weeks, two nights each week, three hours each night, according to Frank Gural, Midland CD coordinator.

The first class has an enrollment of 30, and other interested persons are urged to call Mrs. Thomas Oaks (GR. 5409) as more classes will be formed.

However, Gural says that instructors are at a premium. If another instructor is not available from the Red Cross, the next class will have to wait until the first class graduates. If another instructor is available, new classes will begin on Mondays and Wednesdays to stagger with the present Tuesday and Friday class.

Gural says Midland has been divided into 15 zones and they are now in the process of selecting zone wardens.

RIGHETTI TO AID PETERSON IN SPANAWAY'S CD PROGRAM

William Righetti will assist Spanaway's CD coordinator, Roy Peterson, in working out that community's program, it was learned.

Peterson, who also serves as supervisor for the Air Force Observation unit, states that more information will be made known following the Jan. 9 meeting of the Spanaway Community club.

Peterson also announced the appointment of Ray Huddleston as his assistant in the Air Force work, which is not at present a part of the CD organization.

Standing beside a 40-millimeter anti-aircraft gun aboard a Navy ship off the Korean coast is William D. Bigelow, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo O. Bigelow is a radio monitor for Air-Sea Search and Rescue, and also for heavy bomber air support on missions over Korea. Time Is Of The Essence

To most of us, the war is too far away spatially that we tend to subordinate the need for immediate action along civil defense. But time is now of the essence. We have no time to stand and stare . . .

Rubbing shoulders with three "critical targets" this area need be completely prepared for atomic attack—not only to be prepared, but to be completely prepared.

On Monday night, Jan. 8, an informative film, "Atomic Medical Cases—World War II," will be shown at 7 o'clock in the Parkland school. All adults should see this film. We urge all area organizations to cancel activities on Monday so members may be able to see this wonderfully authoritative film.

Moreover, block wardens in the Parkland area will soon begin recruiting more volunteer workers more intensively. Your full cooperation with your block warden is vitally needed.

It is recommended, too, that at least one adult member of each household be completely oriented in first aid. Instruction is available.

We have no time to stand and stare . . . We must meet the challenge and perfect our civil defense organizations as rapidly as possible.

Lakewood Arts, Crafts Shop HANDICRAFTS TAUGHT, DISPLAYED

By Norman Jensen Every well-rounded person should have a hobby. That is the thought Ruth and Ben Brunhofer had in mind when they opened the Lakewood Arts and Crafts Shop.

Their place of business at 5927 Steilacoom Blvd. in the Lakewood district has been developed into a first class showplace during its year of existence.

In the beautiful and interesting shop, the handicraft of more than 140 Northwest individuals is on display for sale.

In the painting department are works done in oil, pastels, charcoal and water colors. The shelves are loaded with colorful ceramic pieces. Lamp bases made from driftwood, tooled and wrought metal articles, woven pieces, intricate wood carvings and the fruits of other crafts are displayed.

The shop not only provides a place where the public may purchase novel and original pieces, but it serves to promote a greater interest in arts and crafts in the Northwest.

The Brunhofers have organized and arranged courses in practically every phase of handiwork. They have assembled a group of competent instructors to handle these classes. Their ultimate goal is a school of arts and crafts for the Northwest.

P. J. Hussey, noted Pacific Northwest and Alaska artist, instructs the art classes, while Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Dresser are teaching woodcarving and metal tooling.

Lita Creighton conducts the finger painting classes and Albert Lundecker has charge of other classes in painting.

The Brunhofers invite those interested in any of the arts and crafts to drop in and see them.

N. B. of W. Declares 63 Cent Dividend

At the December meeting of the board of directors of National Bank of Washington, a fourth quarterly dividend of 63 cents a share was declared on the 150,000 shares of stock outstanding.

This brings dividends paid during the year to $262,800. The bank increased its capital stock in September, 1950, from 90,000 shares to 150,000 shares, and the dividend just declared is on the same basis as previously paid on 90,000 shares.

