PARKLAND FIRE CHIEF Ray Hixon examines blueprints for the new fire station with contractor George T. Ulleberg. Ulleberg expects the facility will be ready by December 20. Due to wet weather laying of asphalt will be postponed until a later date, he told the Journal. The station is expected to be ready by the time the Department's new pumper arrives from the East Coast.

Editorial . . . New Revenue Sources Needed For Schools

By Em Matson

The rapid development of suburban Pierce County is strengthening the demand that some type of additional financing be made available to our schools other than increased levies and more school bonds.

As acreage is developed into residential areas, property owners can expect their share of financing education to go up, not down. Such developments mean more classrooms, more schools, more teachers, and more money; more money than the assessed valuation from the newly constructed residences will produce.

New construction is the basic cause of the present school enrollment growth dilemma. One relatively small development in the Parkland area recently completed accounted for bringing 51 new students into the school system. That is enough to fill two classrooms.

With California type developers eyeing land in the Franklin Pierce and Bethel School Districts, it might be wise to plan now to offset the problems that mass housing construction could create. In one summer, this type of developer could erect and sell enough homes to create the immediate need for a new elementary school.

We therefore advance the suggestion that perhaps a special one-time construction fee be levied on the building of new homes based on the number of bedrooms. The monies collected would then be channeled to the school district as a special school construction subsidy.

Such a fee would serve two purposes. It not only would help provide classrooms in a growing community, but would give schools an immediate income to offset the resulting wave of new students. When a new home is built, it takes over a year for the property tax assessed to be collected. Since most new homes are occupied shortly after completion, school districts are faced with the problem of providing services for the resulting students without realizing immediate compensation.

Although such a proposed program might be a slight deterrent to rapid development of this area, when housing construction does take place it will not place a sudden extra load on existing property owners who have reached a near saturation in property taxes.

Another area that is causing an extra load on property tax payers is the installation of trailer courts designed for family living. Since mobile homes that are maintained in a mobile status are not subject to property taxes, the balance of the homeowners must pick up a greater share of the educational price tag to cover the schooling of children living in trailer courts.

In the Bethel District, an estimated 400 trailer facility under construction will produce an estimated 500-600 youngsters according to school projections. This amounts to a possible need for a new large elementary school if the projection is correct. However, assessed valuation from the land used for the court will not begin to finance or even maintain a 500 pupil school.

We hope the coming session of the Washington State Legislature will look into the many inequities in our present property tax structure and come up with meaningful solutions. The need is urgent.

Business Club Plans Banquet

The installation of officers for 1969 and presentation of trophies to Parkland's man and woman of the year will highlight the Parkland Business Club December dinner meeting to be held at the Jolly Roger Restaurant, 3724 East 112th the evening of December 6.

New officers to be installed are Dayle Collison, president; Donald Doyle, vice president; Evelyn Kramer, recording secretary; Ellen Hunnicutt, corresponding secretary; Irene Clemens, treasurer; Robert Magdanz, director (3-year term); and Mike Edwards, director (2-year term).

Clayton Peterson, vice president of PLU and long time member of the Business Club, will be master of ceremonies. Following the program, there will be music and dancing.

Social hour is slated for 6:30 p.m. with dinner starting at 7:30 p.m.

Marcy Torbet Fund Started

Marshelle Lynn Torbet who was critically injured in an automobile accident at South 38th and "M" Streets on September 17th and was unconscious for several weeks has just been released from St. Joseph's Hospital.

She has regained consciousness and is improving slowly.

To help defray medical expenses and the cost of physical therapy which Miss Torbet will require for several months, the "Marcy Torbet Fund" has been established at the K Street Branch of the Puget Sound National Bank, by her friends.

Anyone wishing to make a deposit to the Fund may do so at any branch of the Puget Sound Bank, or it can be mailed to Tacoma Day Nursery - 1113 South I Street.

