Area Residents Stop Asphalt Plant

Approximately 85 residents of the Clover Creek and Frederickson areas were in the County Commissioners chambers August 6 to await the decision on the Asphalt Paving and Engineer Company's petition to install a rock crushing and asphalt plant on East 176th Street.

The residents chose a committee of four at a meeting June 27th. With help from volunteers in the area the committee gathered 374 signatures on petitions opposing installation of the plant and presented their side of this subject.

Attorney Donald F. Herron was retained by the group to speak on their behalf. He in turn introduced five area residents who spoke on such subjects as air pollution, traffic hazards, taxation, water pollution and also the moral aspect of this plant's installation at this particular location.

After hearing both sides of the argument Commissioner Sprinker told the audience he thought that this firm would live up to the restrictions which would be imposed in order to locate on this site, but his belief being that a plant of this type should not be placed in close proximity to residences in the area. Commissioner Sprinker complimented the residents for the way their discussion was presented.

He then made a motion to deny the company's petition and Commissioners Gallagher and Ramsdell agreed.

The committee wishes to thank the residents of the area for the help which they received.

Catholic Priest Slated At Midland

The Reverend Francis E. Fenton, a Catholic priest from Bridgeport, Connecticut, will address a public audience at 8 p.m. Monday, Aug. 19, at Midland Community Hall, 97th & East Harrison St.

The Reverend Fenton will discuss the subject, "AMERICA BLACKMAILED: OUR MORAL CRISIS TODAY."

Ordained to the priesthood in 1944, Father Fenton holds a Master's Degree in Philosophy and an S.T.L. Degree in Sacred Theology. He has served the Church in various capacities and is now a priest in the Bridgeport Diocese.

As a private citizen, Father Fenton is associate editor of a weekly news magazine and a member of the National Council of The John Birch Society.

Father Fenton, widely known for his articles and speeches, insists that never before have Americans been faced with a greater moral responsibility to preserve freedom and Constitutional government. "Furthermore," he adds, "if we fail in that responsibility — if we fail to recognize the forces working to destroy America — and then fail to take action to meet the threat they represent, our nation cannot long survive."

In defining the main source of trouble today, Father Fenton points to International Communism. He charges that, "The Communist conspiracy, those who direct it, and those who serve as part of its diabolic apparatus, constitute the most powerful and sinister threat to free men that the world has ever known." According to Father Fenton, "America, and what is left of the free world, can ignore the threat of Communism only at the cost of survival itself."

In his talk, Father Fenton discusses the key issues today — the Vietnam war, the increasing crime and violence in our cities, and the growing economic crisis. These, he claims, are more than political problems; they also represent a deep-rooted moral crisis as well.

"For instance," Father Fenton charges, "it can never be morally right for the United States to send aid to and trade with the Communist governments in Europe, while those same governments supply the Viet Cong with the arms and ammunition needed to kill American soldiers."

PC Library Adds To Staff

Pierce County Library added two librarians to the headquarters staff this week.

Mrs. Angeline Pocrnich, who will assist with cataloguing new books, has a background of experience in both academic and public libraries. Mrs. Pocrnich is a graduate of the Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota, and received her master's degree in library science at the University of Washington. She was assistant librarian at Columbia Basin College in Pasco from 1964 to 1966. The next year she was coordinator of adult services for Spokane, and in 1967 to 1968 she was cataloguer in the library of Gonzaga University.

Miss Diane Koidahl, formerly of Aberdeen, will assist in children's services. A 1967 graduate of the University of Puget Sound, Miss Koidahl completed her studies for a master's degree in library science at the University of Washington in July, 1968.

Smoking Census Slated Here

Census Bureau interviewers will conduct a survey here concerning the smoking habits of the population during the week of August 19. Director John E. Tharaldson of the Census Regional Office in Seattle announced. Interviewers will ask about people's past smoking habits as well as present habits in order to discover whether there have been significant changes over the past year.

Interviews conducted locally are part of the third annual survey of smoking habits taken among a representative sample of the nation's population to provide statistical data for the U.S. Public Health Service.

The questions on smoking will be asked during the Bureau's monthly labor force inquiries. Questions about jobs are designed to provide data for use by the U.S. Department of Labor in determining current national employment and unemployment trends.

