Court Restrains Loveland Sale

The Trustees of Loveland Mutual were restrained from taking any further actions relative to the dissolution and sale of the company in a restraint signed by Judge Horace Greer Tuesday.

The suit was instituted by Attorney Paul Boyle, acting on behalf of Spanaway Water Company, a member of Loveland Mutual. The order restrains the trustees of the mutual until August 13 when the defendant of trustees must show cause why this restraining order should not be made permanent. It also directs them to show cause why they should not allow the plaintiff access to books and records in order to secure a mailing list of members.

Cooperating with Spanaway Water Company in the suit is a group of Loveland Members who formed a "Committee For the Preservation of Loveland Mutual" last week. Objective of the committee is to retain the company as a mutual.

Only Loveland Mutual trustee present at the first committee meeting was board president Fred Erickson. He assured the group that the company was not in bad financial shape, and there was nothing in writing between the City of Tacoma and Loveland as far as the sale is concerned.

In response to questioning by members, Erickson said that the City of Tacoma is required under contract to install sub stations and equipment necessary to provide the Mutual with adequate service. He charged that the City has failed to help the mutual keep pace with the growth of the area, and told of requests made to the City to update equipment. He said he was not certain if the requests were verbal or written.

The members learned from Erickson that their cause would draw no support from the Board of Trustees. When asked if the committee could get a list of members, they were told that if such a list is in the company files it would take a court order to remove it.

Other action by the committee included the election of officers, a plan to visit the regular Loveland Board meeting 8 p.m. Thursday August 7 at Art Crate's home, which is also the company offices, at Route 1 Box 143, Graham, and the calling for an open membership meeting.

Elected chairman was Otto Sorenson, vice chairman, Ben Chancellor; Secretary-Treasurer, Joyce Emery; and Nancy Dworsky, publicity chairman. Also present was Bob Eaton, Lakewood Mutual, Hugh Gonyeau of Spanaway Water, Bill Russell of Washington Horsemen, and approximately 26 members.

Speculation that a membership meeting might be in the offing came Monday following the announcement during the Bethel School Board meeting that Loveland Mutual had requested rental of the High School gymnasium. A date of August 19th was given as the proposed date of rental.

Elmhurst Seeks Merger Discussions

The Times Journal learned Tuesday that Elmhursts Mutual Power and Light Company trustees have requested a joint meeting with the Loveland Mutual trustees in a letter to Fred Erickson dated August 6.

The meeting would be relative to a possible merger or purchase of Loveland. The Journal informant made it clear the letter was not an offer to buy, but an offer to discuss possible merger or purchase.

BOB NIEHL, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Niehl of Rt. 2, Box 2456, Spanaway, last weekend placed third in the nation in the high jump at the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Track Meet at Minneapolis, Minnesota. Bob, who Times-Journal readers will remember as the high flying center of the Bethel Basketball Team of last season, represented Washington State after placing first in the State Meet at Sprinkler field on July 19.

STATE TROOPERS MICKELSON AND WEEKS administer first aid to Christine Smith, 19, of Rt. 1, Box 129A, Graham following this accident which occurred Saturday afternoon when the Smith vehicle left Muck-Kapowsin Road east of Bethel High School and slammed into the large fir tree in the picture. Miss Smith received a broken left leg, and many contusions and abrasions in the accident.

Schools Announce Registration

Preparations for next year's school sessions will begin for new students with registrations later this month. Of primary concern to parents new to the Franklin Pierce and Bethel Districts are times and places of registration and the bus routes with bus stops and time schedules.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Lindbo, Receptionist of the Bethel Schools, the Bethel schedule for new students will begin with registration for the high school at the high school building between August 18 and 29. Bethel Junior High will follow the same schedule as the high school. The district's elementary schools will follow with registrations a week later from August 25 to 29. The new student registrations for the elementary schools will be in the offices of the respective schools. Best information as to which of the school's boundaries include any residence is probably, as in years past, obtained from a neighbor. If any questions remain newcomers can get information from the Bethel District office at VI 7-2233.

