THIS IS FUN???—Well, of course, especially if you happen to be a small boy riding a big critter in the Parkland Junior Rodeo, and can discount the worried look on young Fred Huggler's face, pictured during last year's action. The Rodeo will get underway Sunday, April 8 at 1 p.m. at the Parkland Rodeo grounds. Junior bronco busters up to and including 19 years of age are eligible.

Chin Spinach Growers Set For Contest

Calling all he - ment Throw away your razors and start growing that beard you whack away at each morning.

The annual beard growing contest for the Parkland Roundup starts this Saturday.

There will be prizes and more prizes.

Prizes for the oldest man with a beard, for the youngest, for the reddest, for the curliest, and many others.

The rules of the contest are simple.

Just register at Beitz's Flying A Service at any time after 9 a.m. Saturday morning (you must be clean shaven when you register) throw away your razor and show up at the dance on May 26 to collect your prize. Registrations will also be taken at the Shamrock Tavern.

Both places are at the intersection of 112th and Pacific Avenue.

Ted Freisz, chairman of the event, indicated this week that only about 15 men had signified their intention of signing, so the field is wide open.

Register early Saturday and get your head start on those prizes.

DR. JACK SCHNOOR, Parkland dentist, is shown here presenting worker kits to Priscilla Stuen, Carole

Smith and Gertrude Zaputel, as the group prepared for the kickoff of the local Cancer Fund drive.

Bethel Readies Float Anderson For Daffodil Parade Named

Final preparation of this year's Bethel District Daffodil Float will take place tomorrow night beginning at 7:00 p.m. in the Bethel Senior High School's ag shop. The float, sponsored by the Bethel Booster Club, will get its finishing touches when the flowers are placed in the structure by volunteers from the Bethel area.

Float Co-Chairman Earl Platt and Robert Minnitti have announced that any resident in the Bethel area may lend a helping hand tomorrow night, or just come up to see this year's float in a sneak preview. Booster President Ben Kuper revealed that the helpers and visitors will be treated to coffee and cookies at the work party.

Much of the credit for this year's float goes to ag teacher Robert Anderson of the Senior High and his hard working students who built the understructure, according to the Boosters.

Local Fire Chief John Farren will take the controls of the float on Saturday to drive in the three-city parade.

President Kuper of the Boosters has urged the support of all the citizens in adding the finishing touches on the float tomorrow night as the float represents the entire Bethel area and has invited everyone to come out and see it before the Saturday parade.

Maurice W. Anderson has been elected Sewer Commissioner for a six year term. He replaces Louis K. Woodford whose term has expired, and who no longer lives in the district.

Other Commissioners elected were Lawrence Armstrong and Walter Young. Anderson's term will begin in June.

The commissioners state that developments will take place shortly regarding the sewer project. Harstad and Associates will supply plans that would serve either all or a small part of the district.

Foster Children Lucky To Live With Brazel's

It takes a lot of love, patience, firmness and understanding to make a happy family. The R. C. Brazels of 8403 South Thompson must have the secret of this magic mixture, as they are thoroughly enjoying their family of two foster children as well as their own four youngsters.

The magic ingredients, according to Mrs. Brazel, are two fold: Family cooperation and religious faith.

"We all have to work together in our family," said Mrs. Brazel. "The big children help the little ones with everything, whether it is getting dressed or learning lessons, and Dad and Mother are always ready to help the children. And we all feel that our church is a real help to the whole family."

The two little foster children, now 7 and 8, have been in the family four years. They are brother and sister, and Mrs. Brazel says the older children look upon the pair as "special, put on earth for them to help care for."

The Brazel's own children are Nanette, 18, who graduates from Mt. Tacoma High School this year; Rowelette, 14, who attends Baker Jr. High where he is a member of the track team, an Explorer Scout and an officer in the Youth Temperance Crusade; Pamela, 11, a Campfire Girl, member of Fern Hill Church choir, and clarinetist in the band at Fern Hill school and President of the Loyal Temperance Legion; and Richard, 8, a Cub Scout, member of the L.T.L. and student at Fern Hill School.

All are faithful attendants at the Baptist Sunday School and the church is a major part of their lives. Mr. Brazel, a civilian employee at Fort Lewis, is a committeeman in Scouting and active in civic and community projects.

His wife is Area Chairman for the Cancer Society, Spiritual Life Leader in Lindseth Iota Sigma and a member of the Mother's Club which is associated with the Boy Scouts.

"We think we have a busy home and a noisy home, and we know we have the very happiest home possible," the Brazels agreed.

Mr. and Mrs. Brazel are among local foster parents who are being honored at the annual foster parents party on April 12.

The party, jointly sponsored by Quota Club and the Children's Division of the State Department of Public Assistance, is held this year in the Public Utilities Building.

The evening of visiting and entertainment is in recognition of those warm hearted Pierce County families who throughout the years have opened their hearts as well as their homes to children in need and of temporary families.

The high point of the entertainment will be a play portraying the trials and rewards of foster parents. (See Picture on Page 6)

Junior Rodeo Sunday

Small size cow pokes will be digging in their heels and stirring up dust Sunday, April 8 in the Parkland Rodeo Grounds.

