'Peter Pan' Comes To Life On PLU Campus March 16

Peter Pan will come to life on the Pacific Lutheran University stage March 16 to 24 when James H. Barrie's famous play will be presented by the Children's Theater for seven performances.

Just as it was done in motion pictures and on television, Peter Pan and three other members of the cast will be "flown" on wires in carrying out action of the Barrie play, according to Children's Theater producer-director Eric Nordholm.

Peter Foy of Hollywood and London, a veteran of flying ballet, will bring his apparatus to Parkland for the PLU production. He will supervise installation of the rigging which consists of an elaborate system of ropes, cables, and wires, and will direct the flying at every performance. Foy is scheduled to arrive on the Pacific Lutheran campus Saturday.

The lead role in the production will be played by Ronald Miller. Others in the cast who will "fly" include Karen Hegstad, Myron Sandberg and Donald Tommervik.

Senior and Junior high schools throughout Pierce County have received additions to their Science Libraries via a gift to the school systems from the Pierce County chapter of the National Foundation on March of Dimes.

Miss Nora Hall, chapter vice chairman, presented 48 copies of "Life's Key--DNA" to Mrs. Ruth Bethel, county school superintendent, and Dr. Angelo Nordholm lists the performance times as follows: March 16, 12:30 p.m.; March 17, 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.; March 22, 1:45 p.m.; March 23, 8 p.m. and 10 a.m.; March 24, 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Business Club To Meet March 22

The regular monthly meeting of the Parkland Business Club will be held next Wednesday, March 22, at Johnny's Ranch.

The dinner meeting will be preceded by a social hour beginning at 6:30 p.m.

"Life's Key ---DNA," written by Carleen Maley Hutchins, dramatizes "the most exciting biological discovery of the 20th Century," according to Miss Hall. Prepared especially for junior and senior high school biology students, the book describes the striking advances in molecular biology during recent years and is designed to bring students up to date on what the DNA breakthrough can mean to the study of basic life processes in the nation's laboratories.

There still may be some "Astronaut" stamps available at the Parkland Post office, but they are going fast, postal workers say.

Earlier this week only 1,000 stamps remained from the supply of 10,000 received on March 7.

The Parkland branch received 5,000 of the initial issue of the space stamp, all of which were sold in short order. According to Tacoma Postmaster John P. McMonagle the original supply, placed on sale here soon after Colonel Glenn completed his historic flight, proved to be the hottest item ever known in the local stamp mart. Most of the 250,000 stamps were sold within two days.

So far, 300 million of the stamps have been issued.

Cardinal Voice: Cardinals Make Third Trip To State Class AA Tourney

The Franklin Pierce Cardinals are headed for the State Class AA Basketball Tournament after two smashing victories in the Puget Sound League District Play-offs.

The Cards' first game at State will be with Richland this Wednesday at 4:00 p.m. in the Hec-Edmundson Pavillion.

The Cards have a 14-4 record while Richland boasts a 20-2 record.

First place Puyallup and second place FP will represent the Puget Sound League in the tournament.

The Cards earned their place the hard way by first beating Mount Rainier, 58-45, then dumping Renton, who holds first place in the PSL Northern Division, 45-26. It was a hard fought game until the last quarter, when the Cards broke loose leaving the Renton Indians in the dust.

This is the third time the Cardinals will go to State. The first time they were eliminated without placing but the second time two years ago they placed seventh. The FP fans hope, as the old saying goes, that "three is a charm", and that the Cards will go all the way.

With the basketball season drawing to a close, baseball, tennis, and golf are entering the spotlight.

March 12 will be the starting of official turnouts for Coach Bud Galusha and the forty boys anticipating the baseball season.

Coach Galusha has high hopes for returning lettermen Tom Tommervik, Jim Blessing, Toni Morefield, Gary Hansen, and Keith Abbott. These five boys are seniors and will be joined by three juniors, Ken Anderson, Harvey Wagner, and Tim Sherry.

As soon as weather permits, Coach Norman Scott and his 35 tennis players will start warming up on the courts. Coach Scott has six returning lettermen on the squad.

Senior Larry Carson and sophomore Tom Fink are expected to make up the nucleus of the Cardinal golf team with Jim Van Beek, now teaching at Ford Junior High, as coach.

Fire Permits Needed For Trash Burning

THE WRONG WAY
High Fire Hazard - Burning Permit Required

THE RIGHT WAY
Fire Hazard Reduced - Permit Not Needed

"Spring has sprung, the grass has riz, wonder where the fires is"--could well be what the Parkland Fire Department is asking these days, and more specifically, who has fire permits?

