

Semi-Finalists In National Scholarship Program

Two F.P. Seniors Win Recognition

HAPPY INDEED are Anne Malmin and Paul Bethge, seniors at Franklin Pierce, who have been selected as semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Two Franklin Pierce Seniors are semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program. They are Anne Malmin and Paul Bethge. The two semi-finalists are among the 10,000 high school seniors selected as such for the program. They will take a test in December which is part of a regular College Entrance Board Exam in order to become finalists.

Nationwide Test
The semi-final exam which the two Franklin Pierce students passed was given last March to high school juniors throughout the nation. All tests are based on scholastic aptitude.

Great Competition
Because of the great amount of competition involved, those who manage to obtain the rank of semi-finalists usually find themselves in good position to receive several scholarships as well as other worthwhile offers.

Only Two Finalists
Last year only two students from the whole Pierce County area were among those who went on to achieve the rank of finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Zoning Discussion
The Lacamas Community Club will meet October 3 at 8:30 p.m. Zoning discussion will be on the agenda, so be sure not to miss this one.

Hear Ye
Friday, October 6th is the deadline for registering to vote in the Franklin Pierce school District election in November. Anyone in doubt as to where to register may obtain that information by calling any of the Franklin Pierce schools.

Church Women Plan Open Discussion

On Tuesday, October 3rd, The Women of Trinity Lutheran Church are sponsoring a program which will be open to the public. There will be a panel discussion on the subject "The Christian in his relationship to physical, emotional, and spiritual suffering". Members of the panel, who represent the fields of medicine, psychiatry, psychology, and pastoral counseling, will be Dr. Paul Bondo, Dr. Marcus Stuen, Dr. Kristen Solberg, and Pastor Robert Weinman. The moderator will be Pastor Erling Thompson.

League Opener at Bellingham: UNBEATEN KNIGHTS, VIKINGS TO CLASH

Victors over Pacific University (12-9) in their opener Saturday, the Pacific Lutheran University football team will begin its Evergreen Conference campaign this Saturday night against Western Washington State College in Bellingham.

The Western Vikings, coached by Jim Lounsbury, took the University of British Columbia, 13-6, in their opener. With 15 lettermen on hand from last year, the Vikings are rated as one of the toughest clubs in the league.

In rolling over the Pacific U. Badgers, the Lutes displayed a well balanced running and passing attack. Doug McClary, rangy senior quarterback, hit on 13 of 22 passes for 14 yards and mixed up his attack with a sound running game. Senior end Gary Vestal picked off four passes for 33 yards, sophomore Mike Smith caught 5 for 51 yards and sophomore halfback Mike MacDonald got 4 for 46 yards. The Knights' three starting sophomore ball carriers showed up well. MacDonald, playing his first game at half (he was an end until this fall) carried the ball 16 times for 72 yards and a 4.5 average per carry. Fullback Keith Shhan rambled for 73 yards in 13 tries for a nifty 5.6 average and left half Brian Wooten gained 28 yards in 9 carries for a 3.1 average. John Hanson, senior left half, packed the ball 5 times for 16 yards.

The Lutheran attack went for 170 yards net on the ground and 138 in the air, while the Lute defensive unit held the Badgers to a mere 73 yards net from scrimmage and 81 yards from passing.

Adult Evening Study Proposed

The Bethel School District is exploring the possibilities of an Adult Evening Education Program offering this fall. The District is prepared with Junior and Senior High School facilities and personnel to offer a variety of courses if there is sufficient interest on the part of area adults. Courses are designed to serve these purposes: provide credits for High School graduation, a continuation of formal education, deal with problems of the family or community, or increase the occupational proficiency of the participant.

Proposed Courses to be offered and instructors are:

- Farm Machinery, Use & Repair, Robert Anderson; Sewing (Bishop Method) or tailoring, Dorothy Kappahn; Bookkeeping, Robert Fincham; Typing, Entrup Reese; Personal Finance, Duane Landon; Reading improvement, Shirley Powell; Mathematics Improvement, Duane Lobeda; World Problems, Frank Pavia; Spanish, Harry Enochs.

