Kids' Playground
When Stan Dahl purchased a group of lots near the west end of Wheeler street in Parkland he conceived the idea of setting up a playground for the neighborhood kids. Trig Blix, A. C. Bidstrup, Carl Colton, Erwin Dammel, Cliff M. Olson and Gunnar Malmin, all residents in Stan's neighborhood, joined in the project. George Olson supplied the first work when he bulldozed the grounds. Then the others moved in and erected swings, bars, trapezes, sand box and a baseball diamond. Many youngsters are now enjoying the playfield, and Dahl said that other members of the young set residing in Parkland are welcome to play there.

Goes Gunnin'
Win Hunt, who once had the natives of Spanaway looking for a sea monster in Spanaway Lake, has hied himself to Montana on a still hunt for guns. The demand at his sports goods emporium in Spanaway for guns of all kinds has been far ahead of the market. Win is making a swing through Montana this week and hopes to return with a load of shootin' irons.

Oh Happy Day!
One of those "It happens once in a lifetime" events came to young Tommy Peterson last Sunday. He has not missed a home game of the Tacoma Tigers baseball team this season and has made many a friend among the players. So last Sunday in recognition of his faithfulness Tommy was presented with a brand new baseball that had been autographed by practically every member of the team—and is he proud? The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson of Parkland.

Nice Ice Pick
John Aasby, who operates the Crystal Ice Service in these parts, not only puts out top-grade ice but he has a jim dandy ice pick and holder for the job. Some years ago in western North Dakota Aasby picked up several buffalo horns and a friend of his made one of them into a highly polished pick holder trimmed with polished brass. John says he's had many an admirer of that fancy holder which is strapped to his side while on his rounds.

Observer
"Becky" keeps well posted on the comings and goings of Parkland folks. She's the pet-wire haired terrier belonging to Mrs. Esther Davis, office manager for the Parkland Light and Water Company. During office hours Becky mounts a table near the front window of the office and keeps a constant watch on passers-by. And she does it very quietly, too.

Nylons vs. Butter
Last week Mrs. L. A. Berry of Spanaway, route one, advertised that she would swap butter for nylons. She did, but quick, and now is the happy owner of two pair of the precious hosiery while a couple of families are each enjoying two pounds of delicious farm-made butter. All of which adds up to the fact that advertising in the Prairie Pointer pays.

Midland Web Feet Take Easy Game

The Web Feet, Midland boys softball team, defeated the Harmon Cougars 14 to 7, Tuesday afternoon at Harmon playfield. Jim Daly caught for the Web Feet and Morris Taylor pitched. Also on the team: Dick Horton, first base; Babe O'Neil, second base; LeRoy Brown, third base; and Herby Kennedy, shortstop. Bob Crossman is right fielder, Bob Witscher center fielder, and Leonard Larson left fielder. Tubby Cliston manages the teen-age team.

Dawson's Web Feet got off to a good start when Morris Taylor, first man up, made a home run in the first inning. Though the Cougars got away with seven runs in the first two innings the Midland boys tightened up and didn't let them get another run in the entire game.

Monday the Cougars have a chance to show how fierce they are in a return game at Dawson Field, Monday at 6 p.m.

At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by those present at which Mrs. Allen served refreshments.

TO STAGE FIRE DEMONSTRAT'N

SPANAWAY-ELK PLAIN VOLUNTEER FIREMEN TO SHOW EQUIPMENT

The Spanaway-Elk Plain volunteer fire department has come a long way this past few months and they are going to show the home folks just exactly how far the night of July 29th. Monday night at the meeting of the organization Jim Gray was made chairman of a committee to stage the whole affair. He will be assisted by Herman Fuchs and George King.

Both the trucks recently acquired by the department will be all set to go by that time and preliminary plans are for the firemen to stage a demonstration of their equipment and modern fire fighting methods. Fires will be set and extinguished by the men. Also tentatively on the program are moving pictures and a feed. Full details will be announced as they are completed and it is hoped that every resident of the Spanaway-Elk Plain fire district will be able to turn out that night and see the fine progress that has been made by the firemen.