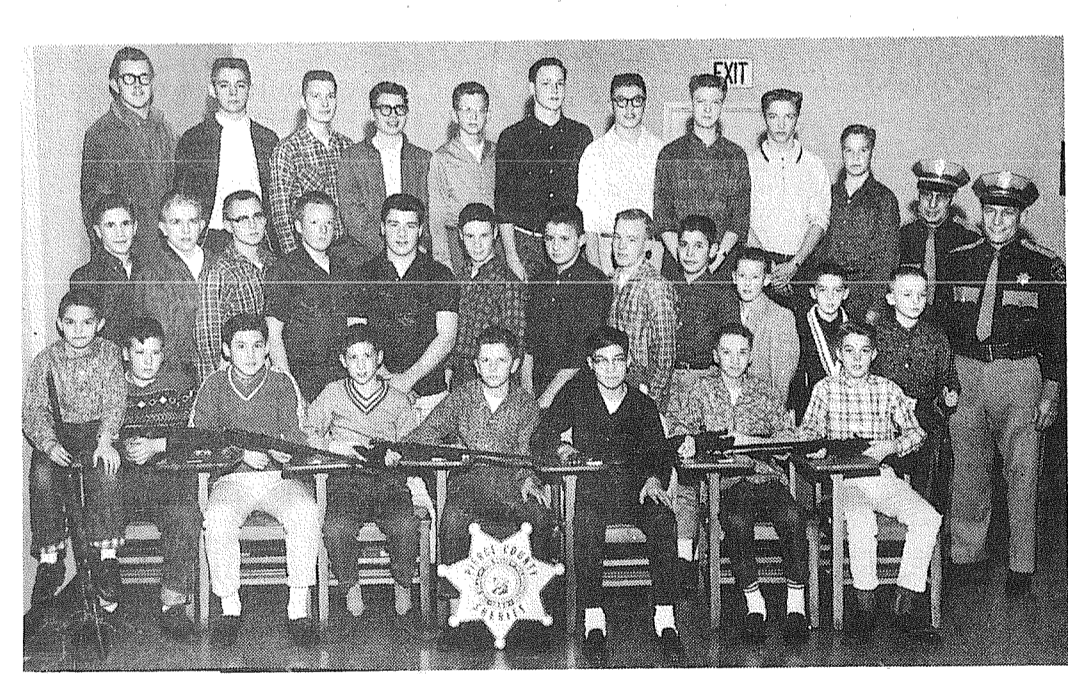

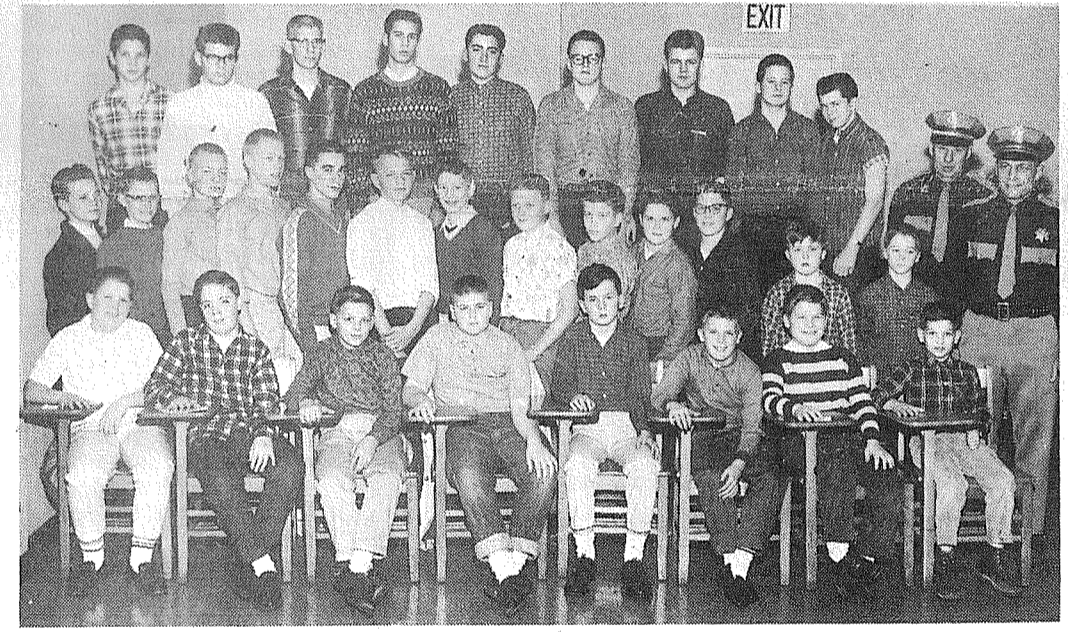

As of today, March 15, and through October 15, permits will be necessary for outside burning projects in the Parkland area. The permits, issued free of charge at the Fire Station, will be valid for a 30-day period now, with the time limit decreasing as the season advances.

The Fire Department in the area also concur with the above information.

For more information or assistance, the Fire Department may be contacted at LE. 7-8530. Cards with the fire station's phone number are available for the asking for those people who have not already received one.

Other fire departments in the area also concur with the above information.

Let Me Tell One: Good Luck, Cardinals

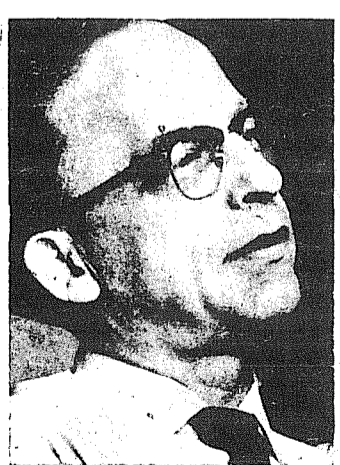

Today (Wednesday) the annual 'March Madness' begins at Edmondson Pavillion in Seattle.

Folks around here have a large interest in the state basketball tournament since Franklin Pierce High School has qualified for the meet. The Puyallup Vikings qualified earlier. The two teams are in opposite ends of the draw, with Puyallup playing the morning round the first day and the Cardinals in the afternoon round.

The Cardinals will be playing Richland in a game to start about 4 p.m.

The tournaments that I have seen at the Pavilion go back a few years, but they all have one thing in common. The noise level at the Pavilion rises to the ultimate on the first day and doesn't drop appreciably until the lights go out Saturday night.

The tournament has been kicked around the past few years with some people wanting to eliminate it and others saying it should be revamped, and still others saying the formula for choosing the teams is unfair, etc.

play for.

So here's Good Luck to the Cardinals and to the Vikings and since they both can't come home with the trophy, we'll have to wish just a little more luck to the Cardinals.

Under the heading of working with boys, I have a new position. I'm the Institutional Representative for a Boy Scout troop for the Southeast Optomists Club.

This is a job that I know I'm going to like, since it is working with boys.