Bus routing in the Bethel District is the responsibility of Gene Neeley who was appointed Transportation Supervisor this week. Neeley plans to retain the same basic pattern as last year with any changes incorporated into final route maps available at the individual schools by August 20th.

Franklin Pierce Assistant Superintendent Clint Richardson announced that his district plans to begin registration for all new students in the respective buildings on Monday, August 18th. Bus routes for the Franklin Pierce Transportation System will be given to all new registrants at registration.

Richardson also advised that anyone registering for kindergarten must be five years old on or before September 10th. Further questions can be answered by calling Richardson at the Franklin Pierce Administrative Offices at LE 7-0211.

Car Registration Closes To Those Under 18 Years

OLYMPIA — No one under 18 years old can be the registered or legal owner of a motor vehicle after August 11, with the exception of persons who are in active military service or who are entirely self supporting.

A law passed by the 1969 legislature makes it illegal to sell or transfer ownership of a vehicle to anyone under 18.

Library Trustees Meet Texas Picnic

Board members of Pierce County Library will hold the regular meeting Wednesday, August 13, at 2:30 p.m. in the library headquarters, 2356 Tacoma Avenue South.

When in doubt, the seller should protect himself by attaching to the title transfer application a certified copy of the buyer's birth certificate.

The law does not affect juveniles who are owners of vehicles prior to the August 11 effective date.

Former residents of Texas and their families are invited to meet at the main picnic area at Point Defiance Park, Tacoma, at noon Sunday, August 17, for the annual state picnic. Bring a picnic lunch. Coffee and lemonade will be furnished. There will be games and prizes for the children.

For further information call Mrs. William B. Yarbrough or Mrs. Theodore H. Langford.

ROGER M. PEGRAM, 32, 10702 Pacific Avenue narrowly escaped serious injury in an accident Tuesday which totally demolished his 1959 English Ford Van. Pegram was driving on C Street when his truck was rammed, rolled, and demolished by a 1961 Plymouth sedan driven by Mary P. Carlstedt, 33, of 1009 6th Ave. Tacoma.

Economy Warnings Highlight Bethel Board Meet

The regular meeting of the Bethel School Board was held at the Administration Offices at Route 2, Box 2442, Spanaway, Monday night, August 4th. Highlighting the evening were several heated discussions, most of which were unscheduled, ranging from sex to taxes.

Sparking the first lengthy discussion was the confirmation by the board of Gene Neeley of 19318 Aurora Drive East, Spanaway, as the Bethel District Supervisor of Transportation. Neeley has been on the job as appointee to the $9,000 a year position since August 1st. The fact that Neeley represents the third additional staff member in administration in the past few months prompted a flurry of claims and explanations which saw part of the board viewing the new appointments as unreasonably costly and Bethel Superintendent Fred Gramann arguing that increased supervision would result in savings from the closer control on spending. Dr. William Hauser, Board Member from Spanaway, cautioned Gramann, "I'm just warning you that if you keep adding more and more personnel without using what you have now, you will be voted down at the polls." Don Goddard, Board Member from Graham/Kapowsin backed Hauser's economy approach when he continued, "I think what Dr. Hauser is saying is that . . . out here every dollar hurts. The taxpayer is saying I would rather have a home for my kid to come home to than have a school for him to go to."

Pointing to the fact made public in a report from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction that said Bethel District is below comparable districts in expenditures for administration, Gramann countered, "A board is supposed to reflect the needs of the district . . . I came to you last year and said the structure's no good. I can't hold anyone accountable. I went out and spent the better part of a year working out a program that I felt would hold for maybe the next four years. That is the program you approved." Further defending the changes in structure that he hopes will result in reduced costs Gramann continued . . . "I would like to see the most efficient use of the tax dollar. You can't get the most out of your dollar without people to supervise it."

The appointment of Neeley and the confirmation of that appointment gained approval. A later move to reduce salary for the position from $9,000 to $7,000 died for lack of a second.

