ANTONIO, JOSE, MANUEL AND MARIA LLORETT, who traveled from Cuba in an open 17 foot boat to reach freedom in the United States. They are being sponsored by the Fern Hill Methodist Church and presently are residing in a rent-free home furnished by Mrs. Kingsley Woodhead at 7922 East L. —Times Journal Photo

Refugees from the hardships and evils of Communism aren't the most common type of persons to be found in this area. Perhaps the most recent of these to arrive here and certainly among the most courageous are the members of the Antonio Llorett family from Cuba.

Under the sponsorship of the Fern Hill Methodist Church and the Rev. W. L. Johnson, Antonio and Maria Teresa Llorett and their two children, Jose 9 years old and Manuel, almost eight months old, arrived here from Florida June 6th.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about this warm-hearted, closely knit family is their method of escape from Castro-controlled Cuba. With their youngest child only five days old, Antonio Llorett rowed in an open 17 foot boat from a beach near Matanzas, Cuba to Key Largo, Florida.

Eight people were crowded into that small boat. Among the eight, only three were men. Of the three, one was ill with an attack of ulcers. The second was a seventeen year old member of Fidel's Militia from whom the boat had been "borrowed."

He and his three companions, who were left tied up on the beach, had been on patrol in their boat when it was "liberated." The third man in the escape party, Antonio Llorett, rowed five days and nights to reach the shores of freedom.

Their only provisions for the trip consisted of a two gallon can of water, which they used with sugar to hush the infant when it became hungry and restless, and a can of milk that was drank by the seventeen year old militiaman. No food was brought along as it was difficult to save when on meager rations and large packages would have put them under immediate suspicion enroute to the beach.

The escape itself came off so suddenly that the family was unable to gather and bring such items as birth certificates, marriage license, etc.

On the hazardous journey, the travelers encountered no Cuban Patrol boats, probably due to the fact that the boat they were in was a Cuban Patrol boat and the Militiaman was in uniform. A ship of foreign origin, thought to have been Dutch, turned their spotlight on them one night but offered no assistance. A Russian ship was sighted from an American airplane circling over it, but otherwise the ocean was empty.

When they neared Key Largo, Antonio Llorett fired several shots into the air from guns "liberated" from the Militiamen to attract attention of the many people on shore as he was literally worn out and one of his oars was broken and was useless. Either the people on shore thought the Llorett boat were fishermen and firing at sharks or could not hear them as they paid no attention. He rowed on in, tired, bedraggled and with only one oar in use. The baby was skin and bones and spent two months in the hospital. Now he is fat and as happy a baby as can be seen anywhere. The Militiaman was jailed as being a member of Castro's armed forces and it is thought that he was returned to Cuba.

Motivation for this not to pleasant boat ride, aside from the fact that life there wasn't the most stable, milk for five day old Manuel was becoming increasingly difficult to find and rather than watch their child slowly starve without being able to help him, they chose this way to make their bid for freedom and the United States.

While the Llorett's are able to speak and understand very little English, they make themselves quite clear on the point of being self-sufficient as soon as possible. In Cuba Mr. Llorett worked for a small electronics corporation repairing television sets and radios, but right now he is available for odd jobs, yard work, berry picking, etc. Mrs. Llorett is an accomplished seamstress and also wishes to take in ironing.

Nine year old Jose spent three months in the second grade in Miami and on all his school papers he has nothing to show but A's. He is picking up English rapidly but is still a bit shy in using it.

They are living at 7922 East L Street in a house given to them rent free by Mrs. Kingsley Woodhead until they can get on their feet.

Let's make our newcomers feel welcome and show them that our hearts are as big as our land.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a post card received from our local riders who are on their way to the World's Fair in New York via the back of a horse or two.

We have made a complete tour of the Pendleton Round-up Grounds. Some of the coaches and wagons we saw could not be replaced. The director of the Roundup was our guide. Some interesting things that have happened was when two of our horses laid down and tried to roll with the saddle on. Once I was on him when he tried this. The people have been just wonderful everywhere we go. We sign a lot of autographs and are welcome anywhere. Some of the kids think I look like Gabby Hayes with my beard.