Other courses may be offered should there be sufficient interest. Classes would meet once a week - 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. for 10 weeks. Meeting night would be Monday or Tuesday. Fee is $5.00 per course. A minimum number of 12 is required to maintain a class. A meeting for all interested class members is scheduled for Monday, October 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the High School Auditorium. Instructors will be present. This meeting will supply complete information on the program or any time.

Grenville Kleiser

Let me tell one ...

By NEIL McLEAN

I can't remember a time during my life when I wasn't ready to say "I'll bet you". When I was sure I knew what I was talking about. And during all that time, I have probably parted company with less than $5.00 a year on all sorts of bets that I may have made (I'm sure I always came out on the short end during the year).

I know very few people who haven't bet in some manner or another during their lifetime, if it wasn't for money, then the bet was made by trusting to the good eyes of other hunters, to the last few fractions of an inch on a set of tires or just on the good common sense of other drivers on a Sunday afternoon.

The United States Government and, specifically, the Post Office takes a dim view of the promotion of what is defined as a lottery. This view has been held for many years, and may be good or it may not be. In any event, the Congress apparently never seriously has considered defining what is a lottery for the citizens of the country.

Since all games with an element of chance have been defined as a lottery, the promotion of these games cannot be done by any medium which uses government facilities or has government sanction. Therefore, and we must have this as the final word, until a law makes a change, no promotion of 'games' can appear in the columns of this newspaper—since it is expressly forbidden.

No matter how it is disguised, you and I both know, and give post office officials credit, they know too, that 'games night' at the local church, community hall, or club is Bingo or something similar. I hope that I can mention that little David from across the street won a prize for 'Pin the Tail on the Donkey' at my daughter's birthday party.

PLU Man On Art Show Jury

George Roskos, Chairman of the Art Department at Pacific Lutheran University; William Phillips, Art Department Head at Woodrow Wilson High School, and Kenn Johnson, well known artist and teacher in the Tacoma area, have been appointed jury members for the Non-professional Regional Art Exhibit sponsored by Motorola, to be held at Northwest Radio & TV, 907 Tacoma Avenue So., October 9 through October 14. The purpose of this exhibit is to give nonprofessional artists the opportunity to exhibit their paintings to the public.

The three top winners selected by the jury from this competition will receive awards. The awards will be presented by Mr. Goodwin Chase, President of the National Bank of Washington and past-President of the Tacoma Art League on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, October 13 at the exhibit location. A fourth award will also be presented to the artists whose painting receives the most votes from the public attending the Tacoma exhibit at Northwest Radio & TV.

Roy Man Receives Navy Commission

PENSACOLA (FHTNC) -- Navy Ens. Maurice T. Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Murray of Roy, Wash., recently received his commission at the Naval School of Pre-flight, Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

He received the commission upon successful completion of a 16-week pre-flight training course. Before entering the Navy in April, 1961, Ens. Murray was graduated from the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma.

The first three award winners will have the opportunity to enter their paintings in the Motorola National Competition to be held next June in Chicago. This competition is the only exhibition where non-professional artists are given the opportunity for national recognition. There, national winners will be selected from paintings entered into the competition.

This past summer, after the National Competition in Chicago, for the first time, the national winning paintings were also displayed in New York City. Motorola, Inc., is now considering a broader exhibit tour of the winning paintings in 1962.

Revised Forage Test Program Now Offered

A revised forage testing program at WSU now offers Washington dairy, livestock and hay producers a compact, stepped up method of determining the energy value of their forages for only $7.50.

The new program replaces the test for crude fiber content of forages with a test for lignin content. Effective July 1, analyses determined on all forages are crude protein, moisture and lignin, plus pH on silage samples.

