Four Years at Fruitland The Dodges, who live at 9104 Golden Given, have been instructing at Fruitland during the past four years. Local square dancing dates back to 1949 when Mr. Gay Wright first be-gan holding forth at the South Park Community Center, 64th and South Tacoma Way. By the way, he's still going strong at the same locale.

The Dodges have two children of their own who have been bitten by the square dance bug. They are Naomi, 15, and Donna, 13. A 12 year old son, Daniel, is not quite tall enough for the classes right now. The Dodges believe a pupil must be at least five feet tall to be able to fully enjoy dancing with the older Square dancing is actually only a part time hobby for Mr. Dodge, who operates a service station and garage during his regular work hours, then somehow manages to conduct round and square dance instruction, and call at square dances in his spare time.

The Dodges believe a nominal fee is one of the reasons why their dance classes reach such great proportions. Only 50c a lesson are required fromadults, with the cost to youngsters being only 25c.

Last week I mentioned the activity in Olympia with particular reference to the ridiculous nature of some of the bills brought up ing at Mrs. Henry Ferguson's by those we have elected to act as our representatives at the Capital. ing your column "a-Wondering Since that article was written, I have run across a bill I would not class as ridiculous, but rather as one instigated by uninformed wishes to thank everyone that legislators.

A newspaper is Reporter-Kathryn Deady. in a sales meeting of our own. used for the publication of these notices to give wide dissemination

If passed, SB No. 383 would make it mandatory that any newspaper desiring to be qualified as a legal publication would have to hold a second class mailing permit. Such permits are issued only to those newspapers with a one hundred percent paid circulation. Since you have not been asked to pay for the Times Journal, it 18th. would not qualify as a legal publication.

In this state there are legitimate weekly newspapers being published and delivered free to as many as 30,000 homes in their respective areas. In this county the Times Journal is delivered to over 13,600 homes both by mail and now by delivery boy in some areas. We have added around $20,000 per year to the coffers of the postal department, a sum which we believe has helped in some small way to hold the line on their loss of revenue. Had we sold a subscription to each of the 13,600 homes and had a second class permit, our postage bill would be but a fraction of the above mentioned amount, but the postman's work would be the same.

In this state there are weekly newspapers with a total paid 14114 Pacific Avenue circulation of as low as 20. There are nine of these small papers in the state with less than 100 subscribers. SB No. 383 would not only set them up as legal newspapers, but would also leave us and our readers out in the cold, even though we publish several thousand more papers and more news than they do. Besides, we pay our way with Uncle by paying a much higher rate of

What does the passing of this bill mean to you? It would mean an uninformed public as far as this portion of the county is concerned. It would mean that to receive information on "Notices to Creditors in Probate", "Calls for Bids", "Buildings to be Moved or Razed", "Summons by Publication", "Notices of Hearing Petitions for Conditional Permits", "Notices of Hearing of Final Reports and Petitions for Distribution", "Notice of Private Sale of Real Property", "Notices of Adoption", "Notices of School Meetings", "Notices of Hearing of Zoneing of Property", "Notices of Sale of County Property", etc., all being matters of concern in our local community, your only choice would be to carefully scan through the myriad pages of the daily, or to subscribe to some of the small weeklies in hopes legal notices of interest to you would be printed therein.

This is one bill that's fooling with one of the basic rights of every American, the right to know.

If the present laws need modifying to distinguish between a shopper and a newspaper, then let our legislators correct them. But to obliterate three-quarters of the weekly circulation in the state as far as legal matters is concerned is knifing the heart of our American way of life.

If you feel as I do about this matter, then a word to your state senator and representatives would certainly be in order. I for one defy anyone to show me the logic in SB No. 383.

MILLION FAMILIES GET MERCHANDISE FOR TRADING STAMPS-Why Don't You?

Here in Washington, you are denied the freedom of choice that is the right of residents of 47 out of fifty states . . . the right to choose either valuable merchandise or cash in exchange for trading stamps. Thrifty homemakers—twothirds of all families in the United States—are saving these stamps as their big bonus for shopping with cash. It's a privilege most Americans have enjoyed for 67 years!

Merchandise (or cash) for Trading Stamps? Because of an act passed 'way back in the year 1913 by the Washington State Legislature. The act imposes an annual fee of $6,000 on each individual courage everyone from using trading stamps. So far, it's worked out that way. How Does the Washington Homemaker Feel About This? A recent survey, conducted by the well-known research firm of Louis Harris and Associates, reports nearly 80% of Washington homemakers polled would prefer to receive merchandise for their trading stamps. For good reason, too! When exchanged for merchandise, trading stamps are worth 50% more in value received, and the bonus for smart cash buying becomes that much bigger!

Four out of every five homemakers said they would like to have freedom of

Do Trading Stamps Raise Prices? The answer is NO! Many studies validate the fact that prices are not increased when stores give trading stamps. In our neighboring states where free use of stamps is permitted, U.S. Bureau of Labor statistics verify the fact that the index of food prices is generally lower than in Washington. Would You Like the Same Freedom of Choice Enjoyed by Consumers in Other States?

You can have that choice if you tell your State Senator or Representative. They are in Olympia now, preparing to vote on repeal of the old law, especially that section of the 1913 law which requires each merchant to pay his $6,000 annual license-tax. Tell your legislator it's your right to exercise your own free choice in redeeming trading stamps for merchandise, or for cash, as you see fit. This is the free American Way.

Feeding hay during the winter is a common practice, but unless done carefully, it can lower the value of wool. The presence of hay, stray, seeds, or other vegetable matter in the fleece lowers the grade.

Racks used for feeding hay should be built so the openings are not large enough for sheep to get their entire head into the hay. When this happens, pieces of hay or weeds and burrs will cling to the wool. Pitching hay down from a truck or wagon will also cause hay and chaff to fall on the back and neck of the sheep and stick to the wool.

George Purcell suggests filling the racks or feeders when the sheep are out of the pen. If the sheep are on pasture, it is best to throw the entire bale to the ground, and then scatter it, rather than pitch loose hay from a truck

A sudden change in feeding can also affect wool quality. Heavy feeding can cause a "tender" spot or wool break in the fiber. This will lower the value of the wool considerably and greatly reduce the price when marketed.

Random rural visits the other day produced some very interesting comments from various interesting people. For example: Weyman Tow, who leases the Fort Lewis range for grazing his 700 herd of beef cattle says one of his best investments has been a fly and lice spray machine. Although it cost $1700, he feels it paid for itself during the first season used.

Winston Baker, a poultry farmer of Edgewood isanother enthusiastic booster of sheep as a sideline. He has a good flock of Romneys. After showing him how to dock and casterate his lambs and showing him how to trim his ewes' hooves, he feels confident he now ran do these elementary tasks.

Art Fries of Graham is planning new pasture seedings and plan sto later plant rorn for silage for his new beef herd

MAYFAIR family talks about

"Chuck" Brown, owner and professional of Brookdale Golf Course, and Mrs. Brown, say one of the reasons they like living in Mayfair is the location of the community. "It's just far enough to have that kind of pleasant atmosphere we wanted in a new community," Mrs. Brown says. "Yet it only takes fifteen minutes to drive to downtown Tacoma."

The keynote for living in Mayfair is family living. The warmth and security of close-knit family life can only thrive in such a peaceful atmosphere. You will see it and you will feel it when you see the lovely homes, the over-sized lots which invite outdoor living, the lawns, and the well-planned streets. When you invest in a Mayfair home, you also invest in a community where each resident takes pride in his individual home.