A Christmas bonus was also distributed to the 413 employees of the bank. The bonus, totalling over $50,000, was based on one-half month's salary to all employees who have been with the bank a year or longer, and a proportionately lesser amount for those with the bank a shorter period of time.

National Bank of Washington serves Southwest Washington from its head office in Tacoma and ten branches located in Auburn, Bremerton, Castle Rock, Chehalis, Fort Lewis, Kalama, Kent, Parkland, Winlock and Toledo.

J. E. Farrars Perform Sunday at Trinity

The Sunday school staff of Trinity Lutheran Church is presenting Mr. and Mrs. J. Edson Farrar in a service of Song and Narration on Sunday at 4 p.m. in the church auditorium. Mr. and Mrs. Farrar are prominent musical artists from Seattle who have specialized in the hymn heritage of the church. They have presented their programs in many states.

This program, extraordinary, consists of a wide variety of Church music, is worshipful in tone and atmosphere, is educational, beautiful and dignified. The service is planned around the history of the Christian hymn, each important era of hymnology is covered in a brief, interesting manner and illustrated by appropriate music. The early Jewish Chant is done in the Hebrew language, the post Reformation period hymn is sung in German.

Mr. Farrar was an artist pupil of Karleton Hackett, American Conservatory, one of America's foremost critics-teachers. He was one of the first tenors on Station WGN, later had a sustaining program on WJJD, also sang over WLS. He was director of music at Immanuel, Chicago. It was during the time that Mr. Farrar was director of music at the American Lutheran Church in Huron, S. D. (1926), that he became interested in the musical heritage of the Lutheran Church and received the inspiration to give these hymnodic recitals.

The public is cordially invited to attend the program. Refreshments will be served following the presentation.

Dr. Steen, the pastor, will give his "Report to the Congregation" of the year 1950 and will project the program which will challenge the church during 1951. The message will prepare the membership for the annual business meeting which will be held on Wednesday, January 10, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Parkland has changed so in the last two years—it's not the place I knew. I saw it last year and was amazed at the improvement. I always said Parkland would come into its own some day. I lived there 18 years.

Thanking you for your service the last four years, I am respectfully yours,

Women Are Notorious FOR NOT READING INSTRUCTIONS

By the Staff of the School of Home Economics University of Washington Labels deserve greater respect and attention. They are a protection for the buyer and should be of marked benefit to the manufacturer of durable goods. Yet women tend to ignore labels and then feel cheated or resentful when purchases turn out to be inferior. Suppose a cotton dress shrinks badly. The "Sanforized" label was probably lacking and the buyer was shortsighted. Possibly the salesperson knew that this manufacturer does not use Sanforized materials but the buyer never asked. The name of a well-known manufacturer usually gives a guarantee of quality. Often the label will give cleaning and washing precautions which must not be disregarded. You cannot insist nowadays on all wool, pure silk or all nylon. Textile manufacturers say the improvements brought about with mixing textile fibers are remarkable. So don't let a little learning be a dangerous thing. Accept the word of an intelligent salesperson. If buying blankets, moth resistant usually means just that. Some rugs recently treated and made moth resistant are guaranteed for 10 years after testing at the University of Washington. Women are notorious for not reading instructions. Manufacturers of electric equipment say that their service calls result from neglect of instructions plainly attached to the equipment. Women should know what thread count on sheets mean. Fine sheets with a high thread count may be far more beautiful, but may not wear as well as the coarser sheet. Is the sheet for the guest bed or the boys' double deckers? Labels properly interpreted indicate use and durability.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

1. Contrary to popular belief, young women in their 20's are not the principal victims of tuberculosis. That was true in 1900, but is no longer. Today tuberculosis is most serious in older men from the age of 40 on. In 1944 the greatest number of tuberculosis deaths occurred among white males between the ages of 50 and 54.

Answer to Question No. 2:

2. The first voluntary insurance plan in the United States, by which dental care is given on a premium basis to 25,000 persons, has been started in New York City. Operating on very much the same principle as surgical, medical and hospital insurance plans now in operation, the plan will be tested for an experimental period of two years.