Permanent Set-up

In order that all the firemen can be covered by insurance a permanent roster of members is being made up by Fire Chief Herbert Baker and this will be completed soon. Only active firemen will be placed on this list.

Two other standout items were noted at Monday night's session. First it was voted to pay off all indebtedness against the equipment and secondly the Women's Auxiliary handed a $100 check to the firemen which represents some hard work by them in behalf of good fire protection.

OLD P.L.C. GYM TO BE UTILIZED

CONCRETE FOUNDATION TO BE ROOFED OVER FOR LABORATORIES

The P.L.C. gymnasium, destroyed by fire on June 4, will be partially restored, it was announced today by college authorities. The first floor, which was the basement of the gymnasium, was made of concrete and a temporary roof will be built over it, thus making it possible to restore the rooms used for biology, chemistry and for the athletic teams.

This work will begin at once, thus making these class rooms and laboratories ready for us by the time the college opens for its fall semester on September 16. Supplies for the two laboratories are being purchased by the college bursar.

As soon as the new science hall is ready about November 1, the two science departments will be removed from the gymnasium quarters and then the ground floor of the old gymnasium will be used for other purposes.

BETTY EATON WINS AIR TRIP

High School Students Fly To New York City, Lunch With Dodger Pitcher

Betty Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Eaton, 84th and Taylor streets, returned this week from a trip awarded her by Northwest Airlines for her 12-verse poem on the air age.

Although only four high school students from Tacoma, Seattle and Portland would be pronounced winners, Betty's poem and that of Nancy Thomas were so good that five Tacoma students won the prize.

All winners gathered at Boeing Field in Seattle, June 22, to take the free trip to New York. Eighteen hours later they landed at LaGuardia Field after approaching the city over the Atlantic ocean for the view.

Visit Radio City

Hotel accommodations were arranged and paid for by the airline as well as their entertainment tour. Sunday night they visited Radio City Music Hall to see the new movie, "Anna and the King of Siam." They lunched Monday with Les Webber, pitcher for the Dodgers and watched that much-maligned Brooklyn team defeat the Cincinnati Reds at Ebbets Field.

The prize-winners and their chaperons also visited Carnival, a night club, the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, and the roof garden of the Astor Hotel. They also saw the musical "Carousel," and rode through Central Park in hansom cabs. That afternoon a photographer from "Seventeen" snapped a picture of the group after they had lunched at the Tavern on the Green.

Listens to Control Tower

Just before their departure, the Benrus Watch Company gave each one of them a watch. On the return trip Betty had a chance to sit in the co-pilot's seat and hear through the earphones what the control tower engineer had to say when they purposely got off their course.

This is not the first contest Betty has won. This year she won second prize in an essay contest sponsored by the Tacoma Business and Professional Women's Club and first prize in the contest sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. In her class at Lincoln high school she graduated among the top twenty scholastically. She plans to attend Washington University to major in journalism.

PARKLAND NOW PUMPS WATER

MUTUAL COMPANY CUTS OFF TACOMA SUPPLY ON JULY FIRST

Members of Parkland's mutual light and water company are now using water from their own deep wells and can soon expect a reduction of rates. According to an announcement made this week by Stanley Rosso, president of the company, the system was cut over from Tacoma city mains on July first but the well water has been in use for the past five weeks. However, the company did not disconnect from Tacoma mains until its own system had been fully completed and thoroughly tested.

Two Wells

The Parkland company has two wells which tests have shown can provide ample water for its system. No. 1 well is located at Harrison and G streets and is 211 feet deep. No. 2 well is at A and Cleveland streets and is 366 feet in depth. Both are connected to pumps which deliver the water to a 150,000 gallon tank that was erected at the site of well No. 2. This tank stands 125 feet high and has already become a familiar landmark throughout the South End.

