This Time a Miss Was Good

LUCKY MISS—Don E. Maitland, 1827 South Highland, Tacoma, is the luckiest man alive, just because he got out of the pickup driven by Leo Hearson, 171 East 131st, (shown above) just when he did. The two men had been hunting at Mud Mountain Dam Sunday and were driving along the log roads when Maitland left the car to scout an area for game, planning to meet Hearson later at a point further along. As Hearson started the car and was still in second gear, a bullet crashed through the glass right where Maitland's head had been seconds before, coming out through the top of the car as shown in the second picture.

Parkland Fire Department News

For the next 16 months the Parkland Fire Department will have classes the second Monday of every month on all types of fire fighting. This will include all the latest advancements in controlling the different kinds of fires, proper handling of equipment and making the most out of available manpower. This course is put on by the State of Washington instructors who have some of the best men in the nation. This course is a must every two years if the Department is to receive credit for training from The Washington Surveying and Rating Bureau, who use this to determine effectiveness of the department in combating fires. This is one more step in Parkland's fire program to give the community better fire protection. Would like to point out that the fire permit season will be over Oct 15th, but we urge caution all year, please; let's make ours a fire-safe place to live.

E. R. Larson Chief.

Exploding "Dud" Injures Youngster

Danny Austin, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Austin of Rt. 1, Box 319 Spanaway, suffered first and second degree burns on face and hands by the explosion of a discarded object which he had picked up on the Fort Lewis firing range on the reservation Saturday. Several boys were playing on the reservation, collecting all sorts of interesting looking odds and ends of things. Danny picked up what is known as a calculator, a paper wrapped rod several inches long with a fuse protruding from one end. When he pulled the fuse nothing much happened and he raised it to throw it away and it exploded in his face. The boy's wounds were dressed by Dr. Jack Erickson.

The Austins feel that all parents should be alerted to the danger to children playing on the reservation. The area is fenced, with warning signs posted everywhere, but it is impossible for the Army to police the boundaries every minute—the final responsibility rests upon the parents. Mr. and Mrs. Austin and Danny learned their lesson the hard way and hope that such an accident, or one much more severe, may not happen to other youngsters.

Nosy Bear Gets His Just Deserts

Mrs. Lyda says he has decided that the bears have very poor household manners. After being gone for the weekend, he returned to his trailer parked at Packwood on the White Pass highway to discover that a Mr. Bruin, an unexpected guest during his absence, had broken the door and two windows and had made a shambles of the inside. The bear had eaten everything available, including candy, peanuts and a box of peaches, strewing the pits all over the floor. Max said it looked like he had sat on the table while devouring everything in the cupboard.

Ray Blankenship and Donald Mullins, who had been hunting in the neighborhood with their dogs, discovered the unwelcome guest and killed Mr. Bruin after the dogs had tread him.

Minor 49'ers

The Spanaway Minor 49'ers will travel to McChord AFB Sunday afternoon for their 2:00 o'clock game; rooters are urged to be present. Last Sunday's game at Bethel was lost to University Place 6-0 but the boys showed fine spirit and won the hearts of the crowd. Coach Bob Perry praised the team, conceding that it was pretty tough to play a regular game with only three boys on the bench when the number should be 11 to 13.

PLC Battles U of BC Saturday

Tacoma, Oct. 13 (Special)—Pacific Lutheran College gridders will journey north to Vancouver Saturday to battle the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds in a non-conference tilt. The Lute season record now stands at 1-1-1.

The Canadians, who dropped out of the Evergreen Conference last year, are burning up the new Western Canadian Collegiate Conference. The UBC forces of Coach Frank Gnuip are undefeated in four outings and lead the league. But this week's game will mean a shift in "Bird grid thinking. They have been playing Canadian football (12 players, including 5 backs), and this will be their first game this fall under American rules.

Coach Jim Gabrielsen, PLC mentor, has a wholesome respect for UBC. "We didn't play them last year, but they knocked off Puget Sound, a club which beat us twice."

"They have a terrific back in Jack Henwood, all conference two years ago," Gabrielsen continued. "In a recent game with Alberta he scored four touchdowns and piled up 158 yards in 16 carries — and with a bruised leg at that. So we expect a rough, tough afternoon from those T-Birds."

