It Is A Good Thing To Give Thanks

By Dr. S. C. Eastvold, President
Pacific Lutheran University

"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord."
--Psalm 92:1

Each year we as a nation, upon proclamation issued by our president, pause to give thanks to Almighty God.

On this Thanksgiving Day, 1961, we say with the Psalmist of old, "It is a good thing to give thanks." Why give thanks, some may ask, when the world is full of hate, greed and lust; when the war clouds gather ominously on the horizon; when our men are being called into the armed forces in greater numbers; when multi-megaton bombs are filling the atmosphere with radio active materials; when communism is gobbling up nations like cancer spreading through the body? Yes, why give thanks?

We give thanks because of the material and spiritual blessings which our Lord in His Providence continues to shower upon us. These world conditions of unrest are not the works of God. They are the works of man.

It is a good thing to give thanks because we remind ourselves what God has done for us. He has blessed us as a people with a strong nation where we are privileged to have life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We have a wealth of material goods. We have all that we need for our well being. Our cities and farms bustle with activity. We have an abundance of good things.

It is a good thing to give thanks because we as a nation thus let the rest of the world know that we believe in God--He who is over and above all, who is our Creator, who has given us unalienable rights, who has given us all that we possess. Yes, we are making a positive witness to free nations and to those behind the Iron Curtain that there is Someone more powerful than any one person, than any one nation, than any group of nations. This Power is our God, whom we pause to worship and give thanks to this day.

It is a good thing to give thanks because it strengthens us as individuals. America needs strong moral fiber in its people if it is to survive as a positive force in the battle for freedom of mankind. Acknowledging Him as our Lord and Master, Our Savior and our King, our Creator and Provider, will accomplish this essential need.

On this Thanksgiving Day, 1961, may we truly possess thankful hearts for the bounties which God has showered upon us. Yes, it is a good thing to give thanks.

Extra Evening Hours For Parkland Library

The Parkland Library are the Parkland Study Group which donated $25 for new books and the Monte Vista Garden Club which has undertaken to keep a flower arrangement in the library and will maintain a planting at the front of the building.

The library, which is open Monday through Thursday will be open Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. according to Mrs. Plummer, the librarian, indicated that the library use continues to grow and that many of the books and records which led a mercury vapor lamp were not on the shelves may be obtained on order by patrons.

The Parkland Kiwanis Club Library sponsors, will soon be asking bids on new shelving for the facility and are considering a new floor.

Open House

The McChord Air Force Base Civil Air Patrol Squadron this week extended an invitation to the people of the area to attend an open house on Saturday, November 25.

UGN Increase For Local Area

The Parkland, Brookdale, Midland areas were awarded a plaque this week at the United Good Neighbor report luncheon for reporting the highest percentage of increase over quota of any of the county areas.

Chairman Earl Dryden reported the areas had contributed 180% of the quota assigned at the beginning of the drive.

The plaque was awarded by UGN officials to the area reporting the best increase over quota of the ten county districts. The plaque was to be delivered later this week.

Chairman Dryden expressed his thanks to all the contributors and firms in the areas for their generosity. He reserved special thanks for Jerry Dryer, George Patten and Rev. Orlando Lee. Among those he also mentioned were Charles Cassell and Wes Gilbertson as assisting in the drive along with many neighborhood volunteers.

The country districts included the Lakes area and Lakewood, University Place, Fircrest, Brown's Point, Dash Point, Spanaway, Fife-Milton, Steilacoom and Puyallup.

Meet Your Neighbor:

The Entrepreneur at Bargain Barn

COY MAGNUSON sorts out some of the surplus clothing which is on display at the Bargain Barn at 7501 Pacific Ave. The newly remodeled store has items of all description and features some of the most colorful items of surplus ever assembled.

For a man with no hobbies, Coy Magnuson, is probably the busiest man in the area. His hobby has been blended into his business until all his time is now taken up with operating the Bargain Barn.

He has the gift of saying the right thing at the right time, as witness a recent advertisement in the Times Journal which stated "If Maris can do it so can you," and the next day Maris hit number 61 in his race to become the most prolific home run hitter in history.

Magnuson is a product of Tacoma having attended the old Brying School, Jason Lee Junior High and Stadium High Schools.