Since the forage testing program was initiated in January 1960, two different tests have been offered--the crude protein test for $5.00; or crude protein plus crude fiber for $7.50. With both programs moisture was determined on both hay and silage samples and pH was also analyzed on silage samples.

Ken Gross, WSU Extension dairy specialist explains that the program revision was made by the forage testing committee after considering the additional value of lignin for determining the digestibility of a forage. The higher the lignin the lower the digestibility.

Gross says that plant and animal scientists have known for some time that one of the constituents in plants called lignin was closely related to plant digestibility. Recent findings have added additional evidence to the value of lignin as a predictor of the available energy content of forages.

Gross adds, that the new "one-package" program now offered by WSU is one of the best methods available for determining the value of roughage.

It seems the answer to the family quarrel keeps coming up in different forms these days. Without benefit of the loyal columns here's how one family settled the problem.

This family had a good one, with the no-speaking routine lasting for a couple of days, until the husband said something about getting a new car. When he got no answer, he went out and got it and drove it home. While the discussion about the new car was going on, the original argument faded into the limbo of forgotten things. This might be drastic therapy for most families, but it might be a good idea for husbands and wives to set up an economic limit which they felt they could spend for settle serious family disputes. The next question, "How serious does the quarrel have to be before mama (or papa) spends the loot?"

Time was when we all knew where we stood in reference to our fellow townsmen, to our family or to our country. We might fight among ourselves, but when some outsider threatened our unity, we gathered our forces fought him off and went back to our internal fights.

It seems now that the threat of the pulverizing atomic bomb and its deadly aftermath, radioactive fallout, have come along to do away with the unity that we knew.

Carrying to its logical conclusion the preparedness theory that you take care of your family and I'll take care of mine, looks like the same thing.

The big controversy going on now is whether or not you, as the owner of a fallout shelter, should protect me and my family if I, like Aesop's grasshopper, fail to prepare for the terrible consequence. It seems to me the answer lies not in driving yourself crazy over whether or not to admit the next door neighbor to the shelter after the bomb, but what can we do about preventing the problem ever coming up. Those who say it is inevitable are just as wrong as those who say it will never happen. The point is it could happen and the other point is it can be prevented.

How to prevent this catastrophe? If every man, woman and child in the world would get on his knees for one minute and pray that this would not come about, it wouldn't. The trouble is, those who collectively will get on their knees will be the survivors, ---such is the human race.

a-Wondering . . . and a-Wandering . . .

Sitting here in a Denver Laundromat watching my undies Lux seems to be quite a waste of time, so even though the rest of the people in the place are looking at me as though they have never seen anyone type before, here goes my column for next week.

This past week or so I have listened to the radio more than I have for several years. It seems all I have heard is commercials and what not on fall out shelters and preparedness. It seems there is a reasonably hot controversy going on over the method of use. Assuming that the CD boys know what they are talking about, the big question seems to be, "where does brotherly love start and end in the case of a nuclear attack?" CD officials urge us all to construct fall out shelters now, stock them with food and water, and in the event of an attack, climb in quick, worry about our own families only and to hell with the neighbors. This theory is supposed to assure the survival of enough to insure the continuation of our country and the ultimate defeat of the enemy.

Those opposed to this theory basically take their stand with the Bible as their platform. They say to shut out our fellow man is not in keeping with the Christian way of life. Their theory is that you would build a fall out shelter, stock it with enough food and water for your family and then in case of an attack climb in quick, only leave the door open for Laughing Boy next door and his tribe. Then you can all sit around, run out of food and water before the area is clear, come out together and die together. It seems to me that's carrying brotherly love a little too far.

I think those who are screaming the loudest about those who would plan to look out for themselves only, have overlooked something in the Book they quote from. I certainly claim to be no authority on the matter, but it seems to me the Bible tells of Noah, when faced with a situation that could be akin to that under discussion, slam the hatch of the ark in the face of many who had failed to heed the warning and prepare for their own survival.

