Rainier's West Side Highway Offers Unbelievable Scenic Views

A Lesson in Ecology

The West Side Road in Rainier National Park offers some scenery and mountain views that are spectacular.

On arriving at the entrance to Mount Rainier National Park, the ranger warns that Paradise is extremely congested with autos and to avoid that area of the park if possible. "We're headed for a picnic near the North Puyallup River under the Puyallup Glacier," was our reply and the ranger agreed that was a good idea and said the road was a little dusty, but we'd enjoy the scenery.

Enjoy the scenery was a mild statement compared to the great views along the West Side Road.

Fish Creek and Tahoma Creek wander through the valleys on either side of the roadway presenting many enjoyable sights to passers-by. Near Round Pass a monument has been erected in memory of the U.S. Marines that died in the airplane crash on South Tahoma Glacier in 1946.

From Klapatche Point the view to the west is only limited by the haze in the distance. You get the feeling you could see the Pacific Ocean if you could get the grayness to disappear.

Smoke from Tacoma's industrial area is visible as well as the fertile green Puyallup Valley.

Mt. Rainier along the North Puyallup Auto Nature Trail provide the close up spectacle of Columbia Crest, which is rarely seen at such a close vantage point. This road is not traveled very often because it is not surfaced and is extremely dusty when the weather is dry. It is not always open due to conditions of weather which sometimes make a dirt road impassable. A check with the ranger before starting up is advisable.

In 1922 a road was planned to run from Mowich Lake as part of an "around the mountain" plan. But in 1933 the last 2.9 miles could not be opened to the public for lack of funds. The road did cross the North Puyallup River just below the great glacier, but avalanches in 1948 and 1952 destroyed the bridge which brought traffic to the north side.

To those who enjoy their Sunday driving in scenic country, the West Side Road offers beautiful views all along its 15 mile route. It's too bad the plans of an around the mountain road had to end in 1933, this trip could be the highlight of any visit to Mt. Rainier.

View of the Puyallup Glacier which drops 1,600 feet at the cliff. The melting of this glacier feeds the Puyallup River.

Saint Olav Medal Awarded P.L.U. Professor

Gunnar J. Malmin, former director of Choir of the West

Gunnar J. Malmin, former professor of music and director of the Choir of the West at Pacific Lutheran University, was awarded the Saint Olav Medal on June 27 in Seattle at a banquet which concluded the annual "Sangerfest" of the Pacific Coast Norwegian Singers Association. The presentation was made by Thomas Stang, Norwegian consul, on behalf of His Majesty, Olav V, King of Norway. The award is for contributions to Norwegian culture in America, in this case in three areas — historical research for the Norwegian-American Historical Association, 32 years of service at P.L.U., especially as director of the Choir of the West, and contributions to Norwegian cultural organizations in America such as the Sons of Norway and especially the Pacific Coast Norwegian Singers Association, of which Mr. Malmin has been director and assistant director over a period of twenty five years.

The award came as a complete surprise and a welcome one to Mr. Malmin. Mr. Malmin is director of the Normanna Male Chorus in Tacoma, which this fall will celebrate its 82nd anniversary. The next "Sangerfest" will be in Tacoma, probably in August, 1971 and the concert may well be in Parkland.

LABOR LAW REFORM IS URGENT!

The need for change in the labor laws is becoming increasingly evident. Many contracts are being negotiated this year and unions are obtaining exceptionally high settlements.

As William F. Schmick, Jr., publisher of the Baltimore Sun and recently retired president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, points out, "It is axiomatic that higher wages cause higher prices. It is likewise clear that as a consequence of overly protective labor laws, the pendulum has swung too far to the side of unionism."

Mr. Schmick listed several major abuses which hurt the public: innocent damage to innocent parties from product picketing and product boycotts; NLRB decisions which have almost eliminated employers' freedom of speech in communicating with their own employees; and featherbedding which still plagues many industries.

"History has taught us," he said, "that, when a free people begin to turn on themselves for their greater glory of greed and gold, the very existence of their society is in danger."

Revision of federal and state labor laws to correct the imbalance between management and labor is necessary for the good of the public. Congress should give this subject top priority.

Growth of Government Increases

"In the past five years the growth rate of government in the United States has accelerated," Alfred Parker, Executive Director of the Tax Foundation, Inc., told members of the European Taxpayers Association. "Tax revenues have risen by nearly 70 per cent. During this same five-year period, our gross national product is expected to rise only about 46 per cent."

"Thus taxes have grown one and one-half times as fast as the expansion in our economic base," Mr. Parker said. "The central government now collects about two-thirds of all taxes (though it gives back increasingly larger shares to lower levels). Of the remaining third, about half is collected by the 50 states; and the other half by some 71,000 local taxing jurisdictions."

White Collar Workers Unionization Declines for Second Straight Year

Unionization of white collar employees in private industry experienced its second straight year of decline in 1969. The analysis of National Labor Relations Board election figures by the White Collar Report published by The Bureau of National Affairs, Inc. shows that organizing continued to decline from its nine-year peak in 1967.

Heavy election losses among technical employees' and salesmen's units account for the drop. In these categories, unions suffered 87 more election losses and gained 1,835 fewer employees than in 1968.

Pierce County Sheriff Reports

By Carl Petersen

In the past several weeks I have become more aware of a trend with a small percentage of students and young people that gives me considerable concern. In examining underground papers and advertising for rock festivals, I become more aware of this trend than ever before.

We are without a doubt, the most highly educated nation in the world and yet we are reviving occultism and astrology and imparting obscurantist pundits from the far corners of the world to give advice. Generally speaking it is not the poor nor distressed that are doing this. Most are affluent and well educated. Sensitivity institutes are springing up that emphasize the release of emotions and encouragement of impulse.

The theaters seem to concentrate more and more on soul and body baring that not only blunt and numbs the mind but the senses as well. Many kids I have talked to are not sure whether they feel guilty or liberated.

In music we find many serious musicians discarding their creative works and turning to making new electronic squeaks and roars. Much of the popular music is played at such high volume it seems to have lost any subtleties and effective lyrics. In large groups it appears to mesmerize the kids.

With this picture goes the overhanging cloud of narcotics. Millions of persons now use drugs to escape reality and the growing complexities of life. For many students, marijuana, speed, L. S. D. are the modern equivalent of the 1920 hip flash of bootleg whiskey. In 1969 we know of three and half billion pep pills sold and almost as many tranquilizers. This does not include the illegitimate traffic.

This minority is growing fast with the acceptance by more and more kids of the willingness to pollute their minds and bodies with these chemicals. This shows, to me, an unwillingness or inability to confront the problems of today. We preach the urgent need for more concern for others, greater use of our intelligence, substained social action and then hypocritically cop out by a "trip," self-pity and personal gratification thru drugs and rationality with sensations.

Like the 1920, I am positive the majority of our youth will overcome this trend of irresponsibility, the disregard of what history and religion has taught us. A well known slogan might be suggested to them. . . "I shall return."

Paul Harvey This Week

Senate Move To Dump Draft

by Paul Harvey

President Nixon came to office with such a popular position on vital issues that even his opponent, Hubert Humphrey, found few areas of disagreement.

The President promised action to end the war, end the draft, reduce crime, curtail inflation and retard the erosion of our environment. Nobody could find fault with those objectives.

Now, 18 months later, the Senate is passing laws to curtail the President's powers.

When and why did the honeymoon end? This is an election year. Most every public utterance in Washington is calculated with that in mind and should be listened to with reservations.

Yet when the Cooper-Church Amendment was proposed to clip the wings of the Commander in Chief, some staunch Republicans were among the 58 senators voting thus to oppose the White House.

And this month the "Washington Senators" are threatening to intercept another White House fumble and win for themselves credit for curtailing the unpopular military draft.

Sens. William Proxmire, Gaylord Nelson and Harold Hughes are proposing that no more draftees be sent to Southeast Asia.

The United States has about 3 million men in uniform, 13 per cent serving in South Vietnam; only 4 per cent of those are draftees.

