Bethel Propositions Approved

Bethel School District voters turned out Tuesday to pass and validate two issues on the ballot.

Proposition I, which will replace Spanaway School Buildings, polled 774 yes votes to 143 no in unofficial totals of 14 out of 15 precincts. A total of 917 voted on the proposition to give it an 84.4 per cent favorable margin. To validate, 770 votes were needed.

Proposition II, a measure to secure additional school land, passed easily by registering 785 yes to 139 no. A total of 924 balloted to give an 84.9 per cent favorable vote. The unofficial totals were based on 14 out of 15 precincts.

"We are extremely pleased at the complete support as every single precinct voted over 60 per cent in favor of the school issue," Dr. Fred Gramann told the Journal Tuesday night.

Construction at Spanaway will probably start November 1968 and the school will be open for the 1969 school year, he said.

Sheriff's Reports

PARKLAND — Burglars entered Binger's Service Station, 9601 Pacific Ave. last week to ransack the premises, Deputy D. Larson reported.

When the son of the owner opened the station he found it full of smoke and summoned firemen to the scene. He also noticed packages of cigarettes scattered about the floor, Larson learned.

After the fire was extinguished in an oil storage room, it was noted that cupboard doors had been forced open and merchandise thrown about.

Fire damage and extent of the burglary loss will not be determined until an inventory is taken, Larson stated.

'Extend Yourself' Says Seattle Pastor

By SANDY INGRAM

"Extend Yourself — do a little more than you can easily do," was the inspiring message carried by Dr. Dale E. Turner, minister of the Seattle University Congregational Church, at the annual banquet of the Parkland Development Association Friday.

Dr. Turner graduated from Yale Divinity School in 1943, served as youth leader in churches and athletic coach in schools in Michigan.

Since beginning work as minister of the Seattle church he has spoken in school assemblies at nearly all schools in the Seattle area as well as countless service clubs, PTA meetings, sorority and fraternity houses and residence halls on the UW campus.

The summer of 1961 Dr. Turner spent working in the slums of Tokyo and in 1963 he spent six weeks on a preaching mission in Great Britain sponsored by the British-American Preachers' Association.

According to Dr. Turner, the reason for failure — in this case mediocrity — "is the unwillingness to do more than required and the punishment is denial of the joyousness of what one could have."

"In physics it is easy to show a person a law, because seeing is believing, but in moral laws it becomes more difficult, however, illustrations can be shown," added the speaker.

"All the greats in our life and history are not the persons who do what they should, but the ones who do more than anyone has the right to expect of them."

"You must come to terms with this 'Universal' law," he added, "if you don't you will always be mediocre, mundane, average." In borrowing a quotation from another philosopher, Dr. Turner said: "If you never do more than you are paid for, you are not worth what you are paid."

Installation of officers followed the speech, termed "inspiring and meaningful" by Harry Sprinker, Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.

ley Junior High Schools. Adult price is one dollar and students tickets will sell for 50 cents.

Man, Woman of Year Named

MRS. ELLEN HUNNICUT AND BOB MAGDANZ display their plaques after being named Parkland's Woman and Man of the year at the annual Business Club banquet held last Saturday night at the La Pergola. Installed as officers for 1968 were: Harold Lloyd president, Dayle Collison vice-president, Irene Clemens treasurer, Clara Starr recording secretary, Ellen Hunnicut corresponding secretary, and Charles Cook as a new board of director member. Clayton Peterson was master of ceremonies.

Pioneer Mutual Celebrates Centennial

Local dignitaries joined Company officials and employees at the Home Office of the Pioneer Mutual Life Insurance Company in Fargo, North Dakota, early this month to raise a special Centennial Flag signalling the start of a year-long celebration of the Company's founding 100 years ago next October.

At the ceremony, Company President W. E. Wright noted that the Fargo-based Life Insurance organization is the 30th oldest of the over 1700 United States Life Insurance Companies and the 6th oldest west of the Allegheny Mountains.

According to the Company's local General Agent, Don Hansen, 407 Garfield, the Company was founded October 27, 1868 as a Fraternal Benefit Society known as the Ancient Order of United Workmen by John Jordan Upchurch and 13 fellow workers. In 1948 the organization of the Company was changed from a fraternal benefit society to a Mutual Life Insurance Company and the name was changed to Pioneer Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Plans for the Centennial observance include a special open house to be held later this year, and a meeting of Company representatives from throughout the United States to be held in conjunction with the Company's annual meeting in March.

Firemen Plan Dance

Parkland Firefighters will hold their annual dance Saturday, February 17 at the James Sales Grange Hall, Chief Ray Hixon announced last week.

Jack Siler's Dance Band will provide the music, and dancing will start about 9 p.m., Hixon said. Money collected from ticket donations help firemen improve conditions around the station.

New 4-H Club Formed Here

A new girls 4-H club was organized in the Elk Plain area. The club has been named the Merry Homemakers and is headed by Mrs. Virginia Kleinsasser and Mrs. Arlie Akers.

Club officers include Kim Kleinsasser, president; Linda Stanfill, vice president; Jamie Akers, secretary; Kathi Kleinsasser, treasurer; Konni Kleinsasser, reporter; Lyn Goddard, phone chairman, and Helen Kuper, game chairman.

