Nostalgia Time Again

Always at this time of the year people become nostalgic. Ponder on how good a year it really has been and wonder what kind of year 1968 will be.

In the southern Pierce County area 1967 was year of growth and controversy. The following are excerpts from the Times Journal files:

January 4
Anne Louise Robinson arrived at 10:26 a.m. Sunday at Lakewood General Hospital to claim a host of Baby Derby prizes for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson, Route 1, Box 1730, Spanaway.

January 11
The second annexation to the South Suburban Sewer District is now complete according to Clayton B. Peterson, president of the Sewer District.

January 18
A 17-year-old Eatonville youth was arrested by Tacoma Police last week after being chased by the owner of the stolen motorcycle he was riding near Alder Lake, sheriff's deputies reported.

January 25
Clover Creek overflow ran across Pacific Avenue near South 133rd Street to challenge traffic during heavy rain. Drivers were forced to "batton down the hatches" and hold steady rudder during fording.

February 1
Sufficient signatures have been secured to make the South Suburban Sewer District economically feasible, Clayton B. Peterson announced last Friday night at the Parkland Development Association banquet at the Sherwood Inn.

February 15
Blond, blue-eyed Carol Parcheta was named Franklin Pierce Daffodil Princess early last week during the first evening program held at the school to select a Daffodil Festival queen candidate.

EATONVILLE — Henry Charbonneau, presently superintendent of schools at Anatone, Wash., has been named to succeed H.C. Olson as superintendent of School District 404, Eatonville.

February 21
A meeting to discuss a legislative measure to enable counties to enter the wholesale sewer business, turned out to be an anti-sewer district meeting with a packed hall at James Sale Grange Hall last Wednesday.

March 1
Federal and state agents joined forces with sheriff's deputies from three counties last week to investigate a pair of Spanaway-Elk Plain cattle-rustling suspects.

March 8
A $1,130,000 section of Free-way from Pacific Avenue to Polk Street was opened to traffic early last week with a brief barrier-removal ceremony marking the occasion.

March 15
Nine Princesses of the Daffodil Royal Court were honored at the annual promenade staged by the Daffodilains at Sherwood Inn and were given each an automatic camera by Eastman Kodak Co.

April 5
Blonde, blue-eyed Carol Parcheta, a Franklin Pierce High Senior, was named 1967 Puyallup Valley Daffodil Festival queen on a stage set to the fantasy world of Alice in Wonderland.

May 3
Parkland residents are urged to meet at the Fire Hall, 114th and A Street, Saturday morning to assist in the area-wide clean up drive sponsored by the Parkland Development Association.

July 26
Happiness is being crowned the Parkland Round-Up Queen, and for Christina Baydo, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baydo of 10117 78th Avenue in Puyallup, Saturday night was the night.

August 2
Crowds turned out in record numbers to watch the 17th annual Parkland Roundup Parade and Rodeo, Business Club officials stated Monday.

August 16
"Does your organization have a plan?" "What would be the alternative cost?" and "When would the alternate sewer plan be operational?" were the three questions that set the trend of a controversial discussion between Parkland Kiwanians and A.H. Bottinger, one of the officials of the Pierce County Improvement Association, at a Kiwanis Club meetings.

October 5
A 94 station student response classroom opened at Keithley Junior High School last week pioneering a new teaching system that could eventually set junior high classroom standards across the nation.

October 12
The Pierce County 4-H Senior Dairy Judging team placed second in competition with 31 other teams at the Pacific International Contest Saturday.

October 26
Firefighters from both Parkland and Spanaway Fire Departments have been working hard to rally support for fire department election issues to be decided at the polls November 7, departmental officials announced last week.

tal officials announced last week.

November 2
When Parkland area residents go to the polls on Tuesday they will face a pretty loaded ballot sheet with school levies, school board directors to elect, fire district commissioners to elect, fire district levies, county-city bond issues, Remann Hall bond issue and sewer district decisions. The most controversial of which turned out to be whether or not Parkland should have sewers.

November 9
Bethel School District voters gave solid support to the $320,000 annual M/O, approved a $325,000 bond issue, but narrowly defeated a $196,000 Spanaway School project coupled with a proposal to build a swimming pool at the High School.

November 16
The Name Selection committee for Franklin Pierce School District's new high school has submitted three names for consideration. The names are Parkland, Washington and Viewmont.

November 23
A second community college which will serve residents of Parkland, Franklin Pierce, Bethel, Eatonville, Roy and other Pierce County areas will be built on a part of a site acquired by lease from Western State Hospital land.

November 30
Approval of a study for two-way left hand turn lanes for Pacific Avenue was announced by the Joint Committee on Highways Friday.

December 7
The Lucia Bride Festival, adopted from a Swedish tradition, will be presented with the customary dances and song Saturday Dec. 9, in Eastvold Chapel at Pacific Lutheran University.