The identity of households in the survey throughout the U.S. is confidential, and the information obtained will be used only for statistical purposes.

Interviewers who will visit households in this area between August 19 and 24 are: Mrs. Alene F. Riehle, 4515 So. Fawcett Ave., Tacoma, Wash. 98408; Mrs. Harriett D. Lindom, 10919 39th Ave. S.W., Seattle, Wash. 98146.

Editorial . . . Stalls Plague Proposed County Fire Code

For the past three years officials of County Fire Districts have requested that the County give them a Fire Prevention Code.

During that time the proposed fire code has been studied by a citizen's advisory committee, but recommendation for passage and action by the County Commissioners always seems to be postponed until some future date. Despite pleas by Fire District officials to both members of the Board of County Commissioners and advisory committee members, Pierce County is no closer to the protections offered by such a code than when it was first proposed over three years ago.

One of the County fire chiefs who has been working for the measure is Wayne F. Gotchy, District 3. "I haven't found anyone outwardly opposed to a Fire Prevention Code," he told the Journal. "We just haven't been able to get the County to move on the issue." Calls to county officials always indicate that passage is about 60 days away, he said.

Richard F. Walston, Chairman of the Board of Pierce County Fire District 2 and an active volunteer firefighter for 10 years, pointed out to this writer that neighboring King, Thurston, and Kitsap Counties have such a code. But in Pierce County we have a difficult time even getting it on an agenda for consideration, he said.

The Code as proposed by the firefighters provides that the chief of the fire department will inspect, or cause to be inspected by fire department officers, all buildings and premises except the interiors of dwellings, as-often as may be necessary for the purpose of ascertaining and causing to be corrected any conditions liable to cause fire, endanger life from fire, or any violations of the intent of the Code.

Local fire districts would have the power to enforce the measure. The proposed Code is recommended by the Washington Surveying and Rating Bureau.

This is the agency that establishes Fire Defense Ratings for all fire districts in the State. Fire insurance costs are in direct relation to Fire Defense Ratings, making Code adoption one step closer to a better defense classification and lower fire insurance premiums.

Additional benefits to the public include the bypassing of populated areas when dangerous explosives are being hauled, and the siding of railroad tank cars laden with leaking jet fuel in county areas where lives or property could be endangered.

About a year ago, tank cars loaded with jet fuel destined for McChord Air Force Base were sided near fields of dry grass in the Lakewood area, Dick Walston said in emphasizing the need for a Code. Some of the cars were leaking fuel and creating a potential hazard. When Lakewood firefighters brought the situation to the attention of railroad officials, Walston said they were told that to store leaking tank cars within the City of Tacoma was a violation of Tacoma's Fire Code.

We feel Pierce County has been lagging in providing a Fire Prevention Code for its citizens. It's about time positive action is taken in making the Code a reality.

1968 FP Levies Set At $930,000

Voters in the Franklin Pierce School District will face $930,000 in two special levies on the November 5th ballot sheet, it was announced at the Franklin Pierce School Board meeting Tuesday night.

The Maintenance and Operation levy for the district, Proposition One, will be $792,000, an increase of 5 mills to cover the demand of the education program in the district.

In a 25-minute film strip, to be shown at local club and organization meetings upon request, the major reasons for the increase are shown as:

— Growth: — New housing developments are rising in the district at a rapid rate. The rate has grown from 3 to 5 per cent. This presents two mills of the five.

— Public Law 874 funds: — The state is deducting the amount of monies apportioned for school districts around military installations. This coming year it will mean a loss of $48,000 to Franklin Pierce — another two mills.

The 874 funds help pay the way of students whose parents are employed on military installations, which do not pay taxes.

The third major reason is "good ole" inflation.

The cost of living spiral hit a new high last year, providing a need for one mill — $24,000. Cost of personnel, which represents 80 per cent of the school's budget went up 7 per cent.

The second proposition is a building levy for $138,000 for acquiring sites for schools which will be needed to meet the growth demands in the near future.

As was pointed out in the film strip, "Bridging The Gap," voters have a choice. They can either pay $138,000 for four proposed sites now, or wait and pay approximately that much for one of the sites when the area is more saturated.