So, these senators say, surely we can replace the 115,000 draftees in South Vietnam with regular troops.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird has said that the Cambodian operation was so successful and Vietnamization is so successful that draft calls can be drastically reduced.

Presidential adviser Dan Moynihan has called the draft "a way of getting amateurs to do a job for which we should be willing to employ professionals."

So it would appear that the President could end draft without awaiting a total phaseout of the Vietnamese war. If he lets the Democrats grab that ball and run with it, they may score on his play.

Thus two planks in the President's platform — ending the war and ending the draft — may be pulled out from under him by the party of the second part.

Another presidential campaign promise has to do with curtailing inflation. There is increasing evidence that some courageous White House moves are, at least to some extent, accomplishing that purpose.

But a presidential panel headed by outgoing Labor Secretary George Shultz reported to the White House that 70 million lower middle-class Americans are fed up with the pinch of high taxes to support the poor.

This blue-collar frustration results from inflation and taxation and the government's constant preoccupation with the freeriders.

7.8 million Americans on welfare is a lot of votes.

70 million is a lot more.

But the President's every effort at welfare reform has been turned aside while Congress contemplates a political-palatable program of its own.

This competition between the executive and legislative to try to woo you is not new, and not all bad.

Even when the two disagree on how fast to end an unwinnable war.

It's the LAW
PRESENTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE
BY THE
WASHINGTON STATE BAR ASSOCIATION
Double Jeopardy

Most likely you can't picture yourself being brought into court on anything worse than a speeding violation. Nearly everyone feels that way. Even so, it is good to know that in this country you can't be made to stand trial twice for the same offense.

We have a provision in the constitution against "double jeopardy." That's one of the important safeguards in our system of law which makes it certain that once a court has reached a verdict of "innocent," the acquitted person may not be put on trial again for the same offense.

This right holds good, however, only if a full trial is held and a verdict is reached. It is possible to face another trial on the same charge if the first trial ends with a "hung jury" or a "mistrial," or if a new trial is requested or if the judgement of acquittal is reversed by the state Supreme Court on appeal by the State.

A classic example comes from the "Wild West" of the late 1800s. A man named Ball was charged with murder, along with two others. Ball was acquitted, but the others were found guilty. The guilty pair appealed to a higher court, and their original indictment was found to be faulty.

Once again the government accused all three men. Ball claimed his right against double jeopardy had been invaded, and the U.S. Supreme Court agreed. He didn't have to stand trial again. The other two did, and paid the penalty for their guilt.

The reason for the "double jeopardy" provision is to protect the individual from being hounded all his life. In old England, where the fear of tyranny first prompted safeguards for personal freedom, one court said: "Were it not for this rule, anyone obnoxious to the government might be run down by repeated attempts to carry on a prosecution against him."

Local firemen were busy over the weekend putting out small grass fires, caused generally by carelessness, except in the Spanaway area. Spanaway firemen responded to three simultaneous alarms Sunday evening at 165th & 22 Ave. East, 176th & 14th Ave. East, 176th & 11th Ave. East that are under investigation and are known to have been set deliberately.

Parkland firemen had a bang-up time trying to put out a car fire at 116th & Spanaway Loop Road. A 1966 Pontiac owned by Tim Burns of 5302 South Oakes caught fire and ignited some fireworks in the glove compartment and made quite a wild display. Damage to the car was estimated at $500.

July 14
Parkland firemen responded to several alarms yesterday and this morning that were caused by carelessness.

A grass fire near the James Sales Garage, 100th and Salem Road, a grass fire caused by a young boy and fireworks; a careless smoker driving on Highway 512 at about Park Avenue - another grass fire.

Grass fires along highway 512 have been excessive this year and last night summit firemen were called to put out a grass fire along 512 East of Canyon, along the new highway section that hasn't opened yet.

A two mile long brush fire East of Pacific in the gulch between 56th St. and 38th St. was extinguished Monday by the Tacoma Fire Department. A spokesman said the fire burned along railroad tracks now used by the Milwaukee Road. Nine engine companies were called to control the blaze.

July 15
The Parkland Fire Dept. reported a color TV set shorted out at 710 South 138th St. The owners had the set out on the lawn when firemen arrived, no other damage.

Spanaway firemen were kept busy from early dawn yesterday until 10:30 in the evening.

5:29 a.m.: A brush fire one mile west of Pacific Avenue burnt out 3 1/2 acres.

10:15 a.m.: On the same road, 1 1/2 miles west of Pacific Avenue a small strip was burned along the highway.

Route 2, Box 2370, Spanaway: Youngsters were washing off paint brushes and rollers with gasoline and then decided to get rid of the gasoline by the use of an Acetylene torch - the result was some scared youngsters, but fortunately they were not burned.

3:29 p.m.: One acre was burned at 168th and 19th Avenue East. A bulldozer was used to help check the fire.

3:29 p.m.: At the same time as the previous fire, 1/4 acre was burned at 168th and 16th Ave. The Dept. of Natural Resources helped in the clean up operations.

8:09 p.m.: South End Auto Wrecking reported a junk car burned - no other damage.

The Fire Department reported it doesn't take them long to put out the fires - usually from 8 to 15 minutes, but many long hours are spent in the clean up work. Twenty men were kept busy from 4 to 10:30 p.m. to clean up and watch for rekindled fires. 11,000 gallons of water were used yesterday.

In the last few weeks four fires were put out in the area of 168th St. These were fires that were deliberately set.

In 1946 when the Spanaway Fire Dept. was organized they had 40 calls during the year. In this year they have had 21 calls in 7 days, 16 in the last four days. 1970 has been the worst year since 1946.

July 16
A car owned by Marvin McFarland of Route 1, Box 1615, Spanaway, caught fire yesterday shortly after 2 p.m. and burned extensively. McFarland was traveling south on Pacific when he noticed flames in the rear of the car, he turned off Pacific at 135th next to the Lucky Sales Mobile Home lot. The fire was caused by a gas tank leak and the damage was estimated at $1500.

Grass fires have continued to plague local fire departments. The danger of extensive fire damage from these fires exists at all times when it's so dry. Parkland firemen responded to a call along Highway 512 east of Interstate 5 and also one at 122 and J St. N.W. of Olsen Auditorium, where an old shed was destroyed.

Spanaway firemen were called this morning to the familiar area at 176th near the Ft. Lewis boundary; last night to Rocky Ridge to carry water to the State Fire Spector who was putting out a small fire; and to Fort Lewis to carry water to the aid of G. Firemen who have been busy fighting fires continuously for the past two weeks.

Spanaway Fire Department's rescue unit responded to the drowning at Lake Spanaway and were extremely hampered by traffic and discourteous motorists.

Spanaway Fire Department's rescue unit was called to an accident at the Milwaukee Road viaducts over the Min. Highway where a vehicle ran into the overpass almost totaling it, but no injury to the driver.

July 17
The fire departments have been kept extremely busy. Yesterday there were three fires going at the same time. Summit had one and summoned the aid of the Puyallup Fire Department. Spanaway called in Parkland Fire Department for help, and in Midland an unoccupied older house was burning and they called in the Parkland Fire Department.

Spanaway Fire Department reported a brush fire at 1:53 p.m. at 159th and 22nd Ave. E., three bulldozers were called in and crews were busy fighting it all night long, it burned quite a few acres and came dangerously close to one home. The wind also gave them trouble for awhile. While fighting this fire they had another call at 14301 Spanaway Loop at 4:58 p.m., a fire that burned an area of 165' by 250'.

The Spanaway Fire Chief wishes to thank all the volunteers who have worked so hard at all hours and also the auxiliary who have helped to bring food, and also other civilians who have helped. These people are not getting paid to do this, but are willing to help to keep all our homes safe.

July 20
As usual local firemen had a very busy weekend. Parkland Firemen responded to five grass fires; a pickup truck fire, caused by an electrical short; a car accident at 116th and Pacific; a resuscitator call and one false alarm.

Spanaway Firemen responded to two grass fires, one near Bethel Junior High that burned an area nearly six acres in size; a resuscitator call to aid an elderly gentleman at Spanaway Park.