December 21
Construction of the new Clifford O. Olsen physical education-auditorium building got underway at PLU Wednesday after President Robert Mortvedt and Clifford O. Olson, former PLU coach and athletic director, turned the first spade of dirt.

That was 1967. Have a happy New Year.

Alumnae To Fete Luncheon

The Tacoma Alpha Delta Pi alumnae will fete collegiate chapter members at a holiday luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Thursday (December 28) at Johnny's On the Mall restaurant in the Tacoma Mall. A light program will follow the luncheon. Chairman of the event is Mrs. Joseph Boyle. January 17 will be the date of the next meeting of the alumnae group which will gather at the home of Mrs. Virgil Geyer, 6217 Panorama Drive E. at 8 p.m. Co-hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Everett Jensen.

Adult Education Program Adds College Credit Courses

Several new college credit classes will begin Jan. 8 as part of the Franklin Pierce Adult Education Program, according to Howard Motteller, director. Among the new classes are basic electronics theory I and II, fundamentals of electronics lab I and II, shipboard radar service clinic, physical fitness, beginning and intermediate oil painting, archery and psychology of group process and sensitivity training, and adult beginning band. Registration may be made in advance at the Franklin Pierce Adult Education Center, 11124 Portland Avenue, or at the first class meeting.

Tax Returns Due This Week

Taxpayers in Washington State will receive their 1967 Federal income tax returns by mail about December 29, Neal S. Warren, District Director of Internal Revenue announced today. These forms have a "piggy-back" label attached. The adhesive portion of the label can easily be removed and fastened to other copies of the tax return, if necessary. Use of these pre-addressed forms will simplify processing in the IRS Service Center, thereby expediting the issuance of refunds. Mr. Warren also announced that a supply of return forms will be mailed to all banks and post offices on December 28, 1967. Taxpayers who need extra forms may pick them up at banks, post offices, or Internal Revenue offices after January 1, 1968.

New Baby Contest Begins Vigil

Are you expecting a new addition to your family in the next week or two? Well you had better get a move on somehow to be the recipient of gifts galore from the advertisers of the Times Journal. To the parents and the first born in the new year will be given:

- A $5 gift certificate from Lou Jean Apparel, for that last spree.
- A pair of shoes for baby from Shop Mart Shoes.
- Lake Spanaway Golf Course will supply one month of free golf or five private lessons, if pro-type dad will let mom take up the "hobby."
- Three months of free garbage service, if the parents live in the service area will be Pierce County Refuse's gift.
- An Electric bottle warmer, just the thing for those two 'o'clock feeds, will be given by South End Hardware.
- Angelos will give Dad a free dinner, just to calm the nerves.
- Johnson Drug will present an eight hour Vapex steam vaporizer.
- Mom will receive a box of chocolates from Spanaway 5 & 10.

- Memories will be kept in the baby book given by Carl T. Lindgren Realtors.
- A view of Puget Sound will be presented to mom and dad in a scenic flight given by Tahoma Flying Service.
- Parkland Fuel Oil will give ten gallons of Chevron Supreme gasoline to dad, so hold on and don't run out on the way to the hospital.
- A complete oil change will be the gift for dad from Brogan's Mobil Service.
- An assortment of Gerber's baby foods is offered by Spanaway's Bargain Basket.
- Stella's Flowers will present mom with a bouquet.
- Millies Stylette Beauty Shop will make mom pretty for all the visitors with a shampoo and set in relaxing surroundings.
- Five gallons of gas will be given by Sorensen's Graham Garage.
- A steak dinner from the Towne House Cafe.
- A soft baby blanket will be the gift from Shop Mart.

Registrations Begin At CPCC

The winter quarter at Clover Park Community College begins Wednesday, Jan. 3, with registration held both Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 2-3. According to Continuing Education Director Calvin Watness, registrations will be taken at the college offices from 1-4 p.m. each day. Evening registrations will be held at the Clover Park High School North Building from 6-9 p.m. both days.

Judge Otto a Disappointment

By Em Matson

When Filis Otto asked Pierce County voters to elect her justice court judge a year ago, neither she nor her endorsers indicated anything but justice would be served. But since taking the office, she has compiled a record of unwarranted dismissals and suspended sentences that makes a mockery of American justice. As a justice court judge hearing criminal cases, Filis Otto is a big disappointment. Last Friday, Judge Otto demonstrated why Pierce County voters should keep a closer tab on her courtroom activities. After a man charged with unlawful use of narcotics had pleaded guilty, she let him off with only an $8 court cost charge and set him free with a 90 day deferred sentence. During the trial, the deputy prosecuting attorney pointed out that the defendant had sold some of the narcotics, and the accused did not deny this allegation. However, the fact that the man might have been a pusher did not bother the judge one bit. By her rather shocking example of poor judgement, Judge Otto did a disservice not only to the community, but to the narcotics violator she placed back in circulation. Although it is true that narcotics offenders receive very little rehabilitation during a 90 day residence in jail, this writer feels it is far more beneficial to subject him to some type of correctional program than dump him directly back on the streets. The job of law enforcement has been made far more difficult with the recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions. It takes more time and money to bring a criminal to justice now than before. In the case above, it took police officers over a month to break up the dope peddling ring, build a court case, and track down this suspect. It must be demoralizing for all the law enforcement agencies in Pierce County to put in the effort to bring in sufficient evidence for a conviction, only to have the judge set the suspect free with what amounts to only an $8 court cost charge. This editorial cites just one case of many that has convinced this writer to urge Judge Otto to resign from the bench.