Debt Free

The Parkland Light and Water Company was virtually forced to develop its own water supply when the city of Tacoma jacked up its wholesale rates approximately 300% thus forcing the mutual to boost water rates to its members three-fold.

With a goodly sum in the reserve fund the board decided to sink wells and produce water independently. This project was started in June 1945 and has been carried to completion without the necessity of raising any outside money. The total cost has been approximately $45,000. With the job debt-free the board members feel that they will be able to reduce water rates in a short time. According to President Rosso this will be done just as soon as the reserve fund is replenished. Already they are surveying the situation and working out a new lower rate schedule. Also some new and larger water mains will be installed to improve service in certain localities.

Well Pleased

In announcing the completion of this project, Rosso said, "The board members are well pleased with the manner in which this job has gone through. We have been exceedingly lucky in getting materials as well as fine cooperation from the contractors and suppliers. This project has been fully completed in a little more than a year, and in these times we feel this has been excellent. Every effort will be made to lower water rates just as soon as possible."

Members of the board of directors are Stanley Rosso, president; Walter Daniles, vice president; O. J. Stuen, treasurer; Iver Johnson, secretary, and Harry Chambers, trustee. M. A. Wutz is manager of the company and he has received the commendation of the board for his hard work in connection with this project. W. E. Barry of Puyallup, engineer, was also given praise for his excellent work.

Girl Scouts Receive Ratings at Picnic

After lunch the girls united in singing God Bless America and The Ash Grove, official Girl Scout song. The Girl Scout Pledge was recited and Mrs. McCammon presented the following girls with second class badges: Jane McCammon, Barbara Renner, Elsie Keene, Luella Keene, Shirley Heller and Dolores Smithlin.

Fifteen scouts have registered for the coming year and Mrs. J. Harold McCammon, Mrs. Roy Renner, Mrs. Fred Boness Sr., and Mrs. Ruth Allen are the Scout committee for the girls.

FOR NEWS AND ADVERTISING CALL GR 8436

Tuesday Is the Day

Tuesday, July 9, is primary election day and again the oft-repeated plea for citizens to vote is expressed. Every election is preceded by campaigns in the press and over the radio seeking to get all eligible voters to turn out. Yet thousands pass up the opportunity to have a voice in naming public officers. Politics is the base of our form of government and only by every adult taking a part in it can we have a real genuine rule of the people. Indications up to now are that only a mediocre interest is being manifested in this primary election and a light vote is indicated. Political corruption thrives on apathy of the voters so those who desire honest politics can best get it by going to the polls.

Pointer Advertising

That consistent advertising pays dividends locally has been demonstrated during the few months that the Prairie Pointer has been published. The two most conspicuous examples are Gibbons Grocery and Herman's Shurfine stores in Spanaway. Both of these firms have carried regular space in the Pointer and one has only to visit these stores on a weekend and see the continuous march of customers past the cash registers to be convinced.

Many other smaller businesses have reported good results from regular advertising and are reaping the rewards of increased sales. To be sure the merchant of today has a tough time getting things to sell, but with his firm name in front of the public he will have the favored position when competition once more is keen.

The smart business man today is keeping his firm in the public eye, and is building for the future with a substantial sum in the budget for advertising.

Know the Source

The battle of the initiatives has been started and voters are beginning to be bombarded with propaganda "fer and agin."

Each day an armload of letters from the headquarters of this and that organization comes to the editor's desk and it is interesting to study these and attempt to evaluate the merits. How any voter can be anything but confused is a wonder. It would seem logical that unless a person thoroughly understands the intent of the act upon which he is cogitating a negative vote would be in order. Not to vote at all on any given measure is not so good as this action leaves the field open to the promoters of the legislation to put it over.

