Sheriff Stojack Launches Reserve Patrol Program

Wednesday evening, March 30, the first of 18 sessions of the new Reserve Patrol Training Program was held in the County-City building in Tacoma under direction of Sheriff Frank Stojack. The 19th meeting will be the graduation ceremonies at which the 57 hand-picked men chosen for the program will receive their credentials and be entertained at a banquet.

Unique in its scope, the Reserve Patrol Training Program will produce 57 fully trained sheriff's deputies, operating on regular schedule without pay, available for duty at any time or place as needed by Pierce County. In charge of instruction will be 15 of the county's top law enforcement officers, headed by Sheriff Frank Stojack and Prosecutor John McCutcheon. Men entering the Reserve Patrol Training Program will receive the same instruction given the regular men—first aid, fire arms, patrol procedure, etc. and must pass the same rigid examinations required of all sheriff's deputies. The Sheriff's jurisdiction in Pierce County covers an area of 1980 square miles of territory, a total of 1701 square miles of land and 279 square miles of water. Within the county are incorporated cities, each with its own local government. While the Sheriff's rights and powers cover the entire County area, duplication of police services within incorporated communities are avoided.

Sheriff's Reserve Deputies will be utilized to assist regular deputies in the event of a major disaster or in a Civil Defense situation requiring additional manpower in protecting life, property and public health. In addition to the above primary duties, their services will be used as part of a practical continuous training program to perform police functions on regular patrol, at special events and other special assignments within their own local communities. The innovation will provide a bonanza of benefits to citizens of Pierce County, adding a force of 57 trained men to the 37 now working out of Sheriff Stojack's department as patrolmen. The new contingent, mobile and flexible, will be ready to act in any emergency without disrupting the regular schedules of the present deputies.

Governor Rosellini Sees Demonstration By Mountain Rescue Council Teams

Partridge, Pierce County Civil Defense Director, watch para-medics administer first aid to two "victims" as part of the March 27 demonstration witnessed by Governor Rosellini. — MCKEWEN STUDIO PHOTO

Combined Mountain Rescue Council Litter teams and Para-rescuemen on March 27 carried out their first formal practice to be witnessed by Governor Albert D. Rosellini and state and county officials.

Mountain Rescue Council Litter Teams have been active in rescue work for several years. They have recently added the Para-Rescue Teams in an effort to give stranded or injured climbers a better chance for survival.

In the demonstration Sunday, Para-Rescue Teams left Thun Field in a light plane piloted by Boone Willmott. They parachuted into the Rescue Center Area near Ohop Lookout, where the Governor and his party were located.

Once on the ground the para-medics administered first aid to simulated victims. Mountain Rescue Council Litter teams from Everett, Seattle, Bremerton and Tacoma were then called in with litters and equipment necessary to carry out the "victims." One obstacle overcome by the rescue teams was lowering a "victim" 200 feet down a sheer rock wall.

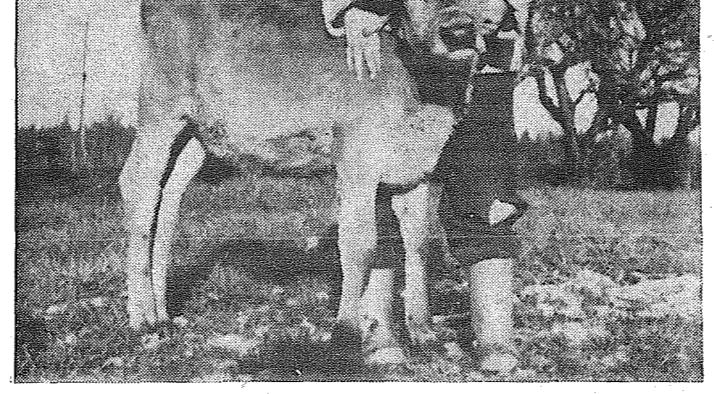

Coffee for the Governor, his party, and the Litter and Para-Rescue teams also was delivered by air drop.

Among the dignitaries witnessing the demonstration with the Governor were Frank Stojack, Pierce County Sheriff; Roy Betlack, Washington State Patrol; William B. Gebenini, State Director of Aeronautics and Gus K. Partridge, Director of Civil Defense for Pierce County.

