Granges to Picnic At Spanaway Lake

Friday of this week and Monday of next week are days that will be especially enjoyed by the members of the Clover Creek Grange.

Friday, at the Grange hall another of the Grange youth parties will be held for the benefit of the Grange members. Music will be by the Ernie Southwells.

On Monday, August 12, patrons will gather at Little Spanaway Lake for a pot-luck picnic at six o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Roy Renner and Mrs. S. I. Carlson have made arrangements for the picnic.

BIRTHDAY CLUB PICNIC

Spanaway Birthday Club will have a picnic Wednesday, August 14, at Point Defiance.

Bombed

Employees at Pochel Distributing Company were startled last Thursday when two practice bombs from an army plane which was participating in last week's air show at McChord field landed within a hundred yards of the plant. The missiles dug up the ground considerably but no damage was done as they contained no explosive charges. Before he could contact the field, Bob Johnson reported, officials from the field were there to investigate. Apparently they were notified by radio from the plane which lost the projectiles.

Both Ends Meet

Our old friend, Bill Locke, of Spanaway, says that just when he has managed to make both ends meet, regardless of the high cost of living, he finds himself with a family to support. His cat got kittens, but he says they are very economical kittens as they spend much of their time chasing their tails, trying to make both ends meet.

Woman Chases Bear

As you know that's news and here's the story. Mrs. E. L. Haskins, friends, and family paid a visit to Yellowstone Park. Mrs. Haskins is one of those camera enthusiasts you hear about. A big black bear came into camp early one morning when everyone was quietly minding his own business. Her friends, aroused by screams of other campers, saw Mrs. Haskins grab her camera and take after the bear which was ambling back into the woods. Undaunted she caught up with the furry fellow and snapped his picture... to her delight and shocked remarks of her friends.

Goes After Truck

Ira Tisch of Parkland left on Monday for St. Louis, Mo., where he will take delivery of a new truck and semi-trailer for his company.

Employed as a truck driver for the Columbia Powder Co., Mr. Tisch has the rather ticklish job of delivering high explosives to the company's many customers throughout the western states.

And while on the subject of travel don't let anyone tell you travel conditions have improved. With no plane or Pullman reservations to be had, Mr. Tisch is on his way east in a chair car and not liking it one bit.

He Flies

Well, folks, your P. P.—Prairie Pointer that is—publisher took a couple of flying lessons this past week, and that's an experience (period). Friend Wayne Russell of the Russell Flying Service has a dandy argument why old men should learn to buzz the breeze like a flying trapeze, so up we went. At his Forest Grove airport just east of Spanaway Russell keeps some mighty fine little training ships—Luscombe Silvairs and Taylorcrafts.

Hondle Takes Over

After that "get young old man" pep talk from Wayne gets us in the mood to stab the air, he rushes in Norm Hondle his chief instructor. Now this man Hondle's no slouch. He's been flying planes since he was sixteen and although he is still in his early 20's his career in the air has covered all types of craft and during the war

4-H Clubs Enjoy Benbow Lake Camp

Nearly one hundred and fifty 4-H Clubbers from all over Pierce county gathered at Benbow Lake for four days of work and recreation, beginning at noon Tuesday, July 30.

A fine program of handicraft, lessons in judging different 4-H projects, and supervised recreation was participated in by the boys and girls. Classes in photography, taught by Frances McQuarrie; plastic weaving, directed by Len Weise; plaque making, taught by Miss Agnes Sunnell, assistant county agent, and scrap book making under the direction of Mrs. Weise, were very popular. Robert Hager of Tacoma taught classes in rope spinning, square dancing and progressive game planning all of which were of much interest to the club members. Reed Hanson, assistant county agent, was in charge of the camp.

Clover Creek was justly proud of its showing at the camp, taking honors as third best campers among the many clubs present.

GARDEN SHOW WELL ATTENDED

FOURTEEN WOMEN

BEAUTIFUL DISPLAYS

The Garden Show that took place at Spanaway school on Wednesday, July 31, was attended by a large crowd. Fourteen women placed first, several of them winning for more than one entry. Many and beautiful floral arrangements were shown.

A beautiful display of gladiolas was made by Mrs. A. J. Wallick of Ninth street, Spanaway.

Mrs. O. L. Solum, president of the garden club, took care of the guest book while Mrs. George Chessam and Miss Alice Randall had charge of serving coffee and tea.

MULVANEY DIES OF HEART SPELL

WELL-LOVED REMEDIAL
TEACHER, SPANAWAY,
ONE OF EIGHT IN STATE

Arthur C. Mulvaney, age 50, born in Knapp, Wis., died of a heart attack July 22 in Dickinson, N. D., while enroute to visit relatives in Wisconsin.

