

Move To Thanksgiving Avenue

By: Dr. S. C. Eastvold, President
Pacific Lutheran College

There are great numbers of people who ought to move on November 26. They are living in a bad atmosphere, poor houses and gloomy surroundings on Grumbling Street. But we know a good street where, strange to say, there are plenty of houses to let. The air is pure and invigorating, the water is sweet and wholesome, the houses are good, and the street lies toward the sun, so that its genial rays are felt all day long. This street is Thanksgiving Avenue, a boulevard extension of Faith Street. Move out, my friend, from Grumbling Street and take one of those pleasant unoccupied houses on Thanksgiving Avenue.

So we are again invited by the President of the United States to celebrate Thanksgiving Day. Only a tiny seven per cent of the world is in the United States. Only a very small insignificant part of that seven per cent will fully appreciate the meaning of Thanksgiving on Thanksgiving Day. A vast majority of people in the world have little or nothing to thank for when compared with American standards of living. Many among us will be grumbling and not thankful. The grumbling attitude that can spoil a national Thanksgiving can spoil personal Thanksgiving too.

Thanksgiving Day is a bad day for the grumblers. Grumbling is bad business. It was said by one of the friends of a very earnest and noble worker that if he did not stop his ceaseless complaining about things he would soon cease to have any influence. The man did not realize that in his sincere effort to make things better, by exposing all the difficulties and hinderances, he was all the time convincing people that things were so hopeless that it was not worthwhile to work at them. He was showing lack of faith in God, lack of confidence in his position and lack of appreciation and gratitude for blessings.

There is a real danger that this year's Thanksgiving will prove to be a Thanksgiving spoiled by murmurings and complaints. We might well quote the statement of an Old Testament prophet: "Jehovah heareth your murmurings which we murmur against him." It is recorded that Caesar once prepared a great feast for his nobles and friends. It happened that the day appointed was so extremely foul that nothing could be done to the honor of the meeting, whereupon he was so displeased and enraged that he commanded all who had bows to shoot up their arrows at Jupiter, their chief God, as if in defiance of him for that rainy weather. When they did this their arrows fell short of Heaven and struck their own heads, so that many of them were sorely wounded. So our murmurings, which are so many arrows shot at God, will return upon our own heads. They hurt not Him, but will wound us. Let us as Christians, as far as our influence can extend, call people away from their murmurings. For murmurings are arrows upwards shot that surely will fall, must fall, upon their own heads. Let us turn the people to thoughts of God's mercies, to gratitude, to the expression of gratitude for all God's goodness toward us — and goodness all the more gracious because so greatly undeserved.

Finally, let us this year move to Thanksgiving Avenue. Thanksgiving is only a just tribute for all the blessings a loving Father has showered upon us. Even though times are hard and blessings may be few let us still take down our harp and play and sing to the Glory of God.

Novel Event for the Kiddies Sponsored by 22 Local Firms

Especially attractive prizes are offered by all the sponsors and every child in the district may submit an entry at each of the 22 stores participating. All youngsters from five to 14 years of age are eligible. In awarding the prizes, judges will take into consideration the age of each contestant, thus giving the little tots an equal chance with the older boys and girls.

The contest features two full pages of outlined pictures, 22 in all, to be colored by the young "artists", who may use water colors, crayons or any other medium they wish. The children will probably want to cut the pictures apart before starting to color them, but this may be done after coloring if desired.

Flood Waters Take Their Tragic Toll

"WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE" and hundreds of bedraggled people not interested in drinking same—that's routine in many areas of the state this week. Shown on this page are pictures taken in the Kent-Auburn vicinity Monday morning during the time when actual evacuation of the area was in process. Thousands upon thousands of dollars in damage was visible wherever your reporter looked—flooded homes and barns, stranded people and cattle, cars submerged to the roof tops, trailers and tractors stranded in the raging waters. The sight from the air is almost unbelievable as depicted above. Photos by McKewen Studio — From Times Journal plane.