Fund Opened To Aid Pony Accident Victim

A fund to aid in meeting the many medical expenses of Marion Crow, who suffered a fractured skull in a runaway pony accident June 4th has been set up and contributions may be left in the containers so marked which can be found at the Citizens State Bank, Park-N-Shop, and in all Summit View Stores. Or contributions may be sent directly to the fund, c/o Citizens State Bank.

Although some improvement in her condition has been noted, ten year old Marion Crow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Eaton, remains in serious condition and was still unconscious at Mary Bridge Children's Hospital on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eaton are taking turns sitting for eight hours with their daughter.

In a recent conversation with Mrs. Eaton, she remarked that Marion is now able to open one eye and looks from her mother to her nurse. The fact that Marion can move her eye at all is a small miracle in itself, as it had been thought that the nerves and muscles controlling such movement had been greatly impaired by the accident.

Now it is just a matter of waiting. When Marion regains consciousness, the first big step will have been taken. But until that time, the bills keep mounting and with each small improvement, hopes mount also. With the bills, come more worries for the Eatons, so help ease their worries and become a partner in helping Marion by contributing to the Marion Crow Fund.

Susan Sharp took first place in the Barrel Racing contest. Coming in second was Greg Bruhn and third was won by Merrienne McKay. Bare Back Pony Riding for 14 year olds and under was won by Larry Parson with Denny Rocca coming in second followed by Ray Parker in third.

Mike Holsten won the Bull riding contest. Steve Morish won second place with Riek Swain following in third. The Steer Riding contest was won by Allan Coats. Tom Parker was in second place with Susan McKay and Denny Rocca tying for third place.

Each winner was awarded an engraved belt buckle following the Rodeo.

A good time was had by all, and next year promises to be even better than this year, if such a thing is possible.

French Club For Local Pre-Teens Being Given

Children between the ages of 10 and 12 will this summer have an opportunity to be introduced to the French language through a French club for this age group. "Les Petits Amis Francaises." Slides of France will be shown.

The first meeting of the club will be on June 23, at 9:00 a.m. at the Schnackenberg residence, 1210 South Wheeler Street, Parkland, and from then until July 16, every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday morning for one hour, beginning at 9 a.m.

The Rev. Campbell, Local Pastor Reappointed

The Rev. Arthur D. Campbell, pastor of the Parkland Methodist Church in Tacoma, for the past three years, has been reappointed for another year. The announcement was made in Tacoma June 14 by Bishop Everett W. Palmer at the closing session of the Pacific Northwest Annual Conference of The Methodist Church.

In official action, the conference voted to purchase a new 230-acre camp near Arlington, Wash., which brings to four the number of Methodist camps in Washington and North Idaho. Members also launched a campaign against the proposed gambling tolerance on the Washington ballot next November. They voted to send an official observer to the next session of the state legislature.

A new mission program was inaugurated under which the conference can send lay missionaries to Mexico on a volunteer basis, to work under the Methodist Church of Mexico. In addition, a plan was announced called "Neighborhood-1" under which members of larger, stronger churches may volunteer to serve for one year in struggling inner-city churches.

a - Wondering and a - Wandering . . .

With JACK BROWN

This last week has been another of those interesting ones. I can hardly remember all that's happened but I guess the most interesting event was my search for Ted Friesz and Leonard Ott, our galloping horsemen, New York World's Fair bound. It seems that the mayor of Pendleton was all set to rush out with the red carpet when they got there, radio stations were standing by, newsmen waited with baited breath and the big question was . . . Whereinell were they?

In order that more concrete plans could be formed I took off to try and spot them. I fairly drove the plane down the highway for miles and miles, flew around farms and clumps of trees, circled small towns 'til everyone was out in the streets looking up, and still no Ted and Len. Talk about looking for a needle in a haystack. That's mighty big country over there and I never did find them.