Mulvaney was well known in Spanaway, having taught one year as remedial teacher in the Spanaway school.

He began teaching at the age of seventeen, attended the University of Minnesota and graduated from the University of North Dakota. His vacations were spent attending summer schools. He served for several years as principal of Mendosa high school in North Dakota.

In the state of Washington he taught at Nisqually, Adna and Spanaway. For three years he traveled through Pierce county as a teacher of music in the public schools. He had the honor of being one out of eight teachers in Washington state to hold a certificate as a remedial teacher.

He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Masonic Lodge in Wisconsin.

Pioneer Mary Smith Offers Suggestion On Origin of Name, Golden Given Road

Early days of the South End were brought to mind by Mrs. Mary Smith when she read the Pointer's query about Golden Given Road. Signs along this road differ in the spelling of the name Given—some say Given, others Givan and still others Givens.

The county office claims that Givens is correct while Metersker's map shows it as Givins. In desperation the Prairie Pointer asked if anyone knew the origin of the name so that the correct spelling could be learned.

Mrs. Smith believes that the name originated from the fact that the road cut across the property of two pioneer families of the South End—the Golden family and the Given family and therefore should be called Golden Given Road. (The "s" was probably added as a possessive or plural).

When William Wilson, Mrs. Smith's father, came west from Iowa, he bought 200 acres of land, most of which later became col-

CANVASS NOW IN PROGRESS

30 WORKERS EXPECT
TO HAVE $5,000 FUND
RAISED BY TUESDAY

Great enthusiasm greeted the more than thirty workers who met in Parkland school last Monday night for the kick-off of Parkland's War Memorial drive. Herbert Socolofsky, president of the Community Club, which is sponsoring the memorial, presided at the meeting and a number of civic leaders gave fine talks in support of the movement.

Stan Willis, who is chairman for the campaign which runs until Tuesday night, introduced his two assistants, Paul Larson and Carl Colton as well as the workers who have volunteered to help. Dr. J. P. Pflueger, Clifford O. Olson, Morris Ford and Mrs. C. S. Fynbo inspired the workers with their enthusiastic pleas for making the fund-raising campaign a big success. Burt Brewer, commander of Rodger Lunde VFW post, expressed pleasure that recognition would be given to those who served in World War II and said that the veterans he represented would back the drive 100 per cent.

$100 Gift

Auguring for success in this community venture was the announcement that a $100 gift was the first donation and that it was from a person who had lost a son in battle. A thermometer will be set up in the Parkland post office and each day's gain in donations will be registered.

President Socolofsky said "We must not fail in this great memorial to our boys. It behooves every citizen of our progressive community to get behind this drive."

Work will start on the tennis courts immediately following the fund-raising campaign and it is hoped that these will be ready for use this fall. Mel Pedersen has designed a fine layout with an appropriate fountain carrying a plaque dedicating the whole project to those courageous sons and daughters who defended the right in the late great war. Every veteran's name who served from the Parkland area will be inscribed upon the scroll.

House to House

The workers are now busy making a house-to-house canvass from the city limits through to Brookdale and a special committee is calling on the business houses. Cards have been printed which are to be posted by all who give to the memorial fund. Also lapel badges are being worn by donors. Drive officials are urging everyone to wear the badge to help promote this event.

How to be Beautiful

has been a subject diligently studied by women since the world began.

In 16th century England the fashionable world was told by Thomas Moffet that "A maid that cares for her beauty and would make the circles of her eyelids black, Emmets eggs bruised with flies will perform that."

To benefit her hair, an early Egyptian queen had a recipe prepared consisting of equal parts of the heel of an Abyssinian grey hound, of date blossoms and of asses hoofs boiled in oil.

For the simple, hygienic beauty art of today, see Parkland's own experts. Margaret Lunke or Gloria Hannah.

Potluck Picnic—Sunday, July 28, a group of friends drove to Redondo Beach to enjoy a potluck picnic. They were Mr. and Mrs. Franz Anderson, Mrs. Alma Coffee, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Barnes of Tacoma, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Erickson and son Duane, Chris Barnes of Phoenix, Arizona. Following the picnic they gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson in the evening to be supper guests. They were joined at the Anderson home by Harry Harigan of Brookdale and Miss Anna Clark from Olympia.

At Girl Scout Camp—Miss Jane McCammon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold McCammon, is spending two weeks at the Girl Scout Camp at Allyn, Washington. She left for camp on July 27 and expects to return this Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. McCammon visited her at camp last Sunday and found that she had stepped on a nail so that her foot was sore; however, the camp has a good nurse and a nurse is probably as well as ever now.

