It's just like old times again here in Parkland - hundreds of college students roaming the streets making the old town come to life - Sure miss the activity which is lacking during the summer months when things are really quiet.

Norman Jensen dropped in the office of the Times yesterday - Norm is on his way back to Dental College with one year to go - then it will be Dr. Jensen - As you recall Norman was one of the staff of the Prairie Pointer not so long ago - did a good job too.

PARKLAND BOUNDARIES?
Just a week or so ago we were discussing with Gordon Brown, representative from the 29th district the boundaries of Parkland as accepted by most people - while discussing the matter we brought to his attention the fact that the newly erected signs along the highway showing the boundaries were sort of misplaced especially the northern sign which at present is located just across from the Triple XXX.

It is our opinion that this sign is misplaced. After checking with several of the business firms and business men at the bank corner it was further brought out that the sign should be placed at about 108-110th street, which would include the business corner at the bank and the Parkland Pharmacy. It is evident the business at that point wish to be included inas-much as nearly all of the stores or business firms bear the name Parkland in their name.

Mr. Brown promised at that time to take the matter up with the district engineer. He later phoned me informing me that he had contacted the engineer. Since no action took place I again called Mr. Brown with the results that he wrote a letter to Mr. W. A. Bugge, director of Highways which reads as follows:

"Dear Mr Bugge; several residents of the Parkland community have recently called me regarding the sign 'Parkland Unincorporated' that was recently erected on the Mountain Hiway that passes through their community. They feel that the sign should be placed at about 108th street or 110th north of the present location (By placing the sign in this location it would include the Parkland fire station and the new bank building in the Parkland area as well as several other business establishments. The idea of marking such communities on the highways is a splendid idea and the Parkland people are all for it but they do want some of the important institutions included in the area. Yours truly, Gordon J. Brown, Representative, 29th district. We trust our action in this matter was in keeping with the majority of the opinion of the public and we are looking forward to the time when such sign will be properly placed. We also wish to thank Mr. Brown for Continued on Page Four

Green Lutes Buck CPS Grid Veterans

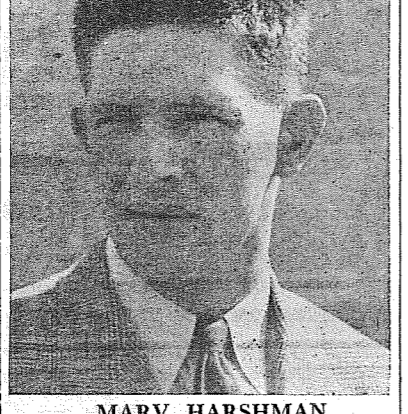

As PLC tapered-off training in preparation for their grid-iron opener Saturday. Coach Marv of the Glads are "crying" of their "green team." Hardhit by graduation, Tommervik and Harshman have a "50 per cent" freshmen squad to go against John Heinrich's Loggers.

However, says Tommy-gun: "By the year's end, we'll have a good ball club."

Seven of these freshmen were good enough to play in the recent prep all-star tussle in Seattle. They are: Tommy Campbell, Frank Karwoski, Gerry Kluth, Dick Barclay, Ron Svardal, Bill Barnhart and Dave Ketter.

According to Tommervik, his top performers so far in scrimmage have been Co-Capt. Rick Daniels, Co-Capt. John Jurkovich, Bob Macready and Oliver Magnuson.

The Loggers' rugged front wall that paced CPS to an Everreen conference co-championship last year is not as heavy this year. But their line is reported faster. Ideal for down-field blocking assignments.

What the Public Should Know . . .

LAST WEEK we started on the history of the Dry Cleaning Industry and the use of gasoline, its hazards, etc.

IF we went into details on the methods and formulas of the hydrocarbons, it will fill volumes of books and years of study and experiments.

ABOUT 25 YEARS AGO, a man by the name of Stoddard gave the oil companies a formula that would comply with the Dry Cleaning needs with a reasonable degree of safety. Today, we refer to the solvent used by most Dry Cleaners as Stoddard solvent.

THE oil companies spent lots of time and money to put cleaning solvent on the market. This solvent is a hydrocarbon, same as gasoline, but not as hazardous to use. But it is as dangerous as gasoline, if it is not properly used.

This is something all of us should know. Cleaning solvents remove only the things pertaining to hydrocarbon, such as grease, dust, oils of the body, face creams, burning oils, etc. All other soil and stains must have special treatment. (We will go into such spotting later.)

REMEMBER, these soil and stains do much more damage to your garments than the sharpest edge of a knife . . . Send your soil and stains to us at the . . .