If past history is any criterion, the organizations with the most money get their initiatives on the ballot. Take the case of the private power interests. Almost every general election ballot for the past twenty years has carried a measure put there through the efforts and cash of large monopolies for their selfish interests, and this fall's ballot is no exception.

This time it is initiative No. 166 which they are attempting to get approved. It is nothing more than a law which would hamstring the PUD's in this state by forcing the public utility commissioners to submit almost their every act to a vote of people in their respective districts.

Voters will be smart if they find out who's footing the bills for these various measures before going to the polls.

Transportation in Russia

Russia's strength has long been measured by the condition of her system of transportation. As far back as the Crimean war in 1856 France and England would never have dared attack the armies in the Crimea had there been railroads to bring reinforcements from Moscow.

Inefficient communication between provinces probably accounts for much of the former weakness of the state's internal structure.

It is interesting to note the main features in the transportation section of the Five Year Plan for 1946-50. New rail development will be in European, not Asiatic Russia with lines to the Baltic ports to be improved.

Significant is the fact that Russian broad gauge railroads will not be extended beyond her borders thus showing that she does not expect a close coordination between her industries and those of Poland and Central Europe. Most extensions and improvements will be in the central region to the Urals for this is the center of Russia's strength.

A vast fifteen year rail electrification plan is under way which will avoid the use of high grade coal for transportation and will work for national efficiency even though it will not be operationally economical. Plans also call for 100,000 miles of highway to be paved with hundreds of thousands of miles of dirt roads being made passable for automobiles.

Aviation will also be developed to a great extent as will be canals and other internal waterways. One conclusion to be drawn from the plan is that the nerve center of the country will not be pushed into Asia, but will remain where it is at present.

We are diligently concentrating.....

on providing service to waiting applicants as fast as it is humanly possible to do so

Every effort is being made to improve the quality and efficiency of our service

Directing our efforts as we have to render service as rapidly as possible to all who want it and to make our service even better than it has ever been before, the 2,886,000 telephones in service as of May 31, 1946, include an increase of 254,000 since V-J Day, of which 183,000 were added in the first five months of this year—an unequalled increase in any similar time period in the history of our company.

The telephone increase since V-J Day exceeds by 67,000, or 36 per cent, the 187,000 increase in the year 1945—the largest yearly telephone increase ever recorded by our company. The telephone increase for the first five months of 1946 exceeds by 69,000, or 60 per cent, the 114,000 increase for the entire year 1945.

New applications for service—totaling 340,000 for the first five months of this year—increased 107 per cent over the corresponding period of a year ago. Of the 286,000 prospective subscribers at the first of the year whose applications had been necessarily deferred due to shortage of facilities, we are glad to report that 183,000, or 64 per cent, have been cared for. Due, however, to the time necessarily involved in the installation of complicated switchboards—in many instances new buildings are required to house them—together with the large number of new applications and the continued materials shortages and disturbed conditions throughout the country affecting manufacturers' production, 229,000 applicants are still waiting for service.

We are diligently concentrating, notwithstanding the difficulties in obtaining adequate apparatus and materials, on providing service to waiting applicants as fast as it is humanly possible to do so. Likewise every effort is being made to improve the quality and efficiency of our service.

Construction of additional toll and long distance circuits has gone forward with rapidity and continued improvement is being made in the service even though the volume continues at record high levels—the calls being 20 per cent greater than in the corresponding five-month period of a year ago.

Our company has recently made substantial further postwar increased wage adjustments, aggregating $6,000,000 on an annual basis, as a result of collective bargaining negotiations with the unions. These added wage increases are over and above the postwar adjustment wage increases made in December of last year which aggregated more than $18,000,000 on an annual basis. Thus, this recent wage increase, embodied in a contract to run until March 1, 1947, brings the postwar adjustment wage increases, arising out of collective bargaining, to more than $24,000,000 annually—the increase in our postwar wage rates being 19 per cent. The recent collective bargaining negotiations between our management and the unions extended over a period from April 24 to May 18, 1946, and at no time throughout the negotiations did the unions or the company fail to realize that the public interest came first. . . . Net Income has been adversely affected by increased costs of operation, particularly the large added wage expenditures.

