SET PRIORITIES NOW

The need for setting priorities in federal spending becomes critical with each roll call in Congress. This warning has been repeated so often, it's in danger of becoming a political cliché rather than the standard practice it should be.

It is obvious in setting priorities that not every spending program is necessary. Some projects must wait for more favorable times. Others must be cut back.

To do this, we must insist on maximum efforts on the part of the Administration and Congress to:

- Stay within budget requests or find other areas of saving when this cannot be done;
- Phase out doubtful and outmoded programs;
- Resist making commitments for future spending until the fiscal situation has improved.

House actions to July 9, 1970, on all spending bills have exceeded the President's budget authority requests for fiscal 1971 by $7,486,977,000.

On the Senate side, similar actions through the same date have exceeded the President's requests by $4,335,950,000.

It is time someone starting worrying about the taxpayers who have to come across with these vast billions. The spending spree has got to stop if inflation is ever going to be controllable.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

Sometime ago I had a hand in improving the street lighting facilities here in Parkland. I made an effort to further improve it north of 112th Street, however my efforts were in vain.

So, with this open letter I hope someone will see the real need for better, more up-dated, and improved street lighting. Perhaps it takes the drafting of a petition, and approval of the voters, for an improvement such as this. Anyone in the community who sees value in better streetlighting and wants to see this improvement made, should take it upon their shoulders and pursue it for the betterment of the community. Has anyone the ways and means to update and improve our street lighting north of 112th Street?

It's The Law

Federal Habeas Corpus

In recent years many persons convicted of crimes in state courts have sought writs of habeas corpus in federal courts, challenging their convictions by raising a "federal" question.

What are such questions?

Has the accused been denied due process of law? Was evidence against him obtained by unlawful search and seizure? Has his trial been unfair? Was he forced to testify against himself? Was he denied the aid of counsel? Or was the record or the transcript of the trial wrong? There are many such questions that have come before the Supreme Court in recent years.

As a rule, the accused cannot go to a federal court for a state crime until he has tried and exhausted his state appeals. But once the state decision has become final, he may call upon the federal courts. If they find some error in his trial, they may send the case back to the state courts for a new trial or other action.

Though many seek a writ of habeas corpus, the federal courts act upon only a few.

The U.S. courts have reversed state courts for denying adequate counsel or any counsel at all. Other cases have raised the issues of forced confessions of perjury as an indication of a lack of fairness guaranteed in the Constitution.

The Supreme Court upset the conviction of an Indian for murder because he should not have been tried in a state court; Congress had given federal courts the sole power to try Indians for crimes committed in certain federal areas.

In an Indiana case, a convict seemed to have chosen to act as his own lawyer, but the court did not record his choice. On appeal he claimed, the federal court found, that the state court had denied him the right to counsel.

(This column is written to inform not advise. Facts may change the application of the law.)

TIME TO BACK-OFF

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

By Robert C. Cummings

Olympia. . . Three Washington congressmen face opposition in the primaries this year, but a glance at the records would indicate their opponents are trying to get there the hard way.

No incumbent congressman has been defeated in this state's primaries since 1932.

Ironically, the only district where it occurred that year was the First Congressional District.

That is where State Sen. Joel Pritchard is challenging Congressman Tom Pelly for the Republican nomination. It is considered the most serious challenge of the three.

Congressman Brock Adams is opposed by John McKee in the Seventh District. McKee made a surprisingly strong showing in an unsuccessful bid for the nomination for Secretary of State two years, but if he should win it would be an upset.

Rerun in Fourth

Congresswoman Catherine May has two opponents for the Republican nomination in the Fourth District.

The best known, Floyd Paxton, ran against Mrs. May on a Conservative Party ticket in 1966. He got 9,585 votes against 77,929 for Mrs. May.

R. O. Pyle, Pullman wheat farmer, also seeks the Republican nomination but the more candidates there are in a primary, the easier it usually is for the incumbent.

U. S. Senator Henry M. Jackson also faces opposition in the primaries this year, his most serious challenger among three Democrats being Carl Maxey, who has the endorsement of the liberal Washington Democratic Council.

On the record, Jackson is in the strongest position of all.

No U. S. Senator ever has been defeated in a Washington state primary. U. S. Senators, however, have been elected by popular vote only since 1914. Prior to that they were elected by the Legislatures of the various states.

All congressional incumbents face opposition in the general election, but in this state, the voters rarely turn their congressmen out of office except in years of political upheaval.

It is even more difficult now. The congressional reapportionment act of 1966 added Democratic strength to the five districts held by Democrats and made the two Republican districts more predominantly Republican.

Milk Issue Boiling

A highly controversial provision for the state's proposed milk pooling act is being considered by the Legislative Council's Committee on Agriculture.

It would put permit dairy farmers to sell their quota to other dairymen only under extremely restrictive circumstances.

Sale of federal quotas has been a profitable venture for some dairymen. They are divided on the issue.

Because the provision is being given further study, the marketing act won't be ready for presentation to the full Legislative Council at its next meeting.

Seacoast Simmers

Though the Washington Environmental Council has indicated plans to sponsor an initiative to the Legislature on seacoast management, some legislators have hopes the plan will be dropped.

They think they detect some dissension within the council itself; even a possible split on the issue.

The Environmental Council bill is much broader than anything the legislators will go for, and a subcommittee of the Committee on Governmental Cooperation has prepared its own bill as an alternative.

If the initiative plan is dropped, seacoast management will occupy a high priority on Gov. Dan Evans' legislative list.

Paul Harvey This Week

Equality For Women

Bittersweet Victory

by Paul Harvey

It's going to be up to your state legislature now, whether women should have equal rights.

Congress — despite the reservations of many congressmen — did not dare vote no to this proposed constitutional amendment in an election year.

But as your state's legislature convenes to consider and finally to decide, maybe it should not be so hasty.

I have protested discrimination against women for a third of a century — but "equality" for them is something else again.

The proposed amendment to our Constitution which your state's lawmakers will have to vote for or against says "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The "Equal Rights Amendment" it is called.

And perhaps our country is ready for this. Perhaps those of us who do not want to see American women drafted into the Army or required to work in coal mines or denied alimony or protection against rape — perhaps we are old-fashioned.

You remember when Congress passed earlier "civil rights" legislation during another election year, guaranteeing no discrimination in employment; the courts went on to interpret that law as meaning not only that qualified blacks could not be turned away but that industry must in fact employ a percentage of blacks proportionate to their population — qualified or not.

Absurd as it sounds, will we next face similar court orders that coal mines must employ a percentage of women miners? Or that a proportion of women parallel to their proportion of the population must be employed in every occupation?

Next season's Green Bay Packers would be more than half girls.

This is not intended to be facetious. You and I know that women have been discriminated against more than has any other segment of our population. Rarely if ever do they get equal pay for equal work.

In some courts in some states in some ways they have lesser rights.

But some laws protect certain rights which are — and I think should be — reserved for women.

One congresswoman did not vote for this amendment. Rep. Leonor Sullivan (D-Mo.) said it would strip women of too many protections which the law now provides.

Maybe Mrs. Sullivan and Paul Harvey are, as accused by some, trying to hold back the dawn. Are we, really?

Gradually — perhaps too gradually — the law has been recognizing and implementing the emancipation of historically discriminated-against Americans.

But when we confused "equal rights" with "equality" the law decreed — male and female — there is no difference any more.

And if that's true, it's no sunrise; it's a sunset.

Competition in Death

Recent traffic deaths on ocean beaches have created fear that these may soon be taking more lives than the dreaded ocean undertow.

As a result, regardless of what happens to seacoast management, there will be a concerted effort to close all ocean beaches motor vehicle traffic.

This would involve removing the vehicle from the state highway system. They can't be closed permanently to motor vehicle traffic without legislation repealing the law which classifies the beaches as state highways.

If adequate accesses and adjacent parking can be provided, the legislation will have the Governor's full support. Even if these can't be provided immediately, it is unlikely that the chief executive will oppose the closure.

Highway and Ecology

Legislation is being prepared by the staff of the newly-established Department of Ecology which probably will provide new ulcers for the highway builders.

It would give the Department of Ecology a voice in the routing of new state highway construction.

The department wouldn't be granted veto powers over the Highway Commission, but the highway builders usually oppose any legislation which might even hint of restrictions.

The new department's director, John Biggs, believes such legislation could avoid controversies such as have developed over Interstate 90.

The proposed legislation also would give the department a voice in the location of future power transmission lines.

Long Time Coming

The state's criminal code, which has been on the books since 1909, may be in for its first complete revision in the 1971 Legislature.

A citizens' advisory committee is nearing completion of its draft of a proposed new code and will hold its final meeting on September 12 and 13.

The revised code will then be submitted for the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council for approval.

Some drastic revisions are expected. Because many could be highly controversial, it is unlikely that the proposed new code will be unveiled for public perusal until after the November 3 general election.

budget provided by the County Commissioners.

The expanded reappraisal program, authorized by the State Legislature, will more equitably cause owners of taxable property to pay taxes in relation to the value of their holdings.

During the past few years, most of the records of the office have been computerized, and future plans entail greater use of this effective management tool in controlling the quantity and quality of appraisals.