Lightning ignited fires raced through thousands of acres of state grass and timberland last night as 5000 men fought them with everything available.

July 21
Chief Blavett of the Summit Fire Department reported in spite of the increased number of calls this summer the loss by fire has been negligible. Normal summer alarms run approximately twelve calls per month, this July so far they have had 26 calls.

Parkland Firemen responded to alarms yesterday at 1924 to 124th and Pacific - A grass fire at 3:51 p.m. to 112th and Ainsworth - A grass fire, and this morning at 9:16 a.m. to 825 So. 98th St. where a trash burner exploded, but no damage was reported.

Spanaway Firemen responded to a house fire last evening at Route 1, Box 1072, Spanaway, to the home of Martini Lambert. The exact cause of the fire was moderate but most damage was caused by smoke. Two grass fires caused by carelessness brought Spanaway Firemen to Roberts Road and Spanaway Loop Road at 11:38 last night and to Spanaway Loop and Mtn. Blvd. at 6:15 this morning. Thanks to dedicated firemen there was no serious damage.

Christian Science

The question "What is truth?" has a logical and practical answer according to the Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 26.

With a Golden Text from Second Corinthians which states, "We can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth," the readings include a verse from Psalms: "For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth."

The following passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, also is part of the Lesson-Sermon:

"Because Truth is infinite, error should be known as nothing. Because Truth is omnipotent in goodness, error, Truth's opposite, has no might. Evil is but the counterpoise of nothingness. The greatest wrong is but a supposititious opposite of the highest right. The confidence inspired by Science lies in the fact that Truth is real and error is unreal."

Services begin at 11 a.m. at all Christian Science Churches of Tacoma, and the public is welcome to attend.

With God

Dr. Alvin N. Rogness, who earned his D.D. degree from Pacific Lutheran University in 1949, is a popular and well-respected author and theologian. Published by Augsburg Publishing House of Minneapolis this month, is Dr. Rogness' book, Forgiveness and Confession: The Keys to Renewal.

In this book, Rogness directs his attention to man and the effects today's increased complexities have on him. The problems created by advanced knowledge and spiraling population produce fear in the mind of man and a feeling of guilt for what his life has become. Just when he feels a great longing for

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Shall We Follow The Pied Pipers?

Are the editors of some of our respected national publications deliberately trying to break down the morality of our nation?

Dr. David Reuben, author of the book, "Everything You Always Wanted to Know about Sex - But Were Afraid to Ask," is now writing a monthly column for a national magazine. In one of his columns he says:

"The outmoded and punitive criminal laws against abortion, adultery, fornication . . . need to be reexamined critically. It's nobody's business what an American adult does in the privacy of his or her own home - with another (consenting) adult, of course."

He decries limiting one's sexual life to marriage, as too restrictive.

Decency?

He says, "As long as personal sexual behavior is controlled by ancient and unrealistic laws, there is no opportunity for real decency to prevail." When he refers to "ancient and unrealistic laws," he means, I'm sure, laws based on the Ten Commandments - such as the laws which have been in effect in our nation from its earliest days.

By abandoning these laws he proposes to establish the climate for "real decency!"

Quite content to pit his wisdom against God's, he has come to the conclusion that adultery and fornication should be acceptable and abortion should be permitted.

This is real decency?

Another national magazine recently featured a report of a "Gay Pride Week" put on by homosexuals in New York and Los Angeles. The magazine said, "With cause, the homosexuals were protesting police harassment."

something that will give meaning to life, he has lost God. Without God, he finds no certain focus.

This book reads like a modern Christian confession applied to life in today's world. The author believes confession and forgiveness are the keys to renewal of life in the congregation. The unchanging message of Evidently, according to their view, the police are wrong in enforcing the law and the homosexuals are right.

The same magazine carried a favorable report of a church in Hollywood, California, catering to homosexuals - with a homosexual "minister" - in spite of the fact that the Bible condemns this gross sin in no uncertain terms.

Is it right that we should move toward a totally permissive attitude toward sex outside of marriage?

Is it really a forward step to make the killing of unborn children permissible, as Dr. Reuben proposes?

High Standard

Or would we do better to read and heed the word of the Lord, instead of the pronouncements of the self-anointed experts who pour out their folly in magazines which used to deserve our respect?

There are many who claim that the Old Testament law was too strict, saying that Jesus' teaching was milder, easier to live by.

Not so. Here is what Jesus said about adultery: "You have heard that it has been said, 'Thou shalt not commit adultery.' But I say to you that every man who looks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart."

Here is no permissiveness, such as is advocated by some who proclaim themselves to be authorities.

Here is a firm insistence that thoughts, as well as deeds, must be controlled - held to a high standard.

Let's not be led to our destruction by the Pied Pipers of moral decay.

CAPITAL BRIEFS

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

By Robert C. Cummings

Olympia . . . Twenty-nine cities and towns now preparing their current expense budgets for next year could have their revenue projections upset or at least slightly bent by the counties in which they are located.

These cities and towns currently are levying the local sales tax authorized by the 1970 Legislature, but each is located in a county which isn't levying the tax.

Cities and towns in such cases get 98 per cent of the local sales tax revenue collected within their corporate limits, with the other 2 per cent going to the state to cover collection costs.

But if the counties in which they are located should decide to start levying the tax, 15 per cent of that now going to the cities automatically would go to the counties.

Working In The Dark

Cities and towns must adopt their budgets for next year by this coming October. As they operate on a calendar year, these budgets become effective next January 1.

But the counties could adopt local sales tax ordinances after city budgets are adopted, and still qualify for their share of the tax by January 1 when the new budgets take effect.

City governments can be depended upon to contact county governments before projecting anticipated revenue for next year, but they still are working in the dark to some extent.

A county government mightn't have any plans to enact the tax at this time, but could change its mind later. Counties also must adopt next year's budgets in October, but if they elect to enact the sales tax later they can always include the added revenue in a supplemental budget.

Scattered Statewide

There are some counties where the tax isn't being collected where none of the cities and towns are collecting it, either.

But cities collecting the tax in counties which aren't levying it are scattered statewide. The heaviest populated county which isn't levying the tax is Snohomish County, but eight of its cities and towns are levying it, though Everett, its largest city, isn't.

Five cities and towns in Thurston County are collecting the tax, while Thurston County government hasn't elected to do so.

Other cities and towns in similar situations include Grant County, three each in Clallam and Douglas Counties, two in Asotin County, and one each in Clark, Jefferson, Lincoln and Whitman Counties.

At Starting Gate Again

It looks like the dog racing controversy is headed for the Legislature again.

The sponsor of Initiative 257, which would legalize par-mutuel betting on dog racing, after failing to qualify his measure for the ballot is now trying it as an initiative to the Legislature.

This measure was the last to be filed as an initiative to the people and the sponsor had only about two months in which to solicit signatures. He claimed to have gathered 97,000 by the July 3 deadline date.

He needed 101,229, or about 110,000 to allow a cushion for losses caused by duplications and non-registered signers.

Fresh Start, More Time

The sponsor will have to start all over again with his initiative to the Legislature, which has been re-filed as Initiative 36.

But if he could get 97,000 signatures in two months, he should be able to get enough in his new effort. He has until December 31 this time.

If the measure is certified to the Legislature, the lawmakers probably will follow their usual procedure and pass it on to the voters in the following election.

It is the easy way out for the legislators, but if it is certified, it is assured of a place on the ballot in the next general election, possibly 1971, and by 1972 at the latest.

Wrong Target

State Director of Revenue George Kinnear says people who heap abuse on their county assessors because their reappraisals have boosted property values are shooting at the wrong target.

The assessor doesn't levy taxes and neither he nor his reappraisals have any connection with the cost of government.

If people think their property taxes are too high, Kinnear said, they should go to the people who adopt the budgets, their county commissioners and their school directors, among others.

Some of the most irate complaints about property valuations to reach Kinnear's office have come from districts in which the property owners just recently voted substantial excess levies for local school support.