Parkland Memoirs . . .

Squaw Almost Buried Alive

By Sandy Ingram

Editor's Note: This is the last in a series on the writings of Peter Smith, a pioneer Parklandite. He left a notebook of his experiences as the Oregon Trail was ridden and of the hardship and happiness of setting up home for his family in a strange land. A very special thanks from this paper must go to Mrs. Ruth Algeo, granddaughter of Smith, for permission to use the material the articles were based upon.)

Life for the Smiths went on as normal, even though they returned from Fort Nisqually to find their house burned down and passed off with a mere "but I shall build another".

The next entry was:
"Sunday, July, 1859:

"Today we had a new little son, Peter Jr., Martha still misses her little Jimmie, but the little new ones help and she is forever busy. Mail comes only when someone is coming west."

Mrs. Smith died at the old home place in Parkland in 1888. The son she left in Wisconsin did not come west until after her death.

"Thursday, 1860:

"Today old Dotsie's husband died of Black small pox, it is killing many of the Indians and whites also. They tried to bury Dotsie alive in the same grave as her husband as they are so afraid and she had cared for him during his illness. I happened near and told them to let her go and I would be responsible for her and take her, this they did and she will be a help to my wife."

Dotsie remained in the Peter Smith family for many years and always called herself "Peter Smith's Slave".

"Friday, 1861:

"This winter was the most severe ever known here."

Today on account of too much muck-a-muck-lum- (whiskey), two Indian men stabbed each other to death. One died almost at once and the other by nightfall, we buried them where they fell at the edge of the wood."

"Tuesday, March, 1865:

"The Waum-Illahee (warm summer) is here and the prairie grass is fine for my sheep, they are many wild strawberries. I have been ill for three weeks, while hunting I found a lovely red vine growing high in an oak tree, I pulled and dug it up very carefully and planted it by my door: It was poison Oak. I later found to my sorrow. Martha says I always learn the hard way. The nights are cool and almost every night a wee lamb has to be bedded by the fireplace much to the joy of the children. Lambs have to be tended almost as carefully as babies, there is always danger also from wolves and coyotes."

"Saturday, 1870:

"Today I saw the outlaw McDonald shot at Steilacoom. He was a brave skoo-kum man withal. If the whites do not take care more trouble will come, today a squaw, in a jealous rage, attempted to cut the throat of one of the white soldiers, who was being free in his attentions to two other squaws."

"She crept into his tent while he slept, but because of his heavy beard her sharp knife only scarred the sides of his neck, but she really meant business. I have been appointed Justice of the Peace for this territory."

Although Smith passed off the shooting of McDonald, he was not just another outlaw, according to the Washington State Historical Society, McDonald, who was noted in those days for jumping claims in Roy (a story to come in a later issue), was shot and lay dying on Steilacoom Hill. A priest was administering the last rites when a compadre of McDonald, who was also an enemy, arrived on the scene, accused McDonald of once trying to kill him and shot the dying man.

From here to the end of the notes, Smith only listed the day.

"Sunday:

"The Nisqually and Puyallup Indians are very unfriendly. Today while at dinner our door burst open and a young Indian brave burst in and asked me to hide him. His pursuers soon came, the Puyallup's, and were really after his scalp. I asked them to let me keep him, in fairness to him, and if, after two weeks training, he could run faster than they, would they let him go. After some deliberation they so agreed and departed.

"I trained him running every day and I ran with him and taught him about breathing. On the appointed day the Puyallup Indians came with large numbers of spectators to witness the scalping, they thought. At 6 a.m. after a light breakfast, my boy started with 100 yard start as per agreement. The Puyallups then went in hot pursuit, but my time with the lad was well repaid when at the top of Melvin Springs Hill he looked back and waved goodbye to me."

"Saturday:

"Old Blossoms calf was carried away today by a T'al-a-pus (panther). Blossom went in hot pursuit and daughter Belle after her on her horse. On the edge of the wood Belle found the mother cow fighting for her calf, and forgetting all danger Belle grabbed a stout stick and plunged in also, the animal fled and Belle carried the little calf home followed by the mother."