 There's the gown she wears in the Easter Parade,
 And the one she wears Christmas, And the suits tailor made,
 But she's sure to be kissed by her Favorite Tease,

Mothers Complicate Situations CHILDREN'S PARTIES NOT FOR MA

By the Staff of the SCHOOL OF HOME ECONOMICS University of Washington
 A children's party can be as much fun for the mother as for her child. A few suggestions may increase the pleasure.
 Neither elaborate preparations or expensive food are appreciated. Well planned activities, simple easily served food, easy to eat, and a small memento to take home are all that is necessary.
 Most children enjoy coming without their mothers for they feel more important. Mothers complicate situations because the hostess always tends to unconsciously plan for them rather than the little guests.
 Furthermore, they interfere and tend to dominate their own children. One extra mother is enough. She may be needed to avert accidents when the hostess goes to the kitchen or tends to some child's need.
 The hours should be wisely chosen and indicated on the invitation. Little children who take naps had better be invited from 12:30 to 2:00, and have lunch dessert. For older children, 2 to 4 in the afternoon may be better.
 The refreshments are best that require no dishes or linen. Ice cream cones or ice cream sandwiches, cup cakes with one candle on each, suffice. Possibly small decorated cookies might also appeal or be served in place of cup cakes. The children can go to the kitchen cafeteria style and each get his own.
 Activities must be carefully chosen. All the young guests must be able to do something they like to do. No one must be left out. No one must be made to sit still for more than one minute.

 Marching, rhythmic games, noisy games, activity where all have equal status are best liked. Nothing is worse than feeling inadequate at a party.
 It is well to put away bric-a-brac, unstable lamps in a closet. It is well, in fact, not to expect tea etiquette of four years olds without their mothers.
 Blaine McKanna, former PLC footballer, was named coach at Parkland junior high school, replacing Eldon Kyylo who was recalled to active duty by the Air Force. Superintendent Morris E. Ford of the Franglin Pierce school district made the announcement last week.
 McKanna, a four-year letter-winner, will work with Paul Larson at Parkland JH and will teach mechanical drawing. McKanna is from Longview, Wash.

Central Ave. P.-T.A. Introduces Teachers

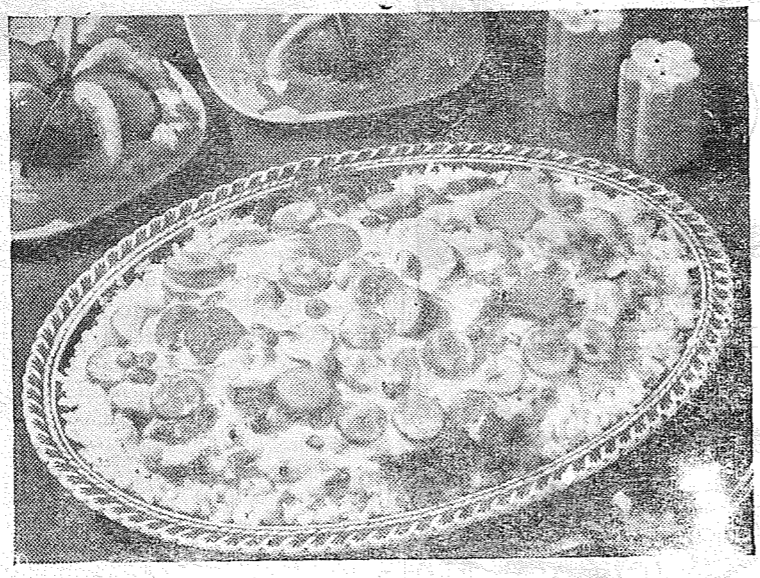

Central Avenue school teachers will be introduced at the P.-T.A. meeting next Wednesday at the school. With Mrs. Emil A. Ripoli presiding, the meeting will get under way at 8 pm.

Mrs. Ripoli will outline plans for the year's activities and introduction of teachers will follow. There are seven new teachers on the Central staff.

Orville Weeks will explain the various phases of the school's instruction for those having speech difficulties.

It was also announced that George Barras is anxious to meet parents whose children wish to play musical instruments and take part in the school orchestra.

Mrs. Glenn Walker, program chairman, promises "special speakers and special music." The executive board will be hostesses. All parents are urged to attend.

