Franklin Pierce Will Present "One Foot In Heaven" Comedy

"One Foot in Heaven", a three-act comedy, will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings this week in the Franklin Pierce High School Cafeteria at 8 o'clock.

The play features senior Mike Rust as Rev. William H. Spence, a practical, forthright minister with deep sincerity, and junior Patt Iverson as Hope Spence, the youthful, understanding wife, but one who is shrewd, yet has a ready sense of humor.

The cast includes Jim Kent as the narrator, Rev. Fraser Spence; Ralph Vernon as Hartwell, Rev. Spence's son; Charlotte Iverson as Eileen, their daughter; Mike Finegan, Dr. Romer; Toni Martins, Maria; Colleen Patrick, Molly; Mike Callaghan, Ronny; Leah Betts, Louise; Hilary Sandford, Letty; Susan Jensen, Mrs. Sandow; David Shuffield, Mrs. Digby; George; Marty Hovey, Mrs. Cambridge; Melody Johnson, Mrs. Jellison; Jerry Smith, Major Cooper; and John LeMaster, Bishop Sherwood.

High-collared shirts, ankle-length dresses with puff sleeves, knickers, and knee socks will help to create the mood

Banquet At Church

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet is once again being held Friday evening, May 12th, at 6:30 p.m. at the Immanuel Baptist Church, corner of 94th and Pacific Avenue.

The Program Chairman, Mrs. Enid Riley, informs us that the Fashion Show that is scheduled as part of the evening's program will be something of special interest to all mothers and daughters. Models from The Muriel Mathies School of Modeling will be displaying and modeling articles of fashions, courtesy of "Lisa's Tots & Teens" of Lakewood. Fashions from babyhood to time of marriage will be previewed. Special musical talent and an extra-special evening of entertainment has been planned.

The Men's Council of the Church will again be donning chef hats and aprons, as they will again be traditionally preparing and serving a delicious home-cooked dinner. The Junior and Senior High boys of the Sunday School Department will be acting as waiters.

Sale of tickets are under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Wilcher. Reservations may be made by calling the church offices at GR 2-4813 or GR 4-6758.

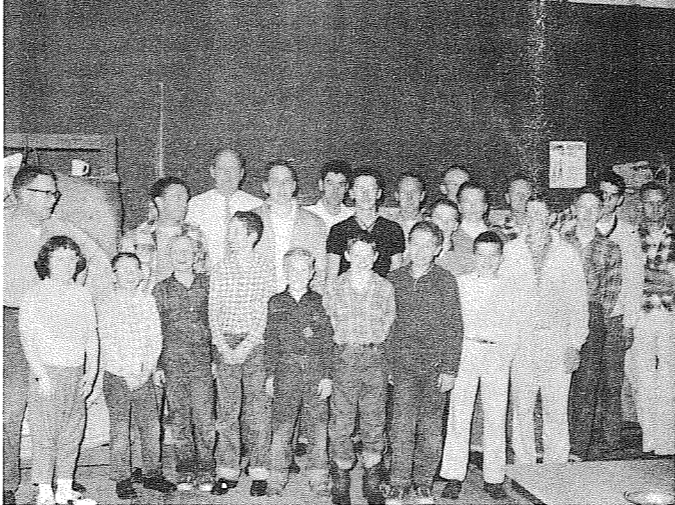

Now's The Time to Enter Parkland Round-Up Parade

The business houses, clubs, and organizations of Parkland and surrounding areas are again busy preparing entries for the Parkland Round-Up Parade which takes place Saturday, May 27th, at 10 a.m. at Parkland.

This parade is said to be the largest Western parade in Washington, and is certainly an opportunity for any group to show the public the purpose of their organization.

Elsewhere in this paper is an entry blank for anyone wishing to take part in the parade. For further information call LE 7-5524.

Bethel Rec Program Set

Plans for this summer's Bethel District recreation program are now being prepared, according to Director Earl Platt. A full run down on the activity program planned for this summer has been outlined by Platt.

The Bethel District plans to schedule games for the following Little League teams this summer: Rookie League, boys under 12 years of age or boys who will not be 122 before September 1961; Bantam League, for boys under 15 years of age or those who will not reach their 15th birthday before September 1961. All players in the three leagues must attend or live in the zone of the school they represent.

There are hopes that a team from the Senior High School will be organized to play in the County Connie Mack League. Girls will not be left out of the summer recreation, Platt has announced that he hopes to organize and coach any of the following leagues: Junior Girls, Junior High School students, and in the Lassie League, for the South End Pool in Tacoma fifth and sixth graders.