All appraisers of the office have passed the State Department of Personnel qualifying examinations for their respective positions.

Prior to serving as your Assessor, I have held the elective positions of County Clerk, Tacoma City Controller, and Tacoma Commissioner of Public Finance.

These broad areas of proven honest and effective public service are the best evidence possible to assure you of continued competency in the office of County Assessor.

In addition to public service, I hold membership in the Elks, the Eagles, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Order of the Eastern Star, Masonic bodies, Affili Shrine and Washington State Assessors' Association.

I earnestly request your support for re-election to the office of Pierce County Assessor.

Teachers Being Taught

The Gesell Institute of Child Development is helping teachers solve their problems. Just exactly how does and should a school rate its students? According to Dr. Francis Ilg, "Too many schools are fitting the child to the pants instead of the pants to the child. In our research," continues Dr. ILG, "we've found that only 25 per cent of all school children fit those pants. Fifty per cent have a slightly 'tight' fit, and 25 per cent of the children are bursting the seams of their pants. They just do not fit."

"Children readily learn and their speed of learning is most fascinating," Dr. Ilg remarked. They must be given the proper environment. When a child is ready to learn, there is no stopping him — he learns FAST. The main factor is starting him at the right place, and he cannot help but stay in that place while growing in his knowledge.

Most children are placed according to either chronological age or IQ. Ignored is the child's maturity or his "behavior age". This latter is what determines if the child will perform according to his ability or not. If not, the child suffers. He does not adjust to school; he is frustrated, humiliated, because he knows he is not doing his best, he is unhappy. He is hindered in both capacity and desire. Eventually, if left in this stage, he learns to hate school. In life he will be accustomed to failure. The school system usually seems to feel he will eventually catch-up and that the stigma involved in being re-placed or held back will damage his character. So the child remains miserable.

The Gesell Institute was founded in 1950 by the staff of the Yale Clinic of Child Development in honor of the late Dr. Arnold Gesell, noted child specialist. Dr. Gesell received doctorates in Education, Psychology, and Medicine and started the Yale Clinic in 1911 to study educational systems and their effects on the child.

Dr. Ilg received her Bachelor of Arts from Wellesley College, her Doctorate of Medicine from Cornell Medical School. She interned at Saint Mary's Hospital for Children, New York, and was in residency in Pediatrics,

New England Hospital for Women and Children, Boston. She became immensely interested in treating the child before he became ill, either physically or mentally. "When a child has problems in school, his parents do not take him to a psychiatrist. But he needs help," stated Dr. Ilg. Dr. Ilg has researched both for the Ford Foundation and the Gesell Institute various school systems throughout the United States in New York, Connecticut, California, Vermont and Washington.

Dr. Ilg has just finished a teachers workshop in the Bethel School District. The purpose was mainly instructing elementary school teachers, to aid them in recognizing the possibility of a misplaced child and exactly how he can best be helped. This course will also aid the school in starting the child at the right time, saving a lot of future difficulty and problems for the child, parent, teacher, and school. The main text of the course in "School Readiness" by Dr. Frances Ilg and Dr. Louise Bates Ames, which helps explain the research findings of the Gesell Institute in correlation with their behavior testing.

Bethel's curriculum director, Dr. John Amend, administrative assistant to Dr. Gramman, made the arrangements for Dr. Ilg to conduct this valuable workshop in the Bethel School District and every school district in Pierce County had representatives in attendance. The feeling of the teachers participating was tremendous. In many instances it opened their eyes to problems they have been living with throughout their teaching experience.

Older Americans To Speak Out For Needs Of Elderly

Older residents of Pierce County will get their "day in court" at a special forum to be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 423 South "K" Street, Tacoma, Monday, September 21st. "This is one of 18 forums to be held throughout Washington during the week of September so to provide an opportunity for older persons to speak out and provide guidance for local, state and national action in the interest of older Americans," Frank C. Jackson, County Extension Chairman says.

The forums are one of several activities planned by the Washington State Council on Aging for the state's participation in and preparation for the White House Conference on Aging to be held in Washington, D.C., in November 1971. The first White House Conference on Aging was held in 1961.

Local forums in communities in the state are open to all, and Americans 60 or older especially are urged to attend, Jackson says. Ideas advanced in the local forums will lead to recommendations to be presented at the White House Conference in 1971.

A. A. Smick, Extension community development specialist at Washington State University, stresses the importance of older Americans attending the community forums to discuss their basic needs.

"About 20 million older citizens still face serious problems — almost one-fourth are poor, most are trapped by inflation in their fixed incomes and many must struggle in isolation against problems in health, housing, employment and retirement," Smick says.

Indian Dances

On August 29, 1970 the Puget Sound Indian Dance Club will present a program of authentic Indian Dances at the Memorial Gymnasium at Pacific Lutheran University. The Program starts at 7 p.m.

Indians throughout the United States and Canada will be participating and the public is invited to view some of the Champion Dancer's from various Tribes and Dance Clubs throughout the Northwest.

Miss Misty Comer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson of Federal Way has been selected Princess of the event. Misty is a Nez Perce Indian and a Junior at Mt. Rainier High School.

A $1.00 donation for adults and 50c for children will be used for operating expenses of the Club so we may be financially independent thru the next year.

Bethel School Board

by Roger Lincoln

Tuesday, August 18, was another beautiful day in a long series of beautiful days. On such a day it is quite hard for one to drag himself to a board meeting. However, we all did and the meeting started promptly at eight o'clock.

One of the first orders of business being a hearing of the audience wherein the question was raised as to the economy of demolishing the old frame building at Spanaway Grade School. It was again at this time pointed out this particular building was condemned by the State of Washington and that the school district had promised the state school superintendent's office that the building would be demolished.

In addition to this it presents a large liability on our insurance premium and couple all this with the fact that it is not economically feasible to remodel it either for classrooms or storage. We did at one time explore the cost of moving it but found this to be an economical disaster.

So, after all this conversation it seemed quite appropriate that we again accept bids for the demolition of the old eye sore, although it was not planned this way.

Agreement With Spanaway Water Company

We passed a resolution whereby we agreed to lease a twenty foot square portion of ground at each of the two new school sites to the Spanaway Water Company at no cost. They in return will furnish water to these schools at no cost to the district. This appeared to us to be an appropriate action in keeping with a policy of holding down costs wherever possible.

Driver's Education

We reviewed the responsibility and cost of our driver's education program and found we were going something in excess of $5,000.00 annually in the red on the program. This would amount to a net loss of approximately $19.42 per student that participated. The fee for such a program had been $12.50. We passed a resolution increasing the fee to twenty dollars. This will still leave us somewhat in the red, however, state laws being what they are and schools what they are, there is an obligation by the school to both the state and the public.

Kapowsin Addition

The architectural firm of Jacobson & Wall presented the advance preliminary design of the addition to Kapowsin Elementary School to the board for our approval, which we gave. This plan includes several classrooms and a resource center. (If you don't know what a resource center is, it's a library. I had to ask, too.) When completed, this will bring the Kapowsin facility to a full eighteen classrooms and make it a complete Elementary school. This will be the last addition ever.

Two Dollar Fee

It was brought to our attention that the fees charged students from kindergarten to the eighth grade very greatly from grade to grade and from school to school. These fees cover such items as Weekly Readers, workbooks, special papers, et cetera. They range from a low of about $1.50 to a high of approximately $5.00 in some cases. It was the feeling of the principals and administrators of the school district that a standardized two dollar fee per student would tend to be somewhat more fair and equitable to the student and less caotic to administer. The Board of Directors concurred.

Next Meeting

The next meeting will be at eight o'clock on September first in the board room in the administration building at Bethel High School. See you there.

(Switzerland —) Lots of boat rides on picturesque lakes. Extensive traveling on one of the most modern train systems in the world. Walks through narrow, side-walk-cafe-lined city streets. And, most important of all, a fantastic reception from musically sophisticated audiences.

These have been some of the experiences encountered by the 104-piece Tacoma Youth Symphony during the first several days of its 22-day stay in Switzerland.

The members of the Pierce and Thurston county area youth orchestra were treated by the National Swiss Tourist Agency to rides on several lakes and traveling was accomplished aboard the Swiss electrical railway system.

And, every day since the orchestra's arrival at Zurich on August 12, there always has been some time set aside so that the young musicians could wander through the bustling cities of Switzerland.

But, beyond a doubt, the most exciting experiences thus far have not occurred on lake boats, on the Swiss national trains or on the city streets, but rather in the concert halls.

Audiences in the cities of Biel and Interlaken were ecstatic over the orchestra's exceptional presentation of a very difficult but entertaining program. The Swiss audiences, which are constantly exposed to the finest in symphonic music, demanded that TYS Conductor C. Irvin Wright return to the podium and conduct the orchestra in an encore. The conductor and his young musicians readily obliged.

Adding to the gala occasion of performing in Biel and Interlaken was the presence of Alan Hovhanness, internationally recognized American composer who lives in Lucerne, Switzerland. His "Mysterious Mountain" Symphony No. 2 was one of the works on the TYS program and the Tacoma maestro made a point of having Hovhanness share the kudus from the audience.