Optimist Club For Parkland

Optimists are looking for charter members to fill out the roster of a new Parkland Club, Lin Webster announced yesterday.

Twenty-five members are needed to form the club, which has been meeting 6:45 p.m. Wednesdays at Barlos for dinner.

If sufficient members can be recruited to qualify for a charter, Webster said the club will sponsor youth activities in the area. The Optimists are strictly for youth and have the motto "Friend of the Boy," he stated.

Those interested may contact Webster at the Parkland National Bank of Washington or Vern Voss at Voss Auto Wrecking.

F.P. Board Awards Sales Lib Contract

Franklin Pierce School Directors awarded low bidder Freigang Construction the contract for construction of the James Sales Elementary School library Tuesday night.

Freigang Construction, whose bid of $41,070, initially gave the firm the low bid, negotiated with school officials and after several changes in the plans came up with a final bid of $31,677.95. The negotiations were called when the low bid appeared to be more than the amount allowed for the project.

The State of Washington will pay $25,615.59 of the amount, and the Franklin Pierce District will cover the balance.

In other action, directors approved the purchase of an additional portable building for use by the new High School until the building is completed. The unit will be purchased for $4,000 from the DuPont-Fort Lewis District.

A vote on teachers' salaries was postponed until the February 13 meeting. Teachers' proposal calls for a starting pay of $6,000 and a 6.3 per cent over-all increase.

Blood Donors Wanted Friday

PARKLAND FIRE DEPARTMENT members Tip Thibodeaux and Paul Shumway hold the arm of Deputy Chief Virg Tatro while Gary Hauenstein uses an improvised "grease gun" needle to simulate taking a blood sample. Doug Graves looks on. The firefighters will join other Parkland-Spanaway residents in donating blood when the Tacoma-Pierce County Blood Bank Mobile visits the area from 9 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Response to a Times Journal story asking for blood donors coupled with a blood donor program at Trinity Lutheran Church will make it possible for the Tacoma-Pierce County Blood Bank to send a mobile blood unit to the area Friday January 26 from 9 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

The unit will park near the entrance to Trinity Lutheran Church, 121st and Park Avenue. Donors may use the parking lot across the street.

types of blood were not in stock at the Bank and donors were urgently needed. Parkland and Spanaway Fire Departments immediately volunteered help, as did many area residents.

Kiwanis announced the need at the past two meetings to sign up donors.

A sufficient number of volunteers were secured from the community and through the Trinity program to bring the unit to the area. Although the minimum requirements for numbers of donors have been met, there is plenty of room for more.

Rules for Donors Listed

1. Do not eat three hours before giving blood. Black coffee and fruit juices are allowed.

2. Do not donate if you have had jaundice.

3. Donors under 21 years of age are acceptable but must present written permission from a parent or guardian at the time of the first donation unless married or in the service. No donors under the age of 18 are acceptable with or without written permission. Donors over 60 years of age must present written permission from their physician.

WOMEN'S WORLD

Area Begins Fight Against Defects

JANE WYATT, National Mothers' March chairman, shares a moment with Timmy Faas, 1968 March of Dimes National Child. Timmy, born with open spine (spina bifida) and club feet, symbolizes more than 250,000 babies born every year with birth defects.

Mothers and many other persons will be ringing doorbells February 1, to collect funds for the March of Dimes' 30th Anniversary.

When a March of Dimes volunteer comes to your door a gift may make the difference between life and death for a child with a defect.

Pierce County is not exempt, even Parkland and Spanaway have babies born with birth defects!

"Marching mothers are grateful that they can help a child, and are grateful if their own children are healthy," said Mrs. Arthur Campbell, Mrs. A. Ginnis and Mrs. Rex Hoffman, chairman in Parkland and Spanaway.

"We know all the women working with us feel the same way. It's a privilege to serve. Every year 250,000 babies in the United States are born with defects.

"When we read these figures, we decided to help. We know that the 'March of Dimes' supports research which seeks to discover how, why and when birth defects happen. Research that seeks to provide guidelines for earlier and more accurate diagnosis, possible ways to prevent progressive damage and ways to improve methods of treatment," said Mrs. Campbell.

Much of the money contributed to the March of Dimes goes into a vigorous research program which seeks to shed light on the complex mysteries of defects. Another part is earmarked for public education programs. Some goes to support a countrywide network of nearly 100 Birth Defects Centers, one in Seattle, University Hospital at the University of Washington, where youngsters from Pierce County may receive team-coordinated, specialized treatment.

Remember January 1939?

GEN. FRANCO WAS NEARING SPAIN'S CAPITAL

What kind of a month was it in January, 1939, as the world was climbing out of the depths of the depression....only to near the brink of World War II?

In Spain, General Franco's insurgent forces were nearing Barcelona, and the battle that might decide the 2½ year war.