Doing Their Job

The assessors are required by law to reappraise all property within their counties every four years. This they couldn't do — because of insufficient funds — until the Legislature appropriated the money.

The purpose of the reappraisals is to bring property values for taxing purposes into closer conformity with current market values.

In one county where some property hadn't been reappraised for 13 years, property values had been increasing at an annual rate of 8 per cent for the past 10 years.

Equalizer

The reappraisals also are intended to bring uniformity into property taxation, and to end discrimination.

A person whose property hadn't been appraised for 13 years had been enjoying a privileged advantage over some other property owner who had recently purchased his

Sticky Business

Contributing their time in a fund raising program to send students to summer school are Frank Middleton, Secretary of Parkland Jaycees, Vincent McLaren, First Vice-President, Larry Brewer, President, Dr. Larry Engelsen, Director of Special Education at Franklin Pierce Schools, and Don Smith, Immediate Past President of the Jaycees, along with many others.

A Honey Sunday ago, last April 12th to be exact, the Parkland Jaycees, the Parkland area Cub Scouts, the 4-H Club members from Midland, and the Distributive Education Class of Franklin Pierce went from door to door selling Honey. You possibly had the opportunity to aid their worthy cause. Their goal was to send as many students as possible to Summer School, to special classes beneficial to the student's regular school training.

After all donations were collected and accounted for, and all costs paid, $345.00 remained. These funds sent 30 students, who otherwise would have missed the valuable educational opportunity, to the Special Help Diagnostic Center at Parkland Grade School.

The Diagnostic Problem Center for Handicapped Children (either physically, mentally, or emotionally) was aided by the University of Puget Sound. Various Reading, Mathematics, and Speech classes were taught during the Summer session giving the children extra advantages for their classes next fall.

Looking back now at the entire picture, their endeavor and the successful result, as a first time effort for these community service groups, was achieved only by their dedication and the desire of mankind to help others.

From The Editors

Dear Readers:

We want to thank all of you for your support and the wonderful way you have welcomed us into Parkland and surrounding areas as new owners of the Times Journal. Without the kind words of encouragement from the people, it would have been very difficult indeed. Many of you have supported this little newspaper for years as readers, subscribers and business people, and you have kept the paper going.

The little Times Journal is going through many changes, it's getting bigger, fast, growing with the area. Our aim is to help it grow better too. We want to print the local items that you are interested in. We need your news, club news, society news, pictures and letters to the editor. And wouldn't it be nice this fall to have a calendar of events with regular meetings etc. recorded there? All you have to do is drop a card to P.O. Box 2116, Tacoma 98444.

We hope you will continue to bear with us in the changes going on and we h things will run more smoothly soon. If you are not getting your paper, please let us know, we don't think of it as complaining, it's helping to let us know if we are doing our job and everyone else is doing theirs.

Again, thank you for your patience and drop us a letter with your ideas for your paper.

property, which was appraised at the purchase price, Kinnear said.

He added that reappraisals had found wide variances, with some property having been assessed at as low as 1 to 5 per cent of its fair value while other property was assessed at as high as 50 or 60 per cent — more than is permitted by the constitution.

Another example he cited was two pieces of property in the same county where each was shown on the assessor's books as having a full value of $100,000.

After the two pieces of property had been reappraised, one was shown to have a fair value of $200,000, but the other was appraised at only $95,000.

Cushnie - Moore Wedding in Hawaii

Mrs. R. Bruce Moore

A pair of tall koa wood jardiniere with clipped papyrus in graduated heights intermixed with maile garlands formed an altar in the living room of the James C. Cushnie Plantation home at Kukaiiau, Hawaii, recently for the marriage of their daughter Donna Jane Cushnie to R. Bruce Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frankland Smith of Tacoma.

To the strains of the Hawaiian Wedding Song, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father for the 4:00 p.m. double ring ceremony, performed by the Reverend John Beck of Hilo.

The bride was radiant in a classic gown of ivory and blush pink silkened organdie with over-all pattern detail of hand cut and re-embroidered ivory Alencon lace, fashioned with empire bodice, square-cut neckline, short sleeves, a shaped skirt, and full chapel length train. A Camelot cap of beaded ivory Alencon lace held the brides bouffant veiling of ivory and blush pink. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of pink roses with ivory centers.

Complementing the bride's ivory and blush ensemble were the bridal attendants' prairie rose silkened organdie floor-length dresses, styled with empire bodice, ruffled high victorian neckline and sleeveless. Maid of honor, Miss Katherine Burso, wore red roses in her hair, and bridesmaids Misses Kate Weight of Hawaii and Teresa Walsh of Nome, Alaska, wore pink carnations in their hair and carried bouquets fashioned after the bride's.

Katerine Roney of Pahala, Hawaii, as flower girl, was dressed in silkened organdie, a duplicate of the bridesmaids gowns. She carried a basket of pale pink roses. Michael Broekhoff of Wailuku, Maui, was ringbearer. He carried a heart shaped pillow of the same material as the bridal gown.

Mr. Harold Souffay, Seattle, Wash., was his cousin's best man. Ushering were the bride's brother Gary Cushnie and Chandler Odell of Tacoma.

The bride's mother wore a blue silk a-line dress with a matching blue hat of feathers and carried pikake leis. The groom's mother was in pink silk and lace and wore a matching hat and pakalna leis.

Guests were entertained at the reception with music by the "Kealohas" and Gene Aguiar. Maile and mokehana flown in from Kauai with maile gathered from Kukaiiau Ranch, combined with island blossoms were arranged and provided by friends Mmes. Jay Sasan, William Case, Hisao Higashi, Frank Kennedy of Paauhau, Ernest Fergstrom, daughters Ann and Faye, Mme. Roy Forbes and daughters Lee Ann and Jeannie of Honokaa, and Mmes. Alexander Budge of Waimea, Barbara Okita of Paaulo, and Paul Christenses of Kukehale. Miss Danette Ramos helped with the guest book.

The tiered wedding cake, a dark fruitcake, traditional of all Cushnie weddings was baked by the brides aunt, Mrs. John Cushnie, centered the bride's table, decorated with orchids and ringed by gardenia buds and cherub candelabras with lighted tapers. The newly wedded couple were toasted with champagne, and a buffet supper was served.

Friends and relatives of the groom who flew to Hawaii for the wedding besides his parents, were Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Odell, Mrs. John Callison, James Odell of Tacoma, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brown, Harold Souffay and James Cameron of Seattle, Wn., D. Smith Jr. of Las Vegas, Nevada, and Mr. and Mrs. Argal Oberquell of Lacey.

The bridal pair left in a shower of gardenia petals for a wedding trip to Oahu. They will make their home in Seattle. The groom is a graduate of Bethel High School, Spanaway, and Washington State University and is affiliated with Sigma Chi Fraternity. The bride graduated from St. Joseph's High School in Hilo and the University of Puget Sound, Tacoma. A member of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority, she plans to teach history in Seattle.

Many parties were held in the young couple's honor here in Tacoma before they enplaned for Hawaii and the wedding ceremony. Sorority sisters of the bride gathered at the North-end apartment of Mrs. Christopher Masden to shower her with gifts for her new kitchen.

Mrs. Russell W. Ross decorated her lovely Oakbrook Apartment with white carnations, greenery, wedding bells and bride dolls for a novel wine shower for the young couple. Mrs. Ross presented them with a beautiful wine rack to hold the wide variety of wines they received.

Mrs. A. D. Oberquell of Lacey invited many old friends of the groom's mother, Mrs. Frankland Smith, to a miscellaneous shower. The refreshment table was centered with a lovely arrangement of blue and green flowers, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Smith Sr., grandparents of the groom, hosted a family dinner party for the couple at the Cliff House and fifteen of the groom's close friends gathered at the home of James Odell the week before the wedding for a bachelor dinner in Mr. Moore's honor.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Backache

Dear Miss Brookfield:
I suffer from backaches and pains in the legs. I am 52. Some friends say these aches are common after the "change." Is this true?