Receiving special recognition from the audience was Kristin Schutte, 21-year-old solo violinist who excelled in her presentation of the very demanding allegro moderato from Tchaikovsky's Concerto in D. The night of the Biel performance happened to be a special occasion for Miss Schutte, a violin student at the University of Puget Sound. That was the day she turned 21. And, in the afternoon rehearsal prior to performing that evening in Biel's modernistic Kongresshaus, the orchestra accorded Miss Schutte an intentionally off-key rendition of "Happy Birthday."

In the orchestra from Parkland are Bill Breon, viola, and Elizabeth Breon, trumpet, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dick H. Breon, 205 S. 118th; Lark Dalton, French horn, and Sand Dalton, oboe, Rev. and Mrs. Morris V. Dalton, 864 S. 130th; Kristine Dorris, violin, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Dorris, 313 S. 118th; Randi Hansen, violin, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Hansen, 11516 Vickery Ave. E.; John Hilberg, tuba, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hilberg, 11707-34th Ave. E.; Becky Soukup, violin, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Soukup, 12901 S. A St.; and Turi Thompson, oboe, Rev. and Mrs. Erling C. Thompson, 420 121st St. S.

Next stop for the orchestra is the mountain ski resort of St. Moritz where the Tacoma group will participate in the two-week International Festival of Youth Orchestras. Along with orchestras from seven other countries, the TYS will receive expert instruction in orchestral, ensemble and solo performing.

Any instrumentalists interested in playing in the Tacoma Youth Symphony or the Tacoma Junior Symphony for the coming season, who are members of their own school performing groups, are eligible to audition. Auditions will be held in the downstairs rehearsal room in the Music Hall at UPS from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, September 12th.

STARK REALITY

by Herb Stark

Elmhurst Mutual Light and Water Company has a new business manager - Edwin Schlender. Ed, originally from the Northwest, (the Lake Quinalt area of the Olympic Peninsula), has spent nearly 12 years in some part of the electrical business.

He started as a lineman in Southern Idaho after getting out of the Air Force in 1958. He attended college at Idaho State and received his electrical engineering degree from Weaver State in Ogden, Utah.

Ed comes to Elmhurst from Heptner, Oregon, where he served as a systems engineer for two years. He, his wife, Maureen, and their three daughters, Marie, Teresa, and Dianna, live in Spanaway off 171st Street.

We welcome Ed and his family to the community and wish him well in the new position he has undertaken.

Edwin Schlender

Parkland Realtor Dick Devereaux caught a pair of whopping big, king salmon last Friday while fishing out of Westport. One, a 32 pounder and the other weighing 46 pounds was only a few inches longer than the first but its depth and width was much bigger, accounting for the difference in weight.

Dick enjoys fishing and making the visual observations and statistical comparisons of the difference in fish.

One Night At Practice

The Times Journal camera happened on the scene of the Franklin Pierce Cheerleaders practicing their cheers, so they were persuaded to line up for a picture.

Nothing much had been heard from this group in regard to the summer activities and the Cheerleaders Clinic in Ellensburg, probably because they only won a red and a white ribbon and didn't come back with a blue one. Actually they did very well. The red ribbon was for "Excellent" and for spirit and organization and the white ribbon, for "Outstanding," was for the spirit showed by the group. Pretty good for a brand new group of girls who started only last May, and were without a counselor all summer. Mrs. Nicholson, who had been the advisor for the cheerleaders for a number of years, and dearly loved by all the girls, had to move away the beginning of summer, so the girls were on their own.

They practice every night except Friday and Saturday. Most of them work during the summer at various jobs. Lynette Engebretson is on the fashion board for Rhodes Dept. Store and Paula Sahli, who was unable to be present for the picture, is on the fashion board for the Bon Marche.

The girls will be out selling Almond Roca soon-door to door, in school, and on Fridays at the banks in the area. They also plan to have a car-wash soon. These projects will help to raise money for any emergency expenses that might come up for the group.

Expect to hear a lot from the eight girls as the new school year begins with the football and sport activities. With their new advisor, Mrs. Whittaker, and the enthusiasm shown, no doubt next year they will win many awards.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Noisy Neighbors

Dear Miss Brookfield:

We moved into a new apartment recently. The construction work looks sturdy but it must be paper-thin. There's a couple upstairs, well into their fifties. At an hour when decent folks should be in bed, the ceiling sounds as if it is going to crash down on our heads. We don't know if they're moving furniture around or jogging through the apartment. We don't like to complain. Have you any suggestions?

M.C., Albany, N.Y.

Dear M.C.:

Yes. Go right ahead and complain to these "night birds" and, if that fails, complain to the landlord. If your talk with your upstairs neighbors is handled tactfully, you may be able to suggest that they carpet the apartment to deaden the sound.

Wife's Fads

Dear Miss Brookfield:

Are all women silly? Or is it just my wife and her friends? Everything that is new and fashionable my wife has to buy, even if it looks terrible. It's the same with fads. Now she's on an astrology kick. Last year it was something else. What next?

H.P., Bridgeport, Conn.

Dear H.P.:

If it's just for kicks, what's so terrible about it? But if she tells you she didn't cook dinner because "the stars said so," you've got a legitimate complaint. But in all fairness, before you call all women silly, consider that men, too, have their fads and fashions. How many men did you see with beards 20 years ago? Or colorful shirts and flowing ties?

Men have interests that leave the majority of women cold. How many women enjoy prizefights? Or playing for hours with model trains? We're not knocking either the sport or the interest (we can well understand any adult's fascination with miniatures, whether it's trains or doll house furniture). Just try to be a little tolerant of her harmless "kicks."

New Look

Dear Miss Brookfield:

When I look at the new fall styles I could scream. Young women can afford to wear the midi look and add 10 years. But not we older women. I'm not advocating minis. But isn't there a happy middle ground in hemlines? What are the fashion designers trying to do to us?

K.Y., Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear K.Y.:

I doubt that the designers are trying to "do" anything to us, except convince us to buy new wardrobes. This, of course, is tough on the budget-minded woman who has spent the last four years raising her hems and will probably spend the next four dropping them (if there is enough fabric left to do so). Either get out your sewing basket or stiffen your backbone and find a becoming length and stick to it. Or just wear pants-suits until the mini-versus-midi hassle is settled once and for all.

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help, write to Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Fashion Show News

The Parkland Jaycee Wives would like to thank all the wonderful people who helped their fashion show held last Saturday. Barlo's prepared a wonderful luncheon; J.C. Penney supplied all the back to school fashions and decorations. Door prizes were donated by Parkland Sports Center, Pay 'N Save,

Tacoma Organic Garden Club

Meetings will resume for the Tacoma Organic Garden Club on the first Thursday in September, September 3, 1970. The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. at the Fern Hill Branch Library, South 84th and Yakima.

Their meetings are open to the public and both men and women are welcome in this club. Meetings are always the first Thursday of each month. They welcome people in the county who are aware of certain problems in their particular district and wish to discuss it with the group. Some may have solutions to offer and many things can be accomplished through a group such as this.

This month's meeting is about leaves — don't burn your leaves! Come down to the meeting and find out what to do with leaves, it may be money in your pocket and better care of your yard. Don't pollute the air by burning your leaves!

Also this month the club is honoring four 12 year old boys who have been working in their area for two years, keeping several vacant lots clean and cleared for a neighborhood recreation area. They are: Kelly Kenyon, 6209 South Oakes, Denn Bowie, 2715 South 62nd, Kevin Moser, 6019 South Pine, and Duke Caywood, 6032 South Oakes. Many such people are working as individuals to keep our natural beauty. What can one person do? There are many things close around us that we can make better as just one person, or join a group and work together as this club is doing.

WELL BABY CLINIC

September 2, 1970, the first Wednesday of the month, starts a new season for the Well Baby Clinic, which will be held the first Wednesday of each month. The clinic will be at the Parkland Methodist Church, 122nd and E. Streets. Sponsored by the county and aided by the P.T.A. groups, they will be giving immunization shots to youngsters up to Kindergarten age. There will be a doctor in charge. Donations are accepted to help defray the costs.

Conquistadores

Los Conquistadores Club will meet Wednesday evening, September 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the Humane Society building, 2608 Center Street, Tacoma. Tom Morgan will speak and display several interesting Indian Artifacts. The coffee hostess will be Mrs. Michael Carney.

The next club trip will be in the Silverton area of Mount Baker National Forest, September 5, 6 and 7. All meetings and trips are open to the interested public.

ALMOST every year, one or more people die in the high country of the Northwest from what is called "exposure."

These people often have no injury, and in some cases they died sitting beside a trail with a sleeping bag and food in their packs, which could have saved their lives. Some of them were experienced in the outdoors.

Why did they die? The word "exposure" has no precise medical meaning. What caused many of these deaths is described by the term hypothermia.

Hypothermia means loss of body heat, or as Dr. Theodore G. Lathrop of Oregon City, Ore., says in a recently published book, "More precisely, the loss of heat from the body's inner core."

Hypothermia is an insidious condition and can creep up on one who is not familiar with its symptoms. It can kill even when the temperature of the surrounding air is well above freezing. This is because as your body loses heat, the blood vessels on the surface start to contract. This leads to the numbness we're all familiar with when our hands get cold. What's happening is that the blood vessels of the skin and the layers below that constrict, to preserve the heat of the body's central core.