In America, we were preparing ourselves for the impending visit of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

And, here in Puyallup, our Viking cagers, "displaying the poorest offense in the league" were off to do battle with the three-time defending champion Enumclaw team; "Blond Cheat" starring Joan Fontaine was appearing at the Roxy; coffee was selling for 15c a pound at the Central Market; Robert D. Campbell had been elected library president and William P. Loughlin had just filed for mayor on the Progressive ticket.

Meanwhile, we here at Citizens were already over 40 years old in business on this date in 1939.

Today we stand ready to put this 70 years of experience to work for you and your family. May we try?

Memoirs . . . Parkland Methodist Church Began 1880

Parkland School Was Used

In the early days the Methodist folk of Parkland attended church at Fern Hill, walking or driving the distance of about three miles.

By Sandy Ingram

In 1890 the Parkland Methodists decided to hold their church services in Parkland using the Parkland Public School on the site of the present school and the Fern Hill minister dividing his time between Fern Hill and Parkland. The Fern Hill church held its services in the morning and Parkland began its at 2 p.m.

Rev. F. S. Pearson was pastor at this time maintaining his residence at Fern Hill and Alvin Soule was Superintendent of the Sunday School. George Smith took over from Soule. Mrs. Lucy Smith was organist and Soloist.

According to Mrs. Ruth Algeo it became a standing joke at the time to make sure your horse and buggy were tied securely for the horses would think the sermon was too long and take off home on their own.

In 1900 it was decided to try and build a real church to house the growing congregation and land was donated by William Wilson, father of Mrs. Mary Smith. The church, one unit, was built on the site opposite the Parkland School. Rev. Horace Williston was the pastor.

"The church was dedicated the same year everyone in Parkland was saddened by the dreadful street car wreck; almost every member of our church was affected by this accident, my mother's sister-in-law lost both her parents and the Glasso family lost two lovely daughters who were our Sunday School mates. The Parkland Cemetery holds mute evidence of the disaster," said Mrs. Algeo.

The pulpit of this new church was made by William Wilson with the help of the pastor and members of the congregation.

Among the teachers during this era, recalled Mrs. Algeo, was Mrs. Fannie Penn, mother of Mrs. William Gregory, she was an outstanding person and made a lasting impression with any one with whom she came in contact. Another fine teacher and Christian person was Mrs. Alice Holmes; wife of Fred Mason Holmes the artist. She also was an artist and used chalk talks in teaching which made the lessons very real and lasting.

During the beginning of the church the young ladies formed the "Broomstick Brigade". This group attended and performed at many of the church functions and were very popular, she said. Members included the leader, Harry S. Patton, sword bearer; his son Harry, the drummer boy; Mrs. W. H. Frye, Susan Wilson, Mary and Annie Pattison, whose father began the first Nursery Green House in the area; Ella Halstead, Bessie Wilson, Mary Buel, Carrie Danforth, Jessie Byrd, Lucy Barnes, Anna Blackwell and Mary Karasek.

In 1924, during the pastorate of Rev. Joel Vigus, the church was remodeled, enlarged and modernized. This work was made possible through the efforts of members and a donation from Mrs. Mary Roff from Canada who had visited the church, liked the members and preacher and sent this donation in appreciation. Other help came from John Alger and others.

In 1934 the women of the church and community formed under the leadership of Miss Francis Scearce, the Y.L.A. Society. They financed the heating plant and the following year equipped the kitchen and provided silverware for the dining room. In 1938 the church celebrated its 38th year, under the pastorate of W. S. Jamison.

Three men have been sent from this church to complete their theological training. Rev. Forrest Tibbets went to Boston, Rev. Clark Wood to Chicago and James Moore to New York.

"BROOMSTICK BRIGADE" — Mary and Anna Pattison, residents of Parkland at the turn of the century were members of the Parkland Methodist Church Social Group. The group performed at all local social and church functions and were classed "very popular".

China Conference At PLU Will Act As Counterpart

Predicting the future of Red China has never been an exact science, but several of North America's leading Asian scholars will attempt to do just that when Pacific Lutheran University hosts its first West Coast Conference on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 23 and 24.

The two-day affair will be the counterpart of the China Conference held each year at Harvard University.

Featured speakers at PLU's meeting include Dr. John G. Stossinger, executive director of the doctoral program in political science at the City University of New York, and Dr. George Taylor, director of the University of Washington's Far Eastern and Russian Institute.

Other guests will include Charles Burchill, a faculty member at the Royal Roads Military Academy in Victoria, B. C., and Dr. Frank G. Williston, a member of the Far Eastern and Russian Institute at the University of Washington.

Mike McKean, a senior political science major from Aberdeen, Wash., is chairman of the event. He said invitations have gone to every college and university on the West Coast, and at least 250 students are expected to attend.

"The emphasis of the conference is being placed upon an in-depth analysis of the historical development of the Chinese nation," said McKean. "Political, economic and social evolution will be analyzed in an attempt to explain the present and future role of China on the international stage."

McKean explained that at present Western specialists are spending more and more time studying China.

"The scholars differ as to what the future holds for the world's most populated country after the death of its 74-year-old leader, Mao Tse-Tung," said McKean.

"Mao belongs to a diminishing band of world leaders," McKean said, "and we are anxious to find out what the experts think will fill the vacuum caused by his departure."