He began by selling boats from the location where his Bargain Barn now sits and went on to become one of the biggest dealers in rags and soft goods in Pierce County.

Concerning the future of this area, Magnuson says it is the only place for new business in the next few years and is bound to grow.

Recently completed remodeling of the Bargain Barn has given Magnuson additional space for his retail trade and makes the location at 17501 Pacific Avenue a spot where almost anything in the surplus line can be seen.

Probably the largest part of the business done at the largest green barn is done out of sight of the retail area. Items are sent all over the West by the truckload from the store.

F. P. Booster Meeting

The Franklin Pierce Hi Booster meeting has been set for the school cafeteria on Tuesday, November 28 at 8 p.m.

Following the business meeting, the High School Debate team will put on a demonstration. The drama department will give a preview of the school play "The Diary of Anne Frank" to be presented on November 30 and December 1.

Refreshments will follow the meeting, with Mrs. Vincent Dreis and her committee in charge.

Editor Leaves

AFTER SELLING HIS CAR and packing his bongo drums, Times Journal news editor Floyd Fessler answers the phone on his final day of work before reporting to the Army. He was to report this week to the Selective Service board for assignment to basic training. Floyd was a valued employee of the Times Journal for more than a year before his draft call came.

Let Me Tell One:

Count Your Blessings

While a good many of us look upon Thanksgiving Day as a day of feasting and family get-togethers, perhaps we should take a look at the real meaning of the day.

To be thankful is to know what your blessings are: health, good family, comfortable life, good job, or whatever you count as being good for you and your family.

I think that not enough of us take the time throughout the year to count our blessings and to resign ourselves to our place in the scheme of things.

We can make our own breaks to a large extent, if we accept what comes and make the best of it.

I am always reminded at this time of year of the old Arab saying (at least I think it originated there) about the man who cursed the fact that he had no shoes, until he met a man who had no feet.

Here's a belated greeting to the men of the 32nd Division.

We're glad to have you here and hope to make your stay as pleasant as possible under the circumstances.

I have very pleasant memories of the home state of most of the men of the division, I stayed in Wisconsin a few days during my service in the navy.

The things I remember most were the green countryside, the tongue-twisting names, a trip through a brewery in Milwaukee, and the generous hospitality of all the residents.

The green country was as close to seeing home as any area that I saw. The names, like Oconowoc (I hope I spelled it right), and Nashotah, were reminders of some of the Indian names here in our own state.

The trip through the brewery I'll pass, except to say that their hospitality to servicemen was all that any man could expect.

I remember names like George Petzel, whose folks put up with four Navy fliers for a week and never batted an eye. A fellow named (Continued on Page 5)

An Open Letter

I am one of those who did not vote in the last school election. The reason was, not because I had forgotten that I was a child. I remember thirty five or forty children in our classes. The one thing we learned to do was to read.

I visited one of my childrens class rooms this week. Ten of the school children are attending remedial reading classes in this one room alone to learn phonics. Why don't they teach them Phonics in the first grade before they learn sight reading.

I have several children in the Franklin Pierce schools and not one of them can read properly. Due to having learned sight reading in the first grade. Once they have learned sight reading and it becomes automatic with them they never seem to be able to overcome this handicap all the rest of their lives.

My children do not know how to sound out words. All they can do is guess and ninety-nine per cent of the time they guess wrong. It is agonizing to listen to them trying to read their Readers, Social Studies etc.

I have studied with them, gotten them library books etc., all to no avail. At present I am trying to teach them to read via of phonics on some records that I bought for twenty-five dollars.

I am not indifferent to my childrens education. They are learning to skate, dance etc., but the most important, to read, -NO SOAP! I don't expect my children to be A students even if they could read. But a nice C average would be wonderful. I believe they could do it if they could only read.

I have always voted for the school elections before but I feel that this is the only way to make my point felt where it will do the most good.

Incidentally, I learned phonics in the first grade in a one room country school house with only one teacher for eight grades. I skipped the second grade because of an excellent reading ability. But I was not an A student and do not consider myself to be a super-intelligent person - just average.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ruby E. Johnson

P.S. One thing more, this sight reading method puts a heavy burden on the teachers. This wouldn't be necessary if all the children could read at the same level. The teachers are forced to have three or four reading classes, all reading at different reading levels. My child in the fourth grade is reading second grade books.

