JANET SWANSON, 1966 Pacific Lutheran University Lucia Bride, will end her reign December 9th when a new Queen of Light will be named. The traditional festivity is one of the highlights of the Christmas season for Parkland area Scandinavians. See story page two.

FP Board To Act On School Name

Naming of Parkland's new high school will be on the agenda when Franklin Pierce Board of Directors meet Dec. 12 at the new administration building, 315 South 129th.

A committee of five, after carefully considering a long list of suggestions, narrowed the field to "Parkland" and "Washington". The school directors are expected to select one of the two during Tuesday's meeting.

In making the recommendation, the committee found either name acceptable and is not assigning a priority order to the two names.

Parkland High School is being backed by many civic and business groups in the area, and the committee received more letters supporting "Parkland" than any other name. However, the name also received the greatest amount of opposition.

Opponents point out that "Parkland" designates a specific area and not necessarily the general area in which the students will live. They also maintain the name would be shared with an existing elementary school, causing confusion in mail delivery and location.

Those favoring say the school should be identified with its general location. They feel the name "Parkland" would help generate more community spirit.

Washington High School was favorably received by all members of the committee, and was the second choice of many who designated "Parkland" as first. In a poll taken at Keithley Junior High among ninth graders (the new high school's first graduating class), "Washington" was selected as their first choice.

Proponents maintain the name will tie in with a school theme, and to their knowledge, no other senior high in the state has taken the name. They say traditions will be built in, with tricornered hats for the band and a patriotic theme dominating school activities and colors. No one has formally opposed the name.

The committee consisted of Mrs. Ella Redding, Mrs. Betty Ostenson, Mel Schafer, Herbert Gelman, and Dr. Edward E. Hill.

Other items facing board action include:

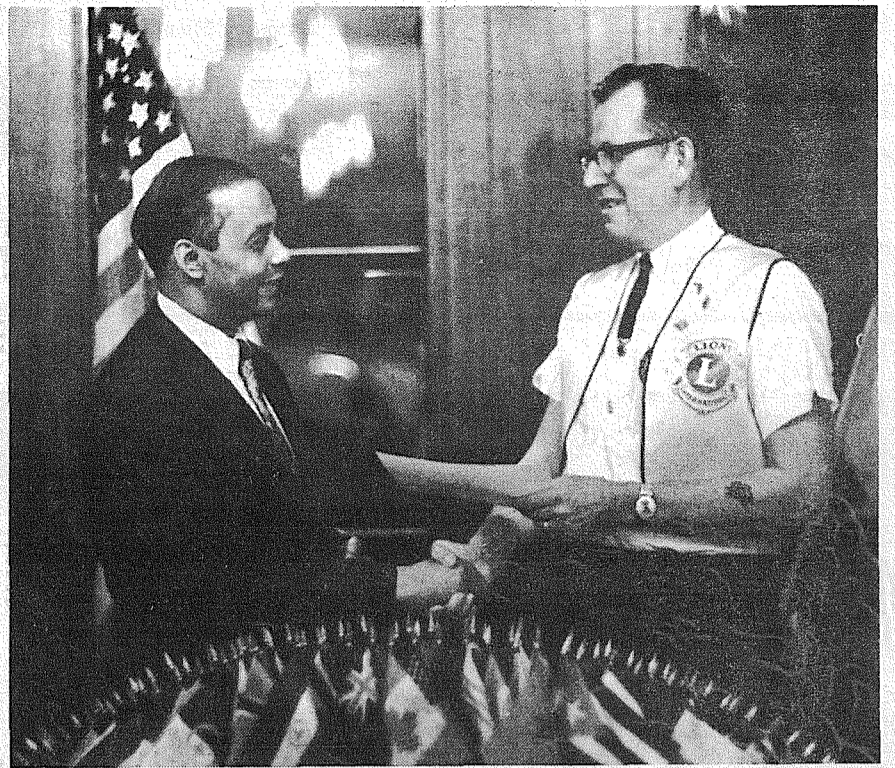

- Reorganization of the School Board with the election of a new chairman, vice chairman, and secretary.