PLU Plans Band Concert

The Pacific Lutheran University School of Fine and Applied Arts announced this week that a special band concert will be presented for Parkland area Residents this Saturday evening at 8 in the university auditorium. An annual event, this spring concert this year has been designated by PLU as an opportunity to present, for local people especially, an entertaining evening of music the whole family will enjoy.

According to band director Professor Gordon O. Gilbertson, the band has selected music this spring that will please music lovers of all ages. He promises that the audience will find the Spanish lilt of Morrison's "Caribbean Fantasy," Lecuona's "Andalucia," and Verdi's "Bolero" easy listening, and the stirring strains of such marches as "Jubilee" by Kenny and "March 'Onward'" by Luthold truly exciting.

Also featured in the performance will be Johann Strauss' "Perpetuum Mobile", and three selections of R. R. Bennett's "Symphonic Songs for Band." The program will close with a dynamic version of Haydon Wood's Manx tone poem, "Mannin Veen," in which the full band will unite with the power of the auditorium's Casavant organ, to be played by Martin Schaefer. Schaefer, band president and organist at the Fort Lewis Post Chapel, composed the organ score himself as the original was not available.

Companion Collie Fair Coming

A companion collie fair will be held May 6-7 at Fredrickson, Wash.

Companion collies are collie dogs which are being trained for guide dogs for the blind. Until these dogs have passed all requirements for a guide dog, they can be used as companion dogs for retarded people. These dogs are being trained by local 4-H members and adults.

The Collie Fair will attempt to acquaint the public with the procedure and training these dogs are subjected to. For further information call LE 7-8710 LE 7-5504, or LE 7-3158.

Dryer Attends Funeral Session

Travers F. Dryer Sr., managing director of the Dryer Mortuary, 220 South 134th Street, has recently attended the 1961 Annual Meeting of the Guild of Ethical Funeral Practice, at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco. Dryer, accompanied by his wife Florence spent a few additional days in Southern California before returning to Parkland.

The "Brainstorming" session of the meeting—an annual event permitting close participation by the U. S. and Canadian Guilders in attendance—resulted in a free interchange of ideas among those present, on ways and means to improve the standards of service even more in the members' own home communities.

On Feb. 27, 1954, the first steam catapult ever installed on a Navy ship was tested aboard the aircraft carrier UEE Hancock at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, Bremerton, Wash.

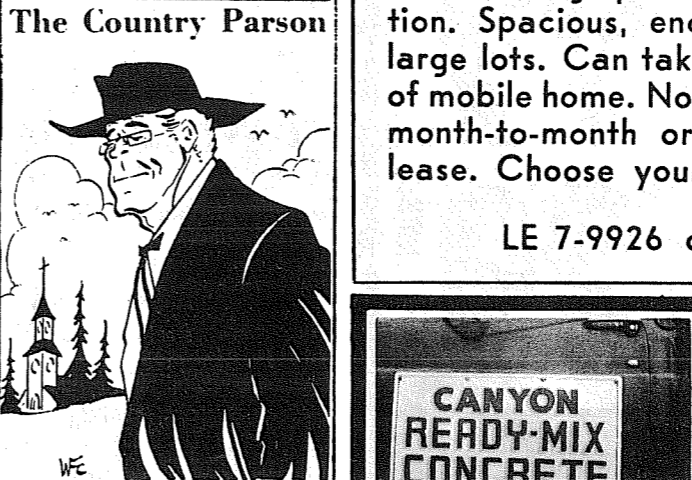

Parkland Round-Up

MAY 26 - 27 - 28

will be $6.00 for 15 sessions. A new program to begin in the Bethel District, if enough interest is shown, will be a tennis recreation program for both boys and girls. They will be organized into a 13 year and under bracket, and a 15 year and under group.

For further information on the Summer Recreation Program in the Bethel School District, interested parties are asked to call Earl Platt at Vine-wood 7-2144.

It's The Law

Personal Representative
When a person dies he ordinarily leaves many matters unattended. He may own property, he may owe debts and his death may have brought into existence inheritance or estate taxes.

To take care of these problems the law provides for the appointment of a personal representative.

If the decedent left a will he ordinarily designates the person he wants to act as his personal representative, and this person, if he qualifies in court, is known as the executor.

If the decedent leaves no will, then the personal representative is appointed by the court and is known as the administrator.

If the decedent leaves a will but fails to designate an executor, or if the appointed person dies before the decedent, or can't or won't act as executor, then the court appoints an administrator with will annexed.

If an executor or administrator dies while acting as personal representative, his successor is known as an administrator de bonis non.