They finally came charging into town off the wheat country and no one was set for them so I gave up and came home and they re-staged the grand entry all over again the next morning. Just goes to show that you can't win them all.

When it comes to results, how does socialized enterprise stack up with private enterprise? A full answer would fill many books. But a little example may give an inkling.

In England, where the telephone system is owned by the government and operated by the post office department, a male model bought a house. A telephone was on the premises and he asked that service be continued — phone communication is essential to his work. But the post office said, in effect, "drop dead." It seems there is a long list of people in the area awaiting service, and he will have to take his turn. He can expect service, it was added, at the end of 1967—a mere 3½ years hence.

In this country, a delay of even a few days in providing requested phone or any other utility service is sure to produce loud and angry squawks. And private enterprise, whose existence is so largely dependent on the public good will which can only be gained by first-class service, listens. It's different under socialism where the citizen takes what is given and can like it or lump it.

I just don't get it! You people who advocate a socialist or communist way of life must have mud for brains, is all I can say.

Went to Cineramma the other night. Came intermission and there I sat for fifteen minutes with absolutely nothing to look at as far as the building design goes. A one color curtain blended with the one color total scene and not even so much as a picture decorated the walls. Like all other males in attendance, I resorted to looking over the audience and watched the "pottiers" come and go.

Wonder how people killed their time during intermission before short skirts.

A reader of McCall's magazine wrote a letter to the editor asking this question: "Why do public utilities advertise? It seems pointless, since they enjoy monopolies. It bothers me to think that part of my utility dollar is being used to encourage me to spend even more."

The magazine carried a heck of a good answer by Beth Williams. She pointed out that advertising, generally, is used to stimulate the sale of more electric appliances and the use of more power—and that the more power a company sells, the lower the cost becomes. Increased use is a major reason why the per kilowatt cost of electricity declined from 17 cents in 1900 to 2 cents in a recent year.

Miss Williams concluded: "So, you see, the reason electric-power companies advertise is to sell more current. This investment in advertising does not raise the cost per kilowatt-hour to you. It lowers it. That's why the use of part of your utility dollar for advertising is no cause for concern. In the end, you benefit."

In just about every line of industry, increased sales mean lower production costs. And that is as true of electric power as it is of groceries.

Every time I take my kids roller skating I can't help but wonder where the rest of you jokers my age are. At first it used to bother me to stand out as nearly the only adult on the floor. Now, I could care less. I have a ball. So do my kids and the rest of the youngsters that frequent the place.

Why don't you give it a try sometime. You might just discover that there's life in the old carcass yet, afterall.

Joe Holroyd of Victoria took advantage of our almost cloudless skies when he flew in his Mooney Mark 21.

Dick Geist, who bases his Cessna 190 at the field, flew down to the Merced Fly-In, held in California and continued over to Kansas to visit relatives.

Those of you driving into Thun Field will notice a new gate is in the process of being constructed.

The Northwest's largest air show will be held at the field August 19, starring Jim Moss and Bob Morphew.

Two well-known jumpers, who participated in the first 25 episodes of "Eppoxrd" displayed their abilities this weekend, with John Thun as pilot.

Jim Lawrence also arrived from Eugene in his Cessna Skylane.

Bud Blanchard, well known aircraft mechanic, with his sister have arrived in the United States after having toured Europe by bicycle, Volkswagen and other various means, for over a year. Welcome back, fellow Americans!

The Tieton Emergency Air-strip, located not too far from Yakima, was cleaned up with T.L.C. by members of the Travelers Club, a flying group located at Thun Field. Now they're ready to enjoy a week-end fly-in the end of July.

Mitch Meany, an up and coming pilot, displayed his abilities Sunday afternoon, performing intricate maneuvers over Thun Field. He's polishing his techniques for the Air Show. At just 18 years, he's doing pretty darn good.

Mrs. Bradley, aircraft owner and lady pilot, has left for England to visit her son, who is practicing medicine so many miles across the sea.