According to Mrs. Algeo, the little calf grew to be an old cow and always carried the terrible scars from her narrow escape.

"Thursday around 1870:

"Today, Martha sent Willie to the store at Steilacoom, about eight miles away for an order of groceries. On the way Willie met up with a wild goose and the combat was in Willie's favor. Upon arriving at the store he could not think of one thing his mother ordered. Upon his return home he was forgiven by his dotting mother and hereafter he shall have a written list. How that boy loves to hunt and what a shot he is. It was a grand goose."

So ended the writings of Peter Smith. Next week the "Parkland Memoirs..." will return with more history of the South Pierce County area. If you have any photographs or memories of the area please feel free to call me at LE 7-0223, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"The Clowns" Offer Fun For Kids & Mom

THE CLOWNS, Maggie and Jo Jo perform at a Puyallup birthday party recently as the duo have originated one of the most unusual, but most welcome services in the area. Maggie is Mrs. Long and Jo Jo is Mrs. Tom Sonneman.

No Mess, Fuss- Just Fun

You mothers who want to enjoy having a birthday party for your children ... take a tip for us ... call the "Clowns."

The Clowns will come into your home, bring all the goodies, entertain the children, clean up the mess and be gone before you finish your coffee with the other mothers who are relaxing in another room.

The Clowns are Maggie and Jo Jo and now have five assistants who are becoming a big thing in the area in entertaining children's parties and shows. Maggie is Mrs. Barry Long, 1808 So. 96th while Jo Jo is Mrs. Thom Sonneman, 2906 So. 17th ... both in Tacoma.

The two housewives started the original service 1 1/2 years ago with the aim to keep them occupied. Occupied they are as the service has now grown to a full time activity with three other women plus their two husbands helping on weekends. They do parties in homes and put on shows for as many as 200 kids at community centers. In December alone they had eight big shows and many birthdays scheduled.

To give you an example of how the mothers love this service, here is how one Puyallup housewife explained it... "We planned a party for our daughter and figured on doing it ourselves. After adding up the cost for a cake, favors, cookies and games we found out it would cost nearly as much as hiring "The Clowns". And the Clowns also do all of the work. The children loved every minute of it, behaved more than you can imagine and we mothers sat in the other room, drank coffee and visited. It was wonderful."

You can hire the clowns with or without the trimmings. An example of what they charge is for 10 children and they furnish the cake, goodies, favors and do all the entertaining ... all for only $20.

These enterprising young housewives certainly have found something to keep them occupied and at the same time you mothers can finally have fun having a party for the kids. All you have to do is phone Maggie or Jo Jo at GR 4-5414 or BR 2-4796.

Six men, drinking in a bar in Huesca, Spain, got fresh with the barmaid, Emma Largo, 27. Emma wasn't overcome. She clunked one of them over the head with a bottle, threw a chair at another, while the other four fled in terror.

MUSIC MAJOR LEARNS MARKSMANSHIP — Pvt. Joseph Carnero of Buckley gets set with air rifle on the "Quick Kill" marksmanship range at Ft. Lewis as 2nd Lt. Mike McGraw, Portland, Ore., prepares to toss up target disc. Trainees practice shooting fast without sighting with BB-guns before moving to the M-14 rifle. Pvt. Carnero, who enlisted in the Regular Army after graduating from the University of Puget Sound, is taking his basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Lewis.

Carnero Half Way In USA Basic

Pvt. Joseph J. Carnero of Buckley, Wash., a recent University of Puget Sound graduate who enlisted in the Regular Army, is nearing the half-way mark in his basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Infantry, at Fort Lewis.

Along with a major in Spanish, Pvt. Carnero studied music at UPS and hopes to get "my share of it while serving in the Army." He anticipates being assigned to the training center band for advanced individual training when he finishes basic.

Carnero, 22, has played instruments ranging from piano to the sousaphone ever since grade school. He was graduated from White River high school in Buckley in 1963.

After his Army service, Carnero hopes to teach English to Spanish speaking people.

"One of my most exciting times," he said, "was last summer when I was enrolled in extension courses at the University of Arizona. I had the opportunity to live for six weeks with a Mexican family in Cuadalajara.

The visit gave him a chance to see what Mexico was really like and learn some of that country's customs.

"Most Mexican families have closer relationships than do American families," he observed.

Carnero, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carnero of Buckley, was a member of Mu Sigma Delta honorary society and the university band at UPS.

Country Chapel Revival Services

Revival services will begin at Country Chapel, 112th and Waller Road, on New Year's Eve, with Evangelist O. R. Cross. Rev. Cross comes from Portland, Oregon, and is well known in the Northwest as a Bible Teacher, pastor, and evangelist.

These special meetings will commence at 8:30 p.m. on New Year's Eve with a Fellowship Hour, followed by a Watch Night Service at which time Rev. Cross will be ministering. There will be special music and Communion will be served. The services will continue Tuesday through Friday at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Pastor D. W. Grant extends an invitation to all to attend.