The CD agency has carefully laid out evacuation routes for those who fail to provide shelter for themselves. It seems the theory of these routes is that if you survive after a nuclear explosion then the next best thing of getting into a fallout shelter is to get out of the fallout area. Thus the evacuation routes.

I talked to a CD official just recently and he outlined the methods of survival to me. First and undoubtedly the best is to construct a fall-out shelter in your home. The next and the step I chose is to have a good airplane nearby with survival equipment on board and full tanks of gas at all times. The third course of action and the one offering the least chance for survival is to climb into the family car and join the thousands of others who have made no preparations and try to make it bumper to bumper out of the fall out area.

Getting back to the brotherly love bit, here's the way I analyze it. You sit around and laugh, at me and my airplane and laugh at the neighbor on the other side of you who is busy building a fall out shelter. I don't know if the fellow with the shelter is going to let you in or not in the event of attack, but I do know one thing. My plane will just operate safely with full tanks of gas, my survival equipment and my family. There is room for no more, so any joker trying to horn in on my flight to survival had better make peace with his maker. What's good enough for Noah is good enough for me.

Hearth and History

First white men in America met nomadic Indians who talked of the land as their Mother! The earth freely gave life to her "children" — and they resisted the white man's idea of land ownership.

The Pilgrim Fathers landed on Plymouth Rock and found endless miles of virgin land—all owned by the English king. Settlers depended on the favor or royal grants for the land they cleared.

Ownership of private property has been an American right since the Declaration of Independence. To assist you in buying a home, the professional services of REALTORS are available. They are members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and are pledged to an established code of ethics. K

It's a Boy!

Wayne and Pat Johnson of Parkland are the proud parents of 7 lb., 14 oz. boy, born Monday, Sept. 25. The new arrival was christened Theron Blaine. The happy event took place at St. Joseph's hospital.

It's The Law

Mr. X decided to have a home built by a contractor. Some floor plans and specifications were drawn, but much of the details were left up to the builder.

The contract called for a propane gas furnace. About the time Mr. X was ready to move in, he was transferred to another area and sold the house to Mr. Buyer. Mr. Buyer moved into the house and began to have trouble with the furnace. Mr. Buyer had some experts look into the difficulty and the experts reported back that the furnace construction seemed to be normal, but that the chimney was lower than manufacturer's recommendations and that as a result, the down-drafts caused improper venting. The situation was dangerous because it could result in the production of carbon monoxide gas inside the house.

Mr. Buyer sued the original builder. The original builder asked the court to throw the case out on the grounds that he had no responsibilities to Mr. Buyer; that his dealings had all been with Mr. X, from whom Mr. Buyer had bought.

Do you think Mr. Buyer can recover damages from the building contractor?

The court held that normally the contractor would have had no liability to subsequent buyers, but that there is an exception in a case when the work is inherently or eminently dangerous. The court held that in this particular case, since propane gas is inherently dangerous because of its explosive characteristics and because of its explosive characteristics and because it is dangerous from the standpoint of carbon monoxide poisoning, Mr. Buyer could recover from the original contractor for the faulty chimney, since it created an inherently dangerous condition.

Attention red-blooded Washingtonians: Enter the world's easiest, most rewarding contest! Everybody wins—everybody helps Washington. PACIFIC NORTHWEST BELL (spurred into action by the continuous taunts and jibes of misguided out-of-staters) proudly announces its

WHY-I'M WILD-ABOUT- WASHINGTON CONTEST

WITH DOZENS OF
PRIZES OF GREAT
(SENTIMENTAL)
VALUE

This is it, fellow Washingtonians! Too long have we outdoors-living, even-tempered, hard-working, lovable Washingtonians put up with belittling questions from misinformed Easterners and Californians and Texans. (Nyah to them with their bowler hats, flowered shirts and cowboy boots!)