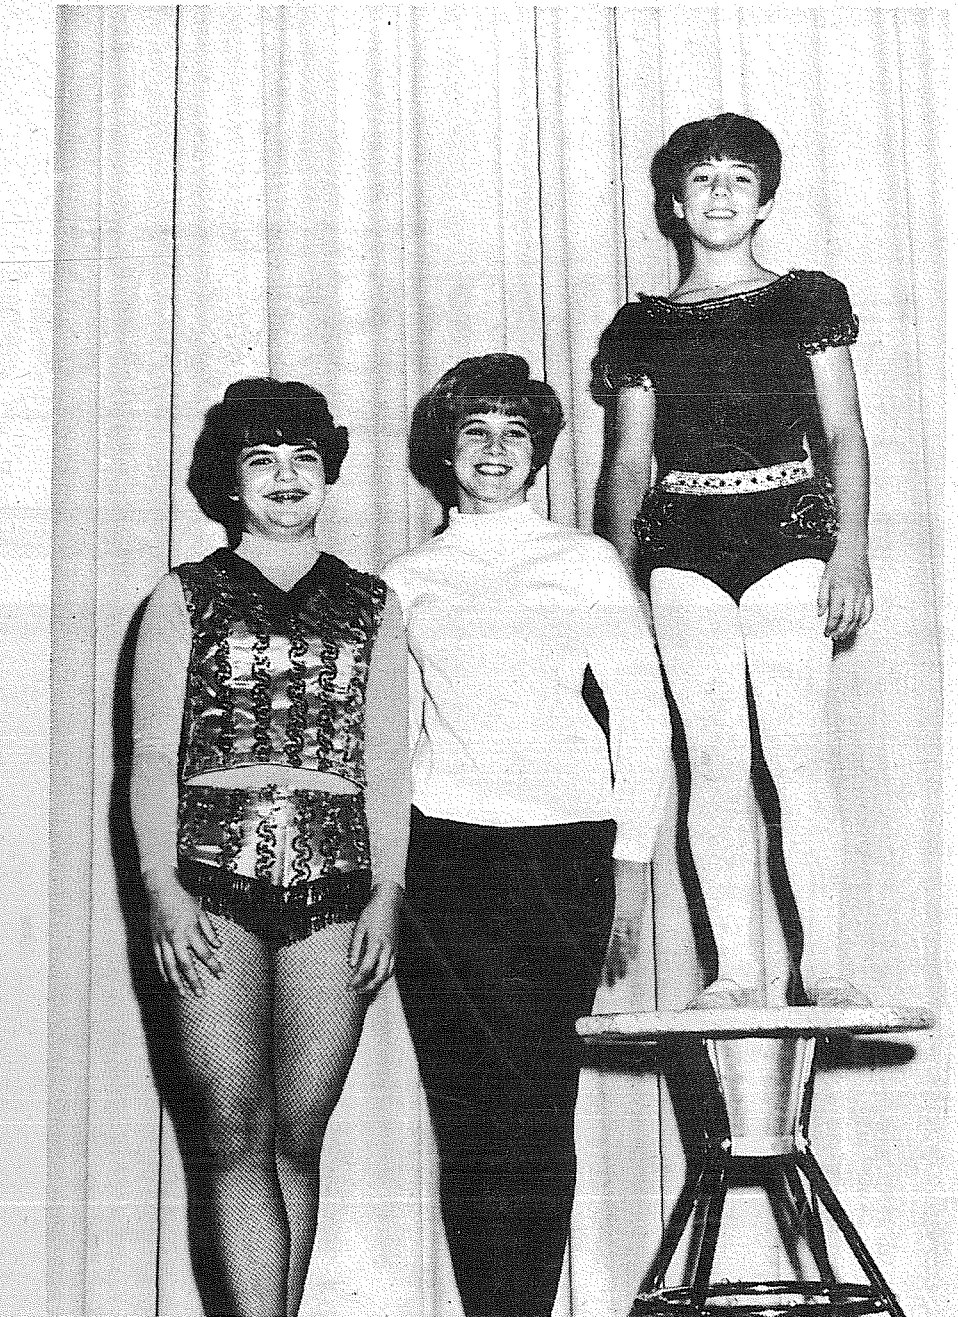

Miss Torbet, whose address is 8316 Golden Givens Road, is the daughter of Mrs. Frances Torbet and Earle Torbet.