FRANKFURTER ONE-DISH MEAL—You can play the role of a Lazy Susan in your kitchen this summer with meaty one-dish meals at your finger tips. A luscious example of easily prepared top-of-the-stove dishes is this Frankfurter One-Dish Meal. To prepare, melt four tablespoons fat in a skillet and in it lightly brown one bunch of green onions, including part of the stems. Stir in six tablespoons flour and gradually add three cups milk, stirring constantly until thick. Add one box frozen mixed vegetables which have been cooked according to the directions on the package. Add 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon prepared mustard, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and one pound frankfurters which have been sliced in 1/2 inch thick pieces. Cook about 10 minutes. Serve on hot boiled rice.

Drink More Milk, Less Meat . . . BEAT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

By the Staff of the SCHOOL OF HOME ECONOMICS University of Washington

Today many are nonplussed over high food prices. They feel rather helpless, particularly when they scan the meat price list. Few stop to consider what are really good buys. Few compare price increases of the past years.

Where meat has tripled in price since depression days, milk is only up fifty percent. Meat that was 30 cents is 90 cents; milk that was 13 cents at its lowest is now only 18 cents. Thrifty people should drink more milk then, and eat less meat. Milk is just as good a protein and actually provides more of the essentials than does meat.

If even milk seems expensive, butter-milk at 14 cents, evaporated at 13 cents, or dried skim milk at 10 cents a reconstituted quart, are all exceptionally good buys. Dried skim or fresh skim or buttermilk has all the protein, calcium, phosphorus, and riboflavin that whole milk contains. The vitamin A which is removed with the butterfat can be provided in green and yellow vegetables, yellow fruits, cheese, butter, margarine, and eggs.

Cheese is another exceptionally good buy, either American or cottage. Both are delicious in main course dishes, in desserts, or with salads. Where a serving of meat costs at least 20 cents today, a serving of cottage cheese providing the same amount of protein costs only about 7 cents, and American cheese to provide equivalent protein, about 9 cents.

Every housewife should learn to make good cheese fondue, should add grated cheese as toppings for desserts like Brown Betty or cobbler and then feel secure as she cuts down on the meat provided.

Dried beans of all kinds, split peas, peanuts and peanut butter, all deserve wider use. They are very good sources of protein at extremely low cost. One pound of beans or peas or peanut butter provides considerably more protein than a pound of meat.

True, the protein quality is not equal to that of meat, but the quality can be made superior if milk in some form is served with the meal . . . as beverage, in the dessert, or in cheese.

A small amount of animal protein rounds out the value of the beans, peas, or peanuts. A little ham cooked in the beans, some eggs in the dessert, will provide the lacking essentials. A peanut butter sandwich and a glass of milk provide a large quantity of excellent protein.

Mexicans and Latin Americans use corn to supplement bean protein in their diets, but northern people care less for corn. However, corn bread served with beans or split pea soup is an appetizing combination. Make enough corn bread for the next day. Split, reheat, and pour a hot cheese sauce over it. 'Tis a dish fit for a King or General.

Someone should start a campaign for home-made bread made with milk—have contests, prizes, and demonstrate again how good a food bread can be. If we ate more of this kind of bread, we would crave less meat.

In such an educational program, the value of potatoes should also be stressed. So few people realize that potatoes are an excellent source of thiamin, iron, vitamin C and even their protein is important.

Many of us are such snobs that we refuse cheap, appetizing, local foods. Baked potatoes with creamed chipped beef, scalloped potatoes cooked with a little ham, bacon or cheese, German fried potatoes, hot potato salad served with wieners, oven browned hash—potatoes offer endless possibilities and high health value.

Humility is the stepping-stone to a higher recognition of Deity. The mounting sense gathers fresh forms and strange fire from the ashes of dissolving self, and drops the world. —Mary Baker Eddy.

Parkland Sergeant Talks, Acts 'Our Way' In Korean Episode

WITH THE SECOND INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA—He was the fourth Red prisoner to pass through the area that day. The others had gone to the rear. Soaked through, miserable, frightened and shivering, he squatted near a truck.

The American first sergeant mentioned to a private: "Bring him a couple of cans of C rations."

The prisoner, Lee Chung Hun, 19, didn't know how to open them. A grumbling Second Division man worked the can opener for him.

"Is there an old blanket in the tent?" asked the first sergeant, Robert E. Henry, 38, husband of Astrid Henry, 1215 So. 117th Street, Parkland.

"A blanket!" gasped an astounded GI.

"You heard me! Its cold. You gotta' show 'em the way a Democracy works, don't you? Get a d— blanket."

Lee Chung Hun looked up, surprised, when the blanket was placed around his shoulders. These were not the Americans he had heard about. And only an hour earlier, he had been firing a machine gun at them.

"Surprised, wasn't he?" Henry asked. The little "so-and-so" will probably live through it," the GI muttered.