Communications for the Governor and his party was furnished by the Pierce County Office of Civil Defense. Messages sent to Mountain Rescue Council teams also were transmitted over the R.A.C.E.S. network.

Owen D. Wright, chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Tacoma Unit of the Mountain Rescue Council was in charge of the over-all program. Litter Team movements were under the direction of John Simac. Liaison between the Mountain Rescue Association and State Government Departments, State Civil Defense, County Governments and agencies was handled by Paul Williams.

If we accept the views of some critics at face value, American schools are in bad shape. Standards are woefully low. Other countries, such as Britain, are so far ahead of us as to be practically out of sight.

This kind of criticism, and the very serious questions that arise from it, caused U. S. News & World Report to look into the British educational system and to compare it with ours. The results of the study, under a London dateline, appear in the magazine's March 7 issue. And the picture, from the American point of view, is a good deal brighter — despite some cloudy patches — than the more extreme detractors of U. S. education would have us believe.

The article starts out with the big question — do British children get a better education than their American counterparts? And that, it finds, can't be answered with a simple, unqualified "Yes" or "No". The answer, instead, is divided: "It is true for a minority — the brightest children in Britain. It is not true, on the whole, for the majority of youngsters."

It is important to understand that there are fundamental differences between the British school system and ours. As the magazine puts it, "In Britain, the bright pupil gets practically all the breaks." If it is decided, when he is 11, that he is among the top 25 per cent of pupils in his district he is eligible for a special school, and is destined to get much more education than the mill-run children.

These latter, the article goes on, must be content with the second best. Attending college is virtually out of the question. They usually enter the ranks of labor at 16.

Britain's famous "public schools"—which are in reality private schools, with tuitions running to $1,500 a year—are widely and deservedly praised, as are her great universities. But only about 7 per cent of British children go to those schools. Moreover, Britain is near the bottom of the list of nations — 25th — in the proportion of population attending universities. The U. S. is first, in this regard, and Russia is second.

U. S. News observes: "Many educators say the big difference between British and American schooling is this: Americans believe that all children should have the opportunity of equal education. The British believe in educating an intellectual elite by limiting the opportunity of higher education to a tiny minority."

Britain does seem to be ahead of us in certain areas. Educators are high in their praise of what is known as "streaming". This is a system by which children are assigned to classes on the basis of intelligence, so the bright child will not be held back by the dull. And British schools seem to be much more advanced in maintaining discipline than is generally true on our side of the ocean.

But American education has its virtues, too. As a matter of fact, Britain is borrowing ideas from U. S. education, and is particularly interested in providing greater educational opportunity for more children. Here's the conclusion U. S. News reaches after its close study: "The conclusion reached after a close look at the educational system in this country is this: The theory that British schools are better than American schools doesn't hold water as a general proposition. The brightest pupils go to schools that, on the whole, are appreciably better than most American schools. But the vast majority attends schools that are inferior to those in America. And, for most, school days end at a very early age, by U. S. standards."

If anyone thinks that railroads are about as good as obsolete, what with the growth of other and newer forms of transportation, they should take a look at what is going on in Red Russia.

The Soviets, as they never tire of telling the world, are engaged in an all out drive to overtake the United States and the other Western nations in the production of goods and services of every important kind. There's nothing helter-skelter about Russian planning — their resources are being spent in the areas which her leaders consider most vital to her economic growth and her military power.

Russia is placing tremendous stress on railroads. New track systems are being laid, and existing trackage improved. Modern equipment, including quantities of electric and diesel locomotives are being added to her railroad plant. What it all adds up to is Russia's unqualified confidence that railroads are a vital national asset.

News from Red China indicates that a more or less comparable railroad improvement policy is being undertaken there — also, for both economic and military reasons.

