The 9,318 square foot structure will offer space for professional type businesses, and house the business enterprises of Ralph Brink. The building is being constructed next to the Puget Sound National Bank Spanaway Branch.

Brink, one of the owners of Verge Inc., said long range planning calls for a second shopping center in Spanaway to be built on property behind the bank and new office building. Development of a shopping center is already underway at Military Road and Pacific Avenue.

Ground was broken for the office building last week.

Loveland Members Deserve More Facts

Despite earlier denials that a plan to dissolve Loveland Mutual and sell its assets to the City of Tacoma was in the immediate offering, a Request for Dissolution was received by member-owners through the mail late last week.

When the Times Journal asked manager and secretary Art Crate of the proposed action July 8, he said he knew of "no immediate plan to submit such a proposal to the membership." Yet the accompanying letter to the request submitted over Crate's signature was dated July 7, 1969. The denial was published in the July 10 issue of the paper.

Reaction to the proposal by members ranged from shock to one of hopeful expectation. However, the Times Journal found that many are questioning such a move without being furnished more detailed information.

The request and accompanying letter stated that each membership will receive $425 and a guarantee that the present rate structure of Loveland would be maintained for a period of 5 years. Although the letter indicated the board of directors had considered alternatives, it did not specify which alternatives had come under their consideration. The letter did not reveal the total amount of money Tacoma would pay; did not outline what the liquidation and sale charges would be; nor did it explain how the amount of $425 per membership was determined.

The Times Journal learned earlier this week that a general rule of thumb measurement for determining the value of a public utility is to multiply its annual income by five. Using this formula, members can get some idea of what their membership is worth to a prospective purchaser of Loveland Mutual by multiplying their monthly electrical bill by 12, then multiplying that product by 5.

For example, if the member's monthly electrical bill averages $17 monthly, then to find the annual rate he would multiply by 12. The $204 he pays annually for service, times 5, would mean his membership is worth $1,020 to a prospective purchaser of his mutual.

Some members who expressed surprise at the apparent low figure of $425 per member, were quick to point out that a recent proposal by Loveland for customers of a private power company in their area was based on $1,000 per meter. This figure was confirmed as a fair estimate by the City of Tacoma.

The Times Journal agrees with those members who feel that member-owners should be given more details on the possible sale, and in a special shareholder's meeting. It is impossible for a shareholder to make a sound decision either for or against dissolution without knowing what outside evaluations have been made to determine if the selling price is good or bad. And how can one vote to sell his company when he has not been advised what the selling price will be?

A mutual power company is solely owned by the members, with each member owning property serviced by the mutual, receiving an equal share. The board of directors and manager are merely elected or hired to carry out the wishes of the membership.

carry out the wishes of the membership.

In cases of requests for dissolution, it would appear that members deserve a better explanation of the present position of their company, what alternatives are available to them, and be filled-in with all the facts regarding possible liquidation of their assets. This would include the opinions of outside experts to determine if the sales price is fair and equitable.

Members who sign what amounts to a ballot for dissolution without demanding more information could be doing themselves and their fellow shareholders a financial disservice.

County To Double

OLYMPIA - Population in the central Puget Sound region will nearly double by 1990, and more than twice as many jobs as are available now will be needed by that date, the Puget Sound Governmental Conference forecast in a report issued last week.

Prepared by Donald R. Pethick, the report is part of the conference's five - year work program for planning and the first in a series of technical papers. It covers King, Kitsap, Pierce and Snohomish counties, with data by districts, by districts.

Regional population is forecast at 3,102,000 by 1990, up 97 per cent from 1961's 1,572,721. Jobs will increase from 594,000 to 1,202,000 or 102 per cent, the report says.

102 per cent, the report says.

In Pierce County population will rise from 319,000 to 443,000 in 1975 and 618,—000 in 1990, a rise of 94 per cent. Greatest population growth is predicted in the Lake Tapps, and Lakewood areas, and east of Browns Point, with the greatest job growth coming in business and port districts

STATE TROOPER Carl Heigel takes time from tending the injuries of Mary Dedrick, 32, of 1521 15th Ave. Seattle (lying in the background talking with Trooper Weeks) to investigate the roll over of this 1969 Simca Sunday on the Mountain Highway. The vehicle, driven by Raymond A. Mrs. Dedrick was taken to the hospital with back injuries.

NEW BUILDINGS at Spanaway Grade School are proceeding on schedule according to Bethel Assistant Superintendent Virgil Baker. Slated for occupancy next year the new brick building will replace the old brick structure which has been condemned by both the State Fire Marshal and the County Health Department.

Citizens To Meet

To Determine Action

The normally peaceful town of Eatonville, Washington may be the birthplace of a statewide taxpayer's revolt against spiraling increases in property tax assessments.

Citizens from the Eatonville area are offering an invitation to those who are concerned about property assessments to join them in an open meeting planned for 8 p.m. July 29 at the Ohop Grange.