As this continues and hypothermia becomes acute, it can result in uncontrolled shivering, followed by increasing clumsiness and loss of judgment and then a fairly rapid descent into unconsciousness and death.

This can happen with surprising speed. Wet cotton clothing and a brisk wind can draw enough heat from your body, even in weather that is above freezing, to bring on hypothermia and death. Dr. Lathrop's article is in a book entitled "Outdoor Living" which has been prepared as a public service by members of the Mountain Rescue Council.

Copies are available for $2.50 from the Tacoma Unit, Mountain Rescue Council, P.O. Box 696, Tacoma, Wash. 98401. The information in the book is eye-opening at times and could be a life saver.

THE faithfulness of a dog can be heartwarming.

A dog owner in Arizona realized this on a quail hunting trip when his golden retriever Ginger fell into an abandoned mine shaft.

The shaft was 110 feet deep. Ginger's master went for help and soon had the dog back up topside on solid ground. The dog was unharmed, but even more remarkable, Ginger still had a bird in her mouth.

On the other hand, a Pennsylvania trapper found a dog in one of his fox traps. Very gently, the trapper released the pooch. The dog sat down and licked his wounded paw for a couple of minutes.

Then he jumped up, bit the trapper and ran off. That's really biting the hand that frees you.

New Sanitary System

A home sanitary disposal plant to replace a cesspool or septic tank system has been developed.

The plant has a pollution reduction efficiency of up to 95 per cent — compared with 30 to 40 per cent provided by septic tanks, according to the spokesman for Environmental Services, Inc., of York, Penna.

The plant provides both primary and secondary treatment of home sanitary waste. It produces a clear, odorless effluent, says John W. Pike, ESI president, and does not require the extensive tile drains of a septic tank system. A household installation would cost between $2,500 and $2,700.

RUBBER TUBING PROTECTS LINE

IF YOU LIKE TO USE A SLIP SINKER FOR SALMON, A SMALL PIECE OF RUBBER TUBING CAN HELP PROTECT YOUR LINE. PLACE IT BETWEEN YOUR SINKER AND YOUR SWIVEL. THEN WHEN THE SINKER SLIDES DOWN THE LINE IT WON'T BANG AGAINST THE SWIVEL, POSSIBLY WEAKENING THE KNOT.

EVEN IF YOU USE A REGULAR CRESCENT SINKER, A BUMPER ON YOUR MAIN LINE, BETWEEN YOUR ROD'S TOP GUIDE AND YOUR SWIVEL CAN KEEP YOU FROM REELING THE SWIVEL INTO THE GUIDE. FISH HAVE BEEN LOST WHEN THIS HAPPENED AND THE SWIVEL HUNG UP IN THE GUIDE.

SOME FISHERMEN SWEAR BY SLIP SINKERS, OTHERS WON'T TOUCH THEM. THEY DO LET YOU PUT A SINKER A LONG WAY BACK FROM BAIT OR LURE WITHOUT LANDING PROBLEMS OF LONG LEADERS.

Knight Gridders Report Aug. 28

It's beginning to sound a lot like football on the Pacific Lutheran University campus.

Clattering of compact universal gym weight training equipment strained to its ultimate capacity by a band of Tacoma-based Knight fitness filberts — incessant whirring of Coach Carlson's movie projector with fragile films of the 1969 games surviving more re-runs than the late TV shows — panting linemen of ample avoirdupois attempting to crack the 6-minute mile — football is in the air.

It will look like football on August 28 when 50 athletes report to Coach Roy Carlson to receive uniforms and equipment, dorm assignments, and an inspirational message from the mentor who is only two victories shy of being the winningest PLU coach since the days of Cliff Olson.

With the preliminaries behind them, the squad, possibly the largest in number during the Carlson tenure, will begin a vigorous drill schedule August 29, two-day workouts for linemen and thrice daily for the backs in preparation for the September 19 home opener with Whitworth.

Defending their corner on the Northwest Conference crown, the Knights, with 20 lettermen returning, are long on offensive backs, lean on linemen, and will attempt to fill the holes with transfers and frosh prospects.

Tacoma Men Serving On Alaska Cutter

(JUNEAU) — Three Tacoma men, who had never met each other before they joined the Coast Guard, are serving together here as crewmen on the Coast Guard cutter Sweetbrier.

They are: Seaman Thomas R. Reed, 19, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl W. Reed of 4717 Waller Rd.; Seaman Apprentice Wayne K. Morris, 20, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Morris, of 6334 — 120th SW; and, Fireman Apprentice Michael L. Engel, 19, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Engel, of 1444 E. Fairbanks.

The Sweetbrier is a 180-ft. seagoing buoy tender which operates primarily in the waters of Southeastern Alaska. Her duties include the maintenance of buoys, lighted shore aids to navigation and daybeacons, and support of isolated, manned Coast Guard light stations.

The ship is also available for any search and rescue work which might arise either while she is underway tending aids to navigation or in port.

Boy Scout Troop Added

MCCORD AFB, Wash. (MAC) — A new Boy Scout troop will be created here Sept. 1 to meet increasing participation in the scouting program.

Sponsored by the 318th Fighter Interceptor Squadron, Troop 341 will be open to Webblows, graduates of Cub Scouts. The program is open to all boys between the ages of 11-17.

The new troop's scoutmaster will be Staff Sergeant Jack E. Turner, and Technical Sergeant Richard F. Whitney will be his assistant. According to Sergeant Turner, the program provides such activities as camping, hiking, field trips and community service projects.

Boys interested in joining the troop, or anybody desiring to work with the program, can call Sergeant Turner at 984-2983.

Evergreen Speedway At Spanaway

Because the Snohomish County Fair is taking over the entire Fairgrounds, in Monroe, for ten days, the regular Evergreen Speedway promoter, Jack McIntosh is moving his highly successful operation to Spanaway Speedway for a one day stand. Sunday Aug. 30.

"I am very pleased, and proud, to be able to bring the West Coast Grand Nationals to Tacoma," McIntosh said. The name West Coast Grand Nationals is new, but it still means 1968 thru 1970 late model stock cars. It brings drivers like Jack McCoy, Ray Elder, Frank James and Jerry Oliver to Spanaway, South of Tacoma, for the first time in many years. Time trials are slated to begin at 1:30 with racing at 3.

Don Hall is recognized as one of the best super stock drivers in the Tacoma area. The former track champion at Spanaway Speedway will receive ample opportunity to see just how good he is when he tangles with the touring Grand National NASCAR invaders for the 150 lap main event Sunday, Aug. 30.

Hall is expected to drive a 1967 Chevle in his challenge against the Californians. He was Spanaway track champion in 1968. Other local entries are expected also.

Elder, a cotton farmer from Caruthers, Calif. is the defending late model champ. He nosed out McCoy of Modesto, Calif., in the points battle last year and the two are running strongly again this season. Both drive 1969 Dodge Chargers.

Dick Bown, whose yellow 1970 Plymouth Super Bird ran away with the main event victory at Evergreen Speedway, in Monroe, July 4, has returned from a trip to the deep South for races against the Grand National drivers and will be at Spanaway.

Bown, from Portland, is one of the top stock car drivers in the Northwest. A fast field is guaranteed for the first trip, in a long time, to Spanaway for the NASCAR late model stock cars. Come and see the cars that race at Daytona and Riverside.

Javelin Or Grenade Not Much Difference

FORT LEWIS, WASH. — Ed Morland's strong right arm has received considerable attention since he's been in the Army. The Viet Cong feared it, world javelin throwers respect it, and pro baseball teams want it.

Because, whether he tosses a hand grenade, a baseball or a javelin, he can throw it about as far, straight, and fast as anyone around.

He always excelled in the javelin. He came into the service in 1967 holding the junior collegiate record with a throw of over 230 feet. But, after basic training, Uncle Sam had other ideas for the powerful hurler and sent him off to Vietnam.

Once in combat, his tossing talent was soon put to use.

"It all started," Morland recalls, "when a sniper began taking pots shots into our base camp. Problem was, he was too close for mortar attacks, and the first sergeant said he was too far away for grenades.

"I asked him if I could give it a try anyway."

Morland then picked up a grenade and proceeded to fire it the length of a football field to score a direct hit.

Little wonder he quickly picked up the title of "human mortar." "Before I left the country," Morland said, "I was carrying a whole bag of grenades with me wherever I went. I had to do all throwing for our company.

In the process, he earned himself a Purple Heart and a Bronze Star with "V" device.

Once back in the states, he was ready to find other uses for his arm. Most attention has gone to the javelin.

He is the first to admit that all the grenade throwing has paid off. He's upped his junior college record by more than 20 feet, claiming a personal best of 254 feet.

After making the All-Army Track and Field Team last March, he won the Southern Pacific AAU meet and placed ninth in the National AAU meet.

He made the Army proud this June with a second place finish against the world's best military throwers competing for the CISM (Conseil International du Sport Militaire) crown in Italy.

Looking to the future,

A filing cabinet has been defined as a system for losing things alphabetically. — Wm. R. Davis, The Three Forks (Mont.) Herald.