Franklin Pierce District Studied

In order to obtain a more accurate study of enrollment trends in the Franklin Pierce School District, Superintendent Edwin L. Nelson and his staff are participating with the Pierce County Planning Commission in a study of new houses and building in the district.
Aerial photographs were taken and maps were made up by the commission and Pierce Drivers Training classes are spotting the new houses throughout the district. Nelson said that inquiries will be made later in regard to the number of pre-school children. A similar survey was taken several years ago and proved valuable.

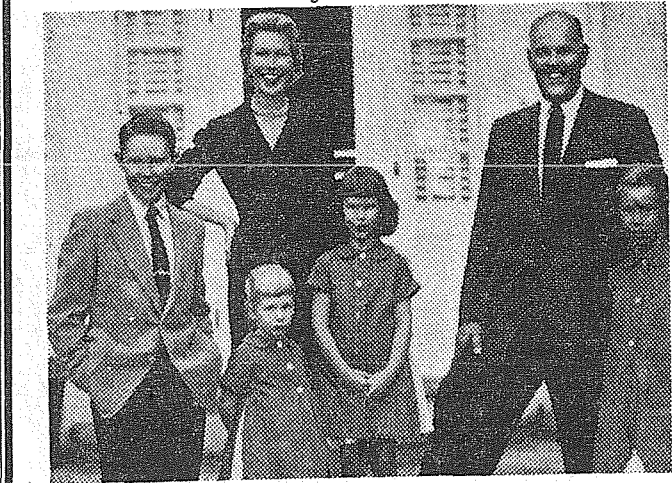

The County Planning Commission is interested in helping districts plan their new buildings in proper location. The Commission also expects to benefit in its zoning responsibilities. Affecting the commission's approval of new school sites is the nearness to the population and the factor of roads coming in the area of the school.

Drivers Training instructors Ed Stricherz and Al Schimke are supervising the classes in their spotting.

Is This For You?

Trailer living used to be something for which you had to cultivate a taste — as for cabbage or Rock and Roll music — but it's different now, and just how different it is may amaze you.

Today's mobile homes offer all the modern accommodations found in ultramodern homes and, in addition, mobile home living has meant easier living, freedom from responsibility, flexibility and an end to loneliness for the retired. You can live in climates of your choice or trailer parks of your choice, which is a good thing for as the mobile home builders continue to improve on trailer living, trailer parks, long behind the parade, must be improved in keeping with the environment necessary to set off all the splendor of your beautiful mobile home and to bring this new concept of living to its rightful place.

To meet this challenge, many new trailer parks now being built will feature new modern accommodations in choice locations that rival resort hotels and at no extra cost. As an illustration, the Oasis Trout Farm is building a trailer park which may very well set a pattern for future mobile home living in the Pacific Northwest.

The theme used in the construction of the Oasis is "Peace and beauty in Nature." Their grounds consist of 63 acres covered with a forest of beautiful trees of various sizes and species. There is over three acres of rolling lawns complemented with an abundance of flowers and shrubs. There are four lake-size pools that are fed from a community of springs of cold crystal water to offer you fishing and swimming at its best (no fishing license required). You can watch the trout swim, play and flash in the crystal clear water. There is no city noise, just the sweet murmur of falling water, the song of the birds and an aeolian lullaby made by the breeze on the fir needles and maple leaves. From early spring to late fall your eyes take in a panorama of beautiful nature in colors and contrast that would give stage fright to any artist who tried to paint the scenes on canvas.

Their trailer spaces have covered car ports, huge storage bins, 110 and 220 power and telephone and each space has from 2000 to 5000 square feet of ground area. The court is being built around its own private lake for the occupants' own private use. Other recreation will include hiking and hunting and future plans call for a community house for dancing, dinners and parties and other forms of entertainment and get-togethers, yet you get all of this for only $25 to $30 per month.

As aforesaid, the Oasis offers an example to the new concept of life mobile home owners can look forward to, and at prices you can expect to pay. A recent survey of the 15,000 trailer courts throughout the nation revealed the trailer park rates ran from $20 to $50 per month; are you getting what you pay for?