By the end of June 1950, a total of 2,125,541 veterans had obtained G. I. loans aggregating more than $11.5 billion. Nine out of ten of the veterans secured home loans.

A "farewell" party for Mr. David Shope of Parkland was held last Sunday night at the Shope residence. A reservist, Shope was called for military service.

Those attending the party, besides the Shopes and their daughter June, were the Messrs. and the Mesdames Clayton Stephens, Howard Shouse and children, Albert Lee and son, (Max Hesse, Richard Koehler, Howard Altes and daughter, Selma Lawrence, Edward Miller, Carl Hesse, Paul Hesse and sons.

Clarence Taylor, Alvin Gunderson, Robert Young, Martin Mathison, Jacob Brandt, Allen Russell, and the Messrs. Walter Hesse and Alvin Hesse.

Arlene Lehman, Shirley Jarvis and Mary Alice Riddle, all of Graham, were announced this week as winners of blue, red and white ribbons, respectively, at the Western Washington Fair in Puyallup. The girls competed in the 4-H exhibits.

This is a little story about a great little guy named Billy - Billy isn't the kind of fellow who does a lot of bragging about what he can do nor how he does it but he has a hobby which to him is the most important thing in the world.

others went the way of the times, riding horseback, hunting the buffalo and the antelope on the prairie Billy watched. his mother knit socks and other items of wearing apparel for the loggers. This fascinated Billy no end - to be able to use a needle and a skeen of yarn like this was right up his alley - time was the only thing he could place a value on so Billy turned to what was the logical way out - he got interested in doing knitting for a hobby and to pass the long hours away.

Early in 1900 Billy really got going. By then he had developed some techniques of his own. He never did like to follow patterns of someone else. All his designs and patterns are from his own original ideas. It's easy, he claims, all you need to do is knit - and it all comes out in the end. It's just like composing music. Billy further declared, as we were discussing his hobby with him recently. When we went to see Billy Bothwell he was at Joe's Cafe in Spanaway. On the wall were all sorts of pieces he had knitted. In the picture above, you will see some of the fancy work he did. Billy is really proud of his work and justly so because it is really nice according to the feminine voice in the matter.

Billy has been showing his work at various fairs At Puyallup he captured two firsts and a second last year. One of Billy's biggest ambitions in life was to get his picture in the paper with a story about himself - Well Billy, here you are - it isn't much of a story - and it is a bit too late rfoyou to see, but we do know that up there - where surely you must be - you are busy - busy knitting - your picture. Billy - it is here - hope you like it

Velvet and velveteen are the absolute headliners for fall. Velvet is showing on collars, cuffs belts, trim, and buttons as well as hats, purses, gloves, shoes, jackets, skirts and coats. The velvet touch is everywhere. It appears now mostly in navy and black but look for lots of color soon.

It's a fact hem lines are going up. The accepted length for fall is between 14 and 15 inches from the floor. They tell us the cuffs of many a coat will turn back this year, which means gloves will be longer. Gauntlet and elbow length styles are to be prominent this season. Jewelry will be large and casual. Expect lots of big colored stones, especially in the wide, wrist-hugging bracelets. Accessories are going bulky with the advent of the narrow silhouette.

You who like to be clever with table decorations please note. Small glass bricks measuring about four by four inches make elegant candle holders. Anchor a tall candle inside each brick, then fill the bricks half-way with water and use as a vase for holding rosebuds or other flowers. Here's what you can do with color . . . on a chartreuse tablecloth, use maroon candles, the colorless transparent blocks and deep red roses. The roses will take on a maroon "cast" to match the candles, ruby glass and whatever other accessories you have on the table.

To remove water spots from plain color rayons and silk, try rubbing the fabric with your fingernail or edges of a coin, or simply rub between the hands. Then press with a slightly damp tissue paper or regular pressing cloth. Pressing often brings back the sheen when combined with rubbing.

WE'RE PROUD

We here at the Times are mighty proud of the way Don Eastvold captured the votes of so many good residents of this district. They like us are confident that in Don they will have a State Senator who will faithfully carry out the duties of his office and those in accordance with the wishes of the people who elected him.

Don carried a slogan in his campaign which we like a lot and that is, "You Can Trust Don Eastvold". Those familiar with the antics and doings of the so called representative of the people. Barney Jackson, will easily know just what this slogan means. Jackson managed to get the people to elect him senator in the past then "sold out" his own district to some fish interest down the Columbia river way. He at least will be able to do a lot of fishing when the election is over as he won't have to spend any time at being Senator from the 29th district because Don Eastvold will be holding down the job and that in a manner quite different - "You can trust Don Eastvold - give him your vote for State Senator - vote for the man not the party.