Answer to Question No. 3:

3. Two out of three babies in America are on breast feeding at the time they leave the hospitals where they were born. The milk of a healthy mother is the best possible food for the infant.

MIDLAND NEWS

By Mrs. Clarence Johann

Election of officers to serve for the ensuing year was the chief order of business last week when the Harvard, Midland and Larchmont fire department met at the station with Jim Hartley presiding. Those taking office in January are Elmer Morud, president; Floyd Jensen, vice-president; Verne Blauvelt, secretary, and Lewis McArtor, treasurer.

Pre-School Party
The annual Christmas party of the Harvard-Midland Pre-school was held last week at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Lampitt, vice-president and program chairman for the group. After playing several games they enjoyed a gift exchange.

Present for the party were the Mesdames Lawrence Bittner, Ralph Harvey, Virginia Smith, Andrew Christensen Jr., Victor Dawson, Jerry Bosquitt, James Hartley, Sam Harris, Harold Sherry, J. J. Hiblar, Kenneth Webb, Weldon Galloway, Oscar Holmdale, James Sallee, Carlton Smith and the hostess.

Program Successful
Youngsters of the Midland school played to a full house last week when they presented their annual Christmas program. They presented the various Nativity scenes accompanied by the boys and girls glee clubs, choruses and other voice groups plus the orchestra. The oft-told story is always welcome, but when our own youngsters take part, it takes on added significance. The production was directed by the voice, music and regular teachers.

Tours Tribune
Mrs. G. Carlson and assistant county agents George Purcell and Ernest Hopp instructed the Pierce county 4-H'ers at the Vocation school Dec. 28 from 10 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. in the duties of 4-H club presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries and reporters.

A tour of The News Tribune was conducted by two of the men from the Tribune, following the classes.

Civil Defense Program

cost $3.1 billion over the next three years. Of this, the federal government would pay 54 per cent, the state and local governments, the remainder.

Bomb Shelters
The measures include: (a) construction of underground bomb shelters in crowded areas, (b) broad federal authority to take over funds and manpower of federal, state and local agencies, including private property, (c) power to evacuate civilians and make emergency utilities repairs and (d) organization of doctors, nurses and a special U.S.C.D. Corps to handle mass injuries and deaths.

Washington state defense council has drafted a bill to be introduced at the coming session of the legislature. It takes into consideration problems peculiar to this state but retains enough standardization to enable full cooperation with other states.

Red Cross Activities
As to the universal question, "What Can I Do," the American National Red Cross has mobilized its facilities and chapters in cooperation with the federal civil defense office to carry out three major activities in which everyone can take part. These are:

- (1) The first aid program in which 20 million people should be trained as rapidly as possible.
- (2) The national blood program in which the Red Cross will coordinate the efforts of all interested agencies in developing a realistic program of mass blood procurement.
- (3) Nurses aid and home nursing training which will be carried out on a large scale.

PFC. EARL F. BROWN, USMC, has returned to duty at Bangar, Wash., after a 2-week check-up at the Bremerton hospital. Brown joined the Marines June 23 and was appointed private first class Aug. 26. Taylor's Travel
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor and son Morry and Miss Margie Rogers spent the Christmas weekend in Falls City, Ore., visiting Mrs. Taylor's mother and family. They motored Friday evening and returned Monday.

Christmas Cheer
The Mesdames Frank Johnson, Victor Eshpeter and Chet Robinson of the H. M. & L. fire department ladies auxiliary made Christmas a little more welcome for four families of the district last week end when they took out the baskets made ready by the firemen's families.

There were more than 20 youngsters in the four families and each person in the family received a Christmas gift as well as everything in the line of food that goes toward making a holiday dinner.

A vote of thanks to these busy, civic-minded people who paused long enough to remember that others are not always as fortunate. Thanks also to Mrs. Willard C. Hurd and the Scouts of Troop 84 who this year assisted in filling the baskets.

Installation Wednesday
Midland Improvement club will install their newly-elected officers for 1951 Wednesday, Jan. 10, at 8 p.m. at the club room.