Object of the meeting, sponsored by a committee called Concerned Taxpayers of Southern Pierce County, is to inform themselves and the community what action may be taken through due process of law.

"We don't want to go at this as a bunch of radicals, but we do want action," Publicity Chairman Mrs. Freeman Sterns told the Journal. She added that some of the people in the area had their property assessments increased varying from 100 per cent to 1400 per cent over a one year

Invited to help furnish answers in a panel discussion are federal, state, county, and local government. Included on the list of officials invited to attend are U.S. Congressman Floyd Hicks, Governor Daniel J. Evans, State Senator John McCutcheon, State Representatives R. Ted Bottiger and P. J. "Jim" Gallagher, representatives from the County Assessor's Office, the County Treasurer's Office, Port Commissioner A. E. Blair, and local school board members.

Mrs. Sterns cited cases where many of the retired citizens of the area faced the possibility of losing property purchased during their earning years. Since the income of most retired persons does not keep pace with the rising cost of living, she indicated such huge jumps in property taxes could shatter the dreams built with years of savings.

She stated the Committee hoped to expand into a state-

Bethel Board Withholds OK For Loveland Sale

Bethel School Board members withheld action on the Loveland Mutual "Request for Dissolution ballot" covering the School District's membership in the utility.

The decision to take no action was reached in a closed door session during the Monday night meeting of the school directors. The district has only one vote, and directors stated they thought it would be in the best interest of the schools to allow the other utility members to decide the Mutual's future.

It appears the District will

Parkland Lions Install Officers

With the installation of Lion Thomas Stephens as president, and Lion Darrell Behounekassecretary-treaurer, along with the slate of other officers, the Parkland Lions Club is all set for its fifth consecutive year of community service, and, as taken in conjunction with an expanded program of public relations, membership, and social fellowship, satisfactory and successful operation for the year seems assured.

The Lions have always been active participants in the Parkland Roundup, the one community activity each year that tends to unite and bring together, residents of the Parkland area. This year was no different, and on July 5th and 6th, those attending the roundup were greeted by Lions in caps and vests, practicing the culinary art and expanding their lungs by yelling, "Hot Dogs! During the past year (July first 1968 to July first 1969) Parkland Lions through their sight conservation program, furnished eye examinations and glasses to more than 40 needy recipients, approximately three fourths of whom were students in area schools With past president Vernon Young heading up the current sight conservation program, there is every reason to be-lieve that the rate of such assistance will be maintained or even increased. Parkland Lions dinner meetings are the first and third Tuesdays of each month, 6:30 p.m. at the Brookdale Inn and, all those public spirited citizens who are interested in the welfare and advancement of the Parkland community area, are invited to attend at any time. # What Does the Future Hold?

Speaking to the graduating class of the Eastern Arizona College, James E. Patrick, vice chairman of the board of the Valley National Bank of Arizona, said earlier this month:

"It is customary to tell graduating classes that the future belongs to them—that they can do with it what they wish . . . So I've said it. The future belongs to you—and you're welcome to it!"

Then he added, "First of all, you will be pleased to know you don't have to start a revolution. There is already one going on. What I propose is that you take part in this revolution."

He was referring to the revolution which has been under way for some time in this country-which has been described by some as "the second industrial revolution,' the revolution in industry and commerce which is providing more good things for more people than ever before.

The Next Ten Years

Looking into the future, U.S. News and World Report tells us that the "spectacular 70's" will produce a still higher standard of living than that which we are now enjoying.

One of the predictions is that there will be a "tremendous expansion of American prosperity," to the extent "many people will be realizing income half again as big as now, working fewer hours to attain it.'

By the end of the decade, there are expected to be 26

Periodic predictions of this sort are made, of course, by analyzing trends and project-ing them into the future.

A less alluring prophecy regarding the next decade might be seen if we were to project into the future some other trends in our society.

Fatherless Son

Dear Miss Brookfield: I am 45, widowed and the mother of two teenagers, one a boy. After the death of my husband over a year ago, my son seems to be changing. His grades have slipped, he has dropped out of group activi-ties, and when I try to talk to him now, he acts as if he has an awful chip on his shoulder. Have you any suggestions?

F.D., Cudahy, Wis.

Since a boy usually models himself on his father, it is difficult for a mother to assume a dual parental role. In doing so, you may not be able to give him the mother-ing that you are best qualified to give. Your son may need male companionship - an uncle, a family friend, a grandparent, a college stu-dent, a group leader, or a school teacher. It is essential that this man be someone whom the child trusts, for he will be undertaking a crucial role in your boy's life.

If, as you say, your son's loss of his father is having a detrimental effect on his school work, you should talk to the school authorities, explaining the family situation. They, too, can be most helpful to your son at this crucial time in his development, further complicated by the loss of a father.