- Purchase of property for school building sites

- Approval of procedures for collective bargaining on classified personnel salaries with representative groups or labor unions representing them.

- Approve final acceptance of the Keithley Junior High addition and Administration Building.

Teenagers Create No Fear For Tomorrow's Government

APPRECIATION - Jack Tanner, guest speaker at the Spanaway Lions Club meet, receives a certificate of appreciation from President Jay Campbell.

Jack Tanner, Tacoma area attorney and Civil Rights leader, told Spanaway Lions and guests at their last meeting "we are fortunate to be able to live in these days and that I look forward to the future without fear."

Stressing the fact that "one-half of the population in the United States is under 25-years-of-age," Tanner added that there could be some very interesting changes within the next few years either within the present framework of our government or in some other way "if the present leaders do not respond to the needs of the younger group."

The Civil Rights leader felt that some day three groups of young adults will join together and create a strong majority group in the United States and around the world. These groups include the young negroes, the college set and the "hippies." When they band, "there will be definite changes," Tanner stated.

He urged that the people over 25-years of age should take immediate steps in helping these three groups. He felt a complete evaluation of present educational system in the United States should be made to "create a more beneficial educational system for children in this country." When asked if "equal education meant the same education," the attorney stated that this was definitely not so, that some people would benefit more from vocational training than pure academic schooling.

The second step to help out the majority of our people (the under 25-age group) would be through the labor union taking steps to help young people gain full employment. He stressed that he would not want to see the existing child labor laws repealed, however, but he felt that the union should open up more opportunities for more people.

The third step, suggested by Tanner, would be allowing the eighteen-year-old group the right to vote so the 18- to 21-year-old group could have a voice in government policies that would help them.

During a question-and-answer period, Program Chairman Del Breseman, asked Tanner if there were any political plans in his future. Tanner indicated he was a serious runner for the Democrat nomination for Governor in this State and felt he had the backing of a number of "liberal Democrats."

UGN Commends Gifts To Needy

There are many individuals and groups who will be making gifts of food, toys, and money to needy families this Christmas. This spirit of giving and concern for their neighbors is highly commended by the United Good Neighbors of Pierce County. The UGN office stated that it was advisable, however, to check with a reliable source to verify the need of a family and avoid duplication of giving before making such a donation. There are many organizations who wish to share the pleasures of Christmas with a family and several groups or individuals may be making donations to the same family without being aware of this fact.

In order that more needy families may be provided for and that gifts be more evenly distributed, the UGN suggests that you check with the Salvation Army as a "clearing-house" first. The Salvation Army has been serving the needy of Pierce County for many years and has a well established record of family needs.

By calling Mrs. Estes at Broadway 2-8090 you can obtain the information you need and the advice of the Salvation Army.

Eatonville Board Elects

Eatonville school directors reorganized the board last week by electing John H. Chappell chairman, John Van Eaton vice-chairman, and Mrs. Ruth Williams clerk. The annual reorganizational meeting, required by law, followed the certification of recently elected board members.

In other action the board: - Expressed appreciation to former board members Fred Guskie Jr. and Louie L. Miller for their service to the district. Both were present for the meeting.

- Studied teacher evaluations.

- Discussed new secondary school standards for accreditation to be in effect by 1969.

- Adopted the present board policies for another year.

- Scheduled the next regular board meeting for Thursday, January 4, 1968.

Santa Fly-In Dec. 16

Santa Claus will make a special helicopter visit to Parkland 10 a.m. December 16 to pass out candy and greet children who turn out for the annual event, the sponsoring Parkland Jaycees announced Monday.

Dale Dillinger, Jaycee project chairman, noted that for the first time since the fly-in has been initiated Santa will not land at Parkland School. Instead his helicopter will appear at the Safeway parking lot, 112th and Pacific Avenue.

The move was made necessary because new grass was recently planted on the school grounds.

"Due to our terrific response to this project each year we have had to equip ourselves to handle several hundred more youngsters," Dillinger stated. "It seems to get larger and larger each year as word of it gets around."