Parkland Methodist Plans Homecoming

Homecoming will be held at the Parkland United Methodist Church Dec. 8, 1968 at 12183 South A Street. All members, former members and friends are invited to bring a basket dinner and join in a day of worship and fellowship. Dinner will be at 12:45. Anyone having pictures or mementos of the early days of the church is asked to bring them to be displayed for the day.

Trustees Meet

Pierce County Library trustees will meet December 11 at 1:30 p.m. at the library headquarters, 201 St.

THREE members of the LeRoy Hintz Variety Show making benefit performances in the Pierce County area include (l-r): Debbie Doyle, Joni Selden, and Cindy Moore.

Staff Changes At Bethel

At the meeting of the Bethel District School Board Monday, Superintendent Fred Gramann announced two changes in the professional staff of the district.

He made public two changes in classroom assignments at Kapowsin and Elk Plain Elementary Schools. At Elk Plain Mrs. Martha Lotspeich, who has special training in the area of handicapped education both in Washington and in Florida will replace Mrs. Katherine Small who has been sidelined with serious illness. The board approved a 22 day contract for special education at Elk Plain. This will carry until Christmas when a new decision will be made based on the state of Mrs. Small's health.

At Kapowsin Mrs. Mary Skeen has asked to be released from contract to return with her husband to the University of Georgia where Mr. Skene will resume his courses toward becoming a veterinarian. A suitable replacement is being sought for Mrs. Skene so she may be released to accompany her husband.

Helens Avenue, Carl Lindgren will preside for the meeting.

The meeting is open to the public.

An entertainment group that first formed in 1950 will be in full swing for the Christmas Holidays, troupe leader LeRoy Hintz reported to the Journal early this week.

Hintz, a former Times Journal staff member, said many of the performers in the group live in the Parkland area. Naming Cindy Moore, contortionist; Debbie Doyle, dancer; Sue Stoorlie, modern jazz dancer; and the team of Joni Selden and Bob Keller, he said the Parkland entertainers will participate in a special show for the children at Cascadia Diagnostic Center Sunday, December 8.

During the years, they have averaged a show weekly at Fort Lewis and have made performances at McChord Field, Madigan Hospital, Western State Hospital, Veteran's Hospital, Remann Hall, and Rainier School at Buckley.

Other members of the show include: Don Vandenberg, Serni Solardio, Mary Epperson, Johnnie Haverly, Darnell Wallace, Sherri Dropski, Tommie Mossbrucker, Debbie Loughrey, Sherri Collins, Ron Groff, Byron Johnston, Mar Lynn Hennessey, and Hintz as M.C.

The show is always looking for new acts and for information contact LeRoy Hintz.

Lions To Sell Christmas Trees

The Parkland Lions Club will hold their annual Christmas Tree sale from Dec. 13 through Dec. 23, 1968. The sales lot will be located at Garfield and Pacific Ave. adjacent to Barlow's.

Advance tickets can be purchased for $1.00 that will be worth $1.25 on any tree purchased. Any Lion club member can be contacted for tickets.

Frog Causes Blackout

A power outage last week in the lower Tule Lake Lane area was blamed on a green frog that found its way to the top of a transformer, Parkland Light troubleshooter Paul Russell disclosed in his investigative report.

Remains of the frog were found between a pair of the transformer terminals, Russell stated. After a detailed check of the circuits, he reported the only cause could be the adventurous frog.

Stephens Studies Computers Parkland Girl "Miss Tacoma" Runner Up

Thomas Stephens, Franklin Pierce assistant superintendent for business and operations, has been named to represent the school district at a week-long computer programming class in Portland this week.

Stephens will learn how to program the Burroughs E-4000 computer, which is the type used in the school district's business office or payroll and bookkeeping procedures.

Moose Pledge "Merry Christmas"

The members of Parkland Moose Lodge 1814 which organized only recently is taking another step towards establishing itself as an integral part of the Parkland Community.

Governor of the Lodge Robert Kennedy has announced that they are selecting a needy family in the Parkland area to be the recipients of a wonderful Christmas. Food, presents and even a tree will grace the fortunate household all donated and to be delivered by Parkland Moose Members.

"Our purpose of survival as a group is to benefit others." Says Governor Kennedy, "And devote ourself in service to our fellow men."