In all instances if the personal representative is a woman, then she is known as an executrix or an administratrix. (This column is written to inform, not advise. Facts may change the application of the law.)

SOLID SEEDING CORN
There has been much interest in solid seeding corn and Pierce County livestock, and dairymen will soon have to make up their minds whether or not they are going to try this.

Ken Morrison, Extension Agronomist, has followed this quite closely in Washington and in the Midwest. Here are some of the observations: 1. The silage is high in moisture; it has run as high as 90% water. 2. The feeding standards for corn silage does not apply as there are no ears on corn if sown thick. The digestibility of the dry matter is high, however, 3. Good soil, high fertility, and moisture are essential. On poor or droughty soils, results have been very disappointing. On good soils, results have been better. 4. Farmer reaction has been varied. Some say they will never try it again, and others have been pleased.

Most livestock or dairy feeders should probably consider their soil first and then if it looks favorable, make a trial of a few acres rather than stake their winter feed supply on solid seeded corn.

Field corn for silage, however, looks like it has a real place in Western Washington for those that have the equipment and need a good cleanup crop in their rotation.

You wonder how sheep manage to stay alive nowadays, in some flocks I have seen. The other day I counted 102 ticks on a small part of a sheep's shoulder. Each tick can suck 1/2 teaspoon of blood. Dieldrin is a relatively inexpensive and very effective tick killer. Ticks on newly shorn sheep will immediately go to young lambs so the lambs particularly need dusting or dipping. Dieldrin dust costs about 75¢ to $1.00 for two pounds.

An internal parasite of particular importance in this area, too, is the stomach worm. There are 40 different kinds. Sheep are particularly infested with some worms. The recommended management here is to rotate pastures of sheep so they will not return to same pasture in less than four weeks, to prevent as much ingestion as possible of worm eggs. In addition to rotation of pastures, a drench given both fall and summer usually consisting of phenothiazine and lead arsenate, or copper sulphate, plus free choice phenothiazine salt available to the sheep all year except after fall drench. This drench costs about $6.00 per gallon.

If you are interested in sheep, you might like to hear about the sheep shearing table Dick Fenton of Gig Harbor is now using. It's 14 inches high and 3x4 feet on top. Dick can shear a sheep on this table without bending, without any strain on his back to hold the sheep in position. People with back trouble might particularly be interested in this.

You might be interested in knowing for 15 years lambs have been quite profitable for FFA and 4-Hers at the Northwest Junior Livestock show just concluded at Auburn. Even the lowest priced lambs sold for 5¢ plus more than the open market prices.

Pierce County Dairy Herd Improvement Association directors are busy these days calling on many of their neighbors. These directors are sold on the value of a production testing program and they want their dairymen neighbors to be aware that the program is available to them. The DHIA is a non-profit organization and these directors receive no pay for the work they do. However, they feel that since they are representing the DHIA program they should make everyone aware of the availability, cost, and value.

It is estimated that one-third of the cows milked today, do not produce enough milk or butterfat to pay for the feed and labor they require. Recently, a dairyman was shown where it actually cost him twenty-five dollars above the return for the milk produced, to pay for the feed that this cow consumed. This was during the winter feeding program and included the first part of the cows lactation.

It takes only one or two cows to pay for the cost of testing for a whole year. With these cows gone from the herd, more net profit is shown with less total milk produced. How can you ask for a program that would benefit a dairyman more during these days?

The directors report many say they know the production of cows without testing. This is almost impossible without using both weight and butterfat test. The DHIA testing program is gaining in numbers. Thirty-five per cent of the cows in Pierce County are now being tested and this has been increasing rapidly. Are you overlooking a valuable program that can help you?

a-Wondering . . . and a-Wandering . . .

with JACK BROWN

One of the great, continuing issues of the time in this country has to do with the role the government plays, or should play, in local problems and affairs. Without going into all the pros and cons involved, one thing can be said with certainty: "We now look to the central government for all manner of services and aids that were totally unknown a comparatively short time ago. And the cost of these has become staggering over the years."

It is argued that only the federal government has the resources to deal effectively with a lengthy list of local difficulties. And it is true that Washington has long provided help when disasters, such as floods and tornadoes, have struck various regions. However, in late times, local governments and local groups have turned almost automatically to Washington and to the federal treasury for troubles that are simply not in the disaster category and that, in a previous era, would have been dealt with at home.

The question, of course, is just how necessary federal aid for certain purposes is—and whether or not the local community could solve most of the local problems if it only tried. A publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States casts a revealing light on the matter. It tells the story of Fort Smith, Arkansas, which, in 1959, became what is known as a "depressed area." (Already I'm beginning to hate that phrase.)