The second lengthy discussion came after Earl Platt, Principal of Bethel Senior High School submitted for board approval the code of conduct for high school students at Bethel. After discussions of whether or not to permit sideburns and whether or not to allow students convicted of criminal acts to reenter school without board approval, the issue bogged down on the general philosophy of high schools adopted 20 years ago by the student body and board. The specific set of items involved were very general purposes for which the high school exists. Of these items, one dealing with the understanding of human relations caused a flurry of comment and dire prediction. With the problem that human relations might become sexually oriented Don Goddard advised the board that he "would like to take the view of being very conservative in the matter of sex." Goddard went on to express his feeling that none of the present staff would allow anything out of line to occur, but there was always the possibility that someone could be hired who would be less responsible. Goddard expressed a desire to see some philosophy expressed that would be less easily misinterpreted because, as he said, "Teachers become rather self-centered in their view of education."

The entire matter of philosophy was tabled until a later board meeting. The regulations, which are based on the philosophy, were approved for use in the high school next year.

In the final action before adjournment Dr. Gramann advised the board of the rental of the Bethel High School Gymnasium to Art Crate for the Loveland Mutual. Gramann stated the purpose of the meeting will be to explain the sale of the Mutual to the membership. The meeting adjourned sometime just before midnight.

Loveland Board Meet

The Board of Trustees of Loveland Mutual will meet 8 p.m. Thursday, August 7 at Route 1, Box 143, Graham. The meeting is open to members.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Greatest Week In History

"This is the greatest week in the history of the world since the Creation," President Nixon told Astronauts Armstrong, Aldrin, and Collins, as he welcomed them back to earth after their epic round-trip voyage to the moon.

Certainly the feat of the three intrepid adventurers, backed by the technological resources of the National Aeronautical and Space Administration, dwarfed the achievements of many previous explorers.

For the first time in history, man had planted his feet on the surface of an extraterrestrial body.

Thus the way has been opened for future exploration of other planets. Perhaps Mars will be first, then Venus, then . . . who knows where this may lead us?

Some Disagree

But there are some who would not agree with the president's designation of "the greatest week."

One who would certainly disagree that the week of the moon-trip was "the greatest" would be Sen. Edward Kennedy—for that was the week in which Mary Jo Kopechne died of drowning in the senator's car, overturned in Poucha Pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

Also—Evangelist Billy Graham has expressed disagreement with the president, saying that several other weeks would have to be given consideration as contenders for the title of "greatest week."

Without detracting in any way from the significance of the moon-landing, which even Cairo Radio—not usually given to praising Americans—hailed as "the greatest human achievement ever," one would have to agree that sober second thought might cause us to consider some other weeks as being even more important to the welfare of the mankind.

Other Great Weeks

Consider, for instance, the week in which Christ was born.

That was an occasion when One Whose home was in the heavens came to this earth. It was the time when God showed us that His love for us was such that He wanted to express it in the only way in which we could understand it—by sending His Son to become a man, like us, so that He could tell us of God's love.

Then, think of the week of the crucifixion and the resurrection of the Lord. Certainly, no week can compare with that in its importance for the ultimate destiny of those who put their faith and trust in the Savior.

Some of us might also want to nominate other times for the title of "the greatest"—especially if we were thinking in terms of personal experience, rather than world-wide significance.

Sir James Young Simpson, the Edinburgh physician who discovered that chloroform could be used as an anesthetic, was once asked, "Which of all your discoveries do you consider the most valuable?"

"To me," he replied, "the most valuable discovery I have ever made was when I discovered myself a sinner, and that Jesus Christ was my Savior."

Photos Coming For Drivers License

OLYMPIA — A contract to produce photos on Washington state driver licenses has been awarded to Dek Processes Inc. of Fort Wayne, Indiana, the Department of Motor Vehicles announced today.

Dek submitted a bid of 25 cents apiece to produce an estimated 1.25 million photographic licenses and identification cards per year, starting in September when the new photo driver license law takes effect.