Bottomless Cup At Barlo's

Barlo's Pancake and Steak House, 123rd and Pacific, will offer customers a "bottomless coffee cup" and promise to keep it full within a Monday through Friday period, according to Manager Loren Sisley.

The offer is extended to those who buy breakfast at Barlo's, and is good until 5 p.m. Friday of the same week the breakfast was purchased. In order to qualify for the daily coffee refill, the customer must purchase breakfast before 11 a.m., Sisley stated. Then he may come in as many times as he wishes for the balance of the week to claim his free coffee, and no further purchase is necessary, he explained.

Barlo's opened in early December with seating for 310 patrons. The new facilities will include a 100 seat dining room, an 159 seat banquet hall, and a 51 seat coffee shop.

Men In Service

Army Specialist Five Robert J. Cook, 28, whose mother, Mrs. Laura Potter, lives on Route 2, Selah, Wash., was assigned as a cook in the 2nd Infantry Division's 2nd Medical Battalion, in Korea, Nov. 28.

His wife, Irmgard, lives at 14813 Portland Ave., Tacoma, Wash.

Army Private First Class Elwin E. Ward Jr., 25, son of Mrs. Marie Ward, 1511 E. Patterson, Fresno, Calif., was assigned to the 129th Main Support Company near Cam Ranh Bay, Vietnam, Dec. 5 as a projector operator.

His father, Elwin Ward, lives at 1097 Rose Drive, Napa, Calif.

His wife, Thomme Kae, lives at 404 E. 131st St., Tacoma, Wash.

Gary G. Myers (right), 22, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Anderson, live in Omak, Wash., is promoted to Army first lieutenant during ceremonies near Duc Pho, Vietnam, Nov. 17.

Presenting the insignia and congratulating him is Lieutenant Colonel Norman L. Tiller, commander of the 2nd Battalion.

Lt. Myers is assigned to Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division's 35th Infantry.

His wife, Renate, lives at 1718 S. 121st St., Tacoma, Wash.

Marine Private Randolph A. Crawford, brother of Mrs. Donald L. Rasmussen of Rt. 1, Eatonville, Wash., completed two weeks of training under simulated combat conditions in the fundamentals of day and night patrolling, employment of infantry weapons, survival methods and assault tactics at this Marine Corps base.

This individual combat training is given every Marine after his graduation from recruit training. Taught by combat experienced non-commissioned officers of the infantry training regiment here, it prepares the young Leatherneck to become part of the Marine air-ground combat team.

While in the field he was taught how to use hand grenades, a compass and the principles of map reading and land navigation. He learned how to detect and disarm mines and booby traps and, while being exposed to live machine gun fire, he learned to advance safely from one point to another.

From this course, he is scheduled to go on to more advanced training before being assigned to his permanent unit.

Army Warrant Officer Carey Robinson, son of Mrs. Lillie Bell, 3275 Glendale Ave., Detroit, Mich., was assigned with the U.S. Army Garrison, Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., Dec. 7.

His wife, Barbara, lives at 14301 Golden Givens Road, Tacoma, Wash.

It's the LAW
PRESENTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE BY THE
WASHINGTON STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

Tom bought a nice house in an older residential neighborhood. It was just what he and his family had wanted — plenty of room for his children to play in, a two-car garage, and lots of shade trees. It even had an outside television antenna.

From Tom's point of view, the only thing needed was a fence to keep the stray neighborhood animals — and children — from constantly invading his backyard. So, he had the back yard fenced.

Shortly after the fence was installed, one of Tom's neighbors called to him. "Say, don't you know that all the neighbors had agreed to not put up fences around here? Ruins the scenery. You'll have to take it down," the neighbor said.

"Sorry, but that fence cost a lot of money. Anyway, the deed restrictions say nothing about 'no fences.' In fact they spell out what type of fence is permitted," Tom replied.

"O.K. buster," the neighbor said. "If you want to play that game, then read your deed again. That TV antenna is prohibited by deed restrictions. Take it down or I'll call the law."

"Judging from the looks of that antenna, it's been there a long time. Did you complain when the previous owner erected it?" Tom asked.

"No, but so what?" the neighbor retorted.

"Well, there are a lot of other antennas around, too. I'll bet you didn't complain about any of them," Tom said. "The fence stays up — and so does the antenna."

Is Tom correct about his position?

In this instance, probably so. Since the neighbor was aware of the deed restriction violation — but did nothing about it — he probably would not win a court case. Since there are many other obvious violations, Tom has an even stronger case for his side.

Deed restrictions are generally enforced as a reasonable method of preserving property values. In Tom's area the objective of one of the deed restrictions had failed — many TV antennas erected — so the law would generally rule that the restriction is no longer binding.

