Year's Mystery Traffic Accident

WHO CAN KNOW?—Still in doubt is the real cause of the accident pictured above. True, Barbara J. Casada, 25, of 10212 So. Alaska St., left two suicide notes in the glove compartment of her car, but they were not dated and there is little reason to believe that she intended to die as she did, taking her small son Douglas with her. As it happened Saturday night on the Mountain Highway at Loveland, her car crashed head on into the automobile of Carl R. Schriver, 18, of Spanaway, the young man having been stopped by State Patrol Officer Gil Paulsen for a traffic violation. Paulsen had taken Schriver into his patrol car, parked behind, where both sat while the officer made out the papers, a fact that saved their lives. Striking with a terrific force, the Casada car collapsed the Schriver vehicle like an accordion; in turn, this car caved in the front end of the patrol car and hurled it back approximately 50 feet. Both Mrs. Casada and her son were apparently killed instantly. Pictured above: top photo, Patrolman and ambulance attendants removing Mrs. Casada's body from her smashed car, middle; telescoped Schriver car; lower, State Patrol car after crash. Officer Paulsen and Schriver were knocked out by the impact and both were taken to the hospital; Paulsen was released to recover at home but the younger man has remained in the hospital suffering from shock, facial lacerations from the smashed windshield and other injuries.
Washington State Patrol Sergeant Riley Bryant headed the investigation.—(McKewen Studio Photos)

Another Freak Accident

RIGHT SIDE UP—Nobody hurt much and relatively little damage resulted from a peculiar accident Saturday evening, Jan. 2, at Bridgeport and Manitou-Custer roads. Finding herself with her right wheels running on the outside of the curbing, Mrs. Gladys E. Whitmore, 65, attempted to cross back over the 6-inch curb; her '48 Cadillac leaped the curb and plunged across the highway to crash into the 1958 Ford driven by Richard W. Hopkins, proceeding in the opposite direction. Mrs. Whitmore's car then crashed through the guard rail, breaking the natural gas line (lower center) and rolled down the embankment into Flett creek. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins suffered slight injuries; damage to the two cars did not exceed $500.
Washington State Patrol Officer Bob Bair investigated the accident.
Had there been a spark to ignite the released natural gas, the consequences would have been serious.—(McKewen Studio Photo)

IT'S A GIRL!—Cynthia Kay Christensen, first born child of Pfc and Mrs. Darryl Christensen of 13811 South C St., is the winner of the 1960 Parkland Area Baby Derby. The little girl arrived at 1:55 p.m.
New Year's Day at Madigan General hospital, where the above photo of mother and child was taken. Mrs. Christensen, a native of North Dakota, has lived in the Tacoma area since early childhood, her parents being Mr. and Mrs. Alex Konrad of Tacoma. Pfc Christensen is from Greenwood, Indiana, and is presently stationed at Fort Lewis. He will complete his military service Jan. 31 and future plans of the little family are indefinite. (McKewen Studio Photo)

INCOME TAX SERVICE

Headquarters at the offices of
JOHN L. CROSSEN
BUSINESS CONSULTANT
8410 Pacific Avenue
GR 2-8002

Mrs. Avyce Blanchfield

Dear Clients & Friends,
HAPPY NEW YEAR! With the new year, Americans must think of income tax filings, and since I have handled your tax business in the past, I felt that you would wish to have this tax service again available to you.

The new location for this tax service will be at 8410 Pacific Ave., Tacoma, Wash. (Telephone GR 2-8002), where Mr. JOHN L. CROSSEN, whom I have known for many years and whom I know to be a very competent, conscientious, and helpful Tax Consultant, will be available to give you the courteous and confidential help you need in the preparation of your tax returns.

I have made available, in the interest of my clients and friends, all my files for previous years to Mr. Crossen, so that he can give you the best possible service.

This move has been made necessary because my physician has forbidden me to engage in the long hours and to undergo the strain of the Tax Season.

However, I am confident that you will find that I have selected, in Mr. Crossen, the most reliable and competent Tax Consultant in the area, to carry on my business.

I wish to thank you for the confidence you have shown me in the past.

Yours Sincerely,
Avyce Blanchfield

With JACK BROWN

It's an undeniable fact that unions are fast losing public sympathy. I think the reason for this is apparent. Some of the nation's most destructive strikes have been not so much over wages as they have been over fringe benefits and work rules which tend to give the unions more control over management and operating policies of an industry.