Santa will be assisted by Jaycees and their wives who will be on hand to help pass out goodies to all children who show up.

Lucia Bride Festival Begins December 9th

The Lucia Bride Festival, adopted from a Swedish tradition, will be presented with the customary dances and song Saturday, Dec. 9, in Eastvold Chapel at Pacific Lutheran University.

A pre-Christmas tradition in Sweden, it also opens the Christmas season on the PLU campus. Following the 8 p.m. crowning of the Lucia Bride, the campus' Christmas Tree will be lit, and popular carols will be sung.

Tickets for the festival may be reserved by calling PLU's ticket office in Eastvold Chapel. The public is also invited to a reception following the ceremony.

But the main attraction of the evening centers around the stage in Eastvold Chapel where members of PLU's chapter of Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, will present several Swedish dances and songs.

All costumes used in the performance are typical of "Old Country" festive dress, and are handmade. The women will dance and sing: "Julpolska", "Nuar det jul igen," and "Jungfru."

Dr. Robert Mortvedt, president of the University, will read the Christmas story according to St. Luke.

Philip and Karen Ranheim will sing Swedish songs, and Audun Toven, a PLU Norwegian instructor, will play several pieces on his hardanger fiddle.

David Qualley will present an original composition, "A Norwegian Russo-Flamenco Folk Dance" on his guitar. He will also play "What Child is This?"

Sue Flitcraft, president of Spurs, will tell the legend of the Lucia Bride.

After the "Queen of Light" is crowned with her tier of candles, she will lead the Spurs in a procession to the tree-lighting ceremony, and then on to Chris Knutzen Hall where a reception will follow. There the Spurs will present several more dance numbers.

The students at PLU selected 17 coeds to compete for the title of Lucia Bride. They are: Brita Oklevik, Karen Erickson, Linda Larsen, Nancy Shaw, Cynthia Greer, Kathy Larson, Diane Kowing, Barbara Kohl, Marcia King, Sandra Olsen, Joline Andresen, Solveig Paulson, Kristi Hildahl, Jennifer Johnston, Judith Zatterberg, Paula Grimm, and Julie Turner.

Three finalists will be elected on Tuesday, and the students will vote for the "bride" on Thursday.

New Pattern Size Effective January

An important change is being made in pattern sizing, announces County Agent Bernice Belshaw. New standard body measurements will be used to make pattern sizing more closely correspond to standard ready-to-wear sizing. The new sizing will begin with the January 1968 dated pattern shipment, which are in the stores now. Since patterns with the new sizing and patterns with former sizing will run concurrently for some time, beginning with the January dated catalogs, two measurement charts will be shown in the back of the catalogs. All patterns using the new standard body measurements will be indicated with the "New Sizing" symbol.

As a general rule, you may be buying one pattern size smaller in the new sizing than you do in the former sizing. The waistline is slightly smaller in proportion to bust and hips than in the former sizing. In the new sizing, you may find you will be purchasing the same size in a pattern as you do in ready-to-wear.

Band Classes Slated at FP

Parents whose children are just beginning to learn to play an instrument will soon have their chance.

A special 11-week class in adult beginning band opens January 8 at 7 p.m. at Franklin Pierce High School.

According to the two instructors, Robert Harper and Robert Winters, the class will allow parents to better appreciate their child's involvement, progress and musical ability. They are offering instruction in any band instrument adults may want.

Adults may rent their own instruments from a local music store or use their child's instrument.

The class, which also offers two college credits from Clover Park Community College, if desired, will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Registration may be made in advance at the Franklin Pierce Adult Education Center, 11124 Portland Avenue., or at the first class meeting.

Parkland Memoirs . . .

Early Pioneer Begins Journey

By Sandy Ingram

(Editor's Note: During the past two weeks this page has been devoted to the history of Parkland. Beginning today and in a continuous series will be the trials and tribulations of one of the Parkland Pioneers, Peter Smith. Thanks to his granddaughter, Mrs. Ruth Algeo, priceless notes written by the pioneer have been loaned to the Times Journal for the stories.)