Other board action Tuesday included the appointment of three teachers.

Mrs. Frances Campbell, a 1966 graduate of Winthrop College majoring in elementary education, will teach primary school; Mrs. Sharla Grover is a 1967 graduate of Brigham Young University and will teach elementary education. The third teacher, Mrs. Kathleen Warr, also will teach at the primary level. She received her B.A. in 1963 from Rhode Island College.

Why don't our County Officials take the initiative and establish a basic plan to provide sanitary facilities to the populace of the suburbia? Is it not possible for them to exercise the leadership that the people need?

Is it not a paradox that Commissioners of certain Sewer Districts formed in Pierce County have a direct interest in certain developments involved within the boundaries of the districts?

Districts are being served by open lagoons which certainly do not meet the minimum standard requirements established by both the State Health and Pollution Control Authorities. In one district private enterprise and institutions are the owners of the lagoon. The financial burden to undertake the correction of the inadequacies of such a system would be unsurmountable by the present owners. Hence comes the idea to organize small water and sewer districts under their control. These districts, under the provisions of law, can "enter into contract with any private person, firm or corporation for the acquisition, ownership, use and operation of any property facilities or services within or without the district necessary or desirable to carry out the purpose of the district."

As a result of the interpretation of this law, sewer and water districts plan to use certain modifications with the purpose of permitting developers and institutions to proceed with their purpose of improving raw land.

There should be no need to tell the taxpayers in the area who will pay the fee for the use of the lagoon. They, the taxpayers, will pay for the modifications and improvements, as well as having already paid the original cost of the lagoon.

They should remember that in the price that they paid for their homes the cost of sanitary installation was included. Now they are about to be called upon again to pay a second time for a temporary sanitary installation. They will be called upon again, in a short time, to pay for a permanent solution when, due to the population explosion, this need will develop. The taxpayer will then be expected to foot the bill for a third time for sanitary requirements.

Is there really a concern for the health and welfare of a community, or is the headlong rush to install temporary systems to fatten the purses of promoters, developers and business establishments?

Is it not peculiar that our County Government does nothing to prevent the need of having to pay again and again for a project that could very well be taken care of by it, if they would only heed the mandate of the people who provided them with the necessary means and legal rights under the provisions of House Bill No. 139?

In another area of Pierce County, a Sewer District is planning a costly system that is, by their own admission, inadequate to serve their present area. This district definitely does not have the support of the people in the area who are aroused by an action taken invalidating an election held there. This is a serious thing in this country. There have always been two rights which have been held sacred. The right to petition and the right of effective ballot. In that area both have been negated, and the terrible thing about it is the fact that it is the people's sewer district, the people's property and the people's money that is being used against them.

When a county official will get up and testify that sanitary conditions are such that immediate action is required to protect the health and welfare of an area, in fact, that an emergency situation could be existing; yet, in the same week, the county government allows the situation to be worsened by granting of permits which increase the possibility of such emergency, there is a need for a change in that government.

How much longer will the county approve construction of "horse and buggy" methods of sewage disposal? Must our beaches and parks be closed because of inadequate planning? How long before building is again stymied because of undersized sewer lines? Must our children bear the cost of cleaning up a mess created by us because of a lack of foresight? This is not 1928, '38 or '48. This is 1968. We are faced with a serious population explosion. The era of metropolitan growth is not a vague challenge of the future - it is today's reality.

Somewhere along the line the county has failed miserably to accept leadership, to assume its responsibilities and to enforce the laws of sanitation. Someone must take the leadership in providing sanitary provisions for all the people involved, and do it properly, efficiently and economically. The present government seems to be working both ends toward the middle and inevitable chaos is about to result.

Our County Engineer, according to the T.N.T., April 25, 1968, states, "The County intends to prepare a plan that makes sense and doesn't break anyone."

Commissioner Sprinker stated February 1, 1968, "If Parkland has sewers the County would by-pass it with any County-wide system that might be built." March 1, 1968: "County Commissioners started a series of interviews Friday with Engineering firms throughout the United States for design of a county-wide system."

March 30, 1968: It was stated that "a county-wide sewage disposal system moved a step closer to reality Friday with granting of $125,000 in funds for planning study of trunk and interceptor lines for Lakewood and Parkland areas."