A 17 year old Franklin Pierce High School senior, Debra Jennifer Smith, was named First Runner Up in the Miss Tacoma Pageant Saturday.

Debra, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce E. Smith of Wenatchee, lives with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hume 10105 Pacific Avenue. Her portrait taken by photographer LeRoy Seely was on the cover of last week's Times Journal.

the results of a study of Washington's tax structure completed this month by the Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, California.

The Institute, which is not connected with Stanford University, is an independent, private research firm. With offices and representatives in Southern California, Washington, D.C., New York, Europe and Asia, it is recognized as an international leader in research.

Details of the study will be made public at a special media briefing and news conference at 10 a.m. Friday, December 6, at the Sherwood Inn, Seattle. The Stanford study shows that Washington faces a substantial "revenue gap" in 1980 unless there is comprehensive tax reform or substantial increases in the current state tax structure.

The unprecedented special Representative Assembly was called at the annual WEA Representative Assembly in Seattle in April. That Assembly set tax reform as WEA's main goal for the year and budgeted up to $200,000 for the biennium to finance a study and campaign to achieve tax reform.

The WEA Board of Directors and Legislative and Salary, School Finance and Taxation Committees will meet prior to the Assembly to study the report and make recommendations to the Assembly.

Directors Meet

Proposals for the elimination of non-high school districts, for interdistrict cooperation in providing vocational-technical education and policies regarding school strikes will be among the issues the state's school directors will consider at their Annual Conference in Seattle on December 6 and 7.

Directors, along with school superintendents and business officials, will participate in discussion groups at the Seattle Center. The topics range from educational parks and physical fitness to the causes underlying today's militancy.

Keynote for the conference will be R. Winfield Smith, president of the National School Boards Association. Other featured speakers include A. Ludlow Kramer, Secretary of State; Sen. Richard G. Marquardt; Rafer Johnson, holder of an Olympic gold medal and sports analyst for NBC; and Harold P. Pluimer, author and company commander in two world wars.

A special event of the conference will be a "Get With It!" session. One hundred students representing different areas of the state will talk informally with directors on such subjects as drugs, violence, Vietnam and freedom.

Following the Annual Conference, on December 8, legislative representatives from each of the 337 school districts will meet at the Olympic Hotel to determine the association's action program.

One of the proposals is to amend the Professional Negotiations Act of 1965 to eliminate management from cludes the feasibility of obtaining one. If there is no "urgency" because of the mobility, then there would be no justification for such a search.

The police officer may search or seize articles found in a motor vehicle following an arrest for a "traffic violation." This applies where circumstances provide a reasonable basis for believing that the search is necessary for the officer's protection, to prevent an escape, or the officer has probable cause to believe that a crime has been, is being committed, or is about to be committed.

Tree Cutting Permits Now Available

Families who wish to go into the woods and cut their own Christmas tree will have an opportunity to do so on four of Snoqualmie National Forest's ranger districts this year, according to L.O. Barrett, Forest Supervisor. The Mineral and White River Districts on the west side of the Cascades, and the Naches and Tieton Districts on the east side, are offering trees on designated cutting sites.

There is a limit of one tree to a family. Permits, $1.00 per tree, are required and payment must be in cash. Maps to each district's cutting sites and last-minute changes in information are available at the district ranger station.

"Persons in the Seattle area may get specific information about cutting family Christmas trees on Snoqualmie National Forest by calling a special Christmas tree information number, 583-4320, which will be in operation 24-hours a day, November 25 through December 24," Barrett said. "It will provide current information, such as closures of cutting areas because of inclement weather, evenings and weekends when our offices are closed. We suggest that anyone planning to go into Snoqualmie Forest for their family tree call our special number the day they leave, to get last minute information."

The Mineral District Ranger Station is 47 miles south of Tacoma on State Highway 7. It is between Elbe and Morton, five miles south of Elbe. Permits will be sold weekdays at the ranger station; and weekends at the cutting site. Cutting hours are 9:00 to 4:00, every day, December 6-23. 3,000 Douglas-fir and Pacific silver fir trees are estimated to be available.