PSNB Promotes Thirteen

Thirteen employees of Puget Sound National Bank, including Sylvia J. Johnson, 3502 92nd S., have been promoted — nine of them to assistant vice president — according to A.E. Saunders, president.

The announcement was made Tuesday evening following a meeting of the Board of Directors. Among those promoted were twelve men and one woman representing six of PSNB's 20 bank branches as well as the main office.

Sylvia J. Johnson, assistant to the Branch Manager at the Fife Branch has been named assistant cashier. Mrs. Johnson began her banking career in 1947 with the National Bank of Washington. She began with PSNB in 1954 as a secretary at the Lakewood Branch. In 1965 she was transferred to the main office credit department and installment loan departments. More recently she has been with the Fife Branch as assistant manager.

Other promotions include John R. Anderson, assistant cashier; Max Appelgate, assistant vice president; William W. Davies, assistant vice president; Jay W. Fuchs, assistant cashier; Glen Graves, assistant vice president; Kenneth Green, assistant vice president; W. Ray Highsmith, assistant vice president; George B. Jay, assistant vice president.

Thomas E. McGraw, assistant vice president; Tom W. Rowland, assistant cashier; James A. St. John, assistant vice president and Ed Snell to assistant vice president.

Septic Tanks May Not Fit Needs Of Dream House

Are you looking for a new house or building site? Perhaps you have found your dream location and are getting ready to sign your papers. Ray Smith, Pierce County Director of Environmental Health says, "Remember, — most areas outside incorporated city limits in Pierce County are dependent upon septic tanks for sewage disposal. Will your dream location permit a septic tank?"

In order for a septic tank to function properly the waste must be absorbed into the soil. Clay and hardpan soils prevent absorption. When the soil will not accept the waste, it remains on the surface of the ground or drains into an open ditch creating possible health hazard and nuisance to you and your family and neighbors.

Smith suggests that people looking at suburban property or a new house, call the Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department to determine if the property in which they are interested is located in an area acceptable for septic tank use. Do not be misled by a site that looks high and dry; the Department welcomes your inquiry. Property buyers can easily make their own observation of soil conditions by digging necessary test holes or observing roadside cuts. If soil is gravelly or sandy to a 4 foot depth, this would indicate the soil is good for septic tank disposal. It is well worth the time to find out whether the property is close to existing public sewers or if plans are underway for the installation of sewers in the area.

If you will have a septic tank for your new home, Mr. Smith suggests certain maintenance procedures be followed which may save costly expenses later. A septic tank should be pumped and cleaned before too much sludge or scum is allowed to accumulate. The build-up of sludge depends entirely on the use given the septic tank. Each family and home is different. It is suggested that tanks be inspected every two to five years.

In most communities there are firms which conduct a business of checking and pumping septic tanks. In Pierce County these firms are approved and licensed by the Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department. Their assigned license number should appear on the side of their tank truck. Be sure that you are dealing with a licensed firm. They are listed under "septic tanks" in the yellow pages of your telephone directory. Other points frequently raised regarding maintenance of a septic tank include:

1. There is no need to wash or disinfect a septic tank after pumping. A small residual of sludge should be left in the tank for seeding purposes.
2. The functional operation of a septic tank is not improved by the addition of disinfectants or other chemicals.
3. Some 1,200 products, many containing enzymes, have been placed on the market for use in septic tanks. None have proved advantageous.
4. Soaps, detergents, bleach, drain cleaners, as normally used in the household, will have no appreciable adverse effect on the septic system.

5. Roof drains, foundation drains and drainage from other sources should not be piped into the septic tank or the drain field.