McKean said that some scholars think that the United States has no reason to fear Chinese involvement in the Vietnam war. But others, he said, say that China is a threat not only to Vietnam, but all Asia.

Last December, he said, a panel of 14 leading Asia scholars issued a statement intended as a general support of U.S. policies in Asia.

"The report stated that the decision of the U.S. to maintain its presence in Asia has been indispensable to all there who have sought a non-communist route to development and a political equilibrium," he said.

But, he added, not all of the speakers at the PLU conference agree with this report.

"We have men representing both liberal and conservative views on China's possible threat to world peace," McKean added. "We will have several interesting debates," he concluded.

Dr. Stossinger will open the conference with a talk on China's history. A panel discussion will then discuss his views.

Dr. Taylor will speak Friday evening on the Oriental mind and philosophy, with emphasis on China. He will be followed by Burchill who will present an analysis of the communist takeover of China, and the political and economic repercussions of this action.

On Saturday morning more speeches and panel discussions will be held. Following

Dr. Williston's talk about China's recent cultural revolution, a panel of speakers will summarize the conference's proceedings.

Stossinger, in addition to his educational duties, is director of the newly formed City University's research institute on United Nations affairs. He is also acting director of the United Nation's political affairs division of the department of Political and Security Affairs.

He is widely known for his television teaching, and one of his courses has been shown in 50 cities across the country. His book, "The Might of Nations: World Politics in Our Time," was awarded the 1963 Bancroft prize as the best book in international relations.

Stossinger was born in Austria. He fled to Czechoslovakia in 1938, and to China in 1941 where he lived for seven years. He has a bachelor's degree from Grinnell College, and a doctor's degree from Harvard University.

Taylor, who is a specialist in Far Eastern history and politics, is a well-known author, lecturer and government expert. In 1966 he was named to the U.S. State Department's advisory panel on East Asian and Pacific Affairs.

He was recently reappointed to a three-year term on the President's Board Foreign Scholarships. He was originally appointed to the position by President Kennedy in 1963.

Last year the World Affairs Council of Seattle awarded Taylor the Raymond Huff Memorial Award for his "distinguished interest and service to the community in the realm of international affairs."

Born and educated in England, Taylor received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Birmingham, and holds a doctor of literature degree from there.

Besides his education experience, Taylor was a journalist in the Orient for several years prior to World War II. During the war he was director of the Office of War Information's psychological warfare department, specializing in Japanese propaganda. Some of his books include "The Struggle for North China," "The Taiping Rebellion," and "America in the New Pacific."

Convenience Foods Require Less Time

Pierce County Extension Homemakers will meet this week to study "Buying Convenience Foods."

Foods have varying amounts of convenience built in, so what is a convenience food? One thing about these foods is that they require less time in preparation. Some people have described convenience foods as having "built-in maid service."

Some of the things to think about in buying convenience foods are:

- 1) Ease of storage or the reduction in the amount of storage;
- 2) Change in type of storage required;
- 3) Ease of transportation from the market to home;
- 4) Cost of convenience versus making or preparing at home;
- 5) Quality of product.

Not all convenience foods cost more than their homemade counterparts, for many canned and frozen vegetables cost less than home prepared. For example, canned asparagus versus buying fresh on the market cannot be compared in price unless you consider the amount of waste in the fresh product. If you do this comparison, you will see that canned asparagus is a better buy for your money.

If you want to figure out what you are getting for your money, divide the number of servings in a frozen or canned product into the price. Cost per serving tells the story.

Dolores Knight, St. Joseph's Hospital; Ruth Bramhall Mary Bridge Hospital and Betty Hoffman, Tacoma General Hospital.

Programs and reservation information will be provided at a later date to nursing directors of all hospitals in the area served by the workshop.

Pesticide Applicators Licensing Testing Set

Persons interested in being licensed by the State Department of Agriculture as pesticide and herbicide applicators may take the required test on January 26 in Puyallup, according to Pierce County Agent Eddie Thomason. The test will be given at 9:30 a.m. at the Winter School Building, W. W. Research & Extension Center, by Mr. Art Losey of the State Department of Agriculture.

Thomason states that regulations relating to commercial applicators, the Washington Pesticide Application Act, and other information may be obtained from the Cooperative Extension office.

Tax Guides For Farmers Available

The 1968 Farmers' Income Tax Guides are now available in the County Extension office, Frank C. Jackson, Pierce County Extension Agent, announced today. The publications are free for the asking.

The Guide, Jackson explained, is designed to answer tax questions posed by farmers. It was prepared by the Internal Revenue Service in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Noting that filling out income-tax forms can be a harrowing experience without complete and accurate figures on depreciation, purchases, sales and other transactions, Jackson invited farmers to pick up copies of the WSU Farm Record Book and Ten Year Inventory - Depreciation Record along with the Tax Guide.

A good set of farm accounts, he reminded, is worth its weight in sweat and tears for a whole raft of reasons. Most important reason at this season of the year, of course, is the information for an accurate income tax report.