The Naches Ranger Station is located 36 miles west of Yakima on U.S. Highway 410. Permits will be sold at the ranger station. Cutting time is from 8:00 to 5:00, every day, December 6-23. There are some 2,500 grand fir, Douglas-fir, western white pine, lodgepole pine and spruce trees available.

The Tieton District Ranger Station is 36 miles west of Yakima on State Highway 14. Permits will be sold at the ranger station. The cutting site will be open from 8:00 to 4:30, every day, December 6-23. 2,400 grand fir and Douglas-fir trees are estimated to be available.

School Changes Proposed

Major changes in school consolidation and intermediate district organization laws were proposed today by the School Organization Subcommittee of the Legislature's Joint Committee on Education. The recommendations were contained in the Subcommittee's biennial report transmitted to the full ten-member legislative committee.

The Subcommittee gave formal approval to a forced consolidation proposal developed last spring by Subcommittee member, Senator Bob Ridder of King County. The proposal would at least halve the more than 300 school districts in the State.

The report cited several examples of action taken by recent legislatures and the State Board of Education that were designed to penalize financially small districts and force consolidation.

The report states, "It is now obvious, if it was not before, that the Legislature will not begin to tackle the job of quality education in small districts until reorganization has taken place. The choice for small districts is death by starvation or a quick death due to the action of a benign legislature."

Senator Ridder noted, "We are aware that the plan will be unpopular with the residents of many small districts. However, our intent is to lessen the impact on students while accomplishing the inevitable."

He further stressed that the "modified county unit plan" does not propose the closing of any school. "Rather, it contemplates larger administrative units," he said.

Senator Elmer C. Huntley of Thornton, the Subcommittee Chairman, and Senator David E. McMillan of Colville filed a Minority Report, which indicated that rural transportation systems are not compatible with large districts.

Huntley stated that he had serious misgivings regarding current State policies designed to force consolidation upon the people, particularly without their consent.

A second major recommendation of the Subcommittee was the establishment of a series of satellite offices of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This would abolish the county and intermediate school districts as presently constituted.

The report noted that modern communication media have made the office less necessary and that many school districts presently are bypassing county and intermediate offices and reporting directly to the State Superintendent.

Satellite offices, the report states, would preserve "the concepts of regionalism, joint participation by school districts, and decentralization of administration."

Contained in the report are several statements by school district superintendents in support of the satellite concept.

Said one superintendent, (if the State Superintendent's Office) "is going to match the power of the federal government . . . and . . . is going to make its impact felt, . . . the State Office is going to have to have a lot of abilities in computerization and regional offices might be able to handle a lot of this . . ."

No comment was made within the report on the number of satellite offices. There would be as many as established by the State Superintendent, and they would be flexible to the needs of school districts.

The Subcommittee report also recommended that local school districts establish "advisory committees in each community or at each local institution" to formulate policy recommendations regarding "the selection and retention of administrators, curriculum, and local educational policies."

The School Organization Subcommittee is one of eight operating under the auspices of the Joint Committee on Education, Representative Frank B. Brouillet of Puyallup, Chairman.

Superintendent Julian Karp of the Northshore School District in King County serves as Consultant to the Subcommittee. Besides Senators Huntley, McMillan, and Ridder and Representative Brouillet, members of the School Organization Subcommittee are: Representative Audley F. Mahaffey of Seattle; Dr. Quentin Kintner, Port Angeles; Mr. Orrie N. Morse, Davenport; and Mr. Wayne Weber, Seattle.

Spanaway State 4-H'ers Lion News In Chicago

Ed Hewitt has been appointed to the position of 3rd Vice President to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Jim Knaggs. Increased responsibilities in his work prompted the resignation, which was accepted reluctantly by the Club's Board of Directors.

Skip Reeves has accepted a post on the zone cabinet as co-chairman of the sight conservation committee.

Ten new members were recently accepted by the Spanaway Lions. They are Roger King, Louis Berray, Earl Solie, Ed Niehl, Harry Pawley, Richard Baughn, Maynard Linman, Tom Woods, Don Vowell, and William McMonnies.

During November Spanaway members visited Poulsbo, Fife, and Port Orchard Lions Club meetings in addition to attending the zone meeting in Bremerton.