Morland hopes to return to school for his remaining two years of eligibility. The list of colleges who want him reads like a Who's Who of American universities. But not only for his javelin abilities. He scored 45 points for Fort Lewis in the Sixth Army Basketball Championships. Not to mention his brief stint with the Madigan Baseball team where he was recognized by the pro scouts. During his "spare" time, he managed to build quite a reputation as a formidable end in intramural football.

Officials at one local college, for example, are pleading with him to go to their school and "major" in four sports.

But, Morland says his future will fall with either the javelin or the pros. The lure of big-time baseball attracts the 22 year-old athlete who recently married his high school sweetheart.

Morland has his eyes on 1972. The next Olympic games. He just came back to Fort Lewis from an Olympic training camp where the nation's best in the hammer throw, discus, shot put and, naturally, the javelin spent a few weeks toughening up.

All of the coaches said he had lots of natural ability, and with an arm like his he shouldn't have any trouble making the Olympics.

This doesn't come as any big surprise to Morland, however, who claims his Kansas childhood on a farm is the major cause for his success. "I'm just a country boy and got whatever strength I have from pitching hay."

Jim Lane Benefit

SPANAWAY - One of the biggest events ever scheduled at Spanaway Speedway, the NASCAR Western Grand Nationals for late model stocks, will be held this Sunday, August 30th. Some of the name drivers expected to put in an appearance include Jack McCoy in his Hilton Charger, Ray Elder, Dick Down and Scotty Cain.

At press time, three regular A.R.I. chauffers were making plans to challenge the newer equipment by modifying their superstocks. Included in the group are Don Hall, Ron Eaton and Jackie Kuper.

Saturday evening will see another full slate of the popular superstocks, including 50 lap mains for both "A" and double "A" classes.

In last week's program, Rick Brock made a shambles of the class "A" feature, taking over the lead at the 20th lap and easily keeping his competition in check the rest of the way. Frank Cey chased the Sunset Chev special across the finish line, with Ron Eaton nabbing a 3rd.

Another old favorite came through in the 50 lap "A" main, as Bruce Linder brought his number 4 Dean's Tavern special in ahead of Vaughn Cress and Ken Longley.

Don Hall returned to the asphalt wars only to become a victim of fate in the fast double "A" heat, Hall, trailing Longley who was driving the Issaquah 41 car, found himself sliding in water resulting in a blown radiator. Deep into the 2nd corner, Hall could never manage complete control and slammed his number 1 Chevelle into the gasoline alley bulkhead.

Earlier heat races saw Puyallup driver Clem Goddard take the first "AA" four lapper in his number 94 Firwood Tavern special.

A Home Safety Tip

New York Police advise that all residences should have stronger security measures including a double-lock for the entrance door, as well as a chain bolt lock. The chain should be short so that a hand cannot reach inside and be long enough for you to see the person at your door.

The Jim Lane Benefit Baseball Tournament was just as full of excitement as the season's play. Above we see the Cal Realty team concluding a double play in their game Saturday night against Hide-a-way Tavern.

Slow Pitch Tournament Big Success

The Jim Lane Benefit Tournament put on by Len's Haven Slow Pitch Team proved a big success in helping cut medical expenses which have mounted over the past six weeks.

A total of 32 men's teams from Aberdeen, Tacoma, Seattle, Kent and Hoquiam areas took part. Also, a total of eight women's teams played Saturday and Sunday. Both tournaments were played at Sprinker Recreation Center August 21, 22, and 23, and both were double elimination.

A fine team from Aberdeen by the name of Upland Cedar took first place. The rest of the teams in order as they finished were: 2nd place - Faylor's Sport Shop, 3rd - 2 J's Tavern, 4th - Federal Way, 5th - Hick's Sport Center, 6th - 48th Street Tavern, 7th - Lucky Lager, and 8th - Tact. In the Women's Tournament there were 2 trophies given: 1st place - McKnight's Foods and 2nd - Noel's Restaurant.

Jim Bartle, Tournament Director and Len Knecht, sponsor for this tournament, reported that a total of about $1755 would be given to Jim to help toward his medical expenses. Len and all the members of the Slow-Pitch teams would like to give a special thanks to all the umpires who so generously donated their time and services in helping to make this benefit a successful one.

A new trophy added to Len's Havens team was the Team Sportmanship Award. Absher Construction was chosen the team with the best attitude on and off the field during the Tournament.

A special thanks goes to Clinton Hull Printing Co. for their donation of printing our programs. A fine job. We would like to thank the radio stations KTNT and KTAC for plugging our tournament.

Also, a special thanks to everyone who donated a trophy and to all who made it a point to come out and watch the games.

McKnight's Dumped Noel's To Win Jim Lane Tourney

McKnight's Foods came through the losers bracket to beat Noel's twice in a real fine tourney. The scores were 5 to 4 in 12 innings and 2 to 1 for the Title. Holly Roofing captured third place. Fine crowds were on hand for the three-day event held at Sprinker Field.

The Tourney was sponsored by Len's Haven of Parkland, with a big tip of the hat to Jim Bartel, the director of the affair. (Due to press time, other details are not available.)

Digging For Buried Cables?

L. M. Maxon, local PNB manager, today made a plea to people who may be undertaking any kind of digging operation to first check with the telephone company. Maxon reports that there recently has been a rash of telephone cables being dug up causing breakdowns in telephone communication.

Since the beginning of July there have been seven major incidents at such widely dispersed areas as Tacoma, Edwall, Warden, Hoodport, Bremerton and Seattle. Often times, particularly in smaller cities, police and fire departments or hospitals are without telephone service while around-the-clock restoration efforts are made.

"While underground cable is certainly much more aesthetic than overhead ones, it can cause additional problems — 'out of site, out of mind' cable lead people to forget that there may be a conduit running under their feet," he said.

The latest dig-up occurred in Bremerton on July 21 where 2,400 pairs of cable, affecting 4,000 telephones, were severed by a contracting firm. Major outages of this sort are unnecessary and can easily be avoided if contractors and the public will call us first so that we can pinpoint cable locations before digging begins he said.

2121 Dumped Elk Plain 8 to 3

Jo Kavanaugh's six-hitter and Eva Gordon's 3 big hits were all it took to do the job in the play off game. Sandy Kline's big homer for Elk Plain was the only offence the usually hard hitting Elk's could muster.

Real tight defence by the 2121 gal's was the key to the win. The Plain gals leaky play in the early innings set the game up for the fine 2121 team. The Elks led the league all season before being dumped by the fine Blue Babes to set up the play off game with the 2121 team.

The game being of great importance to both teams, fine sportsmanship was shown by both teams. The 2121 Tavern team had beaten the Elks early in the season (11 to 7) to show they are deserving champions.

Soprano Marni Nixon and the Bayanihan Dancers from the Philippines are among the five attractions offered during the 1970-71 Artist Series season at Pacific Lutheran University.

Reserve season tickets for the series, which also includes performances by pianist Lorin Hollander, Canadian pantomimist Claude-St. Denis and the Denver Symphony Orchestra, go on sale this week.

The ticket sales committee includes six members of the PLU Alumni Association, including Mrs. Iver Eliason, 909 130th S. Others are Mrs. Lennard Nelson, Lakewood, chairman; Mrs. Rick Daniels, Federal Way; and three Tacomans, Mrs. David Williams, Mrs. Donn Koessler and Mrs. Richard Londgren.

The alumni association is sponsoring the drive for the second year, according to Mrs. Nelson. Proceeds go to the Alumni Scholarship Fund, which provides eight scholarships annually for PLU students.

All performances will be held in Olson Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

According to Mrs. Nelson, reserve season tickets offer a one-third price reduction over single admission prices.

This season's first Artist Series production will feature the Bayanihan Dancers on Sept. 18. The company, which includes 27 young dancers and 12 musicians, has been called the Philippine Islands' most ravishingly beautiful dance company.

Bayanihan Dancers

Through folk dances and music, the Bayanihan company portrays the regional customs of its Arabic-Malayan-Spanish-American past, as well as those of the tribal peoples of the islands.

Marni Nixon, probably best known outside theatre circles as the beautiful dubbed voice of Audrey Hepburn in "My Fair Lady," performs at PLU Nov. 13.

Marni Nixon

During recent years her lyrical soprano voice has been dubbed for many prominent film actresses. Now she is emerging as one of the most versatile actress-singers in the theatrical and classical musical world. She is equally at home in the world of Bach and Mozart or in the music of contemporaries like Schoenberg and Webern, and has been reviewed as one of the most adroit comediennes on the operatic stage.

Piano virtuoso Lorin Hollander of New York, who appears at PLU Feb. 26, is a young man with a cause.

Many of his musical efforts have been intended to bring serious classical music to those publics who ordinarily wouldn't give it a chance. Often his concerts are presented in an extremely informal manner and attire in an

Motorcycling - Not Self Taught

Parkland Optomists began their first motorbike school last week. The youths are clustered around the vehicles with their instructors, Jim Malmquist, Cal Reister, and Sergeant Edmonds of the Pierce County Sheriffs Department.

The art of riding a motorcycle is always difficult to grasp. Many parents dread having to be the teachers for their youngsters because they aren't sure themselves how it should be done.