The Indiana firm will provide cameras, film, processing, and training of driver license examiners to operate the cameras.

The winning bid was second lowest of four bids ranging from 24.7 to 43 cents, Motor Vehicles Director Doug Toms said, but the company submitting the lowest bid was unable to meet the September implementation date.

The photo driver license and identification cards will be produced by taking a picture of the person and his license or card simultaneously. The film is then forwarded to Olympia for processing, the picture is produced on a laminated card, and the card is mailed to the individual. Drivers will retain the original validated card as a temporary license until the photo license is received.

Washington drivers will pay an extra 50 cents for photo driver licenses, in addition to the regular $5 license fee. Half of the 50 cent fee is to be used to pay for added postage and labor costs. Non-drivers will be able to obtain photo identification cards at a cost of $3.

WWI Vets To Meet

Parkland Barracks and Auxiliary 2131 Veterans of World War I will meet August 12th at James Sales Grange at noon. The noon meeting will be for a potluck dinner with the regular meeting to follow at 1:30 according to Mrs. Simonian of the organization.

SR512 Contract Awarded To Fiorito

The Washington State Highways Department, in its continuing program of providing modern highways for modern motorists, made seven contract awards July 31 totaling more than $8.5 million.

Included was a Pierce County award listed as follows:

PIERCE COUNTY — Fiorito Bros., Inc., Seattle, $2,177,398.50. Canyon Road to State Highway 161 Interchange southwest of Puyallup. Replace an existing two-lane roadway for three miles on State Highway 512 with a modern four-lane highway. 135 acres of ground is to be cleared, and 55 acres will be seeded, fertilized and mulched for erosion control. The roadway will be graded, surfaced, and paved with asphalt concrete. Five prestressed concrete girder bridges will be constructed with 157-foot long twin structures at the Woodland Avenue overcrossing, 157-foot long twin structures at the Fruitland Avenue overcrossing, and a single 284-foot long bridge at the 94th Avenue undercrossing. Fencing, installation of signs and overhead illumination are included in the construction requirements. Work is scheduled to begin soon, tentatively to be completed in November, 1970.

Consultant

Dr. Robert Mortvedt of Gig Harbor, who retired Aug. 1 as president of Pacific Lutheran University, has been appointed a consultant to the board of college education of the American Lutheran Church for the 1969-70 academic year.

In this part-time consultant post, Dr. Mortvedt will visit the campuses of the 18 ALC educational institutions periodically during the year. His first series of visits is slated for late August and early September in the Midwest.

Dr. Mortvedt was appointed to this post to handle some of the duties of the board's executive director, Norman Fintel, who is on leave of absence for graduate study at the University of Minnesota.

WOMEN'S WORLD

the Second Forty

by Margaret Brookfield

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I am a mother and a widow. I have been told that it is improper to continue wearing my wedding ring on the left hand and that it is customary for widows to transfer it to the right hand. My ring does not fit properly on the other hand. I loved my husband and wish to continue to wear the ring, but I also know that one cannot live with memories. Can you advise me?

M.J., Pleasant Lake, Ind.

Dear M.J.:

Many seem to believe that widowhood calls for either the removal or transfer of a woman's wedding ring, but this is not so. The proper course for a widow is to continue to wear her wedding ring on her left hand.

We might also add that one cannot live on memories, but living with them is part of life's experience.

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I was prompted to write because of the many letters you receive from women in their forties who want to return to work. I am in that age bracket and when I wanted to return to the business world, I applied to an agency dealing with temporary help. I got back into circulation again and it did wonders for my self-confidence. I hope this will help your readers. I enjoy your column. It is the only one I've seen for women over forty. I thought it was just the teenagers who "made the papers" these days.

E.S., Sturgis, Mich.

Dear E.S.:

Thanks for passing along the job-finding tip. Considering that one third of the females in the United States are in their middle years, isn't it about time they, too, "made the papers?"