The average American homemaker spends 5 to 6 years of her life washing dishes! However, she can buy her way off the dishwashing treadmill for about $150 to $350. Since this is a fair-sized investment, Miss Bernice Belshaw, Pierce County Extension Agent, offers this summary of features to look for and questions to ask when shopping for a dishwasher.

Before you start shopping, know how much space you have for a dishwasher. Also know your water supply — temperature and pressure — drain line, and electric wiring capacity.

Next, decide whether a portable or built-in appliance will be best for you. As good — even identical — features are available in portable and built-in models. Improved faucet connectors also help make the portable a satisfactory performer.

As you shop, note the dealers' answers to these questions: What kind of washing action — water pump or impeller blades? A pump recirculates filtered water through distributing arms to give better washing and allow for more random loading. Ask about the force of the water action which is measured in gallons per minute. Ask about the number of washes and rinses per cycle.

Find out how much water is used in each wash and each rinse. How is the fill controlled? If your water pressure is low or variable, a timed fill will be less satisfactory than a capacity fill.

How is the temperature of the water controlled? Water should be at least 160 degrees Fahrenheit for sanitizing. Some models have a booster to heat the water to the necessary temperature.

Ask about the drying method used. Where is the steam vent located? Maximum temperature during drying? Total drying time?

Check for safety features. To protect dishes there should be a screen over the impeller or water arm. Check for a circuit breaker for the motor. Also, the appliance should have a means of preventing

Bee Registration Required By April

State law requires that each person owning or having bees in his possession shall register, without charge, with the Pierce County Extension office in the county where the bees are located. This should be done before April 1 of each year.

The necessary information for registration includes: name, address and telephone number of the owner, the location of the bee yard and the number of colonies owned. A colony refers to any hive occupied by bees. A copy of this information should be posted at the bee yard.

To register bees in Pierce County you mail in the information, telephone it, or come to the County Extension office, 742 County-City Building, Tacoma, Wa. 98402. The phone number is FU 3-3311, Ext. 511.

Old Timer's Night Planned By Faculty

Spanaway Family Faculty is planning an "Old Timers Night" at 8 p.m. Monday, February 13, at the Spanaway Elementary School.

All old timers are invited to attend. Past presidents, teachers, and principals will be honored.

Anyone having old pictures to share or having information as to teachers and past principals is asked to contact Mrs. Leo Reiken, LE 1-4320 or Mrs. Rex Hoffman, LE 1-1953.

leaks or overflow if the drain pump stops up.

Rack arrangements vary in models according to the water distribution system. Some models have more or less room for large pans, tall glasses, small or delicate items. Try your own china, glassware, mixing bowls, and utensils for fit before buying.

Be sure to ask the dealer about service, parts, and warranty. What is the cost of the pump? The motor? How much is a home service call? What does the warranty cover and for how long?

Finally, ask about the dealer's financing charges. How much would the appliance cost if paid in cash? How much will the total cost be on an installment plan?

NB of W Shows Large Growth

The Bank of Washington experienced its greatest single year's growth in the bank's 82-year history during 1967, Goodwin Chase, president and board chairman, announced today.

"Deposits reached $336,013,575.85 in 1967, which was increased of $61,231,626.19, or 22.3 per cent. Total resources of the bank now exceed $382 million," Chase said. "Of the deposit increase, only $5 million was gained by merger with the First National Bank in Montesano."

"The bank's preceding finest growth year was 1966," Chase declared, "when deposits climbed $29 million, or an increase of 11.0 per cent."

Deposits for Bank of Washington's Parkland Banking Center totaled $12,436,127.14 during 1967, which marked a 18.6 per cent increase over 1966. McChord Air Force Base Banking Center had total deposits amounting to $3,856,371.63, or an increase of 37.6 per cent over 1966.

"A growing preference for Bank of Washington real estate loans created a volume of $78,492,186, an increase of $16,354,394 over 1966, or 26.3 per cent, which is a strong indication that the bank is playing a significant part in our state's outstanding growth," Chase added.

Total loans, which included real estate, commercial and installment credit were $232,199,882 in 1967, highest in the bank's history. Commercial loans increased 23.1 per cent during the year. Instalment credit loans were $44,905,562.

Chase indicated that the bank total service concept was enhanced by the acquisition of Carroll Mortgage Company of Seattle and the Travel Center of Tacoma.

"Our expanded International Division now has direct banking relations with more than 70 countries throughout the world," Chase said, "and is dealing with all of the world's leading currencies. With the acquisition of the Travel Center of Tacoma, we are beginning an international banking program which will offer our customers total service in this area."

"The bank's installation of a third IBM System 360 computer has enabled acceleration of its plan to provide a superior data processing system for customers," Chase added.

"The bank of Washington continues to construct and expand its facilities throughout the state," Chase said, "and 1968 will see new banking centers completed in Parkland and Yakima, the beginning of our new high-rise Tacoma headquarters and the start of a new Inland Empire Banking Center in downtown Spokane."

"Bank of Washington is soundly positioned in the economic growth picture for 1968 and will continue to develop its manpower and resources to provide superior service to its more than 200,000 customers," Chase concluded.

WSU Dairy Institute Slates Briefing

Changes underway in dairy products, packaging, pricing, and plant management will be program highlights of Washington State University's 1968 Institute of Dairying, Eddie Thomason, Pierce County Extension agent, said today.