Lake Spanaway In The 1930's

The writer was first introduced to this area in 1931 as a first-grade student at Marymount Military Academy located across Pacific Avenue from Spanaway Park. This was a wildly beautiful country then, and because the large Douglas firs were some- what younger, an excellent clear view could be had from most areas of Mt. Rainier.

Cub Scouts Hold Drive

A one-day bottle drive, conducted by Cub Scout Pack 30, netted the group a total of $30.52 on a recent Saturday.

The group held the drive to obtain funds to replace trees at Brookdate Ele- mentary School which had been destroyed by vandals a few weeks ago.

The Midland Beavers 4H group held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Wally Craig, where Vicki Craig gave a demonstration on how to serve dessert and beverages. They drew names for Christmas pre- sents, and decided to make their gifts instead of buy- ing them. They also baby- sat during the P. T. A. meet- ing at Midland School last Wednesday. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lynn Brogden, where Terri Brogden will give a demonstration on how to measure ingredi- ents.

The Country Parson

"A neglected life, like a run-down barn, finally reaches the point where it can't be patched and must be rebuilt."

THE CORONER'S POSITION
Many people do not understand the role played by the Coroner. The Coroner is a public official, elected by the people, and is responsible for the control and establishing the cause of death in cases under his jurisdiction.

Often the question arises as to when the Coroner has jurisdic- tion. He is in complete charge of any homicide, suicide, acci- dent, or when the deceased has not been attended within a certain specified period of time.

Many people think of the Coroner as the "character" de- picted in the movies and on television, cigar-smoking, dull witted but one who can look and instantly come up with the cause and time of death. Noth- ing could be farther from the truth.

Many hours of painstaking scientific research are spent finding and establishing the true cause of death. Most coroners today are highly educated and many are medical doctors. They all are devoted men who strive to fulfill their oath of office to you, the public.

BANK BY 'RAIL'—The tellers at the Thirty-fifth and Union Branch of National Bank of Washington, Tacoma, Washington, haven't missed a train yet in carrying out a unique drive-in bank- ing service for railroadmen. While the bank's permanent branch is being built in a busy industrial area, the temporary office is located just a few feet from the railroad tracks. This enables en- gineers, like Raymond Olson, of the Northern Pacific, to stop within a short whistle distance and still keep the freight express on time.

Parkland Man On Maneuvers in Germany

WACKERNHEIM, GER- MANY (AHTNC) --Army Sgt. Ira A. Covert, whose wife, Ernestine, lives at 912 S. 108th St., Parkland, recently participated with other members of the 8th Division's 8th Medical Bat- talion in a tactical river crossing exercise in Ger- many.

Sergeant Covert and other unit personnel cross- ed the Rhine River under combat conditions during day and night maneuvers. The exercise was designed to train 8th Division per- sonnel in the newest river crossing techniques.

Covert, a medical aid- man in the battalion's Com- pany B in Wackernheim, entered the army in 1949 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in January of 1961.

It's The Law

The U.S. Supreme Court has to apply the supreme law of the land" - the constitution and the treaties in real disputes before it.

For example, our treat- ies with the Indian nations of this country rank with our constitution as the supreme law of the land. The Indians' rights may be set out in some treaty, and will determine whether or not they can be sued, by whom, and before what 'forums.' For example, the U. S. Supreme Court wouldn't let a paleface store keeper collect for goods he sold on an Indian reservation. Under a treaty, the In- dians claimed and the U.S. Supreme Court backed them up, that it was their tribal court, and not the Arizona state court, that could decide such claims.

The U. S. Supreme Court held: Unless Congress gives state courts juris- diction, they have none over Indians on their reserva- tions. Rather under the treaty between the Nava- jos and the United States the "internal affairs of the Indians remained exclusiv- ily within the jurisdiction of whatever tribal govern- ment existed.

While Congress favors state control over Indians, the courts noted, the state legislature or the people would have to ask Congress for that jurisdiction - which Arizona had neglected to do.

Regardless of whether the storekeeper was an In- dian or not (he wasn't), "He was on the reserva- tion, and the transaction with an Indian took place there." Hence no Arizona court had jurisdiction - yet.