The troop is made up of a fine group of young fellows and they all seem to be ready to take off and get their feet wet in the scouting program.

I'll be right with them most of the way, because at this moment a good number of them are ahead of me on the scouting ladder. I'll have to polish up the memory and call on some skills that are pretty rusty so I can at least stay with the majority of the boys as they work their way through the ranks.

Who knows, I might even make second class.

'Little Census' Starts
Week Of March 19

The purpose of these inquiries, asked each March in the Current Population Survey, is to supplement and keep up to date the detailed information about the Nation's population which is collected every ten years in the decennial censuses.

Census officials point out that all information about individuals furnished to the Bureau is held in strict confidence under Federal law. It is used only to obtain summary figures such as totals, averages, and percentages for various groups in the population and not to show information for particular families or individuals. The information cannot be used for investigation, taxation, or regulation.

The Current Population Survey will be conducted here and in 332 other sample areas of the country during the week of March 19. Information will be collected locally by Mrs. Ethel M. Hindery, 3123 No. 31st, Tacoma.

Levies Result Of Law 30 Years Old

The need for school districts and other taxing bodies to request excess levies from the voters every year is a result of State legislation passed nearly 30 years ago.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 1, which will come before the voters in the near future, will permit taxing organizations to ask voters for funds for longer than a one-year period. It will, according to government authorities, eliminate the need for asking for excess levies every year.

Until SJR-1 is passed into law by the voters of this State, however, all taxing bodies must continue to depend upon the voters every year to pass excess levy requests in order to carry on normal operations.

a-Wondering . . . and a-Wandering . . .