The Parkland Optomist's Club began a school last week instructing motorcycle enthusiasts on the proper technique. The school follows a pattern established by the motorcycle police in Los Angeles, California, for instructing their officers. Sergeant Edmonds of the Pierce County Sheriffs Department, as an experienced rider, is conducting the course with the help of Jim Malmquist and Cal Reister from the Optomists Club.

Any parent interested in having his teenager learn bike riding from the experts should get in touch with an Optomist through Adam's Place or Cycle Craft, Inc. (The Yamaha bikes used in the school are loaned by Mr. Bob Selden, owner of Cycle Craft.)

effort to eliminate the "formal concert syndrome."

Claude-St. Denis is Canada's leading mime - a great creator and performer in the ancient art of pantomime. Appearing at PLU March 10, he speaks the universal language of the silent gesture and the speechless expression.

Those who have seen his performances describe him as "brilliantly funny, wistful and deeply moving."

The Denver Symphony Orchestra, which appears here April 21, is currently one of the country's finest symphony orchestras. This season it will be heard by more than a quarter of a million people during a 125-concert nationwide tour.

Conductor and musical director Brian Priestman, in his first year with the orchestra, is a dynamic British-born maestro. He is the orchestra's fourth conductor since the organization first attained professional status in 1934.

Reserved season tickets may be obtained by calling members of the ticket committee or the PLU Alumni Office.

Fall Registration Begins At PLU

A little more than a week of summer remains before PLU resumes its fall schedule with registration of students Monday, Sept. 7 through Wednesday, Sept. 9. Classes begin Thursday, Sept. 10.

A full selection of courses is available for day, late afternoon or evening students in 25 areas of study.

Christian Science

Radical reliance on God's all-power which enabled Christ Jesus to heal physical, mental and social ills is attainable today by people of all nations and races and is explained in the Lesson-Sermon on "Christ Jesus" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, August 30.

One of the citations from Science and Healthy with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, reads:

"In healing the sick and sinning, Jesus elaborated the fact that the healing effect followed the understanding of the divine Principle and of the Christ-spirit which governed the corporeal Jesus. For this Principle there is no dynasty, no ecclesiastical monopoly."

The apostle Peter is quoted as authority for relying on the spiritual understanding of God taught by Jesus, "According as he divined power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue."

All are welcome to attend services beginning at 11 a.m. in All Christian Science Churches of Tacoma. ....

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Which Revolution Should We Have?

"Join the Revolution," shouts a banner headline in a campus-oriented publication.

"We are the revolutionaries," said the criminals who kidnapped Judge Harold J. Haley, Deputy District Attorney Gary W. Thomas, and three woman jurors from a San Rafael (Calif.) courtroom recently.

The judge and three of the kidnapers were killed, a short time later, in a brief but bloody gun battle as the criminals who called themselves revolutionaries were trying to get away—with their hostages—in a rented van. Stopped by police officers, they shot it out with tragic results.

Not Just Idle Talk

There is a great deal of talk, these days, about revolution.

There is more than talk. People have been killed, buildings have been bombed, other buildings have been burned to the ground.

Perhaps in an effort to justify some of these unjustifiable actions, some have been saying that Jesus was a revolutionary.

A church magazine advertisement for a book about Jesus asks the questions:

"Was He the apocalyptic 'Son of Man' or an existentialist rabbi? Was He an Essene-like teacher, a Nazarene scheming Messiah, or a parazaelot revolutionary?"

Some writers, noting that Jesus was often at odds with the religious leaders of His time, have declared that He was against the establishment, that He was really a revolutionary.

Was He a revolutionary?

The answer is "Yes"—but He was a revolutionary kind of revolutionary. He was not the kind of rebel who tries to force changes in society by using a gun or a sword—or by throwing a firebomb.

Those who misunderstand the mission of Jesus must ignore the obvious fact that He never attacked the government or did anything to disrupt the smooth functioning of a government-operated activities.

Revolution of the Spirit

His was a different kind of revolution—a revolution of the spirit.

This is the kind of revolution that Jesus came to bring about—a personal revolution so drastic and complete that Jesus spoke of it as being "born again."

Many religious leaders then could not understand it—or would not receive it. When Jesus told Nicodemus, "Ye must be born again," he asked "How can these things be?"

But some people did understand Jesus, and their lives were transformed—revolutionized.

The foul-mouthed fisherman, Peter, became a fiery evangelist who turned thousands from death to life.

Saul of Tarsus, who consented to the stoning of the martyr Stephen, met Christ and became the mighty Apostle Paul.

Thousands of lesser known—and unknown—men and women were immediately transformed by the power of Christ. Millions have since found the way to peace of mind in Him.

Yes, Jesus is a revolutionary. Those who walk with Him will testify that their lives have been completely revolutionized.

This is the kind of revolution that we need. Have you joined this revolution?

Senior Citizens Sponsor Meeting

A very interesting meeting is promised this month with reports and greetings from many foreign countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Olsen will tell about their trip to Russia and Finland, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Leraas about Sweden and Denmark, and Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Stein who traveled in Norway with the Choir of the West and will report about the choir and about Norway.

Miss Anna Marni Nielson will give the devotions with scripture. Refreshments will be served as usual.

New New New At Bethel

The Spanaway Jr. High School at 15701 East B Street, Tacoma Washington will open on Tuesday, September 1st in a new building, with a new staff, a new principal and vice-principal, and a new student body.

Karl Bond, the new principal who comes to the Northwest from Goodyear, Arizona, a community near Phoenix, has had many years of experience both as a teacher and an administrator. He admits to being new to this green Northwest area, but is not new to serving the needs of education.

This week principal and staff of the new school are attending a five day workshop in preparation for the opening of the new school. In addition to coping with the myriads of problems of organization, scheduling, assigning of students, distribution of books and supplies, the staff is busy with study and discussion about the role and responsibilities of the Jr. High School, the needs of young people of junior high school age, and of the best ways to organize and unify the staff to meet these needs.

They will also study and draw upon a report prepared by the Bethel Jr. High School teachers during the 1969-70 school year under the leadership of the principal, Mr. Green. The Bethel Jr. High School staff devoted the year to identification and definition of needs in the junior high school age young people, to a study of new and promising programs elsewhere in the State and the Nation and to restructuring a program in the Bethel Jr. High School. The staff of the Spanaway Jr. High School will draw upon this report adapting it to the needs and possibilities of the new school.

Social Studies Committee Workshop

In another workshop this week, a dozen social studies teachers in the elementary schools are evaluating social studies text and materials and developing a guide for the social studies program in the Bethel Elementary Schools. This committee worked during last year under the Chairman, Mr. McAvoy, principal of Clover Creek School and Dr. John Amend, Administrative Assistant. This week they will devote themselves to examination of the social studies program recommended by the State in its Social Studies Guide, to further evaluation of text and materials, and to the preparation of materials and In-Service education programs for Bethel teachers during the ensuing school year.

Counselors Workshop

Counselors in the Jr. and Sr. High Schools of the Bethel District in cooperation with Puyallup, University Place and several other neighboring districts have just completed a one week workshop on counselling. The focus of the workshop was on the role and function of the guidance counselor, on the needs of high school students, and on certification requirements for counsellors and prospective In-Service programs.

REO Meeting Spanaway Firemen's Auxiliary

The REO Board of Trustees will hold their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, 11:45 a.m., September 2, 1970, at Barlo's Restaurant, 12221 Pacific Avenue, Parkland.

Agenda for this meeting will include new committee assignments; a reactivation of the Mobile Unit operating on a different type of schedule which will bring it more directly to the low income centers in the county; report on a new activity in the area of applicants filling out forms required for housing under the National Housing Act and Farmer's Home Administration; a report to be made on a study of transportation problems in the Peninsula Area; and a summary report on Youth Council activities.

The Spanaway Firemen's Auxiliary will hold their monthly meeting on Sept. 1st at 8:00 P.M. at the firehall on 163rd and Park Ave. The meeting will be conducted by the President Mrs. William Davis. She wishes to thank the committee who has been very busy during the summer serving refreshments to the firemen at the scene of the fires. They intend to continue this service.

Members are urged to bring a friend. All women in the district are cordially invited to join.

"The difference between a boutique and a store is plainly explained on the price tags."

AUGUST 19

The Parkland Fire Department answered a call on a grass fire yesterday at 3:52 p.m. It was on the dividing line between their department and that of the Spanaway Fire Department. The Spanaway Fire Department also answered the call and together they controlled the fire and protected the houses around, so no extensive damage was done. When they arrived on the scene there were three sheds already in flames. This was at 15016 18th Ave. Court East. Firemen were there until 7:05 p.m.

Spanaway also had a grass brush fire at 1 p.m. yesterday two miles west of Pacific Avenue on 176th. At 1:47 p.m. They gave mutual aid to Graham for a grass fire on the Orting-Prairie Road.

AUGUST 20

At 11:52 last night Spanaway firemen responded to a brush fire which resulted in quite a spectacular blaze when the fire caught a good-sized fir tree and burned furiously. Firemen were able to contain the fire and other than the burnt tree, there was no damage.

At 11:53 a.m. yesterday, Spanaway firemen responded to an alarm on South 176th St. to Dr. Ober's property where about two acres were burned. Firemen spent most of the afternoon cleaning up the burned area to avoid any later problems.

A first aid call was made to the Spanaway Fire Station at about 1:30 yesterday by a youth who had a bad spill from his bicycle.