Cancer Death Rate High In Washington
The growing importance of cancer as a health problem was pointed out today by Dr. Arthur L. Ringle, state director of health, who said that a new statistical study has shown the disease as the second leading cause of death for the past ten years in Washington. "Cancer took the lives of 2,386 Washingtonians, on the average, for each of the ten years studied, which ranks it second only to diseases of the heart as a cause of death," Dr. Ringle said. "It took more lives than pneumonia, tuberculosis, and automobile accidents combined during the entire period."

The study showed that women have a slightly higher death rate than men for ages up to 55, when the men's rate takes the lead. But 55 is also the age when cancer deaths begin to skyrocket, Dr. Ringle declared. The men's rate per 100,000 population for ages 45-54 is 94.4, but in the next decade it leaps to 288.8, and for 65 years and over, it becomes 783.0. "The progress that has been made in the last decade in both the treatment of cancer and the overcoming of fear of the disease are indicative of what can be done in the future," Dr. Ringle said. "Cancer is curable—particularly when caught in the early stages. Public education and more research will bring us much closer to complete control of this formidable enemy."

NORMAN JENSEN IN WHITMAN GRADUATION
Norman Jensen son of Mrs. Selma Jensen of Parkland, was graduated from Whitman College last Monday at Walla Walla. Attending the exercises from Parkland were his mother, Mrs. Selma Jensen, and sisters Mrs. Ed Moline, Donna Jean and Delores and niece Cheryl.

Norman was president of his fraternity Phi Delta Theta at Whitman and participated in many school activities. He took an accelerated course, completing four years of schooling in three years. In the fall, Norman will enter dental school at the University of Oregon in Portland.

MARY MARTHA'S RECIPES
Since meat is something one dimly remembers from pre-war days, the following casserole recipe is delicious and can be varied in many ways:
CASSEROLE MEAL
2 or 3 potatoes
Diced celery
4 or 5 carrots
Chopped chive
Small onion
Process cheese
Flour
Chopped ham, Vienna sausage, spam or some other canned meat.
Green peppers, if desired
Butter baking dish generously. Slice vegetables and arrange in layers with slices of meat, sprinkling salt, pepper, flour and chive in between the layers. Add a few squares of cheese so that the cheese flavor will be occasional rather than permeate the whole dish. Bake for an hour or two.

Cupcakes are convenient and practical for picnics. They may be baked in just the papers if one lacks cupcake tins. The following is a particularly good recipe, simple to make:
"MIX-EASY" RED DEVIL'S FOOD
Preheat oven 350° F. The oven may be less hot but do not use a higher temperature.
Measure into sifter:
1 1/2 cups flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 cups sugar
Have ready:
2 squares Baker's chocolate, cut up and melted in 3/4 cup hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, unbeaten
Measure into bowl:
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
Mix or stir shortening just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients; add 1/2 of chocolate mixture, the vanilla and eggs. Mix until all flour is dampened; then beat 1 minute. Add remaining chocolate mixture, blend, and beat 2 minutes longer. (Count only actual beating time. Or count beating strokes. Allow at least 100 full strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and spoon or beater often.) Fill cupcake papers a little more than half full and bake slowly for 20 minutes or until they are springy to the touch. Frost with chocolate frosting.

June is symbolic of weddings, reminding us of Matrimonial Bliss, those delicious cookies which require but one cup of sugar yet make a large quantity of cookies which are lovely for company.
MATRIMONIAL BLISS (Date Cookies)
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup shortening (butter preferred)
2 1/2 cups oatmeal (quick)
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 1/2 cup hot water
Filling: One 10-oz. pkg. of dates cooked with 1/4 cup sugar and a little water. (Less sugar may be used or even eliminated if dates are sweet).
Roll out the first mixture on a cookie sheet or pastry cloth. Then spread the filling (cooked and cooled) on 1/2 of the cookie dough. Fold the other half of the dough back over this. Cut in small squares and bake in a moderate oven, 350° or less, for 20 to 25 minutes.