Tips on GOOD LANDSCAPE GROOMING

By Howard & Elaine Motteler

Tent Caterpillars
This year the infestation of tent caterpillars is on the increase and may gradually worsen each year for the next year or so. Many people still remember the last severe infestation which occurred in the early 1950's. At that time whole groupings of wild trees were denuded of their leaves and covered with cobweb-like tents. The following year they were no longer in evidence to any extent.

Two things we observed that were concurrent with their decrease in numbers were: 1) some type of viral, bacterial or fungus infection (where no spraying had been done they seemed to be dying off in large numbers of their own accord) and 2) the increased number of bats. At that time, within the area of our corner street light, up to five different bats had been observed in the early dusk where normally in other years only one might occasionally be seen. Bats feed on flying insects. — The adult form of the tent caterpillar is the flying moth.

The homeowner can do several things to protect his trees and shrubs until the infestation subsides through the balance of nature. The tent caterpillars can be cut out of the fruit trees with a long handled pruner and buried. This is best done in the early morning while the worms are still massed together and have not crawled out to pasture. Nests which cannot be reached with a ladder and pruners are spray-

A Second Look At . . . THE BUSINESS CLIME

by LARRY ROE

If you believe the American tendency to absolute complacency hasn't bred a monster that must one day be reckoned with . . . absorb these facts released recently by Washington Rep. Thor C. Tollefson — then ponder the results should this trend continue!

How Big is Government?

A former perennial Presidential candidate of the Socialist Party, Norman Thomas, recently stated that most of the original goals of his party have been achieved. Possibly what he meant was that government has taken over the direction of most of the 'United States' economy, as these statistics illustrate:

(1) One of every eight U.S. factory workers is employed on government work; last year, more than one-third of all professional and technical workers were likewise employed; some 5.3 million people, one out of every 13 working men and women, are paid from Washington.

(2) The Atomic Energy Commission reports itself as being the Nation's largest consumer of coal, electricity and water; the AEC owns and uses more machine tools than General Motors, Chrysler and Ford combined.

(3) The U.S. Army is the biggest buyer of lumber, cloth, shoes and shirts.

(4) The Defense Department on January 24 estimated the value of its property and equipment at $171 billion and it is doing $6 billion in new holdings per year; the Defense Department annually absorbs more income than the entire before-taxes income of all the corporations in the U.S.

(5) Government agencies are stockpiling 94 different kinds of materials.

(6) The number of Post Office Department vehicles exceeds the car registration of seven states.

(7) One-third of all land in the nation, 800 million acres, is owned by the federal government; it owns 85 per cent of Arizona, 97 per cent of Alaska; it owns 421,000 buildings, leases thousands more.

(8) Government spends $260 million a day, $30 million an hour, or more than half a million dollars a minute.

Big corporation business is paving the way for small business to survive the ever increasing intimidation and harassment that Unions are directing at small business in a stepped-up drive to force Unionism at all business levels . . . and the new trend could well be the answer in the link between management and employee.

Admittedly, Unionism has brought the worker from the level of serfdom to his present day status, but it appears entirely possible that new horizons — completely outside of the scope of Unionism — are necessary if the employee is to enjoy even greater status . . . without jeopardizing the growth of business.

The trend is toward corporate business at all levels, with the employees becoming an integral part of the business — through stock issue — instead of just an employee . . . and even though minor problems in the formation of these ventures may appear, they are not insurmountable — nor would it be necessary to settle the problems with strikes . . . at the loss of man-hours, and many hundreds of thousands of dollars — that is, in fact, out of the workers pocket each time a strike is called!

ed. The trees should be observed every two or three days because after the worms reach a certain size they leave the nest and disburse through the tree. Then the only control is through spraying.

Spraying, to be effective, must be done about every ten days to cover the new leaves of the rapidly growing trees. A general purpose fruit tree spray may be used. We use a bottle-on-a-hose type sprayer that works by water pressure.