Peter Smith Sr., was born in Scotland, October, 1817. His parents, Archibald and Isabella (Trumbull) Smith were sturdy Scots farmers and fruit growers. The family immigrated to New York in 1840 travelled west to Rock County, Wisconsin, where they took a claim of 320 acres, there he, with the aid of his children, cleared and put under cultivation 200 acres and remained there till his death in 1851 at the age of 77 years.

After his father's death, Peter Jr. longed for new scenes and the spring of 1852 found him en route for the Pacific Coast. He and his wife arrived at the Dalles, Ore. territory September 20th, 1852, and went from there to Portland, Ore., where he spent the winter and sold his oxen for money to buy two horses.

The family traveled up the Cowlitz River to Olympia and then to Steilacoom, arriving in the summer of 1853. Smith took a claim of 640 acres on Tollentire Prairie, eight miles south of what is now Tacoma.

All of his farm implements were made out of wood, the wheels made by sawing rounds out of a log, their first cabin was log.

In 1855 and 1856 they were driven from their home to the garrison, Fort Nisqually, for safety and Smith joined the Company B Washington Volunteers.

Martha Bradshaw Smith

Martha Bradshaw Smith was born in the year 1824 in Staly Bridge, England. She was sent to a girls' school by Lord James Adfield, who having no children of his own, took a great liking to her and gave her this advantage.

At age 19, she and her family came to America and settled in Wisconsin, where she met and married Peter Smith.

Mrs. Smith reportedly loved having her family, friends and strangers about her. She always made room for more. The couple's six children were important in her cooking. To her, they were the judge, and jury.

The Journey Begins

In the Spring of 1852 on a Monday morn, the couple started for the Pacific via the Oregon Trail from Council Bluffs, Iowa, (the only departure station for the Northwest) to make their home in an untamed land.

"Monday in the Spring of 1852.

Today, Martha and I said goodbye to our 15-month-old son and Martha's parents in Brodhead, Wisconsin. I am determined upon going west, but fear to take our wee lad with us as we hear rumors of Indian trouble and much sickness on the overland trail, we know our little one will be safe with Martha's parents and also have a better chance for school and can join us later."

In Council Bluffs the wagon train made ready for departure, supplies were bought and wagons prepared for the long, tiresome journey ahead. Sad at the thought of leaving their first and only born child, busy times were the only consolation.

"Thursday, March 28, 1852.

Martha's father, a stern hard Englishman, rides hard and catches up with us, we are two days on our journey. He entreated Martha to return home with him and even offered me $500.00 to let her do so, I left it entirely to her and when she said: "No, Whither Thou Goest," I knew she loved me, and here we are three days out and another sad goodbye to Father Bradshaw."

Smith made spasmodic entries into his notebook, only when he considered the occasion worthy. We assume that the times between entries were uneventful.

"Saturday, April 28, 1852.

The weather so far is fine, but hot, and the jilting wagon is not too easy on Martha as we now expect another child this fall. Four people, one man, two women and a child died today, we buried them by the trail. Did I do right in coming?"

In next week's Times Journal the couple continue the journey which led them to be among the first settlers in Parkland

Census On Hired Help Slated In Parkland Area

A yearly survey to determine the number of persons doing farm work for wages or salary will be taken in this area, according to Director John E. Tharaldson of the Census regional office in Seattle.

The survey is done for the U.S. Department of Agriculture to get a new measure of the number of hired farm workers and the amounts they are paid. The farm worker survey will be taken in conjunction with the monthly survey for the Department of Labor to provide updated figures on employment and unemployment. Census Bureau interviewers will act as fact-gathering agents for both the Departments of Labor and Agriculture.

The survey is taken from a sample of 52-500 interviewed households in 449 areas of the U.S. Identity of the households is confidential by law, and facts obtained are used for statistical purposes only.

The survey will start on Dec. 11. The Census interviewer who will be working in this area is Alene Riehle, Tacoma, Wash.