Now, at this time, if one of our County Commissioners would have the intestinal fortitude to stand up and state simply and emphatically that the County intends to use the provisions of House Bill No. 139 to provide all the people of the Clover Creek Drainage Basin a basic sanitary system then, and only then, will the proper leadership be established and some sort of order can be created out of the chaos now existing.

Signed:
The Pierce County Improvement Association
Leo G. Wilson,
Chairman Of The Board

Easement Program Outlined By Harper

In a speech delivered before the Tacoma Republican Boosters Club Wednesday, George W. Harper, the Republican Candidate for State Insurance Commissioner disclosed a program designed to reduce the mounting discontent with the operation of the commissioner's office.

Pointing out that a majority of the people who have a real need for the protection of the insurance commission are precisely the ones who do not know how to make use of its potential for service, Harper announced the formation of a select group of special deputies whose job will be to tour the state obtaining information of possible abuses and injustices.

"These men are not statisticians or insurance men," Harper said. "They are chosen for their ability to deal effectively with the people they work with. The prime requirement is the ability to settle down and talk matters over without the assistance of an interpreter. If there is a valid complaint, the special deputy will either handle it himself or turn it over to a regular deputy for action, depending upon the circumstances of the case. If the complaint is not valid, the reasons why it is not valid will be explained. Under any circumstance, we want every citizen to know that there is a direct avenue available to him through which he can express discontent or concern."

Continuing on this point, Harper said, "The chief feature of this program is that it does not require special legislation to put it into operation. The power is there as a regular function of the commissioner's office, but the various candidates and occupants of the office have never been sufficiently concerned with the people to both establish such a program."

Harper also observed that he was not interested in high sounding but unworkable programs. He said, "It is always easy for a politician to support programs he knows cannot or will not be put into effect. This is often a good way of picking up occasional extra votes without having to work for them. But this program is one which is workable and will go into effect as soon as I am installed in office this coming January. The essential groundwork and communications structure is already being set up."

Two of the three men needed to start the program have already been selected and have indicated their willingness to tackle the job. We have a man who will be working with the black communities and another who will move about through the union halls, migrant worker camps and similar places. We lack only an Indian representative who is acceptable to the various Indian communities in the state.

"As matters stand today," Harper continued, "the person at the bottom of the economic heap is victimized on every hand. Not knowing any outlet for his complaints, the victim stores them away to be aired whenever the occasion presents itself. Over the years a truly remarkable number of complaints and dissatisfactions have accumulated among the economically depressed citizens of this nation. Many of these people have simply come to doubt whether the United States has any relevancy to them."

According to Harper, the chief single complaint hinges about the feeling that the government does not really represent the poor man. There is an underlying attitude that the representatives of government really represent only the wealthy and middle-class segments of the nation. The poor man has no one to speak for him; only a number of self-appointed people who try to speak to him to promise what will be done in exchange for his vote.

"Regardless of the morality of this approach," Harper pointed out, "The fact remains that such people become focal points for festering sores on the nation as a whole. The group of special deputies will serve first of all to develop direct lines of communication so that legitimate complaints can be acted upon. Secondly, they will demonstrate the fact that the state government in general, and the insurance commissioner in particular, is genuinely interested in representing all segments of the population fairly and honorably and that we will actively seek out the trickster and sharpie who preys on the feebleness of the elderly, the gullibility of the weak or youthful, and the lack of sophistication of the disadvantaged."

PLU Workshop Sets 'Suddenly Last Summer'

Tennessee Williams' famous play, "Suddenly Last Summer," will be presented at Pacific Lutheran University Monday through Wednesday evenings, Aug. 19-21. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m. on the Eastvold auditorium stage.

Produced by students in the summer drama workshop, the play is under the general supervision of Prof. Theodore O. H. Karl. The 17 students in the workshop will participate in all phases of production including staging, acting and technical aspects.

There will be a different cast each night. Each student, in addition to having a role in the play, is chairman or co-chairman of a production committee.