If you are a mobile home owner or thinking of becoming one, and live in the Tacoma or Spanaway area, drive out to the Oasis Trout Farm (located five miles east of the Roy "Y" on the Mountain Highway) and find out how wonderful mobile life can be.

There is no limit to the amount of health, happiness and beauty you can enjoy. —Pd. Adv.

Oh Man!

Now is the time when parents should stop, look and listen. Don't laugh at Bill during these days. His feelings can be deeply wounded. Help Bill grow into the man you want him to become by giving him strong, wise, and kind guidance.

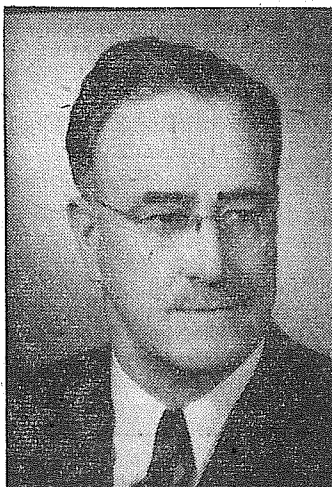

Stop treating him like a child. Look for the quick changes of mood, the intense, but brief interest in everything. Listen sympathetically during those times when he wants to confide in you.

plaque from Laundry employees also making Pacific Lutheran College a stockholder of the Puyallup Laundry.

Purpose of the presentation Christie said this week, is partly to pay tribute to Dr. Eastvold for the fine work that he does and partly to draw the cities of Parkland and Puyallup closer together to help promote the future growth of the Valley.

With the new Freeway system in the near future, Christie said:

Dr. C. S. Eastvold

Puyallup, Parkland and other Valley areas will be even closer together in their development and they should work together for their mutual growth.

At the end of the Kiwanis meeting Wednesday, Christie had invited a large group of Puyallup business leaders, including a number of the younger men who are going to be the leaders of the future, to meet with Dr. Eastvold, with airlines officials and labor leaders for a tour of the Puyallup Laundry plant.

The bus which Christie presented to the college was originally purchased by him with the purpose in mind of using it for the large volume of work which he anticipates will come from the Cowlitz dam construction when it gets underway and which he expects to contribute to the economic growth of the Valley.

However, since delays in the start of the dam have kept the bus temporarily out of service, and after meeting with Dr. Eastvold recently and being inspired by the work that he does for the youth of the area, Christie made the decision to put the bus to work for the College.

Football Highlights

Mississippi, leading the nation into the final week of the 1959 college football season, takes on Mississippi State in its wrap-up game. And unless Ole' Miss stubs its toe badly, it should emerge as both a 35-point winner over the Maroons and as Harmon's 1959 National Champion.

A solid No. 2 in the rankings, undefeated Syracuse is idle this week until its final December 5th with U.C.L.A. Third-ranked L.S.U. has completed its season.

Texas, No. 4, lays both the Cotton Bowl bid and a tie for the Southwest Conference championship on the line against Texas A & M. The Longhorns should be in the Cotton Bowl following Turkey Day with a 3-touchdown win over the Aggies. The powerful Southeast Conference champions, the Georgia Bulldogs, are eleven point favorites over Georgia Tech—and are tied with T.C.U. for No. 5 position in the nation. Texas Christian is 9 points stronger than 20th-rated S.M.U. in the Southwest Conference wind-up.

Alabama has upset ideas as it tangles with 7th-ranked Auburn. However, the Crimson Tide is an 11 point underdog. Illinois, the surprise No. 8 team in the nation—Rose-Bowl bound Wisconsin, No. 9—and twice-beaten Penn State, in the 10th slot—have all completed their seasons.

After last week's holocaust (58 winners against 27 losers and 2 ties), Harmon's average for the season dropped below the 750 mark: 755 correct, 257 incorrect, and 30 ties for a .746 average with just one week remaining.

In the nationally televised game on Saturday, the two unranked service academies clash in Philadelphia. Army should whip the Navy by 9 points.