The Lutes ground game is getting a lot of attention this week. Coach Jim Gabrielsen was displeased with the running game which bogged down in the 6-6 tie with Pacific U. last Saturday. "Our air game went well," he commented, "and we picked up 244 yards on passing. But we lacked the balance for an effective attack."

Quarterback Doug McClary and fullback John Jacobson are giving air-minded PLC a potent weapon. McClary has hit on 22 of 39 tries for 564 yards, and all but one of these completions have been in the last two outings. Jacobson has completed 15 of 33 for 263 yards.

Halfback Bruce Alexander leads in rushing with 155 yards in 32 carries for a 4.8 average. John Mitchell is next with 92 yards in 28 carries. End Dave Botemiller leads in passing received with 14 snags for 151 yards. His wing-mate, Bill Lennon has pulled in 9 passes for 210 yards.

In total offense the Lutherans have averaged 286 yards per game to 218.3 for their opponents. In rushing the Lutes lead opponents 128.7 per game to 89.3 and in passing 157 to 129.

New Pastor for Elk Plain Church

Rev. Vern Slater of Roy, Wash., has accepted a call to serve as full time pastor of the Elk Plain Community Church beginning Sunday, Oct. 18. Rev. Slater has had a wide variety of experiences which should serve him well in his new duties as pastor of an undenominational com-

Rev. Vern Slater community church. While a member of the Baptist General Conference he has served over nine years as an Army chaplain, having overseas duty in both Europe and the Orient. Since his release from military duty he has served as interim pastor in communities of Washington, Alaska, and Minnesota. He is a native of North Dakota and an adopted son of both Minnesota and California. He received his theological training at Northwestern Bible School of Minneapolis and Bethel Theological Seminary of St. Paul.

The Slaters have two adopted Eurasian children whom they brought from Japan. Sharon Vernelle, 5 years, is in kindergarten and David, almost 7, is in the first grade at Roy.

The Elk Plain Community church is located next to Woody's Market about two miles up the Mountain highway from the Roy Y. The Slaters anticipate the initiation of a full schedule of church services, including a Sunday evening youth training union and a midweek Bible Study and prayer group. At present the public is cordially invited to share their Sunday school at 10:00 a.m. and worship services at 11:00 a.m.

Shoe companies estimated the average American walks about 35 miles a week.

With JACK BROWN

National Newspaper Week this year is October 15-21, so as a publisher it's time for me to break out my soap box and have my say. Many people misunderstand the aims and purposes of National Newspaper Week. In our world of today we have "weeks" observing practically everything from pickles to be kind to mother in laws. However, this particular observance is different in that the real lesson is the fight waged constantly by the newspapers, both Daily and Weekly for "the right to know" by the people who read the news. This fight is not waged for the private rights of newspapers to obtain information for its own use, but for the right of newspapers to publish the news that the citizens of the nation are entitled to under our constitution. It is once again the newspapers fighting for the public's right to know and understand everything that happens in the world.

Today's struggle between the philosophy of Communism, with its domination of the state over the individual, and Democracy, with its rights of the individual, is a never ending battle. It is a battle that can be won only with a citizenry that is fully informed. The newspapers with their constant struggle to provide the readers with every detail of the news carry on the battle. And right on the "grassroots" level the weekly newspaper shoulders the burden that makes it "Your Newspaper—Freedom's Textbook," which is this year's national news paper week theme.

Down through the past one hundred years a vast change has taken place in the field of newspapers. Not too many years ago every newspaper was founded upon a political basis for the gain of some individual, group or political party. In the last few years this type of newspaper has lost its influence and today we find the independent newspaper operating in the true meaning of the word, with the entire public interest at heart. Today's weekly newspapers are fast becoming strong, forceful publications run on the premise that it should be fair and impartial in its news columns, whereas in the days gone by they were weak and run for individual gain. As a result the confidence in today's weekly newspapers is at an all time high, as evidenced by the terrific increase in readership. The weekly newspapers have at last become a respected force in each community—a force for the progress and improvement of the community.

The most fundamental and down-to-earth newspaper of our day is the weekly newspaper of the local community. It is called the "grassroots" newspaper and rightly so, because it bears the closest relationship between the reader and the newspaper itself. Even our daily newspapers do not have the close touch that only the weekly publication brings to its readers. It is the only publication where the reader can meet the editor face to face and express his thoughts on the contents of the newspaper, and believe me, many do.