We're tired of explaining why we live in Washington. Now we're going to answer their questions once and for all. Now we're going to form a united front and compile state-wide statistics to really tell the world about Washington!

Here's a contest to prove once and for all that there are undeniable advantages to living and working and visiting and locating new industry in Washington. Here's the one contest you can enter just for the sheer, unselfish, state-serving satisfaction of it (not to mention the chance of winning undying fame, glory, and a choice prize or two).

Here's how you can help. Write us a letter in 200 words or less (ten words could win it) telling why YOU are wild about Washington. No box tops to tear off; no corner grocers to send in; no snappy slogans to struggle over. Just a good, simple, honest letter telling us why you prefer our great state.

AND LOOK AT THESE
PRIZES:

- GRAND WINNER: If you write the best letter, you will be formally awarded an engraved bronze plaque by Governor Albert Rosellini himself, designating you as official #1 GRAND LEADER WASHINGTON BOOSTER CORPS.
- Plus, $500 worth of merchandise from any Washington merchant. For example: Supermarkets, drug stores, restaurants, department stores, etc.
- YOUR TWO GUESTS WILL EACH RECEIVE:
- * 1st class round-trip plane ticket (or equivalent) from any point in the 50 United States or Canada to any point in Washington.

- (If you're not well-informed, the back of the card will carry all the vital statistics about Washington, suitable for memorizing.)
- PLUS: Every entrant will receive a keen "Visitor's Passport," signed by the Governor (whose hand is aching by now), to send to misguided out-of-staters so they will be eligible to cross the border into Washington (It, too, will contain all the vital statistics so they'll be duly impressed.)

- HERE ARE TWO (BAD) SAMPLE ENTRIES:
- #1—"Back in the days when I was stuck in New York, I used to suffer shooting pains of the prime digital nerve. Then I moved to Washington. I still suffer shooting pains, but Hoo, Boy! do I ever love the hunting, sailing, and beautiful scenery around here."
- #2—"I'm wild about Washington because I like to breathe clear, fresh Puget Sound air better than carbon monoxide fumes and old Channel #5. Besides, I've taken 5 strokes off my golf game."

- HERE ARE THE RULES.
1. Complete the statement, "I'm Wild About Washington because..." in 200 words or less.
 2. No official entry blank required. Any decent piece of blank paper will do, and neatness doesn't matter a whit. Print your name and address on your entry.
 3. Contest open to any Washingtonian, except employees of Pacific Northwest Bell, its advertising agency, and their immediate families. (These people may enter to swell the returns but they won't win.)
 4. Contest open to all age groups.
 5. Letters judged on sincerity, interest and originality. Judges' decision is the last word.
 6. All entries and ideas therein become the property of Pacific Northwest Bell and will not be returned, so make a carbon.

We're out to do all we can as a public service to help the Chambers of Commerce and the State and local governments to make Washington the most talked-about, prosperous, industry-minded, traveled vacationland in the nation.

To prove it, our gimlet-eyed statistician, Gus, is going to tabulate all your reasons into an official Washington Booster Corps Document. These will be distributed to the Chambers of Commerce, State's tourist agencies, other state and local government offices, newspapers, radio and TV stations to help them tell the world about you-know-where.

LET'S TELL THE WORLD ABOUT WASHINGTON

How To Control Termites

By Loren Curry

An important sign of termite infestation is shelter tubes. They are built by termites from particles of sand, or earth, or small bits of woods or both, and coated with a glue-like substance, treated by the insects. The tubes are from 1/4 to 1/2 inch or more wide and termites use them as passage ways between the wood and the soil from they obtain essential moisture. The tubes also protect the termites from the drying effect of direct exposure to the air.