Mel Gaumer, veteran of 25 years in radio news, headed the November 26 meeting entertainment. He is currently news director of KTAC.

4-H News

Clovers 4-H Club By Kelly Shinkle

Two new members were brought into the Clovers fold last Wednesday, Toni Hubbard and Thoresa White.

Both newcomers started their membership on an active note. Toni Hubbard joined Karen Cook on the chapter's phone committee and Thoresa White was designated to share song leading duties with Shari Bjerke.

Meetings are held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month and all interested girls are encouraged to attend.

Parkland 4-H Club By Colleen Harkins

A Christmas basket will be donated to a needy family by the Parkland Milk-aways 4-H Club this month it was decided in their November meeting.

The members plan to gather the materials on an individual basis. They plan to present the basket to the deserving family one week prior to the Christmas holiday.

Thanksgiving day took on an added significance this year for 36 4-H members from Washington state, as they board a train headed for Chicago and the National 4-H Congress.

These youngsters represent the most outstanding of all 22,000 4-H members who have participated in the program during the past year and, for most of them, the trip east caps an affiliation of several years.

Congress began Dec. 1 at Chicago's Conrad-Hilton Hotel and runs through Dec. 5. Banquets, entertainment by stars of stage and screen, and fellowship with other 4-H'ers from every state in the union awaited the delegates who were selected for general excellence or for specific achievement in specific project areas.

Accompanying the delegates were 4 members of the Washington State University Cooperative Extension Service, the organization responsible for 4-H activities in the state. They include Thomas R. Quam, Acting state 4-H leader, Puyallup; Dr. Kenneth Barber, Extension family life specialist, Pullman and county Extension agents Joe Long, Friday Harbor, and Mrs. Rosa Lee Boyd, Asotin.

Theme of the 1968 Congress is "Commitment to Responsibility." It featured talks by distinguished Americans, educational tours, career exploration and, for some, a look at a city with apartment buildings holding more people than the delegate's hometown.

The entire event was planned and conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Washington's delegation this year included four regional, 11 educational and 21 state project achievement trip winners. Some of these youngsters could bring home national honors including college scholarships.

Members of the 1968 delegation from Pierce County are: Margaret Adkins, Tacoma winner in Home Economics and Molly Stuen, Tacoma, winner of an Educational Trip.

State Skiing

Washington State's skiing has gained more national attention.

"Purest Crystal — Some of the country's finest powder may be had at this Northwest giant in the shadow of Rainier," is how Ski Magazine's holiday issue titles its story on Washington's Crystal Mountain.

The national ski publication now is on sale at Pacific Northwest news stands and in many ski shops. Written by Ski's editors, the article highlights the view of Mt. Rainier from the top of Crystal Mountain, the resort's broad and varied ski slopes, its powder snow skiing, and its extensive lodging, dining, and recreational facilities.

Included with the story is a full-page, color photograph of Crystal's Green Valley which also was highlighted two years ago by Sports Illustrated as one of America's ten top "super ski runs."

Skiing at Crystal already is underway on weekends and holidays this winter and will expand into daily operations soon.

Washington High School will compete in South Puget Sound League varsity play in all sports commencing with the 1969 football season, school officials disclosed Monday.

In telling the Journal of the announcement, Washington Vice Principal Eldon Killo said the decision to enter varsity football competition was rendered earlier and only after considerable consideration. At this time, only the league varsity football schedule has been adopted. However, the Patriots will enter all sports and be on the league schedules when they are adopted, he added.

Washington will open the 1969 football season September 12 at Lakes while cross-district Franklin Pierce will take on Clover Park on the home field. The cross-district rivalry takes on varsity proportions September 19 when the Patriots face the Cardinals. Washington is scheduled as the home club for the meeting.

The 1969-1970 two-year schedule shows the 9 league teams playing 8 conference games over a 9-week period. Each team will have games on their home field alternate weeks.

Patriot reserves will be entered in the South Puget Sound League sophomore league, with non-varsity juniors possibly entered in 3 or 4 contests in the JV schedule.

As a sophomore team during the 1968 football season, Washington High School finished undefeated and untied.

Other teams joining the League are Rogers and Jefferson.