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I am in my middle forties and the mother of three children. My last child was born when I was 40. Since her birth I have felt better than ever before, and my menstrual cycle has now become regular for the first time. But about two weeks before my period, my breasts become painful, and just before my period, the pain eases. I have regular medical checkups, so I am not worried on that account. But I would like to know if other women have this problem.

M.T., Portland, Ore.

Dear M.T.:

Yes, they do. Among the majority of women, the timing of the breast enlargement and pain is connected with the levels of hormones circulating in the body at that time. During each menstrual cycle, the breasts are stimulated by hormones from the ovaries which cause the breasts to swell. Many women fail to notice any change but others complain of pain, tenderness and even enlargement. The pain usually begins 10 days or so before the onset of menstruation and usually ceases abruptly with the onset of the period. It is always best, however, if you have any doubts, to check with your physician.

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help write to Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Over 40 Women Can Lose Weight

By Frieda Kaye

New York (MW) — Here's news for the women over forty faced with a weight problem: chances are, if you're overweight, you're overeating. A noted New York gynecologist, Dr. Seymour Schlusel, finds that the weight problem of many mature women is due to their "psychological state."

But he points out that women in this age category should have less of a problem losing weight than their younger counterparts. Nature aids them. "Physically and medically, it is probably even a little easier for the mature woman going through the menopause or the post-menopause to lose weight," he said.

Dr. Schlusel, an assistant clinical professor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at New York Medical College, finds that a major problem of many of his patients is overweight. "A woman gains weight as a crutch — she overeats, perhaps out of a very real depression brought on at the menopause time. Or she may turn to alcohol. Melancholia is another manifestation. But it's a whole psychological thing." The doctor explained: "The woman no longer feels she's attractive and so she looks for other outlets. We all know the stereotype of the matron who does civic things.

"A younger woman can get by more easily on her natural attractiveness. You expect a young woman to be appealing, but you comment on it in a woman over 40. You say how spry and buoyant she is. Well, after 40 a woman does have to work at it."

Loss of Hormones

Dr. Schlusel, who is associated with several hospitals including Mount Sinai, Montefiore, Flower and Fifth Avenue in New York City, pointed out that during menopause there is a loss of certain hormones causing less water retention than in younger women. This medical fact should make it easier to lose weight since retaining water is what causes both a bloated appearance and an actual weight increase.

CHECKMATES—Apple-polishing's in order for the back-to-school set, and checked cotton gingham is equally in order for brother-sister wear. Bright red apple appliques adorn the front of the little boy's button-on suit and the girl's back-belted apron. By Lil Filly Originals, both have contrasting collars of white cotton pique.

The gynecologist stated, that the administration of the hormone estrogen, a widely accepted treatment in menopause, may cause a slight water retention in some people but it is not permanent and can be lost with a little effort.

"The use of estrogen," Dr. Schlusel said, "is a highly special thing — that is, it's dependent entirely on the individual woman. Many people believe that administering this hormone prolongs youth. It appears to do this by preventing certain premature aging processes like demineralization of the bone."

Mind Over Matter

Dr. Schlusel made it very clear that not everyone needs estrogen. "Women who are depressed due to severe menopausal symptoms may benefit by this treatment. Or there may be a definite physical need for supplementing the hormone. And there is often a cardiovascular need."

Estrogen treatment should be administered under the advice and supervision of "a competent gynecologist," Dr. Schlusel noted. Any town or city has a medical society which can supply the name of a certified gynecologist in the area.

Dr. Schlusel discounts the old wives' tale about women over 40 having more difficulty losing weight than the younger woman. It is a question of mind over matter. "It's all a psychological thing," according to Dr. Schlusel.

UPS Doorbells For Housing

To meet emergency housing needs for at least 180 students this fall, the University of Puget Sound is installing modified A-frame units on campus and conducting doorbell and telephone campaigns to seek additional housing in the community, announces Dr. R. Franklin Thompson, UPS president.

Mrs. Mary Curran, dean of women, commented, "In the past, we have been pleased with the number of homeowners who have opened their homes to UPS students, and we hope those and many more will be able to house our students, in the face of our urgent need. Persons who have rooms available should contact the dean of students office at UPS."