Few countries put their treaties on a par with the supreme law of their land. So instead of a "scrap of paper," a U. S. treaty stands high.

(This column is written to inform, not advise. Facts may change the ap- plication of the law.)

The town of Hatton, Washington in Adams county was the smallest incorporated community in the state (Pop. 65) re- corded in the 1960 census, squeezing out Elberton, Washington, in Whitman county by one to win the distinction.

Donald Rasmussen, of Eatonville, has just bought Jonas Asplund's Luscombe and is learning to fly. Jo recently bought another Luscombe.

For the first time in the ten years that Frank Bly has owned his 1932 Stinson W, he saw it fly. Most pilots take such pride in their airplanes that they rarely let any one else fly them unless they are along.

The exception to this rule with Frank was his son-in-law, Dick Ziesmer. Dick is an aircraft mechanic as well as a pilot so no doubt merited his father-in-law's trust in him by letting him fly his pride and joy.

An old time pilot of this area, J. S. Sagmiller, died this past week in Puyallup. Mr. Sagmiller contributed a great deal to aviation in flying instruction as well as "hanger" flying.

For many years to come the name "Sag" will be mentioned in a gathering of pilots or people interested in aviation.

Tree Harvest Down in State

Olympia--Though Washington's forests in 1960 yielded more than 4 billion, 700 million board feet of timber, the harvest was 142 million board feet below 1959's, State Land Commissioner Bert Cole reported today.

Cole, citing statistics from the 1960 timber harvest report just completed by the State Department of Natural Resources, said a total of 4,726,788,000 board feet was cut in 1960 from 341,386 acres. The figures cover all ownerships -- state, private, federal and Indian. This reflects a 142,022,000 board feet decrease from the 4,868,810,000 board feet harvested in 1959 from 362,745 acres. Cole blamed the slump on a soft timber market which generally prevailed through 1960.

"Conditions began getting better in early 1961, and it will be very interesting to see how we fare this year in comparison with 1960," the commissioner observed. The 1961 report, which National Resources Department foresters will start compiling shortly after the first of '62, should also show for the first time the effect of Japanese log exports on the overall timber harvest picture in Washington, he added.

The top ten ranking of counties showed Lewis continuing as the state's leading timber producer with 482,991,000 board feet, though this was 121 million board feet below the volume logged in Lewis County during 1959.

Pierce, down from fifth place, 258,976,000 board feet, 60 million board feet decrease.

a-Wondering . . . and a-Wandering . . .

Well, hunting season is nearly over and to some people the end will bear a sigh of relief. For another ten months they will not have to worry about the nimrods (nimwits is a more appropriate title for some hunters) wreaking havoc with their personal property.

It seems that some of the so called sportsmen are bound to ruin the sport for us all. I went hunting a few times this year and saw enough vandalism to make me sick. Game wardens, farmers and others who are in contact with hunters throughout the season must end up hating the human race. Here's just a few of the goodies that I ran across. . . A beautiful big doe lying in the middle of a clear field, shot through the heart and left to rot. Some despicable character had plenty of time to make a good clean heart shot on the deer but couldn't take time to look for horns. This was a clear cut case of shoot first and find out what was bagged later. With the deer in a clearing and no brush there was no chance to mistake brush for horns, and it's a cinch the deer with a shot through the heart never ran from cover to the center of the field. I hope I never witness such an act as that. If I do, the person responsible will have to find a blacksmith to remove his rifle from around his neck.

On another trip I came to a very good fence erected with steel posts and with the wire stretched good and tight. Obviously a painstaking job well done. Apparently some blubber gut that was incapable of the physical effort required to crawl under such a fence had preceded me, armed with a small pair of wire cutters, had neatly cut the wires and walked on through. I spent some time fixing the fence and the rest of the day looking more for some lard butted hunter with a pair of cutters in his pocket than I did looking for a deer.

While driving along what could be described as a country lane I came to the only spot wide enough to pull off the road. I didn't have to go into the woods to see if any hunters had been there before me. From the pile of beer cans and fresh garbage left at the spot I knew there had been. Another case of being too lazy to bring along a shovel and bury their trash.

I could fill a boat with descriptions of such acts by despots who call themselves sportsmen that I have seen in just the past two years.