Just to show you the odd quirks that life can sometimes play on one. I'd like to tell you about a woman I know. She is the mother of a 22 year old son and wife of the world champion aerobic pilot. Throughout the summer months she stars in an aerial show which many of you have seen on TV and on the screen. During these shows she does a wing walking act standing upright on the top wing of a high performance plane and hanging by her feet as the plane sweeps in inverted just a few feet above the runway. Annually thousands of spell bound people watch her perform with their hearts in their mouth. Through the years Judy has received nary a scratch from her death defying act but last year she joined a group to go ice skating on a nearby farm and ended up breaking her right arm. Again this summer she thrilled the masses during the air shows and from a letter received from her yesterday I hear that she returned to the ice pond again last week to break her other arm.

The current superhighway project is the greatest public works project ever undertaken in this country. It was a "must" proposal of Ike's, who laid special stress on its military significance. It includes 41,000 miles of the most advanced type of high-speed highway. The cost, originally estimated at $27.5 billion, has been upped by about 50 per cent to $41 billion--and there is every likelihood that it may soar again before the completion date is reached 10 years from now.

Yet, writes Jack Anderson in Parade, "Investigators are finding graft and fraud, thievery and bribery around every curve. They are learning that the broad new highways are paved with waste, inefficiency and boondoggling. More pathetically, they are discovering that many property owners have been cruelly victimized and virtually robbed of their homes by ruthless and unfair condemnation procedures."

Mr. Anderson, who is Parade's Washington correspondent, does not, of course, pull such harsh indictments out of his hat. He bases his article on an all-out investigation of the highway program being conducted by a special House committee headed by Representative Blatnik of Minnesota. What has been unearthed so far can be summed up in a statement by the committee's chief counsel: "Throw a dart at a map of the United States. Wherever it sticks, we can find something wrong with the new highways."

Some of the waste, no doubt, can be attributed to the eagerness, inexperience, or incompetence of local officials who had never seen such a wonderful flood of money before and wanted to use it as quickly as possible. But outright thievery and dishonesty have been rampant. Mr. Anderson cites incident after incident. Among them:

An operator of a sodding company admitted to having committed perjury before a grand jury, by hiding the fact that a state highway commissioner was his secret partner. He then asked police protection, claiming that he had been warned: "I can get anyone killed for $500 to $1,000."

The wife of an engineer received similar threats, in an effort to force her husband to go light in testimony concerning contract violations on a $2.5 million stretch of highway.

In one state, close to $75,000 in gifts was traced from contractors to highway engineers.

A highway engineer collected $27,000 a month rent on two tractors bought for $8,900. In another case, a highway-engineer managed to take in $4,613 in rent for a water truck that didn't even exist.

These are obvious instances of graft. As Mr. Anderson points out, such bigger operations as bid-fixing and hidden interests are harder to run down. But there seems no doubt that these, along with the appraisal racket, which enables those with the right connections to get out-of-this-world settlements, have robbed the taxpayers of huge sums of money. As an odd little example, the people of a town rejoiced when a new highway cut through a bawdy house (not in Tacoma, I don't want to get drug into the local hassle) on the outskirts. But the madam received such handsome damages that she was able to open a far fancier establishment. On the other hand people without pull have been bluffed and bulldozed into selling their property for a fraction of the value.

Then there are the costly and elaborate installations that almost no one has any use for. Mr. Anderson cites this as an example: "An elaborate clover-leaf has been constructed in the wilds of Montana. It has 24 signs which tell a farmer and his family (the only people who use it) how to go places they have been going for generations."

What can be done about this enormous graft and waste? Representative Blatnik says: "The public can help most by getting mad. In too many localities, the people take a politicians-will-be-politicians attitude. In a democracy, nothing curbs corruption as effectively as an aroused citizenry."

Letters To The Editor:

Your generous contribution helped make our Bonnet Promenade a beautiful and successful affair.

It is through such support that our Mary Bridge Children's Hospital is the asset to Tacoma that all might enjoy.

Most sincerely,
Mrs. Roy Kraus, Mrs. Matthew Clapp, and Mrs. Robert Spiegle.

Dear Mr. McLean:
I like yours and Jack Brown's editorials even better than those in the "News Tribune". Editorials about religion, patriotism and the like, I think, are very timely and uplifting.

So thanks and God bless you.

To The Editor:
Last week National 4-H Week slipped by without much notice of it in the paper. Being this is a 4-H community there really should be notice taken of their good work. The 4-H horn should be blown as there is a great deal to blow about. The goal of this organization is to build good citizens of our boys and girls. It is no longer only for the farm youth.