TEN IMPORTANT ETIQUETTE CHANGES LISTED BY EMILY POST'S ASSISTANT

Anne Kent, personal assistant to Emily Post for more than 15 years, has listed for the December issue of Cosmopolitan magazine the ten most important changes in etiquette. Here they are:

- 1. First-name calling. Miss Kent finds no fault with this practice in circles where it's taken for granted. She says that position and age should be respected, and children shouldn't call adults by their first names.
- 2. Trouisers on women. "Slacks are not incorrect dress for resort areas, sports, and lounging at home," says this expert, "but are improper for city wear. Of course," she adds, "some women are mistaken to wear them ever."
- 3. The younger set (past eighteen) after midnight. The modern young woman and her young man head for home alone or with other young friends, stopping off for a late snack.
- 4. Posture. "I don't believe we should revert to the ramrod stiffness required when our grandmothers were young women," says Miss Kent, "but a little more gracefulness of posture would eliminate a great American eyecore."
- 5. The typewriter supersedes the pen. The typewriter for personal correspondence is now not merely approved but favored. Formal notes, such as answers to formal invitations, should be penned by hand. And letters of sympathy seem warmer and more sincere if handwritten.
- 6. Manners after divorce. Years ago, divorced couples shunned each other. But today, many of them remain good friends or, at least, on speaking terms.
- 7. Women and nicotine. Sherry's famous old New York society restaurant, forbade any woman to light a cigarette on the premises. The modern woman reaches for a cigarette almost whenever or wherever she has the whim.
- 8. Calling on new neighbors. This old American custom is vanishing, a casualty of World War II. Miss Kent believes that "people's instinctive kindness will eventually bring back the courtesy call."
- 9. Buffet meals replace big dinners. The modern hostess who gives a dinner party can prepare ahead of time, relax, and ask the guests to help themselves.
- 10. The decline of chivalry. Since gaining a more equal status with men, women no longer expect deference as the "weaker" sex. Unless she's infirm or elderly, the modern woman must hustle for a seat on the subway. And that old hats-off-in-elevator rule has been completely revoked in business-building elevators.

Mesdames Nels Johnson, chairman; Albert Asplund, Wallace Seifert, Russell Malray, Laferne Olson and Harley Tullis.

Air Raid Signals
Harvard-Midland P-TA met last week at the Midland Improvement club for the second annual Christmas party with a large crowd attending. After a short business meeting the president, Mrs. Raymond Ellison, introduced Frank Gural, civilian defense chairman for this area, who reported that Mrs. Pearl Wanamaker, superintendent of schools, has announced that her office is waiting for the national plan to be used for county schools pertaining to the procedure of dispersal of children in case of an air raid.

The master plan is now before the Senate. When it is passed, we will be able to determine what is needed for our children's defense. As to general civilian defense, Gural said they actually have no definite plan in case of emergency. The fire department so far is ready to meet all emergencies and a meeting has been called for next week where all interested people are welcome.

The local civilian defense board includes Carl Taylor, Frank Baskett, Chauncey Bowlin, David McPherson and Ralph Taylor.

The signal in the event of an air raid will be as follows: Continual blast up and down for three minutes and the all clear signal will be three one-minute blasts with a two-minute interval.

After the meeting was adjourned, Mrs. Robert Keller presented her pupils in a dance recital. The room of Mrs. Mailand won the room count attendance and the opportunity to study the ant colony for the next month.

Dawson Recreation
Dawson Recreation club will meet Monday, Jan. 8, at 8 p.m., at the Dawson fieldhouse. An attempt will be made to outline plans and policies to be followed by the club for the coming year. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. A. A. Frederiksen.

Christmas Caroling
Five members of the Girls 4-H club went Christmas caroling last Saturday evening and then on to a movie. Girls who took part in the caroling were Joanne and Beverly Morud, Beverly Corrigan, Joan Arterburn and Carol Frederiksen. After the movie they returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Frederiksen for a party in honor of Carol Frederiksen's birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Corrigan, who transported the youngsters were included in the party as were Marlene and Pat Corrigan.