The university hopes the action it is taking will relieve student-housing pressures caused by a 30 per cent increase in freshman students, an above-normal return of previous and transfer students and a lack of additional off-campus housing within an acceptable radius of the school, explained Larry Stenberg, director of admissions at UPS. The shortage is especially acute among women students.

Stenberg cited the A-frame concept as an "exciting break from the traditional format of campus housing which will offer students another form of small-group living."

Constructed by Pacific Fabricators, Inc., the two-story structures, 20 x 48 feet and costing $10,500 unfurnished, will house 12 students each and will be located in a picturesque grove of fir trees on the main campus. At least five structures will be built.

DECORATING TRICK—A tall off-size window is given subtle decorating treatment in a bedroom that combines the old and the new effectively. The trick: vertical blinds of white cotton against an all-white background. Made with Tontine shade cloth, the blinds add linear definition while providing light and privacy control. Floral-printed cotton covers the antique brass bed.

COLORFUL—Cotton can provide the bold color that gives dramatic impact to home furnishings. Here it's used in a rich shade of royal blue as the covering for an Empire-inspired sofa in the bedroom of a year 'round beach home.

OLYMPIA — Both the buyer and seller of a vehicle are obliged to report the transaction, according to a new law which takes effect August 11.

The buyer will be guilty of a misdemeanor if he fails to apply for a transfer of ownership within 45 days after taking delivery of the vehicle. The seller may be liable for towing and storage charges up to $100 if he does not report the sale within five days and if the vehicle is subsequently abandoned by its new owner.

Failing to apply for a title transfer within 15 days already carries a penalty of up to $15 ($5 on the 16th day and $1 a day thereafter, up to $15). The misdemeanor charge for delaying more than 45 days is in addition to the $15 penalty.

The seller should report the sale to the Department of Motor Vehicles in Olympia by obtaining a form from a license agent's office. The forms will be available after August 10.

The purpose of the new law is to clarify ownership and liability questions that have hampered the efforts of law enforcement agencies and tow truck operators to dispose of abandoned vehicles. The provisions are designed to fix liability for towing and storage costs, ensure that vehicle ownership records are kept up to date, and simplify the procedure for sale of abandoned vehicles.

Under the new law, a tow truck operator may post a $3,000 bond with the Department of Motor Vehicles' Dealer Division and be registered as a "disposer of abandoned vehicles."

After holding an abandoned vehicle five days, a bonded operator may begin the process of notifying the vehicle owners and, if the vehicle is unclaimed, arranging to sell the vehicle at public auction. If the sale proceeds do not cover the towing and storage costs, the registered owner of the vehicle would be liable for the difference, up to $100.

The new law also authorizes cities or counties to pass local ordinances which would further simplify the procedure for disposing of abandoned, wrecked or dismantled vehicles. For instance, a local ordinance could be enacted authorizing the sheriff to declare an abandoned vehicle a public nuisance and dispose of it without notice of sale, provided the vehicle was at least 10 years old.

Intercommunion Hailed By PLU Administrators

Missouri Synod recent approval of full intercommunion was hailed by the new president of Pacific Lutheran University, Dr. Eugene Wiegman, and PLU academic vice president, Dr. Thomas Langvin.

Both have been attending the annual Missouri Synod convention this past week in Denver, Colorado, where the historic vote was taken.

Dr. Wiegman was very pleased about the forward move and said that the American Lutheran Church and the Missouri Synod are looking forward to working together in the church and in Christian higher education.

Voting on the most controversial theological issue at its biennial convention in Denver last Thursday, delegates of the three-million member denomination agreed to an exchange of preachers and mutual partaking of communion between believers of the two bodies.

The American Lutheran Church has 2.6 million members.

The vote was 522 in favor and 438 against, with one blank ballot.

Approved "pulpit and altar fellowship," as the concept is known, does not mean merger. But the action was an important step toward the possibility of unification one day of all nine million Lutherans in the United States.