This seems to be a situation where we can be learning something from the Communists. While we already have a modern railway network such as these nations are striving for, discriminatory taxation and excessive regulation, among other things, are throttling American railroads and stand squarely in the way of the ever-improving railroad service this country wants and needs. All our own railroads ask is equality of treatment and opportunity with their competitors. And that is what the national interest demands.

which tells in such a dramatic way the events which led to the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Assisting the choir will be two principal soloists: The Rev. Reuben Redal, pastor of Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma and Dr. Eric Paulson of Spokane, Washington. They sing the parts of the Evangelist (Matthew) and of Jesus. Other solos will be sung by members of the choir: Mrs. Eldon Kylo, Mrs. Del Schafer, Mrs. Lawrence Hauge, Mrs. Cecil Vance, Mrs. Jerry Varner, Mrs. Jim Freisheim, The Reverend Kenneth Christopherson, The Reverend Stewart Govig and Mr. Timothy Olson. Accompaniments will be played by Mrs. Erling Thompson, Miss Orpha Moser and Miss Sylvia Fylling, and a string quartet; Miss Juanita Griesemer, Mrs. Herbert Ranson, Miss Sheila Knutson and Mr. Olaf Malmin. The Reverend Erling C. Thompson, Pastor of the congregation, will direct the choir.

Seattle Boat Show Seen by Thousands

So you think a can of sardines is crowded? Well, brother, you haven't been to the Seattle Sports, Travel & Boat Show. Hundreds of people swarmed over Seattle's Civic Auditorium on Sunday the 20th for the second day of this showing, which ran through March 27th. They saw many different 1960 models of both inboard and outboard, along with many new house and camping trailers plus other sporting and camping equipment.

Although the boats were the main item on the program, they were outshined by the fine singing of the TV famed Lennon Sisters, who will appear through the 25th. (This reporter was just about trampled to death by the mass of autograph hunters after the Lennon Sisters' performance).

The Mills Brothers — Donald, Harry and Herbert — took over the entertainment for the final two days of the show on March 26 and 27. The boats were the same

F. P. Cardinals Place in Tourney

Franklin Pierce's surprising Cardinals came home Sunday from their conquests of Bothell and Richland in the State Class AA Tournament in Seattle. The Cardinals finished seventh in the final standings which rates as the top effort in basketball in the seven-year history of the school. By virtue of their upset win over Richland, the Cards finished ahead of Tacoma's Wilson and eight other powerful squads in the cage classic.

The last two weeks were memorable ones for the Cardinal fans. An upset win over Kent 56-47 and a workmanlike 50-41 victory over arch-rival Clover Park paved the way for the tournament berth.

Rick Smith, captain and star guard of the local forces, was named to the second team all-state selections. Smith and his teammates, were rated as the scrappiest bunch by many in the meet.

Coach Del Schafer was real pleased with his group of athletes. Determination and hustle were the keys to success according to the Pierce headman. Schafer has taken two teams in two years, a perfect record, to the big event.

Other starters besides Smith were Jerry Manley, Ken Southall, Jon Malmin, Gary Rihtarich, Joe Mancuso and Tom Tommervik.

Junior Queen Competition
 All eligible 4-H girls in the county who wish to compete for the 1960 Junior Fair Queen and her court of six princesses are reminded to be sure and have their record books completed for this year and last year as much as possible and have them turned in to the County Extension Office by Thursday, March 31, as that will be a very positive and strict deadline.

Larson-Deisher
 Another June wedding of interest to many Midlandites is that of Miss Delores Marie Larson, daughter of Mrs. John Velke, and John R. Deisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Deisher of Everett. Delores graduated from Franklin Pierce High School and Pacific Lutheran College and is now teaching at Richmond Beach. Her fiance was graduated from the University of Washington, where his fraternity was Delta Tau Delta.

Woodland News

This month's pack meeting for Cub Scouts of Pack 91 will be postponed from this Friday evening, March 25, to the next Friday, April 1, at 7:30 in the Methodist church in Puyallup. All scouts take note of the change.

Monday noon, March 14, about 34 women from the Woodland area met at Steve's Gay 90's for a farewell luncheon for Mrs. Everett Snider. The Snider family, formerly of Lundblad Road, have moved to Richland, Washington. We wish them much success in their move and hope they enjoy it over there, but we certainly want them to remember all of their friends from around here. A silver offering was taken and presented to Betty. Following the lunch we played several games. A good time was had by all.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
It is my humble belief that we are all allowed the right to express our thoughts but I do not believe we have the right to be sarcastic or downright rude to people simply because our beliefs are far apart.