Subterranean termites become most numerous in moist, warm soil containing abundant supply food in the form of wood or other cellulose material. They often find such conditions beneath buildings where the space below the first floors is poorly ventilated and where old scraps of lumber, stakes, stumps, etc. have been left in the soil. Most infestations occur because wood touches or is close to the ground, particularly at such places as porches, steps and terraces. Conditions under which termites colonies exist are quite rigid. For example, unless it is possible for the termites in a building to maintain contact with the ground they will die. This sets the stage for prevention as well as control of termites.

It has been proven that the best time to provide for protection against Subterranean termites is during the planning and construction stage of house building. For example, one of the most susceptible types of construction and one that often gives a false sense of security is a concrete slab on ground home. Here termites gain access to the building over the edge of the slab or through expansion joints, openings around plumbing and cracks in the slab.

Control of termites is not a simple matter. Ridding existing structures of termite infestations and making them resistant to future infestations is a major problem. Buildings usually become infested because little or no attention has been paid during their construction to measures that would have made them resistant. Here termites cause heavy losses each year. Control involves some of the same principles recommended for prevention, that is, eliminate conditions which favor the development of termite colonies in the soil and which permit the passage of termites from the soil to woodwork. This is important because termites in woodwork which are prevented from making contact with the soil, or other sources of moisture, will die. Control methods involve some of the following: 1. Remove wood and debris from underneath and adjacent to buildings with crawl spaces. 2. Remove other wooden units which connect the ground with the woodwork of the building and replace with chemically impregnated members. 3. Replace heavily damaged and weakened wood structures with sound material, and wherever and this, too, usually indicates that a colony of termites are near by. Termite damage to wood often is not noticeable on the surface. The wood must usually be stripped of its exterior in order to see the extent of damage. The workers avoid exposure to air by constructing galleries within the materials which they attack. Occasionally they completely honeycomb wooden timbers leaving a little more than a thin shell. possible, remove all soil from within eighteen inches of floor joists. 4. Fill voids, cracks, joints, etc., in concrete or masonry to prevent entrance by termites. 5. Provide adequate drainage and ventilation. And don't forget chemical control. Treating the soil around buildings with chemicals has been quite successful. Some of the chemicals used are aldrin, benzene hexachloride, chlordane, DDT, and dieldrin. More information on these chemicals and on termite control in general is available in bulletins obtainable from the Agricultural Extension Service, Room 742 County-City Building, Tacoma.

Boy Scouts Plan Membership Drive

In response to increased interest by boys of this area in Scouting, a "Strengthen America Roundup" program is now being launched announced Jack Warnick, Organization and Extension Chairman of the Mount Rainier Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Under the "Strengthen America" theme, the Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops, Air Explorer Squads, Explorer Posts, and Sea Explorer Ships expect to welcome new members as a result of the "Round-up" from now through November. Each Scout Unit will recruit boys who want to be members and invite the boys to take part in their activities and meetings.

Boys eight through ten years of age are invited to join Cub Scouting and be a member of a Den and Pack.

Many boys 11 thru 13 are expected to join the Boy Scouts and become a member of a Patrol and Troop.

Exploring - the newest Scouting Program - is an adventurous program for young men of high school age. Getting an "inside look" at possible careers, social activities, high-adventure trips, and community service are among the projects the Explorers of the council area plan and carry out themselves.

Highlights ahead of Explorers this fall will include a Naval Explorer Encampment at Bremerton Naval Base, November 18 and 19. Mr. Warnick said the council is prepared this year to assist any group in setting up a new Scout Unit where no convenient ones exist.

Hunting season starts in Washington on October 15 for the regular deer season.

There is a compelling necessity today for a code of ethical behavior for the hunters of America. Now, more than ever before, an appreciation and an understanding of proper and improper hunting practices is required of the ever-increasing group of shooter-sportsmen.

Sportsmen worthy of the name must work together to create better relationships with landowners, if wildlife on private property is to remain available to the public. All who go afield must faithfully practice the essentials of safe hunting to avoid accidents. Such occurrences that result in property damage or injury or death to a person are not only lamentable, but laws for the State of Washington available at every plugged gun store in the state there is no excuse for pistols or rifles are to be hunters not knowing or living by the rules as they are set for hunting.