Wins Incentive Award

FORT LEWIS, WASH. — A Tacoma's suggestion for improvement of aircraft ejection seat equipment has netted him $500 through the Army Incentive Awards program.

Kenneth C. Knight, 37, of 1505 Military Road East, an aircraft mechanic leader at Gray Army Airfield, devised a method for extending the life of withdrawal lines used with the ejection seat from 180 days to 200 days.

The extra 20 days means that the lines can now be replaced at the same time regular maintenance is scheduled.

Knight, who raises beef cattle on his ten-acre farm east of Tacoma, has been with the Aircraft Maintenance Division here for 11 years. Before that he worked as an aircraft mechanic at McChord AFB.

Knight's spare-time activities include serving as a scoutmaster.

the full and beautiful day. Chairmen Lee and Carol West, Betty Leimback, Dee Moen and Chris Christensen created a fun filled atmosphere with their many games. At the District Meeting held at 2:30 p.m. Vice President of Loyal Order of Moose District 4, Orville Ellwein announced the next District function will be a visitation to Tacoma Moose Lodge 435 on Saturday night, August 23rd.

Clover Park Offers Swing Shift Courses

Beginning September 3, Clover Park Education Center will offer a career training course in Electronics on a swing shift basis. The hours of the class will be 4:00 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. According to school officials, during this first year of the new session, only students with little or no prior training or experience in electronics will be enrolled. Applications for the course are being accepted now. Interested persons may contact the school for an interview appointment.

Clover Park has offered a daytime career training program in electronics for over 10 years. Graduates have been employed in a variety of electronics technician positions throughout the Northwest and other parts of the country. The complete course is 19 months in length, based upon a 6 hour training day.

During the first year, students study electron theory, mathematics, vacuum tube and semi-conductor theory, basic circuits, alternating current theory and transmission theory. The second year includes advanced theory, transistors, antenna and transmission theory, advanced mathematics, technical communications and technical drawing. Second year students may elect to concentrate their study in some phase of communications, or radio and television repair (including color television), or home entertainment components.

School officials said the hours for the new swing shift course were set to accommodate as many day shift workers as possible, but if conflicts still exist with work schedules, special arrangements may be discussed with instructors.

Extension Office Lists Trailer Tips

Vacationer, prepare to pull your trailer safely, said Eddie Thomason, county Extension agent.

Byron Haley, WSU outdoor recreation specialist, recommends the following preparation:

- Make sure the trailer hitch is tight, for bolts can work loose even after the trailer hitch has been correctly mounted.

- Make sure the ball's diameter matches the trailer.

- The ball should be lightly lubricated with grease.

- Set the locking pin or catch in the hitch after attaching the trailer to the car, and attach the safety chain from the trailer to the frame of the car.

- Pug in the trailer lights to check them. While standing in back of the trailer, have someone else work the lights, turn on the signals and the brake lights to make certain they are in working order. Blinking or dim lights mean a faulty connection that could break down at any time.

- Have the following on-the-road emergency equipment: spare tire and wheel for the trailer; a scissors of hydraulic jack for changing a tire; a flashlight with good batteries; and flares.

- Distribute the weight of anything carried in the trailer or boat evenly on the center-line and concentrated over the trailer's wheels. Heavy, sharp or breakable objects should be put in the trunk of the car. Boat fuel tanks should be carried empty, if possible. Boats should not be used as utility trailers; sharp or heavy items can wear through the boat hull.

- In trailing a boat with an outboard motor, the motor's gearshift should be set in Cycle Safety Law Effective Says Vehicle Dept.

OLYMPIA - After two years in operation, Washington State's motorcycle safety law has been even more effective than its proponents had hoped, according to Department of Motor Vehicles Director Doug Toms.

In 1966, before passage of the law, 45 motorcycle fatalities were recorded. In 1968, the number of motorcycle fatalities dropped to 23, a reduction of 49 percent.

During the same period, motorcycle registration declined 16 percent, from 55,395 to 46,597.