B. L., Burley, Ohio

Dear B. L.:

The best advice we can offer was published in the Journal of the American Medical Women's Association and entitled: "A Doctor Talks about Menopause." The author, Dr. Eva F. Dodge, had this to say about the aches and pains you describe: "There are many causes for pain in the back and legs of women, no matter what their age. In some women, this is due to lack of hormones. If you develop these symptoms, you should discuss them with your physician. He will be able to determine the cause of your difficulty."

40-Plus And In Love

Dear Miss Brookfield:

The reader from Texas who complained about a mature couple who act like lovebirds in public sounds jealous. Maybe if she had a little-love in her life she wouldn't be spending her time watching and criticizing others. I am 50 and a widow. I say more power to that "old pair." At least they aren't afraid to show their love.

A.R., Clinton, Iowa

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I agree wholeheartedly with the Texas reader's reaction to a mature couple who persist in acting like a romantic teenagers in public. I know a couple whose behavior is similar and I find them embarrassing and silly.

R. L., Baltimore, Md.

Dear Readers:

Caught in the middle, we'll weasel out of this argument with a flat statement: if you find it silly, ignore it; if you find it romantic, enjoy it.

Walk for Health

Dear Miss Brookfield:

When I told my husband I wanted to buy exercise equipment to lose some weight, he suggested daily walks, as a health and inexpensive form of exercise. I say walking increases the appetite. Isn't this true?

J. L., Boston, Mass.

Dear J. L.:

No, not according to all authorities. An all-day hike may give you a hearty appetite but an hour's walk will not, says Ruth Goode, co-author with Aaron Sussman of "The Magic of Walking." If you tend to over-eat because of boredom or tension, walking will help cure the first and also relieve the second.

"Specialists in just about every field recommend walking as the best exercise," says Ruth Goode. These include heart and chest specialists and physical fitness experts.

She suggests walking at a comfortable pace of three miles an hour. But remember to calculate the return trip. You can start with short walks and increase the distance gradually. A mile-long walk, says the author, is not such a long distance. If you walk for 10 minutes and return, you have walked a mile during that 20-minute period. One last word: just remember to dress comfortably.

The Voice Of The Low I Q

Yeah, I'm in the special class this term. Sure, I like it all right, we have lots of fun and the work's got some sense to it. I can do it. Why did I get put there? Well, I ain't so sure. The report said I had a low I.Q., but nobody noticed it till last spring when I couldn't get along in Miss Brown's class. She gave me the test and when I handed in my paper she looked at it and said, "Just what I thought. I knew he didn't belong here."

Yeah, it was something they call an Intelligence test. It was awful funny. At first I thought it was a joke, but it turned out it wasn't. You had to put crosses on pictures and circles around 'em and lines under 'em and dots over 'em till I got sorta mixed up so I just drew a line tight through the middle of all of 'em. There were sentences to write YES or NO after; sentences like this: "A Carpenter builds houses." I wrote NO because my old man's a carpenter, and he ain't built a house in four years. He's working on the railroad track. The boy that sat next to me put NO on every other sentence and then filled the rest up with YES. He got a swell mark. I read so slow I only got four done before the time was up. I get so tired of being hurried all the time.

A Tree, a Fish, a Cake of Ice — Look at this. It was so funny I tore out the page and kept it. See — three pictures — a tree — a fish — and a cake of ice. I'll read what it tells you to do. "John is ten years old and his sister Mary is eight. If John is not Mary's brother draw a line from the fish to the cake of ice. If Mary and John are twins write your middle name under the tree and if you have no middle name just put zero there. If they are not twins print your last name on the tree. If Mary is younger than John write the Roman number eight in the upper left hand corner of the paper, but if John is older than Mary draw a cat in the lower right hand corner. If they both go to school write your full name at the bottom of the paper." I'm never sure just how to spell my name so I didn't try this one.

Miss Brown didn't like it because I always asked a lotta questions. She thought I was being fresh but I wasn't. There's a lotta things I want to know about. I never got mad when she asked me questions all the time. I answered 'em — I've got lots of answers — but they always seem to fit the wrong questions. Anyway everthing's changin' all the time so what's the use of learnin' a lotta things today when maybe they won't be true tomorrow? — I know heaps of things Miss Brown don't know like where to find bird's nests and how to fix a leaky pipe and what the baseball scores are. She has to send for the janitor when the lights go out or a window shade tears. I can do lots of things if I don't have to read how in a book first.

Sure, I'm glad I'm in the special class — I get lots more attention. Seems like if you're awful smart or awful dumb they do a lot more for you in school, but if you're what they call normal they just leave you set. I heard the school psychologist — that's the man that comes in just before promotion time and tells the teachers why they're not promotin' us — he told Miss Brown it was on account of my grandfather and the rest of my ancestors. She said wasn't it kind of late to do anything about that now, and he said it was but I must have the proper training so I'd be a good ancestor.

Gosh, I don't want to be no ancestor. I'm goin' ta' be a plumber!

Johnston States Views

Kenneth D. Johnston, Jr.

Because of dissatisfaction with property tax assessments and methods of operation of the county assessors office, Puyallup businessman and Credit Union Executive Kenneth D. Johnston Jr., announced today that he is a candidate for the position of Pierce County Assessor.

Johnston, well known in Democratic political circles throughout the State, said, "I am a candidate for the office of county assessor because of my deep concern for making the system of elective county government work and that I feel the present county assessor has given up his authority to the state. When elected, I will have been hired by the citizens of Pierce County to assess their property and not to be a tool of the governor or the State Department of Revenue."

Johnston said, "The citizens will be allowed to discuss any problems with their assessor and voice opinions and suggestions pertaining to the office and their tax assessments. In order to facilitate this I will keep the office of Pierce County Assessor open for business every Saturday along with one night per week so that the working man or woman can transact their business with the assessor and not have to take time off work." He added, "I fully intend to serve the requirements of the citizens and will assure them that their property taxes WILL NOT be increased four and five times over previous years. I will take a strong stand against the use of out-of-state-appraisal firms assessing our property in Pierce County."

Johnston, who was campaign manager in the 6th Congressional District for Senator Martin J. Durkan in his bid for the 1968 governors race and one of Senator Durkan's earliest supporters also was state campaign chairman for John G. McCutcheon in his campaign for state attorney general, said "After consideration of legal ramifications, I will encourage the county commissioners to cancel the contract with the Dayton, Ohio firm of Cole-Layer-Trumble Company Appraisers, the out-of-state appraisal firm used by the present county assessor."

"I will work with the Pierce County legislators and Senator Durkan, chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, in the next session of the State legislature to have a complete review of all property tax assessment laws and work toward changes in the present laws with a strong emphasis on freezing current property taxes. I will guarantee fair and just appraisals and these appraisals will be discussed with any individual that may request."

Johnston serves as the chief lobbyist for the state credit union association and is a former president of a local Puyallup national bank. He was state President of the Washington State Junior Chamber of Commerce and a national Vice President of the U. S. Jaycees. He has been an elected democratic precinct committeeman for 14 years, active in local and state Young Democrats, serves on the Washington State Democratic Central Committee and was recently the Pierce County Platform chairman for the County Democratic Convention.

He has been active in numerous civic groups and was selected as the outstanding Young Man of Washington State in 1964 and his name appeared in the 1965 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

MAC Tennis Tourney

McCHORD AFB, Wash. (MAC) — Tennis players from Norton Air Force Base, Calif., captured the Military Airlift Command-wide tournament here last week.

The Norton AFB team garnered 16 points, edging out runnerup Travis AFB, Calif., by two points. Scott AFB, Ill., came in third with 11 tallies, and McChord AFB garnered only two team points.

Team scores were determined by play in the two men's categories — Open and Senior, which is for players over 39 years of age. Team points were not awarded for play in the Women's category.

Top contestants from each division will represent the command in the Air Force tennis tournament to be held at Lackland AFB, Tex. No netmen from McChord AFB qualified for Air Force play.