6. Toilet paper substitutes should not be flushed into a septic tank.

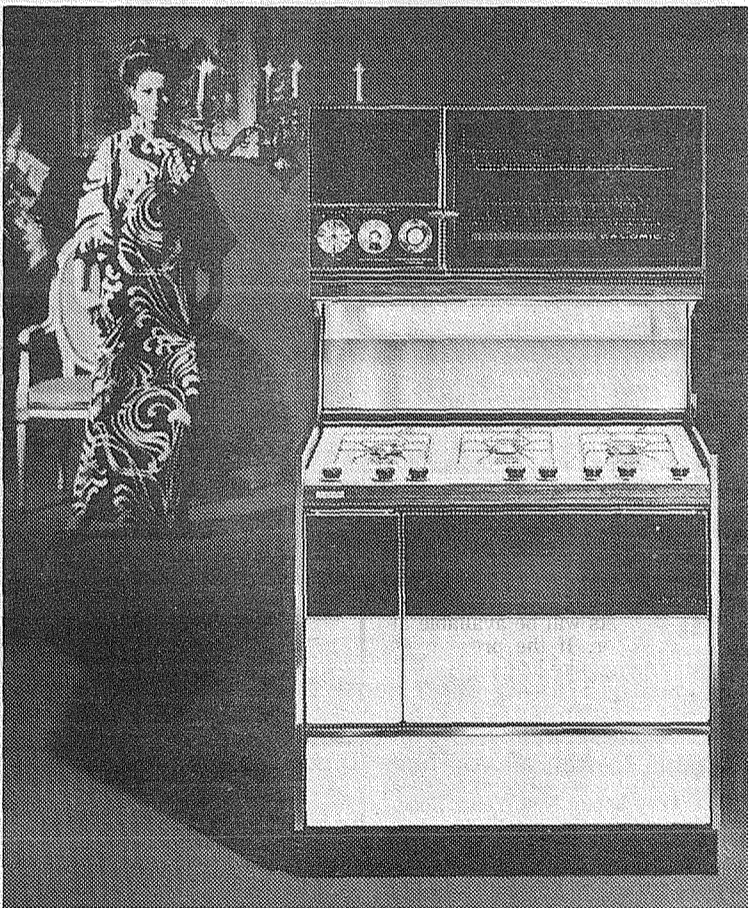

7. Adequate venting is obtained through the building plumbing if the tank and the plumbing are designed and installed properly. A separate vent on a septic tank is not necessary.

8. Abandoned septic tanks should be filled with earth or rock.

Remember that septic tank systems are considered temporary until sewers are available. Septic tanks are not the preferred way of domestic sewage disposal and can create many problems if preliminary planning is not done. There were designed primarily for use in rural areas, — not populated suburban areas. Mr. Smith encourages everyone living in an area served by septic tanks, to do all you can to promote a permanent type public sewage system — sewers. Strive for a cleaner, more desirable neighborhood by having sewage wastes transported out of your backyard and out of your community to prevent a public health problem.

You're looking at THE MOST ELEGANT Range ever designed

Caloric Model E-607

...and beneath the elegance—the most advanced kitchen range in history.

Sure, it's beautiful—from top to bottom—and all new. But the story doesn't end there. Because the new Caloric is a beauty with brains, it makes your cooking easier, better and more fun than ever. There simply has never been a range like the new Caloric before—and here are the reasons why:

- Ultramatic solid state ignition system—ignites all burners without a pilot.
- Thermo-Set—the burner with a brain—adjusts flame to maintain pre-selected temperature; makes every pot and pan your own automatic.
- Stainless steel utensil supports—strong, beautiful, easy to clean.
- Clean-look cook top—smooth, quick-wipe porcelain surface.
- Six-burner capacity—first double-decker gas range with six burners.
- Automatic Meat Probe—just set the dial to the "degree of done-ness" you want and insert meat probe into the center of roast. Oven automatically switches to a perfect serving temperature without further cooking, and with no drying out.

- Huge oven—largest ever in a 36-inch range. Will cook a forty-pound turkey.
- Hood and exhaust system available—filters air from both ovens and range top.
- Hide-N-See Window—a window only when the oven light is on.
- Ultra-Ray Broiler—infra red, comfortable waist-level. Results in perfect barbecue flavor.

The new Caloric also gives you all the expected advantages of cooking with Natural Gas: speed, economy and temperature control, plus ease of maintenance. And you can buy your new Caloric range on easy monthly terms.

You owe it to your cooking to inspect the new elegant series of Caloric Gas Ranges awaiting you at your Caloric Dealer or your Washington Natural Gas office today!

ISS: Help For Troubled Families At Home, Abroad

Wherever they go, International Social Service including WAIF (World Adoption International Funds) is there. ISS is an agency that helps when family problems extend beyond the borders of our country. Each year it helps more than 75,000 families — men, women, and children of all races and creeds in all parts of the world.

ISS is a voluntary agency — nonprofit, non-governmental. Its work is supported by contributions from united funds, corporations, foundations and individuals. It has consultative status with United Nations agencies and is consulted by governments, religious groups and other agencies with international programs.

More people could be helped if they knew how ISS can serve them. It has available help for community councils, Department of Public Welfare, family and children's agencies, family court, hospital social workers, Veterans' Administration, union counselors, clergymen, chaplains and social workers.

Some of the typical cases are: An American GI is estranged from his Korean wife. She wants to rejoin him in the U.S. ISS helps to reunite them.

A young unmarried mother has run away to Mexico to have her baby. ISS helps her to become reconciled to her parents and to plan for her future and that of the baby.

A Northwest family would like to adopt a child from abroad. ISS helps them to find the little boy who is now their sturdy happy son.

These persons served are aided by local agencies and by ISS.

If you or someone you know has a personal need or problem that crosses international boundaries, ask a local agency to get in touch with ISS, or write to International Social Service, American Branch, 345 East 46 Street, New York New York, 10017.

The holiday celebrations are in full swing now. All around the county there are festivities, parties, and plans going into action.

The Lakewood Puppeteers will present a special children's holiday show this afternoon at 2 p.m. in the Lakewood Players Theater.