The annual briefing session for dairy processors, merchandisers, and sanitarians will be held March 5 and 6 at the Pacific Science Center in Seattle.

Dr. Louis J. Manus, WSU dairy scientist and program chairman for the Institute, provides this information on topics and speakers.

New foods for tomorrow, produced by new techniques such as freeze drying, will be described by Dr. K. G. Weckel, Department of Food Science and Industries, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Dr. Weckel will also review new developments in microbiology and their contributions toward combatting bacterial contamination of dairy products.

A new pricing system for dairy products aimed at more adequate returns for producer and processor will be explained by Dr. Jerome B. Siebert, economist, University of California, Berkeley.

Dr. Siebert will also discuss the possible economic impact on the industry of milk substitutes and imitation or filled milk.

Pros and cons of plastic milk bottles, including single-use and multi-trip containers, will be presented by 3-member panel moderated by Robert Rutherford, Manager, Carnation Milk Company, Spokane.

Data processing expert, Jack Perry, Consolidated Dairy Products Company, Seattle, will outline computer capabilities for programming a plant's complete production and marketing operation.

New food processing techniques and ancient and new cultured products such as yoghurt, sour cream, and cheese will be discussed by Don E. Eakle, of Charles Pfizer & Company, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

A Los Angeles management consultant, Walter C. deRenne, of Case and Company, will talk about fast and efficient delivery of fluid products other than milk.

The Food and Drug Administration's standards for pure food, and FDA factory inspection methods will be outlined by Frank Clark, FDA Chief, Seattle.

Dr. Don Marshall, Assistant Dean, College of Agriculture, University of Idaho, Moscow, will offer suggestions for meeting future personnel needs of the industry via a recruitment program among college students.

Keeping the consumer a steady, satisfied customer will be the goal of talks presented by Irving E. Stimpson, President of Stimpson Advertising Agency, Seattle; and Dr. G. G. Quackenbush, Market Research Director, American Dairy Association, Chicago.

The annual dairy products clinic held in conjunction with the Institute will feature imitation and cultured products. Institute participants will taste and score yoghurts, sour cream, cottage cheese, and imitation filled and regular milk, Dr. Manus said.

School News

By the year two thousand, some 22 million adults will be taking up their school books again according to a six-year study, "Higher Adult Education: Its Present and Future," just released by the Association of University Evening Colleges and the National University Extension Association.

Based on program and registration data provided annually by the 233 major colleges and universities in the AUEC-NUEA membership, the report states that present growth is far exceeding predictions of a similar study published only three years ago, and is increasing faster than undergraduate study.

During the period 1960-1966, higher adult education programs increased 26.9 per cent and registrations, which rose more than twice that figure, are expected to multiply by 250 per cent in the next 25

Figures from the University of Washington contributed to the national study. Dr. Lloyd W. Schram, dean of Continuing Education at the U.W., reports 38,000 registrations last year alone in just four measurable areas, Short Courses and Conferences, Correspondence Study, Liberal Arts Seminars, and Evening, Extension and Noncredit Classes.

"This study," Dr. Schram said, "graphically focuses attention on the urgent need for coordinated planning, financing, construction of facilities and, above all, farsighted programming."

"Just as knowledge is not immune from obsolescence," he continued, "neither is the student of knowledge. Continuing Education combats the obsolescence of both."

Three youths presented a check for $1,900 at a teller's window in a Madrid bank. Instead of getting the check cashed, the boys were arrested. The check came from a checkbook stolen from the bank manager's car.

A panel of judges had a difficult time narrowing a field of 16 Franklin Pierce Daffodil Festival Candidates down to 5 finalists Tuesday afternoon.

Named to compete in the finals, Tuesday night January 30, were Pam Bartle 18, Lelia Cornwell 17, Gerd-Inger Gregersen 17, Molly Stuen 17, and Patricia Weis 17. One will be named as the Franklin Pierce Princess to compete for the title of 1968 Puyallup Daffodil Festival Queen.

Carol Parcheta, 1967 Franklin Pierce entry, won the honor last year and went on to win the coveted title.

The finalists were selected on the basis of personal appearance (40 per cent), poise (30 per cent), and speaking ability (30 per cent). "Each year it seems to be more difficult to select finalists," Mrs. Eleanor K. Ervin told the Journal. Mrs. Ervin serves on the school Daffodil Princess Committee.

"Any one of the 16 candidates would have made an excellent choice," she said and pointed out that it took the judges from 1:30 until nearly 5 p.m. to make a decision.

Hazel-eyed Pam Bartle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Bartle, 14824 47th Avenue East, has a 3.88 grade average and participates in many school activities. She holds the office of A.S.B. Secretary, is on the Girl's Club Cabinet, and is a member of O-Ki-Hi, Pep Club, and Junior Orthopedic Guild.

She is 5'3", has brown hair, and lists sewing and swimming as hobbies. Her future plans include attending Western Washington or W.S.U. with a major in education. Brown-eyed Lelia Cornwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Allen, 12117 Golden Given Road, boasts a 3.5 grade point average. The 5'9" senior lists Girl's Club, Pep Club, and Choir as her school activities.