A broad and determined effort must be made to see that game laws are fair and reasonable and that they are obeyed by all who participate in the sport of hunting. All hunters, young and old, must acquire marksmanship and hunting is the limit per tag and the head must remain with the carcass while it is being transported. The time limit for possession is until with all hunting times August 1 following the taking of the animal.

With the increased activity among bow hunters, all are reminded that the use of a crossbow is illegal. In bird hunting, un-tened guns are unlawful, with few exceptions, no state there is no excuse for pistols or rifles are to be hunters not knowing or living by the rules as they are set for hunting. A loaded gun in a car is not only illegal but extremely dangerous. It is illegal to shoot from, along or across a highway. One deer and one elk it is also illegal to shoot from a power boat. Most hunting times begin one half hour before sunrise and extend to sunset, with all hunting times August 1 following the taking of the animal.

Most people would die sooner than they think; in fact that is what happens to over 37,000 a year who die in traffic accidents.

Pedestrian fatalities, when studied closely, tend to follow a pattern.

Hunting Ethics

1. I will consider myself an invited guest of the landowner, seeking his permission, and so conducting myself that I may be welcome in the future.
2. I will obey the rules of safe gun handling and will courteously but firmly insist that others who hunt with me do the same.
3. I will obey all game laws and regulations, and will insist that my companions do likewise.
4. I will do my best to acquire those marksmanship and hunting skills which assure clean, sportsmanlike kills.
5. I will support conservation efforts which can assure good hunting for future generations of America.
6. I will pass along to younger hunters the attitudes and skills essential to a true outdoor sportsman.

Knights, Vikings To Clash Saturday

guard John Mades, the PLU defensive line showed flashes of brilliance. Burly tackles Marv Snell and George Vigeland, who went both ways, were towers of strength as were line-backer Kevin Thomas and end Phil Pruski. The Lute offensive line opened good holes for the ground game with junior guards Dick Johnson and Norm Juggert leading the way.

In winning their first season's opener since 1957 and only their second in the last 14 years, Coach Jim Gabrielsen's Knights came out of the tilt with no injuries.

Although some people are very quiet doesn't mean they aren't accomplishing a heck of a lot. Such was the case of Lawrence Young. We hardly knew when Larry was around the airport but the last few months he's been hard at work on his Aeronca Chief. Larry rebuilt his Chief almost entirely by himself and it truly is a beautiful job. Sunday Larry and Jerry Hedlund gave it the first 'test hop' and reported it flies beautifully!

Willie Hilstrum, his dad and a friend and John Scholtens flew to Sacramento and returned on Saturday. Sunday John and Louise Scholtens made a pleasure trip to Portland and return in their Mooney.

Slim Lawson added a Instrument Flight Instructor rating to his Instrument rating this past week.

Mothers of small children, women with parts time jobs, women planning to build or remodel, women with heart conditions or other physical handicaps, and women simply interested in learning how to save time and energy in their household routine are all invited to the Heart Association's free "Take It Easy" classes beginning Thursday, October 5, in Puyallup.

There is no charge. The classes are a free community service of the Heart Association. The class will meet October 5, 12, 19 and 26, at 9:30 in the Puyallup YMCA Building so that women with children can be home in time for lunch.

Mrs. Edward Baptiste, instructor, said the classes take into consideration a multitude of problems faced by women keeping house. "The women with a sparkling modern kitchen may have a work saving kitchen but may need instructions in how to arrange her work areas to save steps. The woman with an old kitchen may want to know how to adapt her kitchen to better use without remodeling. The woman with several small children may wish to know how to divide the work so the children can share the load. The woman with a physical handicap may need to know how she can ease the physical strain of keeping house, particularly if she

Saucy Butterscotch Tops All

Butterscotch, as typical of Scotland as plaids and bagpipes, takes a quick trip around the world to join forces with crushed pineapple in an exotic dessert sauce. This meeting of West and East produces a sauce of mellow color and flavor that glamorizes ice cream or cake.