Members of the workshop include Arleen Searle, Betty Truitt, Sandra Freisheim, Patricia Tuggle, Marian Phillips, Stanley Johnson, William Lundstrom, Dick Hyneman, John Cunningham, Lynn Reisinger, Janet Bauder, Gwendolyn Rockwell, Ann Phillips, Carol Campbell, Janet Spletstaszer, Barbara Maloney and Patricia Clark.

"Suddenly Last Summer" is a drama set in the jungle garden of a mansion in the Garden district of New Orleans. Within this setting the author devastates his audience with a denial of the values by which most of us live, as his heroine fights to preserve her integrity in the face of worldly corruption.

Arbitrary cancellations, rejections and failures to renew liability coverages are the number one problems facing the auto insurance buyer today. As Insurance Commissioner, I would enforce rules against these unfair practices.

Longacres News

Next Sunday, August 18, is Derby day at Longacres.

Credentialed members of the glamorous three-year-old set will battle over nine furlongs of real estate for a $20,000-added purse and the Pacific Northwest age division championship.

This will be the 31st running of the famed Longacres Derby.

There were 34 original nominees to the mile and one-eighth test. To this list were added the names of two solid supplemental nominees, Transportation and Judgelyn.

The local contingent, which took turns beating each other in the early races, began to jell with the Spokane Handicap, August 4. Judy B., tenacious Oregon bred filly, anchored a field of colts and geldings while winning the Spokane 'Cap in 1:35 1/5 at one mile. She had accomplished the same feat earlier in the meeting in an allowance test at 6 1/2 furlongs.

Mr. Q. D. was an impressive second in the Spokane. The brilliant sophomore has been out of the money but once in seven attempts locally. Mr. Q. D. won the William E. Boeing Stakes and was a nostril second finisher to Great Descretion in a division of the Tacoma 'Cap.

Great Descretion, powerful Irish bred star of the Eltates Farm barn, after four straight wins here, suffered its first defeat while finishing third in the Spokane. Great Descretion, victor of the Independence Day 'Cap and a division of the Tacoma, seeks revenge Sunday.

California invaders loom large on the horizon. Harry Cohen, Court Fool, Royal Blast and Transportation sport terrific credentials.

Harry Cohen, highweighted for the derby with 126 lbs., is a Virginia bred with sparkling wins over California tracks to its credit.

Court Fool, Greentree Stable's Kentucky bred son of Tom Fool, has an enviable win record at Hollywood Park and Santa Anita.

Royal Blast has been campaigning at Hialeah and Garden State Park.

Transportation, property of Herman Singh, Vancouver, B. C. sportsman, was a fast closing fourth in the Spokane, its only start locally. Transportation, winner of 5 out of 7 starts this year in California, is honed to perfection.

Other Derby probables include Count The Green, Secret Trust, Judgelyn, Royal Fusilier, Unquenchable, New Concept, Yakima Princess, and Batita Cross.

Mrs. Paul Friedlander, prominent in Seattle's cultural and civic affairs, will be honorary stewardess for the Derby.

Derby week will be highlighted by Saturday's 5th running of the Sub Deb, an open handicap for two-year-old fillies.

Twilight racing first post times will be advanced one-half hour to 3:45 p.m. starting Tuesday, August 13th.

Special events for the week:

Tues.—Restaurant Association

Wed.—Overlake Fashion Show

Fri.—Footprinter's Day.

Men In Service

Electrician's Mate Third Class William W. Platt, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Platt of 615 S. 160th, Spanaway, has been awarded the Vietnam Service Medal for participation in naval operations off the coast of South Vietnam while serving aboard the submarine USS Gudgeon homeported in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Cable Construction Underway By PNB