Graham Firemen responded to an alarm at 7 a.m. this morning to 240th and Orting-Kapowsin Highway to a brush fire along the railroad tracks. The fire was a rekindle of a fire which started yesterday about 4:10 p.m. In each instance the fire was quickly extinguished and there was no damage to report.

AUGUST 21

Parkland Fire Department reports a small grass fire yesterday at 5:23 p.m. at 97th and Ainsworth, no damage done.

Spanaway Fire Department had five fires yesterday. At 1:22 p.m. a grass fire started by kids at 170th and 18 Ave. East. 1:28 p.m. at Mitchell Road and Military Reservation, a grass brush fire. At 4:35 p.m. a barn fire which started grass on fire also at 148th and Pacific Avenue. About 20 per cent of the barn was burned. At 5:45 p.m. at 158th and 26 Ave. E. a small grass fire which was already being put out by a garden hose. And at 9:57 p.m. a grass fire along the road at Spanaway Loop Road and Military Road.

The Graham Fire Department had three fires yesterday. At 2:30 p.m. at 224th near Mc Gee's guest home and the Railroad Tracks there was a grass fire at 224th St. East and 82nd Ave. E. At 4:59 p.m. and at 5:18 p.m. at the Eustis-Hunt Road and 204th St. East.

AUGUST 24

The Mobil Service Station at 112th and Pacific had a spectacular blaze at 3:45 p.m. Saturday. A car rolled away from the station hitting one of the gas pumps, knocking it over and setting it on fire. The attendants had it pretty well under control with extinguishers when firemen arrived. There was about $500. damage.

Sunday at 3:20 p.m. they had a trash fire, no damage.

The State Department of Natural Resources were busy over the weekend with fires. One was a 17 acres fire near Rapijohn Lake. A house fire started it off. The house was saved, but the fire started into the grass and trees. The fire was first reported at 3 p.m. Saturday and was under control at 11 p.m. They are still mopping up, however, and making sure it is entirely out so it won't start up again.

Northwest Flyer Welcomes New Owner

bugs bite bugs

Monsters From Mars?

The Northwest Flyer, an aviation paper produced in Parkland, has been sold, Editor-Publisher Jack Brown has revealed. The new owner is Dave Sclair, veteran newspaper publisher and editor.

Brown, who founded the Northwest Flyer 12 years ago, will remain on the staff of the newspaper as associated editor and an advertising representative. He intends to continue working for the continued growth and development of general aviation in the Northwest. All other members of the staff will continue in their same positions.

Sclair, who is married and has a daughter, Robyn Sun (age 10) and an 8-week-old son, Benjamin Craig, is a native of Maine. He started his newspaper career there on the Bangor (Maine) Evening Commercial. He was employed as a reporter-photographer for the Newton (Iowa) Daily News for two years, the Current-Argus of Carlsbad, New Mexico, and state editor of the Odessa (Texas) American.

Moving to Kermit, Texas, he assumed duties as news editor of the semi-weekly Winkler County News. During his tenure at Kermit, which lasted five years, Sclair converted the newspaper to offset and then to a daily operation. He sold his interest in 1965 and purchased the Edmond

Dave Sclair

(Oklahoma) Sun and Booster. These he also converted to offset and has operated them since.

In August of 1969, Sclair started the OK Flyer, an aviation newspaper similar to the Northwest Flyer. Enjoying a rapid growth, the paper is now distributed throughout the southwestern part of the United States. Retaining the OK Flyer, the new publisher will be able to provide advertisers wider coverage if they so desire, and also give greater circulation to important special news events of the aviation world.

Certain mites of the insect world may offer a biological solution to the bark beetle problem wherever it occurs, and without the use of chemicals. Although a half dozen of these critters could fit on the head of a pin, electron microscope photographs make them appear like monsters from Mars. Thus states Dr. John C. Moser of the Southern Forest Experiment Station at Pineville, Louisiana.

Mites are natural enemies of highly destructive pine bark beetles, says Dr. Moser who is studying their life cycles in an attempt to effect a natural control of bark beetles.

Unlike some parasitic insects which attack only adult forms, these freeloaders feed on the larval, pupal or egg stages. Adult beetles provide only transportation for these wingless creatures as the latter ride the beetles from tree to tree.

One unnamed variety feeds only one bark beetle species, but feeds on the broods of any type of bark beetle, including the notorious southern pine beetle.

Another attacking the elm bark beetle will ride only members of the genus Scolytis, but will eat the broods of the southern pine beetle — genus Dendroctonus. So, while their riding habits are fussy their appetites are not.

Moser says, one approach would be to see if the forest environment can be modified to help mites kill more beetles. Another way would be to learn if there are similar mites in other parts of the world (such as the PNW) that might supplement the work of those in southern forests. If so, they might be reared in large numbers and released in areas where natural mite populations have not built up to effective proportions.

Eatonville Board Meeting

The regular September, 1970, meeting of the Eatonville School District No. 404 Board of Directors will be held on Tuesday, September 8, 1970, at 8:00 P.M. in the Eatonville High School faculty room. This meeting has been postponed from the usual first Monday of the month because of the conflict with Labor Day.

Lac De Puddle Returns To WSU

PULLMAN, Wash., (Special) — Washington State University's historic "Lac de Puddle," blasted out of existence when Bohler gymnasium was built more than 40 years, has a successor.

Lac de Puddle II, which formed last winter about a mile from its predecessor, rapidly is becoming a popular recreation and nature study site for both the university and local residents.

The pond, which is about two acres in size and six to eight feet deep, was formed almost by accident at the corner of Valley Road and Orchard Drive, about a mile northeast of old Lac de Puddle, and away from the main campus area.

Last winter when work began on some apartments, it appeared that 10,000 yards of clay would have to be disposed of from the construction. The contractor scraped topsoil from a swale where the lake now lies, with the intent of stockpiling the rich loam for future playfields.

But before the clay could be dumped, heavy early winter rains brought natural runoff that quickly flooded the excavation. Then it froze and became an ice skating site, with some help from WSU's Physical Plant division and the ASWSU recreation staff.

As spring came, the pond drew casual picnickers, hikers, bird lovers and a few swimmers.

Meanwhile, residents of the neighborhood and university officials, thinking along the same lines, became enthusiastic over the pond's possibilities.

Dr. Irven Buss, professor of wildlife biology at WSU who lives near the lake, obtained some 300 signatures from his neighbors on a petition asking the university to retain the pond as a natural site and recreation spot.

Work is underway now by the university to landscape the area and keep it as a simple natural site, devoid of manmade features except possibly a fence to keep out motorcycles. Sand which blew in from the adjacent playfield has created a beach on the west side, and two springs feed the pond. Some consideration is being given to sealing it to avoid seepage, and access to a city water line is available in case evaporation threatens the water supply.

Latest activity at the pond is sailboating — undoubtedly the first time for the sport within the confines of arid, hilly Pullman.

Buss is enthusiastic over the area, which has become a birdwatcher's paradise. Several WSU ornithology classes visited it last spring, and the WSU professor said he has seen at least seven species of duck, 31 at one time; shore birds, gulls — including the rare Bonaparte gull — western sandpipers, coots and swallows. Other wildlife includes muskrats and frogs.

"This is an example of working with nature instead of fighting it," said Buss, who recalls that the area was a cattail marsh 20 years ago.

The story of "Lac de Puddle I" is as fascinating as that of the newer one.

The history, "E.O. Holland and the State College of Washington 1916-1944" by WSU Professor Emeritus William M. Landeen, relates that when Bohler gymnasium was being built in the late 20's the contractor found it "extremely difficult to put in adequate footings because of seepage from the nearby 'Lac de Puddle,' officially known as Silver Lake."

The pond, on the site of what is now Bailey Baseball Field, made building operations difficult and hazardous and both the architect and the contractor wanted it emptied.

"However, it was an ideal place for frogs, mosquitoes, and sundry other creatures, and some people on the campus were strongly opposed to destroying a favorite haunt," Landeen relates.

President Holland "hesitated as the talk on both sides grew in intensity. Finally, he called in the architect one evening and told him to dynamite the banks of Silver Lake. Then he quickly left town while tempers cooled," the author said.

No Rain Dry Grass

Dried-out pastures are causing problems for Pierce County livestock owners according to County agent Eddie Thomason. This is especially true of small part-time operators who raise a few replacement or stocker calves and traditionally rely heavy on summer pasture for their main source of nutrients. It's only natural that animals prefer green forage and this is causing animals to eat some of our poisonous plants that are still green, says Thomason.

Tansy and bracken fern are usually incriminated but, according to Thomason, there are other more toxic plants to be concerned about at the present time. The now ripening Flat pea seeds are highly toxic. Three of four stricken yearling Holstein heifers in Puyallup's Edgewood area died last week, as the result of eating toxic seeds. At first thought to be caused by the Flat pea, it now seems that consumption of clippings (seeds) from an ornamental Goldenchain tree are to blame. They, too, are highly toxic.

Thomason cautions all livestock owners to provide supplemental feed and to check pastures carefully for poisonous plants.