Lions' Tree Sale Slated For Dec. 9

Beginning December 9, the Spanaway Lions Club will begin its Christmas tree sales in the Parkland-Spanaway areas with the members serving as salesmen at six locations. President Jay Campbell has announced that the trees are freshly cut, having been cut this last weekend on a tree farm in the Cougar Mountain area.

All funds collected from the sale will be used in the local area to help needy families and children, Campbell reports. A portion of the funds will be set over into the "vision for sight fund" to provide monies for eye exams and glasses for children who need them.

The wide variety of trees include trees from both Eastern and Western Washington, all of them selected by and cut by members of the local Lions. The sale lots, opening on December 9, will be located at the Piggly Wiggly Store on Garfield and Pacific (main location); and other outlets at Kuper's Korner on the Mountain Highway, South End Hardware on Pacific Avenue, Fritz's Texaco on Pacific Avenue, Ouhl's Richfield on Pacific Avenue and Stansbies' 5 & 10 on Pacific Avenue.

The next meeting for the Spanaway Lions will be held on Tuesday, December 12, at 6:30 p.m. in the Little Park Restaurant. The chief topic of business will be the final planning for the Club's Christmas Party. Pro-

Savings Bonds Sales Up Over September

The sale of U.S. Savings Bonds in Pierce County in October amounted to $497,279, according to volunteer chairman Fred C. Osmer.

Sales in the state were $4,329,000. This is an increase over September sales, but still leaves 1967 sales of about $50 million in the state.

"With the advent of the Christmas season," the chairman said, "Sales will be aided by citizens buying Bonds as Christmas gifts. Banks are stocking supplies of free gift envelopes to hold these Bonds. Among those who traditionally buy Bonds for Christmas gifts are parents who give them to children to help in future education, a family gift to start building a nest egg for future emergencies, and companies which give Bonds to employees as holiday bonuses."

One-Act Plays Slated At FP

On the evenings of Thursday, December 7, and Saturday, December 9, Franklin Pierce High School will present its annual Evening of One Act Plays. The three plays to be presented this year are: "Overruled" — a story of the Eternal Triangle by Shaw, "The Last Leaf" by O'Henry — the tragic story of a girl who lost interest in life, and "Curse You Jack Dalton" — the story of two lovers separated by another's greed.

Starring in "Overruled" are Harold Hansen, Kathy McCulloch, Thom Moore, and Tami Brown. It is directed by Sue Sharp and Bonnie Bickford. "The

ENTERTAINMENT

Around The County

By DONNA DIXON RESTIVO

Each time I enter the Lakewood Players Theater I am taken in. There sits a coffee table, waiting for the complimentary intermission cup. The foyer is crowded with many of my friends and neighbors. The theater itself is cozy and small. It is a theater-in-the-round, and always has an informal look.

Such a performance was "Angel Street," a play perhaps better remembered as "Gaslight," starring Ingrid Bergman. After opening their season with "Luv," and following with another comedy, "Barefoot in the Park," Lakewood Players have switched to drama without losing their perfect score.

"Angel Street" is in London in the 1880's. There is a house on the street where a murder took place fifteen years ago. It remains unsolved. The house has been recently purchased by a young woman and her husband. The young woman believes she is going mad. And her husband helps her breed that belief, noting always the missing things she presumably hid, the strange occurrences, the fact that the woman's mother died insane.

Ilona Herlinger plays Mrs. Manningham as the wife being driven out of her mind. Her performance reaches, at points, a depth of believability too eerily close to life for comfort.

R. D. Peterson portrays Mr. Manningham, the maniacal husband. He started off on the right foot. As I overheard one lady comment, "You hate him right from the start. I don't know why." The sinister, methodical criminal was done quite well.

"Angel Street" will again be presented December 8 and 9, and 15 and 16 at 8:30 p.m. in the Lakewood Players Theater, behind the Villa Plaza.

December ninth the OPS — Tacoma Symphony Orchestra will present a "Night at the Opera," featuring soprano Jan Seferian, contralto Margaret Myles, baritone Roald Reitan, and tenor Wilbur Elliot.