Color Contest

contest, each picture has been assigned the title of a well known Christmas song, popular melodies sharing the spotlight with the old favorites. This in no way limits the event, since prizes will be awarded solely on neatness and artistry of coloring, but children will think it more fun to be coloring an illustration depicting a song they know.

Space has been left below each picture for the name, phone number, address and age of the contestant, also the printed name and address of the business firm sponsoring that particular space.

When finished, each picture will be taken to the store sponsoring that space and deposited in a contest box provided there. Each store will choose its own judges and their decision will be final.

As soon as this week's Times-Journal is delivered at the homes the young artists may go to work; when their pictures are finished to their satisfaction they may take them to the stores where the boxes are provided for entries. The contest closes Dec. 12 and the names of winners will be announced in the Dec. 17 issue of the paper.

County Homemakers In Xmas Workshop

Christmas bells will be ringing but Santa may be absent when Pierce County Homemakers open the doors for their annual Christmas Workshop Wednesday, Dec. 2, at 10:00 a.m. at Fruitland Grange hall, 10915 Fruitland avenue (corner of Fruitland and Airport).

Clubs are finishing up this week on beautiful Christmas gifts that will be for sale; also getting their members lined up for various demonstration that will all enjoy.

A potluck luncheon will be served at noon; a large attendance is expected.

Mrs. Francis Hushek is president of Pierce County Homemakers; Mrs. Glenda L. Crumley is publicity chairman.

County Agent's Corner

The county agent's telephone lines are jammed as worried housewives call for some assurance that the family's members may live their normal life span after that serving of cranberries recently.

Reading the description of the tests made on rats is interesting. It must be significant that after their entire diet was loaded for months with the spray ingredient, yet their inflamed thyroid condition returned to normal after the tests were discontinued.

In the rat tests the ingredient was concentrated more than 100 times that possible for cranberries to absorb through the plant system. Since no one makes a meal on cranberries or serves them daily, the possibility of endangering human health is remote even if the berries are contaminated.

It is also an interesting comparison that for years cigarettes have been accused of causing lung cancer, but each year sales are greater than ever.

As a comparison of the threat to health from the use of either, I would expect as much risk of cancer from smoking one cigarette as from a generous helping of cranberry sauce.

Forestry aids designed to help woodland owners do a good job of forest management, have recently been published by the Washington State Extension Service in cooperation with the Washington Woodland Council.

Recent publications available in county agents' offices include "Forest Value Increases Each Year". The leaflet describes the rapid increase in dollar value of an acre of trees from $95.00 at age 40 to $444 at age 60.

"Harvesting Evergreen Brush and Ferns" is a leaflet describing how to best harvest this important forest product. Several photographs well illustrate good and acceptable quality versus poor quality.

"Building Woodland Roads", "Grow Trees Not Brush" and "Direct Forest Tree Seeding" are other well illustrated leaflets published within the last few months for information and use of forest owners. All are available to interested persons in the county agents' office, by phone, letter, or visit.

Pullman will be the January address of some Pierce county dairymen if they can persuade their wives to milk the cows for a month.

A special program is being arranged for dairymen who cannot be away from home for the full two-month period. The dairy courses, namely dairy cattle breeding, dairy cattle feeding, and dairy caltle management, will be concentrated into a one-month period — January. Also available to them during this month will be the courses in soils, field crops — particularly the section on forages, animal health and possibly record keeping. Thus, a very good one-month course will be available. The same instruction will be offered as for the two-month period, but it will be contained in one month.

Dates of the full Short Course are January 4 to February 26.

Other classes will run the full 2-month period. Subjects include livestock breeding and judging, livestock feeding and management, meats, communication skills, marketing and prices, farm arithmetic, farm carpentry, farm shop, welding, irrigation practices, range management, fruit production, animal health and disease prevention.

The winter short course, is open to any person interested in agriculture. There are no special requirements as to age, education, sex, or agricultural experience.

Short course students live in university dorms, and eat meals in campus cafeterias.

Regular university classrooms and laboratories are used for the short course, which is staffed by regular members of the faculty.