Public sympathy used to be with the unions when they were seeking legitimate benefits for their members instead of more and more for less and less, as in the case of railroading.

Union officials seemingly fail to realize the danger to their position contained in this downward trend of sympathy.

As union sympathy wanes, the position of management to reject unjust claims for benefits is strengthened.

This entire matter was brought forcibly to my attention recently when I happened to thumb through a local labor paper for the first time in many months. This particular paper has always devoted space to publicize firms that its management feels do not deserve the patronage of staunch union members. I remember when the list in this particular publication used to take up approximately ten column inches of space. After my first glance at the issue in question I realized that there has been a change going on that I had been unaware of. Instead of the 8 to 10 column inches of "Don't patronize" space that I remembered there was so much of it that I was immediately motivated to grab a ruler and find out exactly what the change amounted to. That issue contained 72 1/2 column inches of the matter. This amounted to just 7 column inches less than a full page. In other words, there is now nearly 8 times more space in this publication devoted to the listing of "unfair" firms than I can ever remember seeing before.

If this isn't hand writing on the wall then I've never seen any.

A brilliant dinner conversationalist is one who, though on a diet, can utter sparkling words while nibbling a stalk of celery.

Someday I think with luck I might reach the point in life where I'll become a newspaperman in the true sense of the word. That is if I can just learn to keep my eyes open. Take the other day for instance, when the Great Northern train was swept into Puget Sound by a slide. Where was I? Just 1,000 feet straight up and not paying any attention to anything except talking to my wife and laughing at our kids in the back seat. If I'd been more alert and kept an eye downward I would have seen this accident happen before my very eyes and been able to drop down and get on the spot aerial photos that would have put the Times Journal out front, but not me. I've got to be one of those guys that goofs along looking everywhere except in the right direction. Oh well! That's the way the ball bounces, I guess.

Public opinion polls increasingly suggest that the 1960 presidential campaign is going to be about as far from an open and shut affair as any in recent years. The pattern is a complex one, and it seems likely to become even more so in the months ahead.

All over the country, something new is happening in small business — the franchise boom. Chain restaurants, bakeries and even ice cream stands are, in many cases, franchised. Even such well known companies as Bows "Seal Fast" corporation, the leading manufacturer and distributor of automotive accessories, use the franchise method of distribution.

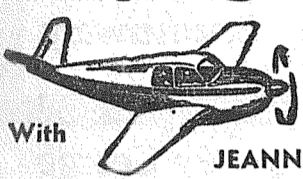

The reasons for the increased popularity of the franchise should be considered by every man interested in being his own boss. For operating a franchise involves most of the advantages of having a business and few of the drawbacks. The Bows "Seal Fast" franchise system, for example is typical. It gives assistance to the distributor, who serves service stations, in several ways. 1) The initial investment is small because the "store" is a truck. 2) An exclusive area is assigned. 3) The reputation of the product being sold has already been well established in the trade. 4) Profits depend solely on individual ability and initiative. 5) The product is backed by national advertising.

So if you're thinking of starting a business, but are hesitating because of the many drawbacks involved—consider the franchise boom: it may be just the thing for which you have been looking.

The Bows Company will be glad to send you franchise information. Just write to them at Indianapolis 18, Indiana.

Flying

With JEANNE

Jen and Orv McGoy in their 162 and Otto Wicklander and Don Abbott and their boys in Otto's 180 made a flight to Pacific City in Oregon Sunday. They had a very nice chicken dinner at a restaurant near the airport and received an invitation from the owner for the flyers in this area to make a return visit. They have sleeping accommodations, dance pavilion as well as wonderful food. Sounds like a wonderful flight to make, let's put it on our calendar as something to be sure and do this year.

Jack Brown and his family made two flights this holiday season. The day after Christmas they flew to Snohomish and the day after New Years they flew to Port Angeles. Howard Roberts of Parkland made his first solo flight under the supervision of Dave Porter.

Del Smith made a solo cross-country trip to Mullino, Oregon Sunday. Ray Jacobson completed his solo cross-country training by making a trip to Astoria, Hoquiam and return.

Don't forget the monthly meeting of the Western Travelers January 8 in the club house at Thun Field.