SUMMER LUNCHES
Try serving an avocado sandwich made with slices of avocado, bacon and mayonnaise.
Split wieners lengthwise and insert a generous piece of cheese. Grill for 10 or 15 minutes. Serve with baked beans or sauerkraut.
Add a small jar of minced chicken to creamed new potatoes and peas for a tasty luncheon dish. If served on toast, make the cream sauce fairly thin.
Quick date muffins to serve unexpected callers may be made by adding a handful of dates to packaged muffin mix, together with the specified amount of water. Bake in cupcake papers. When served hot with butter they make an appetizing and easy-to-prepare specialty.
Fresh asparagus requires from 15 to 20 minutes of boiling; beet greens 10 to 15 minutes; peas 10 to 20 minutes and shredded cabbage, 5 to 10 minutes.

Pioneers Can File For Birth Record
Even though they may have been born in pioneer days, native Washingtonians who have no birth certificate on file may apply for one through "delayed registration," Irvin R. Vaughn, state registrar, said yesterday. "Since Washington is a comparatively young state, official records of births occurring before the turn of the century, and up to 1907, are quite incomplete. We have about 200 requests a month for copies of birth certificates which have never been officially recorded. Centralized filing with the state department of health was instituted in 1907; records prior to that time are in the hands of city health departments and county auditors," Mr. Vaughn said. The delayed certificate is based on evidence submitted by the applicant, and its legal value is determined by the nature of the evidence available. Best is a statement from the doctor or midwife officiating at birth, Vaughn said. Next preference goes to signed affidavits by persons having knowledge of the facts of birth; and records more than five years old, dating back to some time before the applicant's fifth birthday, are also acceptable. Vaughn said that since birth certificates are often valuable in establishing citizenship, age and parentage, it is advisable for everyone to have a certified copy, now available in a plastic-sealed wallet-size card. They may be obtained from the State Department of Health 1412 Smith Tower, Seattle 4.

How to Strain Milk On the Farm Is Told
To properly strain milk on the farm requires a good strainer plus considerable care on the part of the dairyman. The following tips on proper farm straining of milk are provided by N. S. Golding, Division of Dairy Husbandry, State College of Washington. A strainer should be used in the milk house, and not in the barn, says Golding. It should have a clean cover to keep out dust and flies. Good strainers are ones where the filtering surface does not have milk poured directly on it, as this washes the particles of dirt directly through the strainer. A strainer should filter milk at about the speed it is being cooled. A strainer attached to the supply tank of the cooler is satisfactory.
Clean Strainers
When cloth strainers are employed the cotton disc or six inch square made for the strainer, should be used and a fresh cotton is required for each milking. The cheese cloth strainer used for several milkings is seldom kept clean and sterilized. Many such strainers are responsible for poor quality milk. Good strainers are strong and well tinned. All the solder joints—of which there should be as few as possible—should be fully filled with solder, leaving no place which cannot be cleaned. Improving the quality of milk is obtained by keeping dirt out of the milk and not by straining it out. Pure milk is produced by having clean cows, properly cleaned and sterilized utensils, followed by thorough cooling of the milk.