It is the last frontier of personal journalism. Where else can one find the personal expression of the people themselves but in the columns of these weekly chroniclers of community happenings? The smaller communities form the backbone of American democracy and freedom, and it is ever thus because the weekly newspaper is the watch dog and leader of those finer things that make up our American way of life.

The weekly newspaper has become the billboard of practically every program that develops in the community. Its force is put behind every campaign for the betterment of education, health, support of democratic government and betterment of the moral standards of the country. Its readers are individuals and not just a group representing "X" number of people.

Through the columns of the weeklys there is unfolded the week by week history of each community; its heartaches, its sorrows, its joys and its accomplishments. In fact your newspaper is not only your "textbook", it is your "history book." Witness a letter received by a Louisiana weekly newspaper publisher from one of his subscribers: "I have many fond memories of your newspaper and the people who have been connected with it. Not long ago . . . it occurred to me that in the files of your paper is the history of my life. Your newspaper has recorded the story of my birth, my childhood parties, my graduation from high school and later from college, my marriage, the arrival of my four children and the death of one of them—and now in more recent years your columns have been recording the arrival, one by one, of my grandchildren . . . Is it any wonder that your newspaper means so much in our home and that we look forward eagerly to receiving it each week?"

When any individual, group or organization wants to accomplish a program in the community, the first step is always to bring the newspaper into the program. Thus the newspaper unfolds into the semi-public institution that carries the torch for all good causes.

One fact that is many times overlooked in today's hurry and bustle is the selling and marketing jobs that newspapers accomplish. Our economic life today is dependent upon marketing. No other media can point to such great accomplishments in keeping the wheels of commerce moving as can the newspapers of the nation. The weekly newspaper is more thoroughly read and digested than any other publication because the readers of the weekly newspaper are a part of the everyday happenings of that community. They have faith in their weekly newspaper because they know it is the only publication that cares the least bit about their particular part of the country.

Ben Turner Bags a BIG ONE!

A REAL PRIZE—Ben Turner, who lives at 121 Military road, has reason to be proud of this magnificent buck deer which he shot Sunday morning at 7:00 o'clock on the old Weyerhaeuser road going toward the Des Chutes river. Hunting alone, he was unable to bring the deer out, so he buried the carcass and drove home for help. His brother-in-law, Merle Prettyman, returned with him and, with the help of two loggers, got the big deer out of the brush and into the truck. The deer dressed out over 200 pounds. —Photo by McKewen

Pigskin Pow-Wow Big Event At Bethel

Senior High is scheduled to present an act.
The whole purpose behind the Pow-Wow, Principal Earl Platt reports is to increase school spirit. However the outcome of the performance, if past years are considered, is one of entertainment. Though none of the skits are highly polished performances, since the students do not have any school time to work on the skits, they have played before very appreciative audiences in the past.

General committee chairmen for this year's production, besides Miss Fager, include: Bill Bell, props and stage; Marilyn Harpel, tickets and programs; Barbara Antonie, publicity and Susan Daines, posters.
The program is scheduled to get underway next Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. in the Bethel Senior High gym. The location of the Pow-Wow had to be changed this year from the auditorium to gym, according to Platt, as the Pow-Wow's audiences have more than filled the auditorium. The program is open to the public with a small admission fee being charged.

Benefit Dinner For Mrs. Milne

Fruitland Grange is having a turkey dinner Sunday, Oct. 18 from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., the proceeds to go to Mrs. Mitchell (Neve) Milne who was severely injured in an accident while rock hunting recently in Kalama. She has spent six weeks in a Longview hospital and is to be brought home by ambulance to complete her convalescence. Mrs. Milne suffered fractures of ribs, collar bone and pelvis when the bank caved in and buried her to the neck. Mrs. Milne is very active for the good of the community and it is hoped to have a good turnout out to show appreciation for her years of service.

For further information, call Mrs. Joe Heil, TH 5-6953, or Mrs. Clifford Hurst, TH 5-5393.

Booster Night

Clover Creek Grange will hold the annual Booster Night Friday, Oct. 16, at 8:00 o'clock. Everyone is welcome to come and bring the family to enjoy an evening of games, cards and lunch.

Invitations have been extended to collegians attending away from home as well as to alumni already out in the work world. Chairman Leslie Sales is being assisted by Tom Lumsden.

"We certainly urge all alums to attend Friday night as both the faculty and student body would like to see the old faces once again and renew acquaintances," Rick Smidt, publicity chairman for the event, said Wednesday.