PLU Cagers Second Half Of Pheasant Season Opens

Coach Gene Lundaard's Pacific Lutheran University cage squad began practice last Friday with an optimistic outlook and an eye on more Northwest Conference honors.

There are reasons for the optimism. Lundaard lost only one of his top seven players by graduation — high scoring all-conference forward Dennis Buchholz. And he has nine returning lettermen.

Two other front liners, 6-5 center Al Kollar and 6-4 forward Leroy Sinnes, have two years of eligibility remaining. Sinnes, who led the Knights in scoring last year with 378 points and a 15.7 game average, was first string all-conference. Kollar, named to the all-conference second team, scored 367 points and led the Knights in rebounds.

A welcome freshman prospect, 6-8 Ake Palm, could be the man to replace Buchholz in the Lutes' front line. A 22-year-old from Sweden, Palm averaged 25 points a game for the Swedish national team. Former PLU great Hans Albertson is credited with sending Palm to Pacific Lutheran.

"He has a good shot and is agile and light on his feet," Lundaard says of his prize prospect.

The Lute mentor again plans to rotate his five veteran guards Tom Meeks, a 6-3 senior who also plays forward and scored 200 points last year; Rick Ancheta, 5-11 senior; Kevin Miller, 5-11 junior; Ron Groth, 6-3 senior; and Bruce Shamp, 6-2 senior.

Lundaard also has a promising junior college transfer, Ralph Whitman from Everett Junior College. Whitman is a 6-3 forward.

Other lettermen include John Rankin, a 6-0 sophomore guard, and Bruce Reichert, a 6-2 sophomore forward.

OLYMPIA — The second half of the 1968 pheasant season opened last week with Game Department personnel noting about average pressure in the popular Columbia Basin and Yakima bird areas.

Mild weekend weather prevailed in the Basin with hunters finding pheasants in heavy cover. Checks by Game Department personnel in Whitman county showed over a bird per man average with combined bags consisting of pheasants, ducks, quail and rabbits.

Westside pheasant release areas received generally heavy pressure. The popular Thurston and Lewis county release sites produced more than one bird for every two hunters, with the Kosmos area in Lewis county being especially productive.

Despite the mild weekend weather, Columbia Basin duck hunters still averaged two ducks per hunter as checked by Game Department field personnel. The bulk of the ducks are now in the Basin with the Yakima area noting an increase in numbers of northern birds. There is no frozen water on the eastside now and until colder weather arrives, there will be little field shooting available for ducks.

Biological Warfare: Gambusia vs. Mosquitoes

By Frank C. Jackson
County Extension Agent
Biological warfare is the latest tactic to be introduced in the state's struggle against mosquitoes, Frank C. Jackson, county extension agent, noted today.

New troops ready to go into action in the ancient conflict are minnow-size fish with a massive appetite for mosquito larvae.

Name of the new control weapon is Gambusia affinis. The fish is native to the sluggish ponds of the Gulf states and the East Coast. It measures one to two inches in length and resembles a guppy in shape. Gambusia are surface feeders — ideal for control of mosquito larvae.

The State Department of Health's mosquito control program obtained the first consignment of Gambusia in early June from the Oregon State Board of Health, with the blessing of the Washington State Department of Game, of course. The fish were placed in an abandoned settling pond loaned by the City of Olympia for breeding purposes.

In late October, the state health department transported some of the Gambusia from Olympia to marshy mosquito breeding areas in and near Moses Lake and Othello in central Washington, and to Sacajawea State Park in eastern Washington.