There are over 40 projects, many of which may be carried by the urban youths. The young people who stay with the 4-H program long enough for it to have meaning in their lives, have an interest that is deep seated and builds for their good character, self confidence, and a good life.

Parents learn to know their children and the children their parents, because by necessity the 4-H projects must have parent cooperation to make them successful.

Mrs. George Haaland.

Warn Against Scalping Of Fair Tickets

Seattle World's Fair officials have issued a warning against ticket scalping, reported in several areas of the Pacific Northwest.

Reports indicate that $6.50 "bonus books" of tickets (representing approximately a $10.00 value) have been priced at $10.00 by some scalpers, who apparently misinform buyers that the price soon will rise to as much as $15.00.

Michael Dederer, vice president of the Fair, says the bonus books will be on sale at approved outlets--chiefly banks--only until March 15. Adult books are priced at $6.50 while children's books are $3.75. "The bonus books represent a good value," Dederer said, "but we strongly recommend against paying prices at anytime above $6.50 or $3.75." Single admission tickets also are available at discounts until March 15, Dederer said. After that date, the only gate admission ticket available will be $2.00 adult admissions and $1.00 children's admissions.

Traffic Kills 46 During February

Forty-six persons lost their lives in grinding automobile smashups in Washington during the month of February. The bill for this carnage soared to nearly $8,000,000.

These somber statistics were reported by Washington State Patrol Chief Roy A. Betlach. He said traffic deaths in the state since January 1st are estimated to have cost the state nearly $17,000,000 in property damage, hospital bills, lost wages and other related factors.

According to records kept by the Washington State Safety Council, Pierce County posted four traffic deaths in February of this year.

Many Retired Seek Familiar Surroundings

The idea of low cost housing developments for retired people is receiving much attention these days. Surveys show the social and economic need for such projects. Yet, while the needs may exist, the idea may not be completely accepted by the senior citizen himself. There is another side to this issue. Many want to stay put. Retired people do not want to move just for the sake of living among people of their own age. They argue that their present neighborhoods are comfortable and familiar. Also they contain the ties and friendships that they wish to maintain. Further, they may now be living in areas which are more convenient to public transportation, shopping and churches than the new neighborhood might provide. The old home may be too big for them now, but moving into more "practical" compact quarters would deprive them of the room for accommodating visiting children and grandchildren. They would rather close a wing or the upstairs bedrooms, having such space available for week-end guests. Many retired citizens whose home groups have decreased as children have married and moved away have solved the problem of too much room by renting the extra bedrooms. This adds to their income and provides companionship. While the proposal of providing a new, repair-free dwelling to the retired homeowner may have merit, this, too, has a counter argument. The senior citizen may not wish to climb ladders to paint his home's exterior, or do other heavy maintenance work. At the same time he may enjoy repairing a leaky faucet, adding a wooden book case to a room or fixing the cracked plaster. Having the older's home re-sided with a building material such as insulating siding is a valuable investment. It provides a maintenance free exterior as it conserves on paint costs and reduces heating and cooling expenses. But, let the stairs sag a bit and the fixtures need replacement. These chores are right down "Mr. Fixit's" alley.

PLU Cagers Bow To Savannah In Opener At NAIA Finals

Pacific Lutheran University's Evergreen Conference championship basketball team returned home for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) finals in Kansas City Tuesday after dropping a first round game to nationally ranked Savannah (Ga.) State, 84-75.

The loss brought to an end one of the most successful cage seasons since the days of Chuck Curtis, Roger Iverson and Jim Van Beek. On the season the Knights won 19 games and lost 9.

Savannah State trailed only once in beating the Lutherans Monday. That was midway through the second half when a free throw by Hans Albertsson put PLU in front, 58-57.

PLU pulled to within five points in the last minute and a half, but the strong Tigers quickly raced to the final nine point margin.

Leading scorer for the Knights was sophomore Marv Fredrickson with 27 points, 14 in the second half. Albertsson scored 23. High for the game was the Tigers' Radell Walton with 29.

Savannah State: (84)-- Tate, 17; Jackson, 20; Wal-Poulsen, 8; Castleberry, ton, 29; Dixon, 6; Kelly, 4; Albertsson, 23; Fred-6; Mathis, 6. Totals: 36-rickson, 27; Nelson, 12; 12--84.

Cattle Ills Being Eradicated

The two most costly diseases affecting cattle are being eradicated from the State of Washington by the federal government's "problem" herds with a history of continued brucellosis infection. His work is aimed at discovering the causes of continued infection.