FOREST FACTS

by Bob Bradley, Pierce County Extension Forester

Ground cover under virgin or very old timber usually consists of a thick layer of humus, composed of needles, leaves and twigs in various stages of decomposition. In addition to having great water holding capacity, this layer also contains many nutrients necessary for growth, plus various forms of very primitive animal and plant life which help the tree to absorb these nutrients.

Some years ago I observed a very sickly looking pine plantation on worn out agricultural land. The needles were short, sparse and poor in color, and the height growth was minimal. In addition to this, there was no noticeable humus layer to the soil.

In order to determine some basic needs, three blocks of equal size were laid out in the plantation. Number one was left untreated as a control; number two received a mulch of inert material, such as glass wool, to conserve moisture; number three received a layer of slash from a logging operation.

Blocks one and two showed no change in appearance, despite the moisture holding ability of the glass wool in block two. Trees in block three, however, picked up noticeably in growth and the needles lengthened and darkened in color and grew luxuriantly. The slash had disintegrated and returned its nutrients to the soil, which is what the trees had needed.

Other experiments involving the addition of organic material have also shown in the nutritional benefits of this material, as was demonstrated by A. I. McComb of Ames, Iowa. He mulched coniferous seedlings with pine needles from a nearby vigorous young plantation of red and white pine. Results showed a pronounced increase in growth and vigor in many of the seedlings

It seems that chefs are not the only persons giving out recipes these days. Foresters seem to have a few of their own. One such person is Rolf Schaefer, a West German Forester.

Apparently deer the world over do a little chomping on "chosen" trees, depending upon their appetite and inclinations. Like people, some may be total abstainers, others like a little nip once in a while, and still others go on a "tree binge" now and then. Nonetheless, a deer that imbibes heavily can do quite a little damage to a Christmas tree plantation.

While Herr Schaefer was very careful not to make any great claims for his recipes, he says the following recipe has been used quite successfully by the Southwest German Forest Service. It is called Ravensburger Verbiss Schuttmittel - (RVS), which translates to Ravensburg preservative against browsing. Ja wohl!

At any rate, it is paste of cream-like consistency containing some hard grained material. When smeared on, it stays for a long time with good repellent effect.

It contains no poisonous materials, washes off easily and is not damaging to plant tissue. There is however, some indication that growth of terminal shoots has been slowed down from a thick application over the terminal bud.

Since materials used are not available here, a very similar and equally effective mixture which can be applied with a hand pump is suggested by Graumann. 90-100 pounds of slaked lime, 1.6 gallons petroleum oil, 1.3 pounds of adhesive (presumably something like methocel rhoplex or Dow latex), mixed with 13.2 gallons of water will make 26.4 gallons of solution at a very moderate cost.

In a German test, three men with hand pumps treated 725,000 small spruce trees in ten weeks, averaging 1.4 hours per 1000 trees. Sprayed terminal buds were untouched, even though some side foliage was browsed.

A similar home-made recipe calls for 66 pounds of slake lime powder, 44 pounds of sand, 1.1 gallons of linseed oil, 0.4 gallons animal oil, all mixed in 14.5 gallons of water.

Evan Kast

Position No. 2, Republican, State Representative, 29th District

I have operated a business in Elbe for the past nine years, have served as commissioner on the Elbe water control board, and I am presently Master of the Masonic Lodge.

For several years I have been active in general aviation, as a licensed private pilot, have flown numerous search, rescue, and investigative flights for the Pierce County Sheriff's office. I have served on the Demolay Advisory Board, and was active in the Boy Scout movement, prior to the moving to the Pierce County area.

One of my prime motivations for seeking this office, is to stop the confiscatory taxes, that will result from the property re-appraisal underway at this time. I will do everything in my power to put taxation on an equitable basis. Land has to be taxed on a use basis, determined

Firearm Safety Classes Start

For the next five Saturdays there will be a Firearm Safety Class at the Spanaway Grade School, 165th and Pacific Avenue. Each Saturday is a complete class and certificates will be given to those who pass the class. The classes start at 8:45 a.m. and last until 3:30. They are for anyone under 18, parents are urged to attend with the youngster, and all youngsters under 11 should definitely be accompanied by a parent. All boys and girls under 18 must have a certificate before they apply for a hunting license.

There is no charge for these classes. Boys and girls are required to bring pencils.

Those who have attended a class in firearm safety before are urged to attend as a refresher. This information may save their lives.

by the income derived from the land, not because someone puts a million dollar business next door, or develops land into an expensive recreational development.

I further plan to block any unnecessary, and superfluous government spending.

I will support improved law enforcement, and will try to promote more efficient means of handling criminal cases, thereby improving the law enforcement already serving us.

I am a strong supporter of education, and feel there will be an expanding need for finances in this field. I feel that sports, and musical education are an important part of the curriculum, however I strongly oppose spending thousands of dollars for architects to build spectacular show pieces, for the prestige of certain school districts. In other words, I would rather spend our tax dollars inside the schools on quality education.

I am a staunch conservationist, and will strive to keep our natural resources in a condition future generations will be able to enjoy.

6 1/2% of 1,000 Attend Legion Installation

Larry Johnson, the American Legion's 1970-71 4th District Commander headed the impressive installation team last Saturday night at the Spanaway Post No. 118. William Little of Spanaway was installed as Jr. Vice Commander.

Newly installed Commander, James "Rocky" Smith, expressed his appreciation to all who showed their support by their attendance.

The legion post holds their meeting every 2nd and 4th Tuesdays at the post home located at 416 So. 160th. Commander Smith invites the public to attend and asks that anyone knowing of a veteran or veteran's family needing help of any kind to notify the post.

Maurice Raymond

Pierce County Treasurer, statement as candidate for re-election.

"I shall ask the citizens of Pierce County to again elect me to the office of County Treasurer, an office which normally does not stir up much pre-election excitement in the minds of voters. They probably have no occasion to hear of this official except at tax-paying time — and would rather not hear from him then!

"However, if you're a taxpayer, it is your money which is handled in the Treasurer's office, so this job is important to you. As your County Treasurer, I have initiated many improvements which are of benefit to the taxpayer, and have increased the efficiency of the office.

During the 1967 and 1969 Legislatures, I successfully sought changes to improve and modernize laws affecting County Treasurers, and was active in tax relief for senior citizens on low fixed incomes."

Prior to leaving the office of Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Harry Sprinker paid the following tribute to Maurice Raymond: "I want you to know that while my term of office as Commissioner was extended over a period of twenty years, I have never known a County Treasurer who has worked as hard for the interest of Pierce County as you have."

"I am grateful for the support thousands of citizens in Pierce County have given me for many years and will continue to give conscientious service to all the people."

Toastmasters

By Robert C. Spivacke, Publicity

TOASTMASTERS INTERNATIONAL will help you gain new insights and skills in speech communications, leadership, conference and committee participation, group discussion, conversation, feedback and response, the art of listening and constructive evaluation.

The ability to communicate effectively has impressive advantages. The past president of US Steel, Charles W. Schwab, once said, "I'll pay more for a man's ability to speak and express himself than for any other quality he may possess."

Each Toastmaster's chapter, has an Educational Vice-President to set the schedule for each member. There is also an educational committee to help you get through your first few projects. You learn by doing. The Toastmasters Program has worked for over a million men, which is your best assurance that it will also work for you.

In Division I of Tacoma there are eleven clubs. One of those clubs happens to be the 12th oldest club in Toastmasters, Lucky 13, meeting every Wednesday, 7 p.m., at the Mutual Savings Bank on S. 38th. There are also two military clubs, or rather clubs on military installations, The Ft. Lewis Chapter, and the Starlifters at McChord.

Toastmasters is a program designed for every adult male. The men come from all walks of life, Air Force Staff Sergeants, bank presidents, and service station owners; the rich, middle-class, or the guy that is just making ends-meet. Toastmasters is for everyone. Give it some thought, Attend a Toastmasters meeting.

The bureaucratic imperative must sometimes give way before a higher, compassionate, humanistic imperative, one derived from man's legitimate needs and aspirations. — Max Levin, M.D., New York.

Ronald Hendry

Ronald Hendry, incumbent prosecuting attorney for Pierce County, has announced he will run for a second term in the upcoming Fall election. Hendry has been county prosecutor for the past four years since his election in 1966.

Hendry's experience and leadership as prosecutor are well known. He has been a resident of Pierce County for 26 years. His only absences were while he obtained his law degree at the University of Washington and served as a commissioned Air Force officer in Korea. Hendry successfully practiced as a private attorney before he became prosecutor, trying many cases in Washington courts, including the State Supreme Court. He was also attorney for the Town of Steilacoom for six years.

Hendry was recently appointed by the chief justice of the State Supreme Court to serve on the Judicial Council. The Council studies and determines legislative changes in the court system. He was appointed a member of the Urban Affairs Council by Governor Evans. The basic activities of the Urban Affairs group are to study key urban problems and recommend corrective legislation. He is also a member of the Regional Committee on Law and Justice, chairman of the Pierce County Committee on Law and Justice, member of the steering committee for the establishment of a statewide intelligence system to prevent crime, member of the board of trustees Washington State Association of County Officials and active in the Prosecuting Attorney's Association for Washington State. Other memberships include the American Trial Lawyers Association and Tacoma-Pierce County, Washington State and American Bar Associations.