Spraying trees is best done in the morning or evening when the air is quiet. A lighted match indicates which way the quiet air is drifting. Spraying should be done so that the spray drifts away from where the sprayer is standing. Also check for children and animals. They should not be playing down wind.

Quotes On Canyon Road

Mrs. John Folk LE 7-5801

The members of the Canyon Road Community Club met last Thursday evening and before adjourning for the summer months enjoyed a pot-luck supper topped with strawberry shortcake. They were entertained by the 'Beadolls', the Misses Linda Harrison, Sheri McCann, Carol Fasy and Diane Esau, who gave a hilarious pantomime of the Beatles. A musical number by Miss Sharon Folk and a song and dance by Sharon Folk and Sheri McCann were also given.

Entrance

RAINIER NATIONAL PARK contains 378 square miles of America's superlative mountain grandeur, is easily accessible from the gateway cities of Tacoma and Seattle. Towering above all this is Mt. Rainier, an extinct volcano, 14,408 feet above sea level. It is the highest perpetually ice-clad peak, and has the largest single system of glaciers in the U.S. These glaciers, 26 in all, contain more than 45 square miles or 29,000 acres of ice. Beneath these masses of moving ice are born many turbulent rivers which flow thru the Evergreen Playground to the waters of the Pacific. Almost 700 species of flowering plants in addition to hundreds of ferns, mosses and fungi; 34 waterfalls, 62 lakes, and trees centuries old, add to this Mountain grandeur. Here is fun for all—hiking, mountain climbing, saddle horse riding, fishing, darning and easy walks through flower meadows. Hotels, lodges and camp grounds are provided for your comfort. Guides, Ranger-Naturalists, spacious lobbies and experienced, intelligent personnel provide for your entertainment.

PARADISE VALLEY, situated on the south side of Mt. Rainier, is reached by way of the excellent highways leading directly to Paradise Inn. You will thrill at the huge evergreen trees lining the highway on either side, the great Nisqually Glacier that flows precipitously down the mountain toward the roadside, beautiful Narada Falls dropping 168 feet to the Paradise River Canyon, unexcelled panoramas from the highway at Ricksecker and Inspiration points, and spectacular Mount Rainier itself, rising 14,408 feet above sea level.

WE URGE YOU to visit Paradise for it is without doubt the greatest single scenic attraction in the entire Northwest.

PARADISE INN, with its unique timbered lobby and dining room, is renowned for its excellent food and comfort, and will be open June 20th.

STEVENS CANYON ROAD is now open for your pleasure, bringing new panoramic views to the traveler, never before accessible except via horseback.

NATURALIST CONDUCTED TOURS—See the beauties of Paradise Valley and the Ta-toosh Range with Mt. St. Helens sixty miles away.

BE SURE to plan a trip to the park this summer. On this page you will find listed many businesses and their location shown, who will endeavor to make your trip more pleasant. Keep this page, referring to it on your trip.

Summit 4-H's Busy Beavers

The members of the Summit Stockraisers 4-H Club have been very active this spring with the Junior Livestock show, demonstration contests, Fun Nite, Senior 4-H Cruise, Record Book contests, State Campship contests and preparing for State Conference.

Those exhibiting and selling steers at the Junior Livestock show were John and Paul Spruell, Ray and Tom Parker, Barbara and Dennis Bauer, and Greg Haaland. They also entered their Record Books for the contest on Best Records Kept for the animals entered and sold. They all earned blue ribbons on their animals and received fair prices in the sale ring.

The entire club entered the demonstration contest. Four went on to the elimination contest on May 9. They were Larry Sturn, Barbara and Dennis Bauer and Paul Douthett with Barbara becoming an alternate for competition at the State Fair in Yakima this fall with her illustrated talk on the IFYE (International Farm Youth Exchange) program. Paul Douthett received first in the Cow Belle award on How To Make Oxtail Soup.