The concert rises at 8:30 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Double Victories Boost Seamount League Chances

Six non-league ballgames are on tap for the area's three Seamount League high schools as they continue to prepare for the league opener December 22.

Summer and Fife, both double winners on ast weekend's slate, face two more crucial contests this Friday and Saturday. Summer, who received two different high scoring efforts in their home victories over White River and Enumclaw, must hit the road as they face Peninsula Friday and North Thurston on Saturday. Using strong rebounding Fife was able to squeak out a pair of victories over Seamount preseason favorites, Curtis and Mount Si. The Trojans will be after their third and fourth wins of the early season when they go to White River Friday and play host to Enumclaw Saturday.

The other area team, Bethel, splitting a pair of games this past weekend, is on the road twice, going to North Thurston Friday and then moving over to Curtis on Saturday night. Bethel was gunned down by Foster 54 to 40 Friday, but bounced back Saturday to defeat Tahoma 41 to 30.

Eric Schooler and Dave Thomas paced the Spartans to their 52 to 32 victory over White River Friday night. Schooler threw in 19 points and grabbed 15 rebounds while Thomas topped both clubs in rebounds with 16.

Bethel was able to break even on the opening weekend thanks to the cold shooting of Tahoma, who only hit on 23% of their shots Saturday night. It was a different story Friday night though, as they played host to the other undefeated Seamount team, Foster. The Bulldogs used a full court press to deter the Braves in the second half and pulled away to a 11 point margin in which Bethel couldn't overcome.

Card Cagers Cruisers To Meet Highline Face Yelm Fri.

Cardinal cagers are preparing for a cross conference game with Highline Friday after dumping the defending Class AA Champs from Renton last week 66-42.

Jim Hadland led the Cards with twenty points, while Mark Korsmo was close behind with 17 points. Top scorer for the Indians was Butch Liefer who had 18 total points.

Highline will invade the Pierce court with a full squad including Forward Earl Faylor, who bucketed 23 points last week during the Pirates tilt with Federal Way. Faylor was on the injury list last season, and helped make the difference in Highline's 53-52 edging of the Feds.

Tuesday, December 9, the Cardinals will travel to Wilson for an encounter with the City League Hoop-Go-Round runner-ups. The Rams downed Bellarmine, and Stadium before losing to preseason favorite Lincoln in the final round.

Eatonville hoopsters face a busy weekend on their home court with games scheduled with Yelm Friday and Laughon Saturday.

The Laughon contest was scheduled as an away game, but due to a conflicting assignment for use of the Dupont District school gym, the event was moved to the Eatonville court.

In the December 1 Jamboree played at Eatonville to kick off the 1967-68 season, the Cruisers walloped Charles Wright 20-8 then overwhelmed St. Martins 27-2. Larry Anderson topped Eatonville scoring with 10 points.

Probable starters for the weekend contests will be Buzz Bloom, Larry Anderson, Steve Rose, Steve Fitzer, and Chuck Chappell. Of the Jamboree, Coach Larry Hosely said, "I was well pleased with the Jamboree results although we turned the ball over more often than I like to see."

Central Tops Lutes

Pacific Lutheran University's basketball squad dropped its season opener to a tough Central Washington State College team last Saturday but rounded out their early season record on Saturday by beating cross-town rival University of Puget Sound.

The Loggers fell to the blistering shooting of Dennis Buchholz, PLU's captain and only senior. The 6-4 forward from Tacoma gave the Lutes 36 of their 81 points, while the Loggers collected 76.

Central, which ended the season last year as third-ranked power in the NAIA, had little trouble in giving PLU a 68-63 beating. It was the fifth straight defeat that Central has handed PLU.

Following Tuesday's return encounter with Central at Ellensburg the Lutes returned home to prepare for their first game in Tacoma's Daffodil Classic.

The Lutes go against Portland State College after Seattle Pacific College and the University of Puget Sound mix it up at their 7 p.m. opener. The winners of the two encounters meet in the last game Saturday night.