Former winter short course students from Pierce county are: Lorraine Derig of Tacoma and John Roush of Roy.

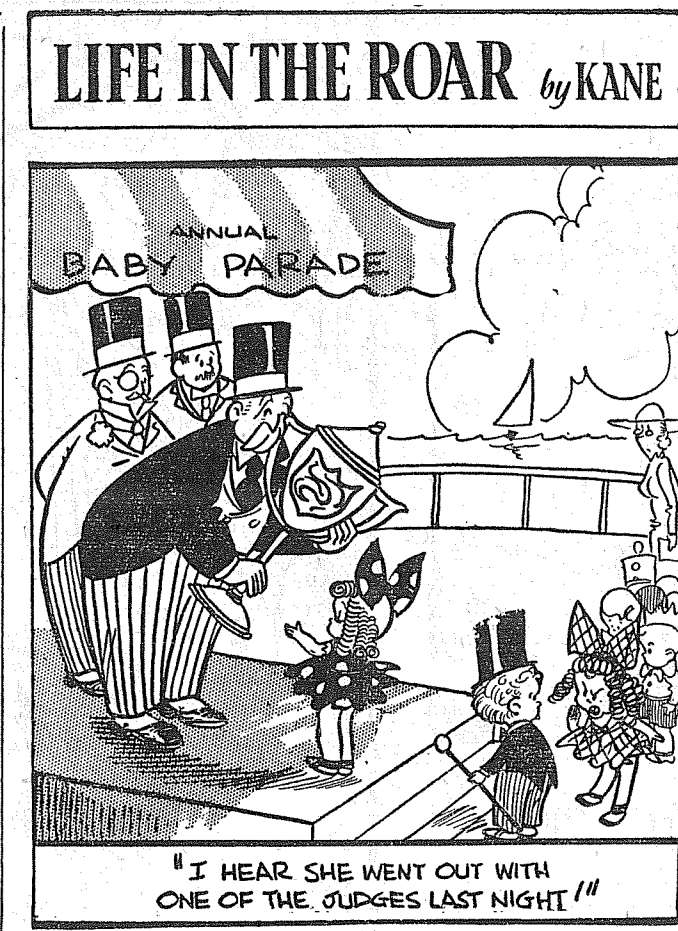

Anyone interested in enrolling in the 1960 sessions should stop by the County Agents' office, 742 County-City Building, for additional information.

CHRISTMAS TREE LOAD TICKETS REQUIRED

Christmas tree haulers are advised that county law requires a load ticket for anyone transporting over five evergreen trees on Pierce county highways. Similar laws apply in Mason and Kitsap counties. The law was passed to restrict unlawful taking of trees.

The law requires in part that the driver shall have in his possession a signed load ticket which will include the name and address of the owner or lessee of the lands, the destination of the load, and the date the products were taken and removed. The law gives any peace officer the power to stop, inspect and search, without warrant, any person or vehicle observed transporting five or more Christmas trees.

Load ticket forms are available free in county sheriff's offices in Mason, Pierce and Kitsap counties.

Those who advocate government price support for eggs would do well to view what happened to our poultry neighbors to the north, in Canada. In 1958 and 1957 the Canadian government supported egg prices at 38c per dozen at storage plants. For 1958 and 1959 this was raised to 44c per dozen. This encouraged egg production and egg marketing by Canadian producers this past summer — up 10 percent from last year. Large quantities of eggs were bought by the Canadian Agricultural Stabilization Board.

This has led to changes for the coming year. For the year starting October 1, 1959, the Canadian government will maintain the 44c price for top quality large eggs. Producers will be paid the difference between the average market price and the support price of 44c per dozen. But here is the sticker — Payments to any one producer during a twelve month period will be limited to 4,000 dozen large and extra large eggs. This is the output from approximately 350 to 500 layers. The government price support program led to strict controls.

Pierce county egg producers under the leadership of Cecil Foster, from Buckley, are exploring the possibilities of self-help programs. Objectives of this group is to form an organization that can be used to promote egg consumption, enforce egg laws and serve as an educational group for egg producers. An organizational meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m. Monday, November 30, at the Western Washington Experiment Station Winter School Building. All egg producers are invited to attend.