My beliefs are such that I am not ashamed or afraid to sign my name.
(EDITOR'S NOTE — Every letter ever published in the Times Journal was signed by the writer — no anonymous communications will be considered. In the March 3rd issue, the name of James L. Carpenter was accidentally dropped in the print shop composing room, leaving only his address, 916 South 111th St. Our apologies to Mr. Carpenter).

I think we should all give Mr. Whitesel a big pat on the back for being honest and especially honest at a time when a school election was at hand.
I did not misinterpret the meaning behind Mr. Whitesel's warning. It is very clear that our students are not using their abilities to their utmost and the question in my mind is why? We have gone along with every proposition the schools have asked for — and yet the students need more study.
I'm more firm in my belief that the style schools we are building do affect the students' desire to study.
I also should like to make clear

F. P. Grads Complete Knapp Courses

to Mr. Carpenter I did not arrive at the 12 per cent myself; that was a part of Mr. Whitesel's comment. And nowhere in that article did Mr. Whitesel mention the reason for lack of studying as being outrageously styled schools.
I also think I made it clear as to how I came to the conclusion that children were learning more from schools designed on a more stable fashion — I merely discuss it with other people and from the tremendous number of phone calls I have received, other people agree with me, people I have never met.

Now, for a person to admit to being old enough to have children attending school for the past 20 years, you would think they would understand that when boys and girls reach the Junior High level they are at an age when they want to be independent. That is good to a certain point, but good discipline is needed to guide that growing maturity in the right direction. That is a problem that is not as prevalent in grade schools. Children in grade school are more easily led by their elders than when they reach the Junior High School level.

Having once been a member of the military service, I understand how they fit into the community. And since I've been a member of the civilian group I can look back and I realize we would have been more of an asset to the community if we had owned property. Regardless of the amount the Federal Government pays a school district, the person who rents still pays such a small share of their responsibilities. And where does the Federal Government get the money to pay into the district? From the income tax which property owners have to pay also.

But there are a great many people who rent who do not work for the Federal government and if the rent is raised too high, they move on and the property owner has to foot the bills. That is what irks me so.

I have learned from a very reliable source that the state will issue matching funds for multiple storied buildings but will not give funds for "frills." That is very good!
Will some one please tell me why we need 20 acres to build one school? And who sets up the fee to be paid to the architects to design our school buildings?
Film strips and a timex I understand are considered equipment and not a part of the rambling designs of our schools.
The Parkland grade school does have a covered playground although it is not large enough to have football or basketball games, but the basement does allow for organized play on days when the weather does not permit outdoor activities.
If we didn't have walk ways but classrooms, Mr. Carpenter would not have to worry about spending his hard earned money on plexiglass to enclose them in order to protect our children from the bad weather. How much protection did the walk ways give our students and teachers during this snow storm? It must be wonderful to have so much money that we don't have to put a limit on the amount we can spend. But money alone will not provide a superior school.

The more elaborate our school buildings are, the more it costs to maintain them.
I do know we need schools — I'm all for schools — but schools are tax exempt and if they take up all the open land what is to be left for the building of homes or to induce light industries into the area in order that more people can share equally in educating our children?
It will be very interesting to see who wins out — the service station super markets or the schools! The service station and super market are a revenue, the schools in taking up so much land are taking away the chances of more income to the district.
Thank you for allowing me to express myself again.
Mrs. Jessie Henderson
407 East 127th
Parkland

Spanaway Man Heads New Firm

The recent opening of Topping Motors, Inc., 925 Market St., displayed the precision-built Swedish Volvo and the Mercedes-Benz and DKW cars in its fine showroom.

Jim Topping, heading the firm, is a family man and long resident of the Parkland-Spanaway area. The firm has been appointed exclusive dealers for Mercedes-Benz and DKW and its new quarters include a large shop, equipped to serve every need of the three lines. Qualified mechanics are presently enrolled at the factory-training center, Long Beach, California and on their return, working with the latest tools and know-how will insure buyers complete satisfaction in the servicing of their cars.

Jim and his wife Pat, associated with Horse Club activities around Parkland, belong to the Quarter-horse Breeders Association. They have given much time to training participants in this community's horse shows.

Mr. and Mrs. Topping are the proud parents of two boys, Mark and Brad, and small daughter, Jamie.

Topping was formerly associated with Topping Car Sales at 3402 So. G.