Sportsmen? Nuts! The woods are being invaded by nothing more than a portion of the human race reduced to common hoodlums.

I'd like to see some of the members of real sports clubs commissioned by some state law enforcement agency to police the woods during hunting season for some of these flagrant violations of decency.

Primitive man trimmed his beard with a sharpened clam shell! Using the shell like a straight razor, he often removed more than just whiskers. . . spent the rest of the day convalescing!

Modern man can keep well-groomed—anywhere, anytime—with the latest invention in shaving. . . the cordless "lektronic" shaver by Remington. No wires or sockets to worry about; no batteries to replace. Two rechargeable "power cells" permit cord-free shaving for up to two weeks! "lektronic's" comb-like rollers—adjustable to any beard or skin—make for a shave without irritation.

Every once in a while someone mentions to me that we should tax the millionaires more and the poor less for after all, cannot the rich afford it better? On the surface this doesn't seem so far out, with the exception that it would be a deterrent factor to our American free enterprise system. However, if you look into the matter a little farther, you find that according to the internal revenue department there are only 244 taxable incomes of a million or more in this country. These accounts are taxed to the hilt now at a cool 91 percent.

Some mathematician working for some survey outfit came up with the fact that the taxes collected from millionaires in the U.S. now is just enough to run our government for 25 1/2 hours and even if we taxed the millionaires 100 % the increase in revenue would only support our government for another 14 1/2 hours. There just isn't enough money in the higher brackets to support a 90 billion dollar government even if the rich donated all their earnings.

No matter how you look at it, as long as we run around with a large percentage of our citizens receiving some form of government subsidy to live on, and so long as we fight the cold war with dough instead of lead, you and me and all the rest of the little guys are going to have to pick up the tab for it. You just can't beat it.

Once we get peach firmly established on this old earth and the rest of the world starts to stand on its own two legs, then this country of ours will be heaven for the waste and giveaways will support our government handsomely without the long arm of the revenue department forever dipping into our pockets. —By JACK BROWN

An August wedding is planned by the young couple.

There will be no meeting this week at the Collins Grange, due to the Thanksgiving Holiday, it was announced early this week.

At present the band is on its annual fall concert tour. The 50-piece group left Tacoma Sunday, Nov. 19, and will return Nov. 27 after giving 12 concerts in cities in Washington, Oregon, and Idaho.

Under the direction of Prof. Gordon O. Gilbertson, the band will present a program which will include classical works, contemporary compositions, marches and excerpts from Broadway musicals.

To open the concert, the band will play "Jubilee," a stirring march by the contemporary composer, George Kenny.

"Trauersinfonie," a powerful work by Richard Wagner based on the music by Eric Von Weber, will follow. Final piece in the first group will be the spritely "Italian in Algiers," by the famous operatic composer, Rossini. "Allerseelen," a melodic work from the song literature of Richard Strauss, will open the second group. Next will come four movements from the ballet music from "Prince Igor" by the Russian composer, Borodin. Closing work in this section will be the introduction to Act II from "Jewels of the Madonna" by Wolf, as arranged for symphonic band by Ferrari.

The final group will feature contemporary selections, starting with Luthold's march "Onwards," as arranged by Whear. Three symphonic songs for band by Robert Russell Bennett will follow. Bennett is well known for his arrangements for Broadway musicals. The three songs the band will play are "Serenade," "Spiritual" and "Celebrations."

Puyallup School Needs Put to the Voter

Puyallup School Directors will present two propositions to the voters on November 28. Two years ago the Puyallup voters approved funds which would have provided 22 new classrooms. However, it was found that the large increase in population warranted an appropriation of 90% matching funds, instead of the normal 30% from the State. These monies allowed the district to immediately build 86 new classrooms -- cutting its long range building program down several years, and at a very nominal cost to the local taxpayers.

Construction of these classrooms is already in progress. They will be completed in the fall of 1962. Nevertheless, these new facilities cannot be used unless they are staffed, equipped, and maintained. Proposition I is designed to provide for these necessities. It will supply personnel, textbooks, and teaching materials, library books, and maintenance equipment. If passed at this time, Proposition I will allow Puyallup to begin hiring the new personnel this January when re-cruiting opens.