Lelia enjoys piano, singing, dancing, ping pong, modeling, and sewing as hobbies, and her future plans include attending the University of Oregon or W.S.U.

Blond, blue-eyed Gerd-Inger Gregersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guttorm Gregersen, 1201 South Wheeler, is active in French Club, Tawanka, O-Ki-Hi, and Thespians. She has a 3.2 grade-point average.

The 5'3" senior enjoys skiing, travel, and needlecraft as hobbies. She hopes to attend Pacific Lutheran University to major in language and do extensive traveling in the future.

Brown-haired, blue-eyed Molly Stuen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Stuen, is president of the Honor Society, O-Ki-Hi Treasurer, a student council member, and a member of French Club, Ta-Wan-Ka, Concert Band, Band Council, and the Debate Club. She lists a 3.2 grade-point average.

Her hobbies include water skiing, snow skiing, horseback riding, playing the piano, playing the trombone, making her own clothes, and various 4-H activities. Molly plans to attend either U.P.S. or the University of Washington as a home economics major.

Blond, blue-eyed Patricia Weis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weis, 421 East 115th, lists scuba diving, skiing, and "occasionally" hiking as her hobbies. Pat is 5'3 1/2" and has a grade average of 3.58.

As for college, Pat says she hopes to study biology, and later major in oceanography. Her school activities include Student Body Treasurer, Debate Club Co-Captain, and Tawanka.

'Two For The Seesaw' A Lakewood Players Hit

ONLY TWO — Tom Tomlin and Candy Hincks star as Jerry Ryan and Gittel Mosca in the Lakewood Players version of "Two For The Seesaw" at the Lakewood Players Theatre.

By CARLIN ADEN

The other night I went to see "Two for the Seesaw" which is currently playing at the Lakewood Players theatre. As one who has trouble with a ten-line walk-on part, I wanted to see how a cast of two could handle more than two hours of fast conversation — to say nothing of lively action, some of which would have disturbed Aunt Hester.

First, I'll give due credit which, fortunately, is a pleasure. Rick Turnley, the director, knows his business and got out of the play those overtones of human experience that kept "Seesaw" so long on Broadway.

Half of the cast is Tom Tomlin, as the young lawyer, Jerry Ryan, who has fled the law office of his domineering father-in-law and a wife whom he loves, to find, if possible, his own identity in New York.

The other half of the cast is Candy Hincks, who as Gittel Mosca, plays a role that is not so easily described. Both she and Tomlin are old troopers, well-known hereabouts, and truly rewarding to watch. Furthermore, each looked the part most adequately indeed.

Now there's nothing new about a bright young man rebelling against Heaven, home and motherhood, under the impression that things will be better in our largest human ant-hill. All plays head for Broadway and so do the characters like remoras clamped onto a dolphin. But our hero meets Gittel which is something else again as they say in Keokuk.

It is standard procedure for our hero to find lovely companionship as soon as possible to keep the play going. Sometimes she is a school teacher. Sometimes an heiress, a tramp, a clerk, or a social worker — I recall that Mr. Deeds promptly bumped into a tough she-reporter. But Gittel has been around for several thousand years and is well known to history-conscious woman-watchers. She is a good, old general utility, earth-mother, sweetheart, nurse, manager and surely was invented long ago by a man who has a sense of handy packaging.

In short, our lady is a number of characters and the real play centers on how she and her man make this complex bundle of relationships believable. Possibly they succeed because our girl and the boys have had so much practice. She has been Astarte, Ceres, Demeter — with always the same old boys in the backroom.

Even gentle Thornton Burgess had to call on her when one of his little furry cast got into trouble. He called her Old Mother Nature, but don't let that fool you. When you write for little kiddies, you have to watch it.

Anyway, to see Gittel as Everywoman and Jerry as her latest patient is worth the theatre-goer's evening, and there are bonuses.

that where that music came from!" exclamation, and dialogue that puts humor as its prime motive, "Die Fledermaus" loosely translated means "a production you will not want to miss." Actually, it means "The Flying Mouse" or "The Bat."

In the role of Gabriel von Eisenstein will be the Metropolitan Opera and internationally known Tacoma singer, Roald Reitan. Reitan is a graduate of Stadium High School and the University of Puget Sound. A winner of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions, he has just returned after four years in Germany. While in Germany, he was lead baritone with the Deutch Opera.

An elegant poise and excellent voice is brought to the role of Rosalinde, Mrs. von Eisenstein, by Donna Shirley. Presently a leading member of the Portland Opera Company, Miss Shirley is singing violetta in Portland Opera's English language production of "La Traviata."

Returning to Tacoma in the role of the elfin chambermaid, Adele, is Miss Gloria Cutsforth. Soon to be seen in the Seattle Opera's production of "The Crucible," Miss Cutsforth has roles with the Portland Opera Company to her credit as well as being a featured soloist with the "New Oregon Singers."

Mr. Raeder Anderson will "open the show" in a Tacoma production. He will be the perpetrator of fun and frolic — Dr. Falke. Anderson was recently seen in the Seattle Opera's production of "Romeo and Juliet" and is studying opera production at the University of Washington as well as voice study.