A MILLION TREE SEEDLINGS WAIT

A million trees await shipping orders at the Webster State Forest Nursery near Olympia. A filled out order blank and a check will send them your way. They are only two years old and a foot tall, but they are big enough to start a forest. And each tree for less than a penny apiece.

Farmers and landowners who want planting stock are encouraged to send their orders in early to assure getting the kind of stock they want. State regulations prohibit sale of trees inside corporate city limits and for ornamental use.

The shipping season commences November 1 and extends until April 1, 1960. This coincides with the planting season for Western Washington. Trees may be safely planted anytime during this dormant period, avoiding freezing periods.

Kind of tree seedlings available include Douglas Fir, Ponderosa Pine, Austrian Pine, Lodgepole Pine, Scotch Pine, Noble Fir, Shasta Red Fir and Grand Fir. The price is $8.10 per thousand trees plus shipping charges. Order blanks are available in the county agents' office and most other agricultural offices in the state.

A helpful leaflet to prospective tree planters is "Plant Your Trees Right." Among other points, it advises on ground preparation, care of trees before and after planting and correct planting methods. The leaflet is available in the county agents' office.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service located in the Tribune Building in Puyallup assists landowners with tree planting costs. It pays up to thirty dollars per thousand trees planted, to encourage planting on idle acres.

This week may I refer you to Dr. Eastvold's Thanksgiving message on page one of this newspaper.

Parkland CAP Has New McChord Spot

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 2, the Parkland Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will officially open its building at McChord Air Force Base. The two-story building will be given to the Parkland Squadron by the Air Force for a permanent home on base.

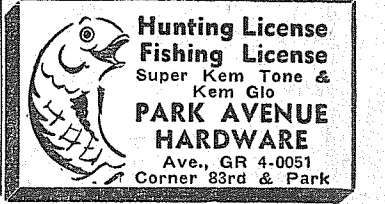

On Wednesday evening everyone who is interested in seeing the C.A.P. in action is welcome to attend the meeting. This includes boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18, as well as adults.

The Civil Air Patrol is the official auxiliary of the United States Air Force. It helps Air Force and civilians as well. The primary function of the Parkland Squadron is ground search and rescue, with radio communications second in importance. The Cadets are trained extensively in aviation theory, communications, first aid and ground search and rescue technique.

Anyone wishing to attend the Wednesday evening ceremonies should be at the Parkland National Bank of Washington parking lot by 6:30 p.m. Transportation will be provided to and from McChord. The meeting will be over by 9:15 p.m.

Bible Comment: 'Preparation' Keynotes Story Of Christianity

"Preparation" is written large over every aspect of the ministry of Jesus, the missionary labors of Saint Paul, and the whole story of the founding of Christianity.
John the Baptist, whom Jesus called the greatest of all men born of women, prepared the way, and called for preparation: "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make His paths straight."
But that was only the beginning of the Christian preparation. We should never forget the long period of preparation in the life of Jesus, himself, the nearly 18 silent years in Nazareth before He began His public ministry.
Nor should we forget Paul's silent years, his going into the desert and the long preparation before he launched out on his missionary journeys.
Think of the boy Jesus in Nazareth, waiting patiently, preparing fully, obediently listening, before He began that ministry, which was to last so shortly in earthly years.
But that ministry was to be timeless and endless in its truth and blessing for mankind.
Nothing in God's providence is accomplished without discipline and preparation.

Bombing Planes Given Corridors

WASHINGTON — Seven huge air corridors were made off limits for commercial and private aircraft today to permit jet bombers to fly low-level training missions.
The special lanes are 20 miles wide and up to 500 miles long. They will be closed to all aircraft except Strategic Air Command bombers at specified hours each week day. Except in one instance, they will be open to civilian planes on weekends.
The Federal Aviation Agency announced the establishment of the closed corridors last Nov. 4. Airports, airlines and fliers in the affected areas have been given detailed information on just how the program will operate.