In 1961, in the brucellosis eradication program, a total of 166,849 cattle were blood tested, and 363 reactors were found. The infection rate was .21%. A total of 141,850 calves were vaccinated.

In the tuberculosis eradication program, a total of 137,086 cattle were tested and 168 reactors were found. The infection rate was .12%. The number of herds under quarantine decreased from 34 in January of 1961 to 12 in February this year.

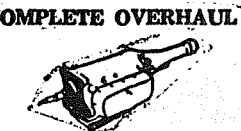

Few save the poor feel for the poor. - Letitia E. Landon

The state's animal disease eradication programs are cooperative programs conducted by the Animal Disease Division of the State Department of Agriculture and the Animal Disease Division of the United States Department of Agriculture. Cattle are screened for brucellosis through the market cattle testing program at salesyards and slaughterhouses. Under these programs cattle going to market are blood-tested. When reactors are discovered they are traced back to the herd of origin and the herd is tested for additional infection. This method was pioneered in the State of Washington and now is accepted as an official method for use in counties and states throughout the nation.

Also used to screen for brucellosis is the milk ring test, which dissolves infection in dairy animals.

A third important control measure is calfhood vaccination. The brucellosis eradication program in this state also has been advanced by the assign-

Berry Growers Can Profit At School

Latest information on strawberry and raspberry growing will be available to all growers, including "home gardeners", in this area at an evening berry school conducted by County Agent Morrill Delano.

This clinic will be at the Winter School Building, Western Washington Experiment Station, Puyallup, on Thursday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. Delano has arranged to have Washington State University Extension berry specialists assist him in bringing the 1962 berry recommendations and procedures to the people of Pierce County.

He will have samples of all the strawberry plant varieties recommended for Western Washington available for observation and discussion. This will be the time and place for your questions answered and berry problems discussed.

PLU Football Coach Roy Carlson Named

Roy E. Carlson, assistant football coach at Washington State University the past three seasons, has been appointed varsity football and baseball coach and assistant professor of health and physical education at Pacific Lutheran University, Dr. S. C. Eastvold, PLU President has announced. The appointment was made by the board of regents.

Carlson, 43, will take over at the University this summer. He replaces James D. Gabrielsen who has resigned after four years to enter private business in Minnesota.

A veteran of 17 years as football coach in Washington, Carlson is presently a research assistant in physical education at WSU.

He is married to the former Beverly Gardner, a native of Detroit, Mich. They have two daughters, Linda, 17, and Caron, 13. "I am extremely happy to get back to the west side of the state and to get this post at Pacific Lutheran," Carlson said. "I have the utmost confidence in building up a sound football program. Our first year will entail a lot of rebuilding, but we have a good nucleus of 19 lettermen from which to start."

Dr. Eastvold stated that the university feels fortunate in obtaining a man with such wide experience and talent for the position of coach and teacher. "We are looking forward to having Carlson with us," added Director of Athletics Mark Salzman. "He has

Easy Conversion Insurance Plan Offered Vets

More than two-and-a-half million World War II veterans who have not converted their term insurance to permanent plan policies may use an easy-stage method of making the change, John B. Kirsch, Manager of the Seattle Veterans Administration Regional Office, pointed out today.

Both the law and VA regulations permit these term policyholders to convert as little as $1,000 to a plan with fixed premium amounts, in order to avoid the periodic increases in the cost of term insurance.

By converting $1,000 a year for the next ten years, the full amount of a $10,000 policy will be in permanent plan insurance within a decade.

Kirsch pointed out that annual dividends may be used in the process to reduce the cash outlay.

Permanent plan policies available to World War II term policyholders are ordinary life, 20-payment life 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60 and endowment at age 65.

Permanent plans have certain values which term policies do not have, including loan value, cash surrender value, and an extended insurance value.

Advertisement for Microtone hearing aids featuring a large image of a telephone receiver and a handwritten letter. The letter reads: 'Dear Mom and Dad, Thank you much for the beautiful handsome birthday shirt and tie! I've had the usual guilty conscience about not writing and Jane's been after me -- also as usual -- but we've been awfully busy and you know how I am about writing my own letters anyway. (We older portable doesn't like letters writing either, as you can see.) Sometimes I think it'd be easier to call you Long Distance. It'd be great to hear your voices, and we could trade all the latest a matter of fact.' The letter is signed 'Tom Ord' and '537-5170'.