Leaves—Miss Eleanor Zumbuhl who has been visiting at the home of her mother Mrs. P. Burgi, has returned to her home. The Burgi's have as their house guest this week Adolph Zumbuhl, Jr.

Sweet Peas—The beautiful sweet peas which have been enjoyed for several Sundays by those attending the services at the Clover Creek Baptist Church are from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boness Sr. This reporter has never seen sweet peas quite as beautiful as those grown by the Boness' this year.

Operation—Friends of Mrs. Harold Smithlin are happy to hear that she is recovering very quickly from an operation which was performed at the Tacoma General Hospital last Saturday. By the time this paper goes to press she expects to be home.

At Benbow Lake—A very enjoyable Sunday afternoon was spent at lovely Benbow Lake by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Renner, Barbara Renner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, Charles Jr., Johnny, Emma Mae Allen, Mrs. Emma Allen, Mrs. Ruth Allen, Marjorie and George Allen Jr., and Charles Werner. A delicious picnic lunch was enjoyed and the afternoon was spent swimming, boating and riding horses. Mrs. Ruth Allen found that after twenty-five years of inactivity horseshoe pitching wasn't as easy as it used to be.

See Horse Show—Wessel Kuper, Calvin VanWinkle and Jerry Jonker rode their horses over to the Viking Field in Puyallup last Saturday to see the horse show that was held in connection with the Ezra Meeker Days. The boys say they had a lot of fun at the carnival after the horse show was over.

Along the Street
 The army nabbed him but fast to teach flying technique.

Prelims
 Norman shepherds this budding (old bud) pilot to a Taylorcraft and gives a thorough one-over tour of the ship, pointing out elevator, rudder and aerolons and why. Then he says "Get in the pilot's seat." Now we're getting to the real McCoy but this you should see to appreciate. Being a bit on the portly side, shifting a carcass like yours truly into a Taylorcraft is something you accomplish. After trying head first, then feet first, one suddenly discovers that rump-first is the proper method. By this time Handle is trying to look nonchalant and chewing gum fast to keep from busting his safety belt.

Up We Go
 Anyway, we finally made it and then received instructions as to instruments, throttle and other gadgets. Then came the "propping" and motor warm-up. Now we taxi to the take-off point and are allowed to get the feel of taking off by resting hands and feet lightly on the controls while teacher takes us neatly into the air despite some bumps from unfriendly air currents. "Well," say I to myself as we reached for altitude, "this looks easy so maybe there is something to this old dog learning new tricks stuff." We level off at 3,000 feet and Handle says "take her, Pop, and head for that point yonder." That yonder thing turned out, to be Point De fiance. Seems like everything is hunky-dory until Norm says to watch the wings and distant horizon now and then to check for level flight. One wing is drooping like a chicken's in a rain storm. A touch of the stick brings her up, but don't get too touchy, bud, or you'll be wobbling plenty.

Looks Tough
 After a session of this learning to keep the plane on a true course, we head for the airfield. And that sitting down stuff looks plenty tough. But the head man says its just another maneuver in the business of learning to fly.

Number Two
 Lesson number two came Monday and the air was really choppy this time. We flit about over Tacoma while I try a few turns and banks. It's a good thing there's lots of sky for dubs like me. Maybe some day I'll learn if the instructor can stand the strain.

Summing up to date, it is a thrilling experience for this neophyte. However, Instructor Handle is a nonpareil teacher, but he's still young and good looking so maybe he ought to toss out old guys like me before he loses that youth in trying to make an aviator out of such stuff as the P. P. publisher.

Anyway folks, you'll hear from me soon again regarding progress.

A Thought
 In all seriousness I must make this observation: Today's planes practically fly themselves and as to safety—I'll take a plane any day over a ride on today's crowded highways in a fast-moving car. As to beauty of scenery, there's nothing like it.

Forrest Leonard and his sons, Donald and Robert, are owners and managers of the new Blue Spruce Motel on Mountain Highway in Parkland. Don and his father are actively engaged in finishing work on the cabins. The other brother and investor, Bob, is stationed in Japan with the army of occupation.

Well equipped, with all conveniences, radiant heat—considered one of the best types of heating systems—and roomy, these houses promise to be a good answer to the housing shortage. Living room, dinette, kitchen, bath and two bedrooms are in the plan. There will be 13 cabins altogether.

The Union service station part of the Motel has been operating since May 4 of this year.

Don and Bob Leonard both joined the paratroopers. Don was with the 17th Airborne Division in Germany, Holland, Belgium and France. Bob is in the 11th Airborne Division and is in Japan now.

Don was employed in a Union Oil station in Tacoma when he enlisted. He was in the Ardennes, Ruhr, Rhineland and Central Germany battles. After 14 months overseas he was on board ship returning home on V-J day, and was discharged on August 29.