Alone and Weeping Dear Miss Brookfield:

Isn't the mother-of-thebride supposed to be moderately happy? My daughter got married a month ago. Admittedly the preparations took a lot out of me, but I find myself either crying or finding ex-cuses to put off the household chores. Ŝometimes I haven't even prepared dinner for my husband by the time he comes home. I guess I really miss my daughter. Is this normal? Will I get over it?

Hiegels' Given Airport Farewell

Over 20 friends tendered Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hiegel a special farewell Sunday as the couple boarded an airliner at Seattle-Tacoma Airport bound for Honolulu.

Upon arrival, he will take a position with the Federal Government. Robert attended Bethel High School and is a 1969 graduate of the University of Washington.

He is the son of Mr. and Herb Hiegel of 8009 South Yakima.

PLU Receives $5000

Pacific Lutheran University is the recipient of a $5,000 gift from the Seattle Foundation to be applied toward the construction of the new PLU

University Center.
PLU was one of several agencies receiving grants from the foundation, which announced nearly $60,000 in grants this week.

The University Center is presently under construction at PLU, with completion set for August 1970. The $3.1 million building will house food services, bookstore, recreation rooms and a variety of multi-purpose rooms.

Events for this week end are as follows: Deer Island Rodeo, St. Helens, Oregon. July 26th and 27th evening performances only Clatsop Cty. (NRA) Gearhart, Ore. July 26th and 27th.

Washington Pony Breeders Show, Horsemen's Sports Arena No. 1, Spanaway, Wash. July 26th.

Columbia River Appaloosa Club's All Breed Game and Performance Show, Twin City Rodeo Grounds, Washougal, Wash. July 27th.

Okanogan Empire Q.H. Show, Cty. Fairgrounds, Okanogan, Wash. July 27th.

King Cty Jr. Rodeo, Enumclaw, Wash. July 27th.

Woodland, Wash. Jr. Rodeo, July 27th.

Millie Peterson, formerly of Spanaway, is now opening a girls ranch the first of August. Millie is now residing at the Munuka Valley Ranch located in Graham, Wn. For more information call Millie at VI 7-2887 or write at Rt. 1, Box 185, Graham, Wash. 98338.

Millie informed me that she plans to have a busy schedule for the girls. Among many of the activities, horseback riding, lessons, horse shows, Junior Rodeos, Trail riding and camping out are all planned for the girls

Since it is late in the season Millie plans to have a small group of girls and hopes next year she will be able to have her Girls Ranch in full swing.

If you have a young daughter who loves horses and riding sign her up for the Munuka Valley Ranch now as the reservations are limited.

Here is some general information about an up coming Pony Show for next month. The Welsh Pony Association of Washington is having a show and the entries close August 1 so I thought it best to publish this now. Post entries accepted until one hour before show time at double entry fees.

Stallion Stakes At Longacres

The Washington Stallion Stakes, a race with no exact counterpart on the American turf, will draw the cream of the northwest two-year-old crop in its nineteenth running at Longacres Sunday

By the unique conditions of this race, all the nominees passed their first eligibility before they were born. On February 15, 1966, there were 69 stallions standing in Washington State which were nominated at a fee of $100 each. Their progeny, foals of 1967, are eligible to be nominated by the July 23rd deadline this year at a $15 fee.

The purse for this year's renewal at five and one-half furlongs is $10,000-added. With the stallion and 2-year-old nominating fees, and the added monies, the race should gross over $20,000 since it will cost $150 to enter and $150 to

The winner will receive $4,000 plus all nominating, eligibility, entry, and starting fees. Another unique feature of the face is that the nominators of the sires of the first, second, and third horses to finish will receive $750, $500, and $250, respectively.

This year's lineup promises to be large and filled with contention. Most of the probables are winners.

Bouncing Kim, a gelded offspring of Six Fifteen, and Touchdown Miss a Strong Ruler filley, sport the most enviable records to date. One of the pair will no doubt rule as a prerace favorite. Bouncing Kim registered two easy wins over tough competition in his first two starts. The powerful youngster races in the interests of the Elttaes Farm, nom-de-course of Joseph Gottstein and Robt. Hutchinson.

Jim Horne Hurls No Hit No Run Win

Mayfair Oriole pitcher Jim Horne hurled a perfect ball game to blank the Kittleson Colts 10-0 July 16 at Spana-

In turning in his no-hit, no-run performance, young Horne fanned 11 and gave up but one base on balls. He also proved he was handy with the stick by belting a double to drive in three runs.

Other Orioles hitting for extra bases were Dan Smith and Nick "Hot Dog" Cormandi, who each were credited with three baggers.

Parkland Cards Win A Pair

The Parkland Cardinals picked up a pair of victories to remain on the top of the standings in a very close youth league race.

Kelly Ackell hurled a five hitter July 10 at Sprinker Field to win 15-3. Tony Corso's three triples and Rickie Cox's pair of doubles aided the Parkland cause. In action July 17 at Gonyea Field, the Cardinals came up with a 3-2 win. Paul Roscoe's last inning triple pulled the game out of the fire to give Tony Corso a seven hit win.