Thanks to butterscotch flavored morsels, the sauce can be made in a few minutes and, once made, it keeps well in the refrigerator. Butterscotch morsels are the same size and shape as the famous semi-sweet chocolate morsels that go into Toll House cookies. Like the chocolate morsels, too, they can be eaten as a candy, put in a cookie dough, or melted for use in sauces, frostings or baked goods. But they have a flavor all their own, the flavor so popular in traditional butterscotch candy. Because these morsels melt so readily, they need only be stirred into the simmered pineapple to complete the sauce.

Butterscotch-Pineapple Skillet Sauce
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons butter
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch morsels

Put crushed pineapple with syrup into saucepan. Add butter and bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add butterscotch morsels and stir until melted. Yield: Approximately 1 1/2 cups.
Note: If sauce is chilled in refrigerator; reheat over low heat, before serving.

Spotlight On Homemakers

The spotlight will be turned on the homemaker and her responsibility in educating for the future next month.

Miss Bernice Belshaw, county Extension agent, explains that this will be the theme of the 9th annual state meeting of the Washington Homemakers Council to be held in Walla Walla, October 10-12.

Mrs. Ben Kibler, Fox Island, County Council president, reports that registration for the State Council meeting will be taken at the County Council meeting September 21st. If enough homemakers are interested in attending, it may be possible to charter a bus with the King County Homemaker club members.

Importance of the homemaker in perpetuating and instilling ideals of education both now and in the future will be pointed up by the guest speakers.

List of speakers will be headed up by Dr. C. Clement French, president of Washington State University; Dr. P. W. Christian, president of Walla Walla College; and Miss Emma Harris, Chairman of the Department of Child Development, Washington State University.

Dr. French will speak on "Education is a Lifetime Job." Dr. Christian's topic will be "Preparing the High School Student for the Future"; and Miss Harris's talk will stress the fact that "Education Begins in the Cradle."

Other speakers will include Misses Helen Noyes and Marie Walters, Supervisors of the Washington Extension Service. Their topic will be "Your Part in the Largest Adult Educational Organization in the World."

Convention business of hearing committee reports, planning a program for 1962, and electing officers will be interspersed with tours, social hours, and entertainment.

State Council officers who will conduct the convention include Mrs. Frank Pugh, Elk, president; Mrs. Smith Livingston, Bremerton, vice-president; Mrs. W.R. Bowers, Snohemish, secretary; Mrs. Ray Strait, Cowlitz, treasurer; and Mrs. Ted McCoury, Mead, editor.

Miss Belshaw points out that the purpose of the many homemakers' clubs throughout the state is to apply latest information in homemaking to the improvement of homes and family living.

The groups also participate in numerous civic services. Current projects include sponsoring 4-H clubs, awarding scholarships to students studying home economics, promoting home and community safety, and Civil Defense.

Graham Youth In "Sea Wall"

SAN JUAN ISLAND, Wash. (FHTNC) -- Scheduled to participate in "Exercise Sea Wall," a joint Army, Navy and Air Force amphibious maneuver, Sept. 15-20, on San Juan Island, Wash., while serving aboard the attack transport USS Magoffin, homeported at San Diego, Calif., is Jon Potter Jr., radioman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Potter of Route 1, Graham, Wash.

The name "Sea Wall" is used in the maneuvers because the landing beach is fortified with large log pilings. The operation will be an invasion by Army troops, landing from Navy ships and small craft under the cover of Air Force aerial support. Once there the "invaders" will seek out "aggressor forces."

Taste Test

A live World War II incendiary bomb was removed by police from a bakery shop in Norwich, England. It had been lying on an oven that had been in daily use for 15 years.