Ernie Shultz of Norton AFB proved to be the stand-out contestant, winning all his matches during the three-day tourney. The 4-year-old racketman competed in Open play against top younger opponents, although he was qualified for the Senior category. The featured match was the final-day contest between him and fellow Nortonite, Dale Ehrbright, who was previously undefeated before succumbing to Shultz. Both will go to the Air Force tournament.

Spud's, Noel's, Nerland, Elk Plain Lead League as Season Nears End

by Jerry Hudson

Pierce County Women's Athletic Association games for the week of July 13-17. County "Metro" Scores:

Noel's slid past Walton Insurance 6 to 4 to stay undefeated. Pat Gary's three big RB's with a triple was the big blow for the Noel's team.

Freeman's Misfits edged Holly Roofing 3 to 2 on a single by Jackie Calhoun scoring Shirley Gemmell to clinch the big win for the Misfits. This team has really shown well in the last few weeks.

The Eatonville Rejects walloped Fort Lewis 9 to 2 led by Dody Coyer and Evelyn Simonson to keep the Rejects in contention for the crown.

County "Rec" Scores:

The Elk Plain Elks, led by some timely hitting by Patty Newell, Ginger Borden and Jan Hudson, edged the McChord Flyers 8 to 6 to hold first place. The Flyers gave the Plain gals a real battle.

The Orting Blue Babes edged the Beachcomber's 4 to 3 on the outstanding play of Maureen Voss to stay alive in the League.

2121 Tavern teat R & T Trucking 6 to 3 to stay in a second place tie with the Blue Babes and C & B Cafeteria.

C & B Cafeteria zaped Nicholson Drugs 13 to 3 with a real team effort.

Lincoln Lanes dumped A & A construction 10 to 3 led by the power of Sue Lawrence.

City "Metro" Scores:

Spud's Pizza Pete white-washed Russ' Mobil 11 to 0 led by Kathy Hemion's homer with two doubles and three hits by Pat Kearney.

Tony's Wah-Zoos edged Lenti's 2 to 1 for their first win of the year. Kris Kades' hit did the job for the young Wah-Zoo team.

Lenti's blasted Woody's Women 12 to 5 led by Ella Rogers and Terry Harris big bats and a good pitching job by Kay Magnuson.

Tony's Wah-Zoos upset McKnight's Foods 5 to 2 in a big win. This team was bound to come alive and that they have.

Spud's Pizza Pete zaped Woody's Women 8 to 2 led by Sandy Molzan and Diane Prosser.

McKnight's Food edged Russ' Mobil 5 to 4 to take second place.

City "Rec" Scores:

Walt Witte ran past Rhinelander Hofbrau 14 to 1 on a four hitter by Dora Ball and some big power by Lil Stevens to stay in the race.

Nerland Construction blasted the Douglas Dealers 20 to 2 to hold on to first place. Power and a real defensive team have kept this team on the top all year. Walt Witte and Nerland collide Wednesday. What a game that will be.

Smiths 6th Ave. edged United Pacific Insurance 6 to 4 in a real good game.

The Cloverleaf Tavern zoomed past United Pacific 15 to 1. The "Cloves" were due for a big one.

In Jerry's Spot Light:

Pitching — Pat Kearney (Spud's Pizza Pete)

Hitting — Jackie Calhoun (Freeman's Misfits)

Note: Leaving the ball park at Sprinker Field Wednesday night, Janet Zimmer had a car accident. She was hurt badly. I know that all the teams wish her well. Janet is a new girl this year, a member of the C & B Cafeteria team. She has played some real fine games this year.

Which Way To Go Next?

The Tacoma Women's Sports program has grown into a fine program in the past few years. However, even with our fine teams we are not competitive out of this area. To grow further, the old "Mush Ball" must be put on the shelf and we must go to the regular soft ball. We have the talent. We are blessed with a Rec. program that will back our move.

When I say "shelve the ball that has brought us success" I do not mean all the way. At the present time we have 31 teams in our program. It would be very easy to have three leagues, two using the present concept and one going on to the softball. The rules would not change to any degree. By doing this we would be one of the best known areas in the country.

Our gals who went to Montana have opened up the doorway for us — let's use that door to bigger and better things in the yet great future of our organization. Now is the time to be looking to next year. The road to success has never been an easy road. Challenge is the only way to success so let's go to new and better things and share success together.

(Of course the Local Commissioner would have to approve this action. This is just a little food for thought.)
Jerry Hudson.

Dan Zlock showed everybody the fantastic speed of his Ossa and outstanding ability as a rider winning the 200 c.c. "A" Main by a considerable margin.

The 250 c.c. "A" Main had to be the best race of the day! Ken Villines grabbed a bike length lead off the line and managed to hold on to it for the whole race. Lenard

Strand, Dave Clift, and Larry Billingsley were fighting it out for second, third and fourth when Strand and Clift collided allowing Billingsley to squeeze by on the inside and grab second place with Strand taking third.

The Roadrunners M/C will be hosting some of the top riders in the northwest when the bikes line up for the big Grand Prix Championship race Sunday. Riders say the track is in beautiful condition. This is a true scrambles track - different from the usual flat track scrambles. Jumps are featured in the 4/10 mile dirt course which also has a dog-leg, "S" curve, sharp corners and uphill grades giving riders a real test of skill.

Riders will also be trying to break the record of 39½ feet off the jump. Jump contestant Jim Murphy came close to breaking that record last week with a 37 footer. Members of the club have put in much time and effort into making these races successful. They again promise to keep dust down to the absolute minimum for the benefit of both riders and spectators. The track is located at So. 176th and 74th Avenue East - Spanaway. Signs will be posted. Admission $2.00 - Sign up 9:00 A.M. Racing starts at 12 Noon.

Your Heart

Rheumatic fever patients are risking recurrence of the disease by failing to take prescribed drugs which are provided free for them under a cooperative program of the Washington State Heart Association and state and local Health Departments, the Heart Association reported today.

During the fiscal year just ended, 459 patients in the state were dropped from the Rheumatic Fever Control Program, usually because they had not picked up their medication for two years. Presently there are 2,787 patients on the statewide program, compared with 2,899 last year. New patients added this year totaled 347.

In Pierce County, where 232 patients are receiving penicillin, 29 patients were dropped and 28 added this year, the Heart Association reported.

An agency spokesman explained that rheumatic fever is the chief cause of heart disability in children and young adults. Oral penicillin is prescribed on a long-term basis to prevent recurrence. The disease is an aftermath of strep infection.

Penicillin pills are issued without charge in three-months supply to patients presenting their prescriptions at county health offices.

Red Coats Cometh

"The Red Coats are coming!"

In 1775, that announcement was ominous for it heralded the militant approach of the British troops.

Now, "Rally 'Round the Red-Coats" is good news and it means that the red-coated United States Marine Band will arrive in Tacoma on October 12, under the auspices of the Pacific Lutheran University Lute Club as part of the Presidentially approved tour, for the more peaceful purpose of presenting two thrilling concerts.

Cliff Olson, Lute Club President, has announced that matinee and evening concerts will be presented at PLU's Olson Auditorium, with musical works by the world's finest composers, stirring marches, and solo performers which have brought the Marine Band acclaim from visiting dignitaries of almost every country in the world.

Under the directorship of Lt. Col. Albert Schoepper, the Marine Band is known to millions of Americans through its annual tours, its frequent radio and television appearances, and its concert series in the Nation's Capital. The annual tours originated under the direction of John Philip Sousa in 1891 and have afforded Americans living outside the Washington area an opportunity to see and hear the world-famous band.

Given the title "The President's Own" by Thomas Jefferson, the Marine Band has played for every inauguration since. Created in 1798 by an act of Congress, the band has played for all official functions in the Nation's Capital and all important history-making events in this country.

Lute Club, the athletic booster club at PLU, was host for the Band in its last Tacoma appearance, fall of 1968.

ONE OF the big things to remember when fishing for summer run steelhead is that they will often be in spots you wouldn't normally expect their cousins, winter steelhead, to be.

This is why some winter steelhead fishermen have problems at first when they take up fishing for summer runs. Summer steelies often act like resident trout in the places they stay in streams.