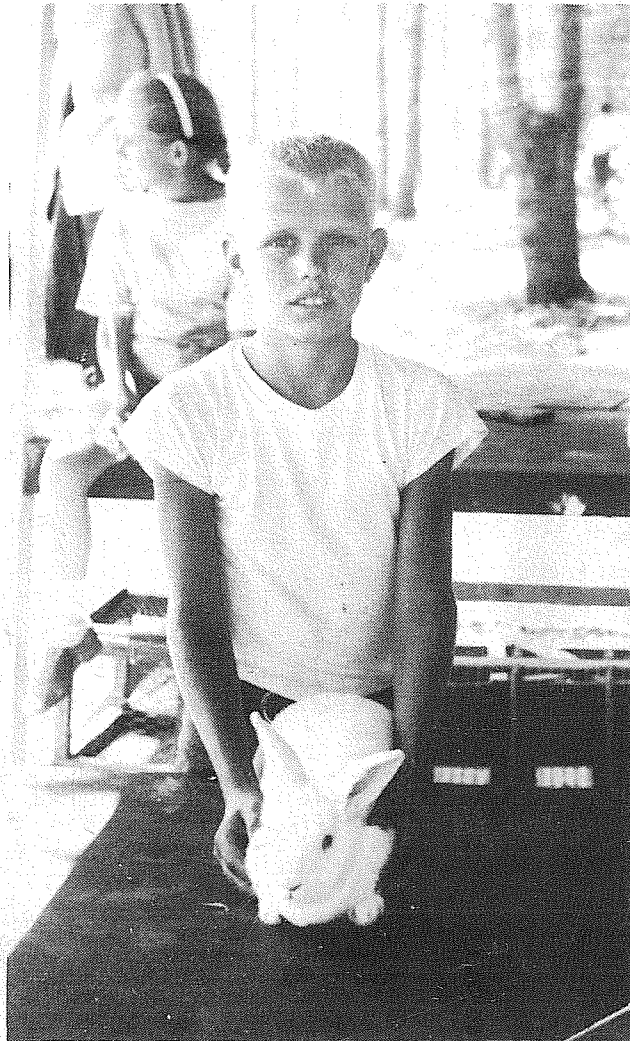

Telephone cable construction projects totaling more than $150,000 are underway in Puyallup, Graham and Roy.

The largest is a $76,000 investment by Pacific Northwest Bell to place 12,600 feet of underground cable in Puyallup along Fifth Street S.W. The cable will run south from PNB's switching center at 317 Third S.W. Cable has been undergrounded and splicing is in progress according to Robert F. Heuser, PNB manager.

Some 14,200 feet of aerial cable have been placed on the Muck-Kapowsin road east of PNB's Graham switching center. The $43,400 project is now being spliced into the telephone system.

A $31,700 aerial cable project along the Roy-Christy road will begin shortly, he said. Some 23,400 feet of cable will go into service later this year.

"In all three areas houses are being built or planned," Heuser said. These houses will require telephone service and we must construct the facilities to serve their future residents." PNB will invest $3 million in new cable for the greater Tacoma area this year, he said. The company's total construction plans for the area may reach $5.9 million for 1968.

MARK FOLK, 13, Spanaway, won Grand Champion honors with his New Zealand White rabbit.

REMEMBER AUGUST, 1923, WHEN

PRES. HARDING WAS POISONED IN SAN FRANCISCO

What kind of a month was it during this summer, . . . away back in 1923?

Well, Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and Harry Firestone had just packed off on their month-long cross country camping party. Things were buzzing in Tenino, Washington, as the beekeepers of western Washington met for a joint conclave, and President Warren G. Harding dies in San Francisco shortly after being stricken with ptomaine poisoning. (He was on a speaking tour for the League of Nations.)

And, here in Puyallup, things were happening, too.

For instance, three new grammar schools (the Meeker, Central and Spinning) were just nearing completion. "Penrod and Sam" (a movie) was currently appearing at the Steward Theater. Pollyana pumps were selling for a mere $1 at Mason-Burks Shoe Shop and the Puyallup Chamber of Commerce had just begun a drive to make Puyallup the "Rhododendron City of the West" (daffodils were still a thing of the future, we guess.)

And, here at Citizens State Bank, we were just through celebrating our first quarter-century of service to our friends and neighbors in the Puyallup Valley.

We were mighty proud of our record of service on this date away back in 1923. And today, 45 years later, we are ever prouder still of the tradition of banking assistance we've compiled, and we look forward to all the tomorrows to come when we can be of help to you and your family.

Winning the 200 meter freestyle competition in the boy's (11-12 year old) event, Ron Barnard claimed the second record with a time of 2:36.6. Third record fell in 200 meter Medley relay, Boys 11-12 years.