Cause of the trouble was the closing of a major army base on the city's outskirts. The GI's who had spent freely disappeared. With them went a thousand civilian jobs. The area lost 6,000 of its population. Numbers of businesses went belly up, and for sale and for rent signs appeared in hundreds of homes.

But Fort Smith did not go hat in hand to Washington for help, surprisingly as it may sound. Instead, local dealers decided to do the needed job with local energies and resources. The Chamber of Commerce was revitalized and given additional financing, and its industrial development program was completely overhauled. A 100-man committee was organized into teams to inventory the area's tangible assets.

Surveys were conducted to gather the material that would make Fort Smith attractive to prospective industry. It was shown that operating costs were lower than in many other places; that good municipal services were available at moderate tax cost; that the school system was excellent; that there was an abundance of the necessary natural resources; and so on down a heck of a long list. Whenever the opportunity presented itself, industrial location teams, armed with their documents, pleaded their case before the executive officers of industries.

The program has been an outstanding success. Last year 1,188 new jobs came into being in the city—more than were lost when the army camp closed. The year also witnessed the coming of seven brand new industries and 22 major industrial expansions, accounting for a capital expenditure of more than $18 million. A new $10 million plant is nearing completion, and production just started on another $3 million development. New shopping centers are springing up, school facilities are being improved, bonds have been voted for a new civic auditorium, and the Fort Smith atmosphere has turned from gloom to optimism.

The Chamber's report observes, "Distaining any kind of federal aid from Washington, Fort Smith's business leaders declared: 'We're a city on the move. There's no limit to where we can go.' It seems only fair to say that many another community could do as much when trouble strikes, instead of asking Uncle Sam to take care of everything."

Instead of advocating an increase in the minimum wage in the United States we should be advocating a minimum wage for workers of Japan. If a substantial raise in wages could be made in Japan, West Germany, Italy, Great Britain and France, it would be the biggest boost to American business since the advent of automation.

Flying Exec Board Changes Date

With JEANNE

May 5th is the regular monthly meeting of the Western Travelers at Thun Field. Two first solo flights were made last week. The first one was Lowell Doud of Puyallup. Lowell has now completed his dual cross-country training and made a solo cross-country flight to Shelton, Toledo and return and also one to Yakima and return. Gene Johnston of Yelm made his first solo flight on Sunday.

Last week Charles Whitmore was issued his private license and as his first passenger took his brother on a sight seeing tour of the area. Two weeks ago Brainard Lee flew to Whidby Island where he picked up his dad and returned to Spanaway. Sunday Brainard, with Sylvia Harlock as his passenger flew to Enuk-claw where Brainard is learning to fly a glider. Now Brainard has taken off on a trip to Iowa in the Luscombe and will be gone two weeks.

A week ago Saturday Jerry Hedlund, Joe Townsend, of Shelton, Jack Brown and Dennis Williamson left for Kerrville, Texas. Dennis was to go as far as Petaluma, California where he is stationed in the Air Force. While Jerry and Joe took in a Mooney Aircraft dealer and distributors meeting at the Mooney factory in Kerrville, Texas, Jack toured the airports in Texas to pick up news of interest for the Northwest Flyer. Jerry and Jack returned to Spanaway Saturday night.

The Western Travelers swimming party was a huge success. The highlight of the evening was the old fashioned bathing suit parade. Babe Thun, Judy Blancher, Kathy Blow, Diny Schell and wee daughter Christie all modeled old style bathing suits that they had made themselves.

All About Brussels Sprouts
Brussels sprouts are members of the cabbage family and, like cabbage, go well with meats like pork and corned beef. Buy them only when they look fresh and firm, and cook them until they are just tender. Trim the stems off close to the sprouts and remove any discolored leaves. Put them to soak for 15 minutes in salted water. In a large saucepan put enough water to cover the Brussels sprouts and add a teaspoon of salt. Bring to a boil and then add the sprouts. Cook gently, UNCOVERED, until tender when pierced with a fork (about 15 minutes). Drain well and serve with melted butter, salt and pepper.

DEVELOPED BRUSSELS SPROUTS
Cook small Brussels sprouts, drain and serve with the following sauce:
1/2 cup butter
2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. L&P Worcestershire sauce
1 Tbsp. catsup or chili sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
Melt butter in a small saucepan. Add remaining ingredients and stir until smooth. Pour over the drained Brussels sprouts, or pass in a bowl. This amount of sauce is enough for 2 quarts of sprouts.