Perhaps this is because that is just about what they become - residents. They start nosing into the rivers in the spring and continue coming in throughout the summer and into early fall. But they won't spawn until the following spring. That's a long time to spend in a river, so they in effect, become residents.

Winter fish, on the other hand, come in and more or less move on up stream steadily. The river, to them, is a highway, not a living room.

Resident trout are often found in the turbulent area where water breaks over a big boulder. Summer run steelies are apt to be there too.

Summer steelies will also move from one part of the river to another in different parts of the day. For instance, they will leave the pools they like to laze around in during the day and move to the riffles during the evening.

Because they can be caught with flies, summer run steelhead are praised with almost poetic fervor by many writers and fishermen. They also will hit a wide variety of natural baits - just as resident trout do. Artificials, such as spinners, small Flatfish or spoons, also turn the trick.

Because waters are clear much of the time when you're fishing summer steelhead, there are many times when you can see the fish you are casting to. This can be one of the most thrilling, or most frustrating of experiences. There are times when you can drag a fly, lure or bait in front of one of these fighters and it ignores it. If the fish had hands, you could swear it was thumbing its nose at you.

Those are the days when all you can say is that the fishing was great, but the catching was terrible.

EVERY year, young, first-time hunters are cautioned that they have to take a hunter safety course before they can buy a hunting license, but every year, some youngsters don't get the word and aren't able to go hunting.

Youngsters under 18 years of age must take one of these hunter safety courses, and now is the time to take such a course. The men who teach these courses are volunteers and they like to hunt too. So come hunting season they are out in the field themselves.

Forest Facts

If you are contemplating an outing this summer, especially into the remote areas of the mountains or deep forests, there is a chance that you could become lost. It is, therefore, important that you know how to take care of yourself when in this predicament.

Your first concern will undoubtedly be water, which fortunately is usually available in Western Washington. If you are in high country, where nighttime temperatures drop sharply, shelter will probably be your next concern. And finally, you will eventually become very hungry and need food.

Did you know that ninety percent of the wild plants growing in our Western forests are edible? They may not be tasty or particularly flavorful, but they are quite nutritious. Tubers, leaves, flowers and stems of a number of plants are edible; either boiled, roasted, as greens, or in soups or tea.

The Indians ate the wild plants and subsisted mainly on them, with fish and a little wild game. The pioneers also used wild plants to balance their diets and relied on them heavily in the spring to relieve the monotony of dried meat, fish and bread.

You too can survive on these wild plant foods, if you will take the time to learn what they are, how to identify them and how to prepare them. We have just printed for the third time a pocket-size booklet entitled "Nature's Wild Plant Foods" which has been in good demand since it was first compiled. It is free for the asking. It tells you what these wild foods are and how to prepare them. You will recognize many of them immediately, or you may wish to supplement your knowledge with the purchase of a book on wild plants from your bookstore.

If you'd like a copy of our booklet, our address is 742 County-City Building, Tacoma, Washington 98402. Telephone — FU 3-3311, Ext. 511.

Milk Production Continues High

Puget Sound dairymen delivered a total of 123.0 million pounds of milk to the market during June, the second highest volume on record. According to Nicholas L. Keyock, Market Administrator, daily receipts during the month averaged only 1.9 per cent below the record set in May and were 8.9 per cent above the level of a year ago.

Daily deliveries per producer during June averaged 2,306 pounds, an increase of 292 pounds or 14.5 per cent over a year earlier. An estimated 1,778 producers were associated with the market during June.

Class I usage for the month totaled 49.2 million pounds. Daily usage averaged 7.9 per cent below the May level and was 2.5 per cent below a year ago. The combination of higher production and a decline in Class I use resulted in the market's utilization ratio falling below 40 per cent for the first time since May 1966.

Producers will receive $6.14 and $4.61 per cwt., respectively, for their June deliveries of base and excess milk testing 3.5 per cent butterfat. The base price is down 2 cents from May, but still 30 cents above a year ago. The excess price is up 3 cents from last month and 36 cents over a year ago. The weighted average price for all milk received in June was $5.35, down 2 cents from May but 22 cents above last year. Producers without Class I bases will receive the base milk price for only 5 per cent of their June deliveries. That percentage is the lowest ever recorded under the Class I base plan.

The ratio of Class I use to producer deliveries during June was 39.98 per cent. The ratio of Class I use to base milk was 79.84 per cent.

The Tacoma and Spokane Polo Clubs are civic minded gentlemen who permitted a polo game to be auctioned off for the building of scholarships for students. The match was played Sunday, July 19, at Fort Steilacoom Park, for the pleasure of a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Sponsors for the tournament were Raleigh, Mann & Powell, Inc., and Schwarz, Shera & Associates, Inc. High bidders for the polo package were Dr. and Mrs. T. O. Murphy and Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Robbins, who were hosts and hostesses for the day.

Playing for the highly rated Spokane team were Mike Reoppelle, captain, Bob George, Bill Langdon and Greg Wood, who was borrowed from Tacoma.

The first ball was tossed in by Billie Murphy.

Tacoma started the first chukker (7½ minutes) with a handicap goal of 1, and Hal Dixon and Bill Langdon each scored for his team, ending the period 2 to 1, for Tacoma.

In the second chukker Pete Piper scored for Tacoma and Reoppelle scored for Spokane, ending 3 to 2 for Tacoma.

In the second chukker Pete Piper scored for Tacoma and Reoppelle scored for Spokane, ending 3 to 2 for Tacoma.

In the 3rd chukker, a foul shot by Reoppelle of Spokane, tied the score at the half time.

In the 4th, Bob George scored a goal for the visitors and after a nice field run by Langdon, Reoppelle scored, making the score 5 to 3, Spokane.

In the 5th, Reoppelle scored with a nice back hand stroke from a sharp angle. Score, 6 to 3, Spokane.

In the 6th, Larry Cutner did some fine playing and scored for Tacoma and the home team was hard after another goal when time ran out. Final score, Spokane 6, Tacoma 4.

High goal men were Reoppelle with 3 goals and Bill Langdon with 2. Both teams played a sharp and positive game on a hot, dry and dusty field. On the negative side were 1 lame pony, Greg Woods Lady Bug, and 2 players with lame knees, Bob George and Pete Piper. It should be noted that both players had started the game with bruised knees, so it was a case of adding injury to injury.

The Spokane team took home a large silver trophy and individual team members received small silver cups from which they drank the traditional champagne. The trophies were presented by the hostesses, Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Robbins.

Bill Lindberg was the umpire and Gordie Wood the referee. The game was well announced by Sandy Swanson.

Hotdogs and soft drinks were served to all comers, courtesy of the sponsors.

Fun-Day

The community organizations of Graham are sponsoring their yearly fund raising Fun-Day at Graham Frontier Park, Sunday, July 26. Each year the clubs that have use of the grounds reserve one day to help collect monies to pay for the various costs of operating the park — the insurance, lighting, water, repair, etc.

Starting at 9 a.m., a Cowboy Breakfast will be served, with the usual Big-Breakfast menu, eggs, bacon, ham, pan cakes, being donated.

After noon, the games start. All events will be jackpot, the winners splitting the entry fee with the Park Fund. The usual games will be featured: Polebending, Keyhole, Barrels, Scurry, many, many races — individual, team, and chariot, pony pulling contests, and many others. Many of the Pony Breeders visiting the area this weekend will be participating with their ponies and enjoying the informal show. It looks to be a great day of relaxing fun.

The local Boy Scouts will be selling pop and ice cream to all the thirsty and tired gamers. An admission fee of one dollar will be charged, but it's not paid in vain. A door prize (worth $100.00) will be awarded from admission tickets.

Krapf Leads

The dairy herd of Fred Krapf, Graham, is the leader in the Pierce County DHIA summary for the month of June, announces County Agent Eddie Thomason. Krapf's herd of 104 Holsteins averaged 54 pounds of milk and 1.95 pounds of butterfat per cow per day.