Senior members competed for partial campships to go to the State 4-H Conference by entering their current record books and each writing an essay on "Why I Would Like to Go to State Conference." Those compet-

"Mr. Basketball" Leaving For Viet Nam

A Parkland Air Force captain uses the basketball to further the United States "People-to-People" program with Ireland and will soon be on his way to Viet Nam to do the same with the children there.

He is Capt. James E. True, assigned to the 4th Air Transport Sq., 62nd Troop Carrier Wing. In April, Captain True conducted his most recent basketball clinic for 100 County Cork basketball enthusiasts by flying from McChord to Ireland. And he paid his own expenses during the twenty days he spent there.

The 32-year-old captain started teaching basketball to the Irish in 1959 when he visited County Cork as coach of an English-based Air Force basketball team participating in a tournament there.

"We won the tournament with overwhelming victories," he said. "I felt sympathetic toward the Irish as they had the stamina and desire but lacked the knowledge and proper equipment." It was then that Captain True offered his services to the County Cork Basketball Association.

During his four years in England and since then, he has become "Mr. Basketball" to the kids and basketball officials of County Cork.

Attesting to his popularity, the April 18 edition of Cork's Evening Echo had this to say about True: "He has been of considerable help to the pupils at places like Presentation College, Farranferris and St. Declans."

Captain True said that the caliber of basketball has increased from an American junior high school level in 1959 to a present junior college capability.

Because of Irish enthusiasm for basketball, he feels that it will soon be one of Ireland's national sports. "All they need to build the game is proper equipment," he pointed out. "Most of the teams are playing with old and patched up basketballs, taped shoes and outside courts."

Captain True feels that the American people, especially high schools and colleges, can help the "People-to-People" program by donating this needed equipment. However, he also noted that the American professional basketball teams are helping the Irish by donating equipment and adopting certain teams.

"People interested in donating equipment should contact me at my home, 523 E. 129th Street, Tacoma," he said.

Missionary From Brazil

PASTOR FRED SHUFFIELD and Elder Don Ross, missionary from Sao Paulo, Brazil, are conducting a Revival at the First Missionary Baptist Church. Meetings are being held each evening through June 21 beginning at 7:30 p.m. The church is located one block east of Franklin Pierce High School on 104th and East Harrison.

Party and sponsors of the Little League teams in the Central Avenue area are endeavoring to boost the excitement of the baseball season among their youngsters with a Pinochle Party to be held at the Youth Center June 19th beginning at 8:00 p.m. The public is cordially invited to come out, bring the whole family, invite the neighbors and join in on the fun. There will be prizes for all winners plus a special door prize. The proceeds from the party will be used to purchase metal safety helmets for both boys and girls teams, a recent ruling by the park board. Admission donation for the evening will be $1.00.

Marion Crow Badly Injured
Parents, friends and well-wishes are joining together in cards and greetings for the speedy recovery for Marion Crow, ten-year-old daughter of the Ralph A. Eatons of 10019 East 48th Ave. Marion is still unconscious in Mary Bridge Hospital following an accident recently with her small pony. Marion's friend, Vickie Sparhawk, is suffering from a broken collar bone plus several broken bones in her hand and wrist. The girls were riding in a small cart that was being pulled by the pony, when something startled the horse, causing it to rear and dart for the roadside.

Residents Moving
Now that school is out for the summer, several Summit Area families are planning a move. Among them are the Fred Robison's. Mr. Robison is being transferred to Utah and the family will join him there soon. Their son, Don, is now the President of the Summit Teen Club and will be leaving his position for Leslee Campbell to fill.

Mr. and Mrs. George La Plant will be leaving soon for their new home in Hawaii where Mr. La Plant will be stationed in his work. The entire family has been active the past year in the Teen Club as well as other community activities.

Tough Game
Coach Bob Adler and his "Imperials" are proud as can be following their first victory in the Little League baseball season with a 11-1 win over the Spanaway White Sox.

The winning pitcher was Ed Spandel who pitched a no-hitter and the one run being scored with a walk and an error.

The "Imperials" are sponsored by the Citizens State Bank at Summit View. Seems as though they have picked a winning ball team!