The puppeteers will present their original show, "The Dancing Dragon and the Magic Christmas Tree."

The show, sponsored by the Lakewood Players, will be held in their theater, located in the northeast corner of Villa Plaza.

Elk Plain Tavern is planning a New Year's party. There's to be a complementary buffet, party hats, and decorations. Party-goers will dance to a western band from 9:30 to 3 a.m.

Reservations are still being accepted at VI 7-2435. Be sure you make it. It should be a lot of fun.

Any amateur musicians in the area? The symphony orchestra, the concert band, and the stage band of Tacoma Community College invite you to join. There are no tryouts, all that is required is the instructors permission.

Each course carries one credit. Cost of registering is $6 for the credit hour, plus a one-time-only records fee of $5.

The circus is coming! The Moscow Circus is due for the first time at Seattle Tuesday, January 9 through Sunday, January 14. It's really an exciting spectacle, wonderfully different from any other circus I've ever seen.

My favorite act is the magic show, performed by the famed illusionist, Igor Kio. What a wonderful show!

Stopped by with Charlie for a Christmas Eve Brunch at Brad's. It sure was great. After wrapping all week, I just couldn't face the kitchen, so off we went. That's the kind of treat I like during the holidays. I wonder if I can turn it into a New Year's resolution.

The Tacoma Civic Ballet's annual Christmas Dance Concert will be presented this afternoon at 2:30 and this evening at 8 in Mount Tahoma High School Auditorium.

Each of the ballets is designed to interest children at the afternoon matinee as well as adults in both the afternoon and evening concerts.

Tickets will be available at the door. If the program is anything like last year, and I understand it's even better, it should be great. Be sure and make it!

That's all for now. Have a very happy New Year. Good-night all. Good night, Charlie.

Expecting overnight guests?

Eatonville Cards Face Undefeated Warriors

Eatonville hoopsters will enjoy a rest until January 5 when they meet Tenino in an away contest. The Cruisers played Elma on the Eatonville home court last night.

In action last week the Cruisers downed Morton 56-51, overcoming a first half 26-23 deficit. Steve Rose, a 5-8 senior, bucketed 26 points to pace the Cruisers.

The win gave the Eatonville quintet their sixth straight win against no defeats.

Snow Report

Rain was falling in all popular ski areas (Passes) at press time.

The Franklin Pierce Cardinals will face the Clover Park Warriors when Puget Sound League Hoop play starts January 5. The game will be played on the Card's home court.

In action last week the Cards posted an 86-69 victory over Mount Rainier in the final round of cross-league play. Mark Korsmo registered 23 points to take high scoring honors, while Jim Hadland followed with 20.

Pierce dominated the boards, out rebounding Mt. Rainier 34-26.

Bethel To Meet Tumwater

The Bethel Braves will be seeking their first Seamount League victory when they take on Tumwater at Tumwater January 5.

Last week in the league opener, the Braves dropped a 58-69 decision to a free shooting Fife quintet. Utilizing a zone defense, Fife led at halftime 36-18. But during the second half Bethel fought back to narrow the final deficit to nine points.

High point man for both teams was Mark Belvin who sank 5 field goals and 6 free throws for 16 points. Mike LaVine followed with 13 Bethel points, and Larry Loete tallied a total of twelve. Tumwater was overwhelmed by Curtis last week 71-56.

FROM OUR
Correspondents
Waller Road

By Mrs. Verne W. Fogle Le 7-5210

The lower grades of the Waller Road Elementary School presented two days of special Christmas programs for the parents.

Last Tuesday and Wednesday Children were honored to present the Christmas Story in song and recitation for a packed auditorium. School closed on Friday, bringing a well deserved vacation to the pupils and teachers alike.

All Pierce County Grange Officers will be installed in a mass ceremony at Fruitland Grange Hall Friday, December 29th at 8 p.m. I.L. Larson will be the installing officer.

The First Pomona meeting of 1968 will be held at James Sales Hall at 10 a.m. January 6th.

The recent variety show sponsored by the Waller Road P.T.A., was a huge success.

The Waller Road Grange Hall was overflowing with parents, relatives and friends who saw a delightful and colorful presentation of future stars. The committee in charge received high praise for giving the children a chance to appear before the public.

Once again Waller Road Grangers turned out in full force for the annual Christmas party. The program presented by the Junior Grange was outstanding in beauty and meaning, according to those who were in attendance.

The Christmas tree, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Carlson and decorated with red ribboned golden bells by the Waller Road Garden Club was admired by all.

The beautiful quilt presented each year by the Junior Grange members, was awarded to Mr. Walt Ehnat. The youngsters raised $116 for their camping program on this project.

James Taylor, master of the subordinate Grange was presented with a coffee maker, from the Junior Grange. Cindy Van Hulle, made the presentation.