Honor roll leaders for cows completing lactations in June are: 2 year old - No. 22, a grade Holstein, owned by Pete DeVries, Orting, with 16,999 pounds of milk and 648 pounds of butterfat; 3 year old - No. 391, a grade Holstein, owned by Pete DeVries, Orting, with 19,610 pounds of milk and 844 pounds of butterfat; 4 year old - Mauren, a grade Holstein, owned by Fred Krapf, Graham, with 20,061 pounds of milk and 763 pounds of butterfat; 5 to 10 year old - No. 17, a grade Holstein, owned by Joe Sutter, Puyallup, with 23,987 pounds of milk and 908 pounds of butterfat.

The Ladies for B.A.S.H.

Equal rights for women? Can females play the sport of kings? Well, it happened Sunday, July 19 at Fort Steilacoom Park. It may well be an international first for Tacoma, making polo also the sport of queens.

During the half-time interval of the Tacoma Polo Club B.A.S.H. match, four ladies played against two young ladies and two gentlemen from outer space. The two helmeted gentlemen, who were sorely needed to make up a team, miraculously missed the flying saucer pad at Buffalo Park in Eatonville. Here they were surrounded and hijacked by the females and forced to play under the pseudonyms of Petrina Hoyer and Patricia Donnelly. The two got their revenge against the Foxwood Flashes by each making a goal for the Spanaway Swampprat Tigers and winning by a score of 2 to 0.

Playing for the Foxwood Flashes were Diane Parrott, Billie Murphy, Gratia Brown and Susan Stoval. Playing for the winning Spanaway Swampprat Tigers were Sukie Piper, Susie Dixon, Pete Hoyer and Pat Donnelly.

When last sighted, the two gentlemen had lifted off for Buffalo Park at a full-hand gallop with the Foxwood Flashes in hot pursuit with mallets at the ready.

Washingtonia First Fruit Trees

In the pocket of his full dress uniform, Capt. Emilius Simpson is said to have brought the first apple seeds to this state from England. These seeds, of more value to the frontier community than gold nuggets of the same size, were handed over to Dr. McLoughlin, chief factor of the Hudson Bay Post at Fort Vancouver. The doctor gave them to the post gardener and they were planted in the stockage garden at the Fort. The seeds grew, one in particular, the special pride of the factor, became a huge tree, supplying fruit and seed from which were started many of the other orchards in the western port state. The tree long outlived the good doctor and the captain and was one of the most famous trees on the Pacific coast.

According to the story, the captain was attending a farewell dinner in London just prior to sailing. One lady had some apple seed at the dinner and gave them to the captain, telling him to plant them at the Fort. He put them in the pocket of his dress uniform and forgot about them. Upon the ships arriving at Vancouver, Dr. McLoughlin gave a dinner in honor of their safe arrival. When the captain took off his gloves and put them in his pocket prior to dinner he "found" the seed and presented them to the factor. The seed became the nucleus of the orchard that so surprised Narcissa Whitman on her visit to Vancouver eight years later, when she wrote home commenting on the number of trees. The Whitmans had the second orchard, at Wailatpu, Doctor Whitman bringing the makings with him in their covered wagon. The third orchard is credited to Red Wolf, chief of the Nez Perces, on Alpowa Creek, near the present site of Siloot. It is now referred to as the Mission Orchard because the slips or seed are supposed to have been brought in from the Rev. Spaldings Lapwi Mission in Idaho.

Social Security News

Social Security benefits paid to residents of Pierce County totaled $3,844,000 a month as 1969 ended, Jack V. Chastain, Social Security District Manager, reported today.

A benefit increase, signed into law by President Nixon on December 30, 1969, has since raised the monthly rate of payment by 15 per cent for the 42,281 Social Security beneficiaries in Pierce County.

Of the Social Security beneficiaries living in Pierce County, 22,391 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 10,527 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 3,867 are getting benefits as disabled workers or the dependents of disabled workers.

Mr. Chastain pointed out that although the majority of Social Security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60.

In the State of Washington, 75,482 people under age 60 are collecting Social Security payments each month. The 42,724 who are under 18 are receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting Social Security disability or retirement benefits. Of the 8,459 who are 18 through 21 years of age, most are getting students' benefits under a provision which permits the continuation of a child's benefits past his or her 18th birthday, and up to age 22 if he or she is attending school full time.

But in this 18 to 22 age group, Mr. Chastain said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that is provided working people of all ages under the Social Security program.

Bethel Grad Receives Navy Post

Lt. Commander Henry Schmidt

Lieutenant Commander Henry Schmidt, Jr., a 1957 graduate of Bethel High School, Spanaway, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt of Elk Plain, will take over command of the Hydrofoil Special Trials Unit in Bremerton at ceremonies conducted today.

Commander Schmidt is especially enthusiastic about his assignment to Bremerton because it affords an opportunity to bring his wife, the former Margaret Young of Washington, D.C., and their two children, Henry III and Kelly Patricia to see his home and community where he spent his youth.

The Hydrofoil Special Trials Unit (HYSTU) was established in November 1966, following an earlier decision by the Chief of Naval Operations that the U.S. Navy must develop its own capability in hydrofoil trials and technology development. The Unit is part of the Naval Ship Research and Development Center which has primary responsibility for the Navy's hydrofoil advanced development program.

Puget Sound Naval Shipyard was selected as a location for HYSTU in order to combine naval industrial support with proximity to the two primary contractors of HIGH POINT (PCH-1) (The Boeing Company) and PLAINVIEW (AGEH-1) (Lockheed Shipbuilding and Construction Company).

The submerged foil technology which is being developed by the U.S. Navy's hydrofoil program is significantly advanced over that being used in various commercial types of hydrofoils around the world and provides a high speed operating capability far superior in heavy seas to conventional displacement ships or other high speed craft now in existence.

HYSTU is tasked with: (1) Support, modifications, and repairs to HIGH POINT (PCH-1) and PLAINVIEW (AGEH-1) in order to improve performance and reliability, (2) Procurement of data necessary for development of engineering criteria for design of future hydrofoils, (3) Trials and feasibility demonstration of mission related equipment and operating capabilities.

The Unit, in carrying out its mission, is heavily involved in maintenance and operation of special instrumentation, modification and overhaul of hydrofoil subsystems, and in developing installation and trial plans for various technical trials. HYSTU also administers numerous support and procurement contracts related to the trials program, and engineering and production work required for major modification to HIGH POINT and PLAINVIEW.

Commander Schmidt comes to Bremerton well qualified to direct this project's manyfold operations. Henry Schmidt Jr. was commissioned an Ensign at the U.S. Naval Academy in June 1961 and attended Naval Aviation School at Pensacola, Florida for over a year.

He served as a line officer aboard the destroyer U.S.S. O'Bannon, as operations officer, and aboard the U.S.S. Energy as executive officer.

Lieutenant Commander Schmidt comes to HYSTU from three years of study at M.I.T. having received his Master's Degree in Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering last month. He is authorized to wear the National Defense Medal, Vietnam Defense Medal with four campaign stars and the Vietnamese Campaign Medal.

Youth Speaks Out

Jim Smidt, 19 year old P.L.U. student, gave the Parkland Kiwanis Club a close up verbal picture of the "generation gap" as seen by today's youth.

"The generation gap has always existed", said Mr. Smidt. "But it seems because of our fast growing society the gap has become wider". "I can't expect any of you to agree with my feelings on many of the current controversial issues of today: Vietnam and the draft, and 19 year old vote", said Smidt. "But if you would just listen long enough and hard enough to understand us young people, we could begin dialogue that might improve each other's viewpoints."

Jim admits to being one of the conservatives on the P.L.U. campus, but one of strong feeling and high ego which apparently puts him in situations such as talking before groups such as Kiwanis Club.

Jim has a very strong distrust in oldsters and is attempting to force them to understand what he thinks, what he feels, and how he reacts, rather than the opposite.

Young Smidt is the son of a career military man presently stationed in Thailand, which has made it difficult to have a great chance to communicate with his father.

The most disappointing part of the evening was Jim's insistence that he felt he was wasting everyone's time because he had prejudged his audience as being biased and unconvincible to change.