MIDLAND NEWS

By Mrs. Lois Johann

The Pierce County Senior 4-H club held their final meeting of the 4-H year last week at the Midland hall. Plans for an all Senior dance were discussed with arrangements to be made at a later meeting.

New officers elected were: president, Paul Hawkins; vice-president, Beverly Morud; secretary, Loretta Milne; treasurer, Beverly Corrigan and reporter, Carol Fredericksen.

Following the business meeting, square-dancing was enjoyed by those attending with Barbara Madsen calling the dances. The next meeting will be at Firgrove, Oct. 11.

Mrs. Ryan, representative of the Tacoma Theatre Guild urged members of the Midland Orthopedic guild last week to help in sponsoring one of their plays to be held this fall at the South Tacoma Community center.

The proceeds will be divided between the two Guilds. Action on this proposal was postponed until a later meeting.

The first of a series of Bingo Parties will be given Oct. 13, at the Midland hall at 8:00 p.m., Mrs. Albert Asplund will be chairman assisted by Mrs. O. Olson.

The Guild has also planned to hold a Bake Sale the third Saturday of each month beginning September 23. Chairman for the first sale will be Mrs. Gordon Andreassen assisted by the Mesdames Albert Asplund, Floyd Ayers and Charles Berg. Homemade bread, cakes, pies and cookies will be sold. Selling hours will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Midland Thriftway Food Center.

Several longtime friends gathered at the home of Alma Bemmell last week to wish her good luck and happiness in her new home. School days and old friendships were the main topic of conversation.

Guests included the Mesdames George Turner, Henry Tefre, Roy Taylor, William Shanahan, Francis Hushck and Clarence Johann.

Pierce County Council of Parent-Teachers are sponsoring a "school of instruction" Tuesday, Sept. 26, at the Trinity Lutheran church at Parkland. Because of the great influx of fathers into the local P.T.A. boards, this meeting has been designed especially for them.

It will be an evening with dinner being served by the Circle Three of the Trinity Guild at 6:30 p.m.
Anna Marn Nielsen of the PLC will tell of her workshop experiences this summer at Northwestern University. After dinner everyone will divide into interest groups as follows:

Presidents and vice-presidents with Mrs. M. D. Wilkinson as leaders; secretaries and treasurers with Mrs. David Wood, leaders; membership committee chairmen and members with Arthur A. Cook, leaders; program committee chairmen and members with Mrs. Horton Wilcox, leader, and recreation committee chairmen and members with Mr. Tom Lantz, leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linek of 80th and Waller road, stopped at the home of your reporter last Monday with the following notice: "We wish to express our most sincere thanks to the Harvard, Midland and Larchmont Fire Department for their very efficient and cooperative service and many thanks to our friends and neighbors for their friendly service during our recent fire."

The Lineks were very high in their praise of our firemen for their fine work in keeping the fire away from 400 gallons of oil stored just 40 feet from the scene of the blaze in the chicken house.

The value of Fire Dept., Water Co., etc. isn't usually noted until an emergency arises so we are happy to pass along this much deserved "thanks to you" to one of our civic groups.

The second annual banquet for the Midland baseball team was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hansler last Thursday evening. The table was centered with the trophies that the boys have won this year and they were served turkey and all the trimmings.

During the dinner Johnny Hansler on behalf of the team presented Manager Frank Turner with a jacket in appreciation for his fine work and Bill Beshaler presented Bob Hansler with a duplicate jacket for his part in managing the team's finances.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor and Mrs. Roy Christensen assisted the Hanslers with the dinner. Besides the team members incitations were issued to Bill Marr who played with the boys before going to work in Alaska and to Don Hansler who has been closely associated with the team.

Figures and team averages released by Manager Turner this week and showed that Midland won 34 games and lost 13 for a 723 average. It is interesting to note that Midland scored a total of 312 runs in the 47 games while the opposing team scored only 186 against them.

Over-all team averages are as follows: Wing, 100—Taylor 988—Lemagic 961—Fredericks 929—Stone 962—Hansler 914—Bierman 907—Peterson 893—Minshell 931—Couture 862—Beshaler 906—Larson 933—Roley 842—Young 100—Witser 765.

Secretary Chapman Urges Buying Of Winter Fuel Supply

Home owners were asked by Secretary of Interior Chapman this week to begin buying their winter supply of fuel.

He said that a "severe winter would increase demand and seriously slow down transportation," thus resulting in "possible fuel shortages" locally.