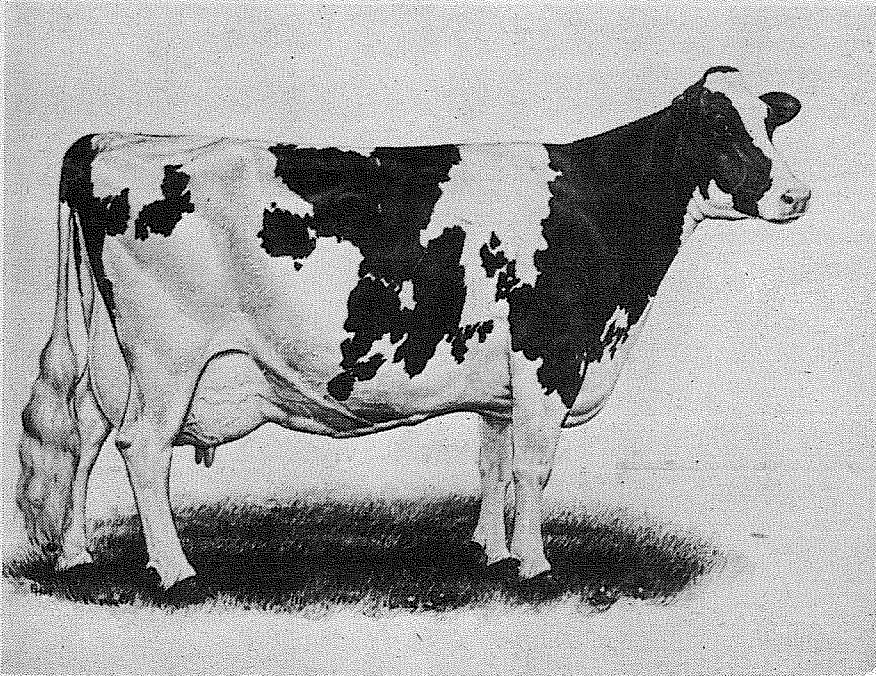

Emil C. Jensen, deputy director of the Office of Environmental Programs, has expressed the hope that the fish will prove an efficient means of controlling mosquito-borne encephalitis. This would mean less dependence on chemicals, of course.

Jensen says Oregon, California and Utah have reported good results in mosquito control from planting the larva-eating fish in mosquito breeding areas.

UPS Musical

One of the musical highlights of the Christmas season will take place at 4 p.m., Dec. 8, in the University of Puget Sound fieldhouse when the augmented University Choral Society presents the 22nd annual performance of the Christmas version of Handel's "Messiah."

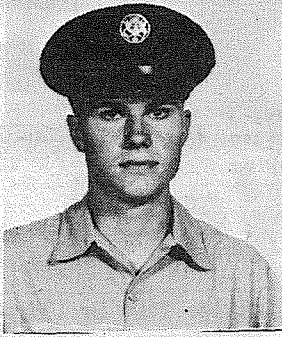

Traditionally, vocalists from church choirs and the community join the Choral Society to present this complimentary program to the public.

This year more than 350 voices, among the largest in the history of the annual event in Tacoma, will be led by Dr. Bruce Rodgers, director of the School of Music at UPS. Musical accompaniment will be provided by the UPS-Tacoma Symphony Orchestra under Dr. Rodgers' direction.

Vocal soloists on the program include Jan Seferian, soprano; Margaret Myles, contralto; Wilbee Elliott, tenor; and Bruce Martin, bass.

The performance marks the seventeenth time the "Messiah" has been presented locally under the direction of Dr. Rodgers.

A goodwill offering will be taken at the performance.

Bethel

Report of Bethel School Board Meeting of December 3, 1968

By E. W. "Doc" Webster
One of the shorter meetings of the year began with three of the five board members present. Elsie Berggren of Roy, Phil Zurluh of Spanaway and E. W. Doc Webster of Elk Plain attended the meeting which was called to order at 8:15 and adjourned at 10:15.

Superintendent Gramman reported on the progress of the Thompson Elementary School soon to be opened in Spanaway. Dr. Gramman submitted letters from the contractors on the job requesting the deadline on the contract be extended for 45 days and after much consideration the board voted to deny the request. Key factor in the denial was the need to eliminate the double shifting now used at Spanaway grade school. It was felt that much of the moving into the building could be carried out over Christmas Vacation to hasten the opening before the first of the year.

Lengthy discussion of the implications of the failure of Bethel's Proposition No. 2 at the recent election led to a decision to resubmit the proposal to the voters. In addition to causing plans to double shift at Bethel High School, the failure endangers the emergency standing of the Bethel District in eligibility for state matching funds. If the local district is not meeting its population problem with a certain local effort the district will not get as much vital state help. The loss of these additional revenues will eventually increase the share to be borne by the local taxpayers.