Special Race Slated

SPANAWAY - Next Saturday's A.R.I. Superstock slate will feature a race for those under rated, maligned workhorses of horsepower, the gasoline alley pitmen. This is their one chance to show the regular chauffer whathe's been telling him all year ... the car is a real bomb. It should be a good show.

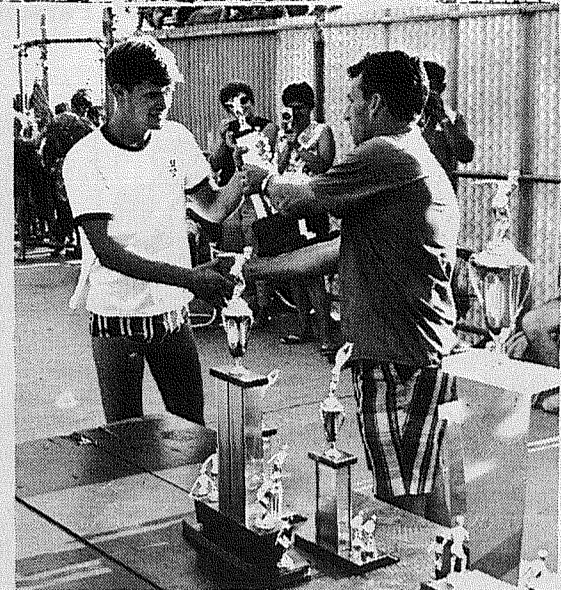

In the regular program, Don Hall and Jack Kuper continue their red-hot battle for season honors, with just three small points separating them. Ken Longley has just about wrapped up the "A" class top spot, but a donnybrook is developing for 3rd between Bruce Liner, Harold LeGault and Mike Willard.

In action last Saturday, Hall again took the checkered flag in the 40lap "AA" main, while Longley repeated his past performances in winning the 50 lap "A" main. Hall lowered his lap record, set just a week ago, from 15:95 to 15:93.

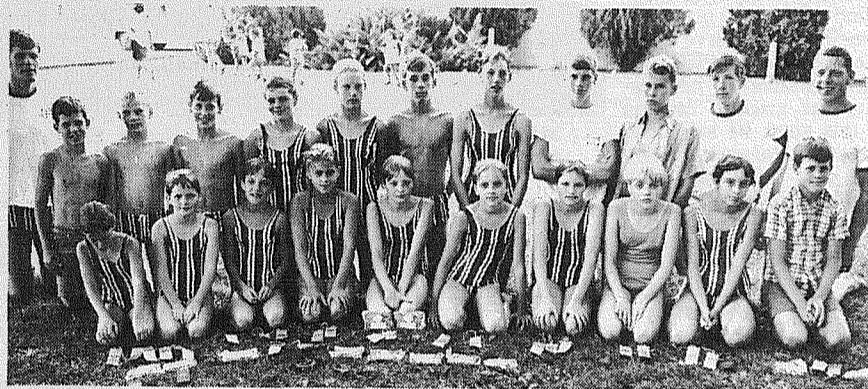

The Spanaway Speed Queens turned out in force to put on a slam-bang Powderpuff Derby, and Darlene Cress proved to be the most constant by taking the 15 lap feature. Esta Willard took 2nd with Sharon Chambers nailing down 3rd. The popular stockers again packed the place as more than 2,500 fans filled the stands.

Many of the drivers will be journeying to the Chehalis-Centralia Fair Grounds this Sunday to compete in the scheduled ELSCAN show.

Point Leaders
AA Class: Don Hall (860), Jack Kuper (857), Bob Short (643), Bob Bull (512) and Clem Goddard (496).
A Class: Ken Longley (956), Dave Rogers (616), Bruce Liner (451), Harold LeGault (430) and Mike Willard (402).

Emblem For Pilots

SEATTLE — The Seattle Pilots, new franchise in baseball's American League, may not have a team yet, but they do have an emblem.

Pilots president Dewey Soriano revealed that the Seattle ball club would be symbolized by a pair of pilots wings flanking a ship's wheel that surrounds a baseball bearing the name "Pilots."

The emblem will be tricolor in design with gold wings, red wheel, blue letters and outline.

Soriano said the emblem would be used on the Pilots uniform and be prominently displayed on stationery, cards, envelopes and virtually all material representing the Seattle organization.