See Your Dentist First at Age 2 1/2
In order to have the best chance for a good, strong set of permanent teeth children should first visit the dentist at the age of two and a half, Dr. Francis I. Livingston, head of the dental hygiene section of the State Department of Health, said yesterday. "At thirty months, the child should have all 20 baby teeth, and probably all that will be required is examination and cleaning. Nevertheless, this early trip will give the dentist a chance to correct minor irregularities before they become serious problems," Dr. Livingston declared. "To many parents wait until the child has a mouth full of cavities, and then expect the dentist to perform miracles. If the first visit is postponed until much dental service is necessary, the child forms an unpleasant association with dental care which may last a lifetime. Give your child a chance to make friends with the dentist," he said. Good teeth for children begins with good care for the mother before the baby is born, according to Dr. Livingston. She must have an adequate diet, and any dental infections that might cause complications must be corrected. After the child is born, breast feeding is a help to good dental development, since mother's milk is best nutritionally, and breast feeding helps development of the jaw. Since dental schools are not graduating enough dentists to replace those lost each year through death and retirement, there will continue to be a shortage of dentists. If our dental health is to be maintained, this means that stress must be put on early preventive work, rather than time-consuming, costly corrective care, Dr. Livingston declared.

183,000 New Phones Installed This Year
An unequalled increase in the number of telephones was reported for the first five months of the year by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in a statement released today. The report, signed by N. R. Powley, president, was received here by Dean Anderson, Tacoma manager. "Directing our efforts as we have to render service as rapidly as possible to all who want it and to make our service even better than it has ever been before, the 2,886,000 telephones in service as of May 31, 1946, include an increase of 254,000 since V-J Day, of which 183,000 were added in the first five months of this year," Mr. Powley said. "The telephone increase since V-J Day exceeds by 67,000, or 36 per cent, the 187,000 increase in the year 1943—the largest yearly telephone increase ever recorded by our company. The telephone increase for the first five months of 1946 exceeds by 69,000, or 60 per cent, the 114,000 increase for the entire year 1945.

Applications Up 107%
"New applications for service—totaling 340,000 for the first five months of this year—increased 107 per cent over the corresponding period of a year ago. Of the 286,000 prospective subscribers at the first of the year whose applications had been necessarily deferred due to shortage of facilities, we are glad to report that 183,000 or 64 per cent, have been cared for. Due, however, to the time necessarily involved in the installation of complicated switchboards—in many instances new buildings are required to house them—together with the large number of new applications and the continued materials shortages and disturbed conditions throughout the country affecting manufacturers' production, 229,000 applicants are still waiting for service.

When a fuse blows, find the cause. Possible causes are: using too much electricity from one circuit, or a cord or plug or an electrical appliance in need of repair. Disconnect all equipment, correct the trouble, and install a new fuse of the right size. Don't use a makeshift substitute for a blown-out fuse.

THE HOME OF THE MONTH

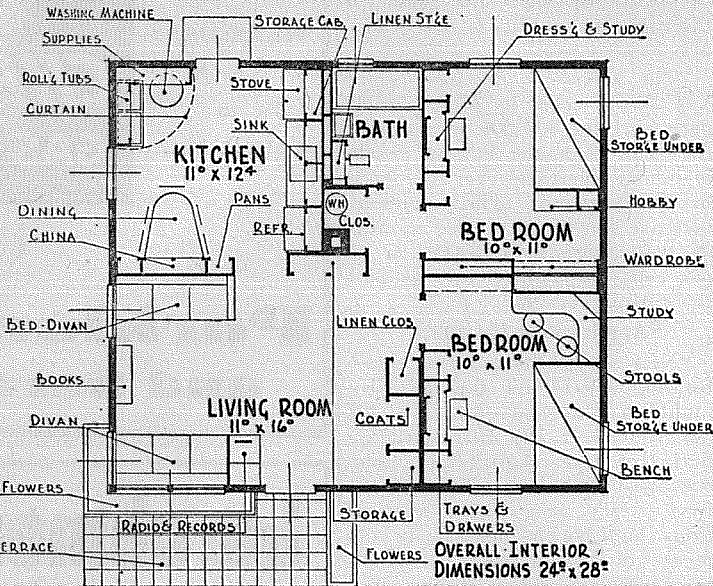

Your grandfather bought an empty house—shelter—and added heating and kitchen equipment, furniture to make a home.