Herbert Weiskopf, director of the Portland Opera Company, will be the Conductor for "Die Fledermaus."

"Die Fledermaus" will be an English language production using the libretto by Howard Dietz. This libretto was used for the very successful Metropolitan Opera revival of 1950-1951.

Tickets for the February 8th and 10th production are on sale at the Tacoma Mall, Bon Marche and Frasers at 910 Broadway in Tacoma. You may also telephone the Tacoma Opera Society office, BR 2-9127.

Led by Tacoma's Al Kollar and Dennis Buchholz, Pacific Lutheran University's basketball team racked up three victories last week against league competition.

Kollar, a Franklin-Pierce High School graduate, led the scoring in PLU's wins over Pacific University and Lewis and Clark College. On Saturday, however, Buchholz dropped in 23 points to push the Lutes to a 92-86 win over Willamette. Kollar added 16 points and pulled down 20 rebounds.

The Lutes will host Lewis and Clark Friday night at PLU's Memorial Gymnasium. On Saturday the two teams will meet again in Portland.

PLU is currently second-ranked in Northwest Conference action. It has one loss to league-leading Linfield College. The two teams finished in a tie for first place last year.

Kollar, the sensational sophomore center, is leading seven categories in PLU statistics. He has the most field goal attempts (184); the most field goals (85); the most personal fouls (40); the most rebounds (153); the highest rebound average (12.7 per game); the most total points (216); and the highest per-game average (18.0).

His highest single game output was 38 against Portland State College, where he sunk 14 field goals. Buchholz had 36 points and 14 field goals against the University of Puget Sound.

Friday's game against Lewis and Clark will signal the halfway mark in the season. Northwest Conference games continue until PLU meets the University of Puget Sound on February 27.

In a trial the judge decides what evidence can be heard. He applies rules of evidence so that the truth - relevant truth - may come out in court to decide guilt or innocence, liability or not.

There are several exceptions to the general rule that every person of sufficient understanding may testify in any civil or criminal action or proceeding. Generally, persons, whom the court will restrict from testifying, have had certain close, personal relationships to the person who is a party to a trial. There are valid reasons of public policy behind this rule.

A clergyman of any faith cannot repeat in court information he obtained while acting as confessor or spiritual counselor unless the person about whom he is testifying expressly permits it.

An attorney, too, is bound to secrecy concerning information given him by his clients while he is acting for them. Without the consent of the client, neither the attorney, his clerk, secretary, nor agent may testify to information or advice given him while he was performing his duties as an attorney.

The highlight of the Elk Plain School year is coming February 11th. A Smorgas-often difficult for his department to detect such drivers.

Sometimes the drivers volunteer the information, sometimes the condition is noticed by driver license examiners, and sometimes the condition is reported by courts, law enforcement agencies or other concerned citizens.

The Department of Motor Vehicles will then require that such drivers have periodic physical examinations and or specially equipped vehicles.

Or their driving may be restricted to certain areas and daylight hours. If the condition deteriorates, the driver license may be revoked.

"This is the first accurate information we have ever had on the effect of physical impairments on driving ability, to the best of my knowledge," commented Dr. Herbert Hartley, a member of the vehicle safety committee of the Washington State Medical Association. "There's been a great deal of speculation, but this is the first time we have had some facts to go on."

He said the report indicates the Department of Motor Vehicles should continue its program of requiring periodic physical examinations for diabetics and epileptics, but perhaps the requirement should be dropped for some other categories. The vehicle safety committee of the WSMA advises the Department of Motor Vehicles on its medical restriction program.

Dr. Hartley and Director Toms both pointed out that "fainting" is a symptom rather than a disease. Toms said in the future the department will try to obtain more information on drivers in that category.

The study was conducted by Al Crancer and research analyst Lucille McMurray. Copies of the report are available from the Research Division, Department of Motor Vehicles, Highways-Licenses Building, Olympia.

Drivers with epilepsy or diabetes appear to have higher than average accident rates, according to a recent study by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Persons who suffer from fainting spells also compare poorly to other drivers, Motor Vehicles Director Douglas Toms said, but persons with heart disease or vision defects have average accident rates.

These were among the findings when accident rates for the state's 39,242 "medically restricted drivers" were computed by age, sex and disease. The rates were then compared to average rates for all Washington drivers in the same age and sex groups.

Epileptics had 33 percent more accidents than other drivers of the same ages, and diabetics had 19 percent more, chief researcher Al Crancer reported. Persons who, for various medical reasons, were subject to fainting spells had 83 percent higher accident rates than normal.

Accident rates were 12 percent higher for persons with "medical driving restrictions" — a category which includes drivers with paralyzed or missing limbs. Such persons are usually restricted to driving cars equipped with extra mirrors, hand controls, automatic transmissions and other special equipment.

Persons with heart disease and vision impairments, however, had almost exactly the same accident rates as other unimpaired drivers.

Toms pointed out that the 39,242 medically restricted drivers represent only a minority of the state's physically impaired drivers. He said it is