Portland State is the tournament favorite, but PLU, the defending champion, is given fighting chances for an upset.

The Lutes' head coach, Gene Lundgaard, is planning some changes in his lineup for the tournament. Buchholz, who is averaging 24 points in his first two games, will be joined at the forward post by Leroy Sinnes, a 6-5 sophomore from Port Angeles.

Al Kollar, the Lutes' only all-tournament selection back this year, will be in the center slot. The 6-6 sophomore has been troubled with penalties, and as a consequence was fouled out of both of the previous games.

"Kollar is still a little nervous, but I think he will be coming out of it by this weekend," said Lundgaard. He does lead the team in rebounds, and is the second-high scorer with a 9.5 average.

A FABLE

Once upon a time, around the corner and up the block, there lived two neighbors of extremely varying appearance: Mr. Tortoise and Mr. Hare.

And, although they differed like night and day in outward appearance, they were absolutely identical in interests and tastes. Foreign movies. Bridge. Pro football. Boiled kumquats. Whatever it might be, they liked it. You might say they were inseparable. Except for one little difference.

"Why," asked Mr. Hare one day to his sheltered friend, "do you always have ample money to spend at Christmas time? And I do not?"

"Well my fleet friend," answered Mr. Tortoise, "every payday you are quick to jump out and spend your money. While I, more ponderous of foot....but just as agile of mind.....take time to put a little away in an insured Christmas Club account at Citizens. I don't even miss it. And come Christmas I have ample money to pay cash for gifts. Thereby saving carrying charges. And my interest soon begins multiplying like your family."

"Wow," exclaimed Mr. Hare, who leaned toward expletives, "I think I'll begin doing it myself." And he did. And lived happily ever after.

Sheriff's Reports

A high speed chase, with the suspect paced at up to 105 mph, resulted in a reckless driving arrest for an Eatonville man, Sheriff's Sgt. Larry Morris reported last week.

Morris said he first spotted the car Southbound on Pacific Avenue at Garfield Street, and after a lengthy pursuit, finally managed to pull the offender off the road at 167th and Pacific Ave. As the suspect passed Spanaway Park he was clocked at 105 mph, Morris stated.

The man failed to respond to the red light and siren, and did not slow down until a spot light was played on his rear window, Morris observed. After being advised of his civil rights, the suspect refused to make a statement. He was booked into the County Jail.

Burglars crept into the residence of C.E. Webster, 309 East 133rd, to steal a 19" portable TV while the victim and his wife were asleep in a room 6 feet from the scene of the crime, Deputy Sheriff Buck Lindsey reported. The theft took place late last week.

The thieves apparently entered through the front door, removed the set, and left without the Websters seeing or hearing anything unusual, Lindsey stated. The television was an ivory colored RCA, and had been rented from a local rental company, he said.

A hole cut in the cyclone fence surrounding Parkland Light and Water's material storage area had been used by thieves to remove copper cable over a period of time, company officials told Deputy Sheriff Richard B. Melin last week.

The total value of the loss had not been determined by Journal press time.

Starting Saturday, December 2, 1967, the Ford and Keithley gymnasiums will be opened every Saturday throughout December, January and February except December 23 and December 30, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Boys from grades 5, 6 and 7 are invited to come and receive fundamental instruction in basketball and take part in organized play. Starting January 13, 1968, league play will begin.

SPANAWAY ELK PLAIN FIRE DEPARTMENT

SANTA CLAUS will be touring Spanaway and Elk Plain again this year. Because of the many children here he told us he would be East of Pacific and South of 176th on December 17, 18, and 19, and would be North of 176th and East and West of Pacific December 20, 21 and 22. This is the 10th year that Santa has traveled around the area, supplementing his sleigh for one of the Spanaway-Elk Plain Fire Department Fire Trucks. Rumor has it that the bearded gentleman will bring 2,000 candy canes for the children. Parents are urged to keep their children within sight, or take them to the nearest corner. Santa will ride up and down the roads, North and South.