Your father bought a house with bathroom, kitchen cabinets in place, heating equipment installed.

You, Joe and Jane G. I., can buy a complete house like the one shown here. Your down payment takes care of house, furnishings and equipment, with 20 years to pay.

Designed by the magazine, PRACTICAL BUILDER, Chicago, to meet the requirements of Mr. and Mrs. G. I. or any other young couple starting housekeeping, the outstanding features of this low cost home are the use of built-in beds, dressing tables, dining table, divans, bookcases, many planned storage units and first floor laundry. You can move into this home the minute it is completed with nothing more to buy than bed linens, cooking utensils, and a chair or two if you so desire. It provides plenty of room for a small family and the built-in divan in the living room will even take care of a guest. It is truly ideal for the soldier and his bride who want to start out in a home of their own with a minimum initial outlay. Another feature, usually found only in more expensive homes, says PRACTICAL BUILDER, is the storage partitions providing ample space for clothing and the many other necessities that a family accumulates over a period of time. While this house was designed without a basement, at small additional expense a basement can be included by using the first floor utility space in the kitchen for the stairway. The terrace, with its built-in flower boxes, provides a cool, comfortable spot for outdoor relaxation. Here is an example of how modern planning and the utilization of built-in furniture practically solves the problem of "where will we get the money?"

During the communion service which was conducted for the young couple, Mrs. N. J. Tomneson from Rev. Weltzin's pastorate in Landa sang "O Bread of Life from Heaven."

At the reception which followed, Mrs. S. C. Selden and Mrs. C. A. Pellett presided at the coffee urns, Miss Betty Christenson was in charge of the gifts, and Miss Nellie Risa was in charge of the guest book.

PREDICTS FARM PRICE DROP '47

LEVELS WILL GO DOWN, SAYS ECONOMIST AT WASH. STATE COLLEGE

The price level of farm products is likely to continue rising for at least a year, predicts A. W. Peterson, economist at the State College of Washington.

"A decline in farm prices in the United States probably will occur as soon as the world food and clothing supply improves and as soon as domestic supplies are more nearly normal in countries that now have serious deficits. This could occur as early as late 1947," he said.

For the present, Peterson believes that the rising price level puts farmers in a favored position and that they may take encouragement from the fact that the supply of goods, such as building materials, automobiles and refrigerators, is short in relation to demand. This shortage indicates that workers will continue to have the money to buy farm products, while they are engaged in replenishing the supply of capital goods.

EGG SUPPLY MAY GO DOWN
POULTRYMEN URGED TO SAVE PULLETS IF AT ALL POSSIBLE
With poultrymen culling many of their laying hens because of the feed shortage, it seems likely that this will cause a shortage of eggs in the state this fall, according to Arthur Cagle, extension economist at the State College of Washington.
The poultry situation for the United States as a whole, however, seems more optimistic than it is for the Pacific coast states, he said. Almost as many eggs per person will be available during the second half of 1946 as during the first half and at least as many as in the second half of 1945, according to the May report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.
Washington poultrymen are being encouraged to produce nearly a normal crop of pullets this year "if feed is at all available for them to do so. Pullets should be kept regardless of the sacrifice of laying hens," said Cagle.
Hard on Small Flocks
He points out that the feed shortage has been generally hardest on the small-flock poultrymen. Many of the poultrymen with larger flocks stored about enough grain to last until harvest, but many small-flock owners have been forced to dispose of all or most of their birds.
Assistant Extension Poultryman John F. Miller says that during the present feed emergency there are many things which a poultryman can do "to help himself and make his feed go further. These include following a regular culling program and eliminating all non-producing birds, controlling disease and parasites, eliminating feed waste by getting rid of rats and mice, preventing the spilling of feed and other wasteful practices, making the maximum use of good pastures for birds that are out on the range, and raising all of the feed that is possible for them to do when suitable land and climatic conditions permit."