One provision of the 1967 law requires that motorcycle riders wear protective helmets. Toms said the requirement appears to have had a direct effect in reducing fatalities, since 11 motorcycle riders suffered fatal head injuries in 1968 as compared to 28 in 1966.

The law also requires that motorcycle riders pass a special license exam, a provision with which only 20 percent of the state's motorcyclists have complied. Toms theorized that the remaining 80 percent may be more careful about obeying laws and equipment regulations in order to avoid being stopped and cited.

neutral. In trailing with the motor in down position, lock the tilt mechanism. In trailing with the motor up, use a wood block to prevent the motor from falling.

Check and repack with grease the travel trailer's wheel bearings at least once a year. With boat trailers, check the wheel bearings before long trips, as water in the grease hub causes excessive wear.

Survival Facts Outlined

By Robert F. Bradley
In summertime, many people take to the woods for picnicking, camping, fishing or hiking. In the last mentioned activity, travel is often into remote areas, such as mountains or deep forests. Consequently, it is not uncommon for some of these hikers to become lost.

To survive under any conditions you must first have water, which is usually available in Western Washington. If you are in a high mountainous area, where nighttime temperatures drop sharply, shelter may also be important. And, of course, under any conditions you will eventually, if not soon, need food.

Did you know that some 90 per cent of the wild plants growing in Western forests are edible? They may not be tasty or particularly flavorful, but they are quite nutritious. Tubers, leaves, flowers, and stems of several plants are edible — boiled, roasted, as greens, or in soups or tea.

The Indians ate the wild plants and subsisted mainly on them, with fish and a little wild game. The pioneers also used wild plants to balance their diets and relied on them heavily in the spring to relieve the monotony of dried meat, fish and bread.

Among the common edible plants, berries are probably those that are tried first. According to a reliable informational source, however, observe the following rules: (1) Do not eat white berries; (2) Most orange and red ones are all right; (3) Blue and black ones are almost all edible.

The following berries are found in the forests of the Western Cascades: trailing blackberries, cranberry, elderberry, huckleberry, Oregon grape, salal, salmon berry, serviceberry, strawberry and thimbleberry.

Other common wild food plants are: cattail, chickweed, clover, dandelion, fireweed, horsetail, pond lily, nettle, rose hips, skunk cabbage, wild sweet pea, thistle and violets. Others, not so well known, are: bracken fern, brook mint, clover foot and cow parsnip, miner's lettuce, watercress and wild currant. Sometimes it is only the very tender portions that are used.

As for another group, mushrooms, be absolutely certain of their identity and that they are edible. Some are safe to eat, while others are poisonous.

Plants to be avoided, be-

A Midland area resident is enjoying his first days of retirement this week.

James J. Cornelius, water serviceman for Tacoma City Water, was honored for his 22-year career at the Utilities Department with a coffee hour reception by his fellow employes and friends.

Now he says, he will have more time to devote to rearing his youngsters, fishing expeditions and church activities.

Cornelius and his wife, Rose, reside at 2024 — 99th Street East. They are joined at the home by their children, David, 13; Kathy, 10; Timothy, 9, and Mark 8.

They also have two other daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Butler, of nearby Roy, and Mrs. John (Barbara) Landall, of Vancouver.

REO Office Schedule

During the week of August 11th the Rural Employment Office will be at the following places from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

August 11 — Buckley, TB&M Thriftway Parking Lot; August 12 — Buckley, TB&M Thriftway Parking Lot; August 13 — Buckley, TB&M Thriftway Parking Lot; August 14 — Tillicum, Tillicum Hardware; August 15 — Lakeview, Richfield Service Station, 10621 Bridgeport Wy. SW.

cause they are poisonous are: wild cucumber, snowberry, locoweed, water hemlock, poison oak and nightshade.

We are currently preparing a fact sheet with some details on identification of all plants and cooking instructions on the edible ones. If you would like a free copy, send us your name and address. In the meantime, consult your public library or bookstore for books that will help you to positively identify all of these plants.