That's the date of the Second Annual Parkland Junior Rodeo, when any boy or girl 19 years of age or under can vie for cash awards and excitement, according to Fred Huggler, General Chairman of the event.

Corral action will begin at 1 p.m.

Entry blanks will be available at the Bunkhouse or at the Rodeo Grounds before 12:30 p.m. on rodeo day. Parents must sign their children's entry blanks.

Stock for the event is being obtained by Wally Squires from Del Wright's ranch at Rocky Ridge.

Arena judges will be Wally Squires and Duke Robinson. Red McMacken and Bus Garmel, Captain of the Pierce County Sheriff's Posse, will be the timers.

The familiar voice of Larry Kirkwood will be at the microphone announcing the events.

Children under 12 accompanied by their parents will be admitted to the rodeo free.

Let Me Tell One:

Tourists Mean Opportunity

Neil McLean

It could be the looks of the area, the optimism of a person here, or something which can't be foreseen.

But more probably it will be none of these things. It will take personal contact and group action to make this area move ahead in the way that it should.

Right now Pierce County needs more industry, some of it has settled on the tideflat area in the past few weeks, but more is needed to keep the growth that is needed here.

That growth can only be fostered by people; people who are aware of what we have, and who will work to get what we need.

The columns of this newspaper are hereby offered to (along with the services of a slightly astigmatic editor) to perform whatever services will help.

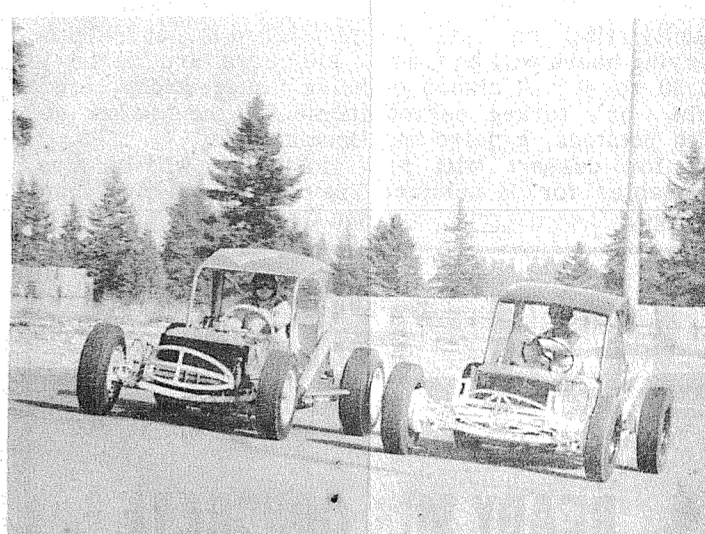

I think my first contribution to the cause might be to wash the windows in my office, so I can watch the tourists go by.

The survey will be conducted by the Bethel District, in cooperation with the Federal Government. The survey will be conducted by the Bethel District, in cooperation with the Federal Government. The survey will be conducted by the Bethel District, in cooperation with the Federal Government.

The payment is made available by Congress under Public Law 874 to schools in federally impacted areas for loss of real estate taxes on federal tax exempt property. Questionnaires will be sent home with students Monday.

According to the first survey taken last October, 26% of the enrollment of 1961.

TWO OF THE CARS which will be racing at the Spanaway Speedway on Sunday starting at 1:30 p.m. are seen tuning up on the speedway track. The modified stock cars will begin their season of racing this Sunday and plans are set for Sunday racing each week at the track.

STUDENTS at the Parkland Lutheran School will present a 2 act operetta on Thursday and Friday, April 12 and 13, at the school auditorium. Earl Clark and his wife were there from South Tacoma; Rose and Chuck Urick and Joe and Helen Asplund from Eatonville; Jim Branun and family from Renton; and Jen and Orv McGoy from Spanaway.

Visitors for over the weekend were Charles Oberding from Othello, Wn. and Keith Brees from Madras, Oregon.

School Starts Early For India Children

"Indian children begin school when they are three years old," stated Mrs. Prakash DeSilva, of Hyderabad State in India to an engrossed audience at Franklin Pierce High School Booster Club meeting March 27.

Mrs. DeSilva, a former head-mistress in an Indian girls' school with a 3,000 enrollment, commented, "America's cleanliness is commendable and its beauty will known, but India, though less modern, leads in certain phases of education."

Each Indian child acquires a working knowledge of the numerals from one to one-hundred and begins studies of the native language of Hindi--the state language, and of English. At the age of six, third graders are introduced to the geography and history of India and to multiplication. Her remarks indicated that American students are not beginning their education early enough in life in comparison to the Indian system.

In contrast to Indian students, the average American student has by the second grade learned little more than counting to one-hundred, fundamental multiplication and basic English. Courses in higher types of multiplication usually begin in the fifth grade, while foreign languages are delayed until the eighth or ninth grade.

Indian students in grades five through eight are exposed to fourteen diversified courses ranging from geometry to the foreign

PLU Coed's Talk Rates With Boosters

Miss Marsha Selden won the applause and admiration of the Franklin Pierce High Boosters last week for her oratory "Whites Are a Minority".

The speech, which captured for her first place in the coveted PLU All-School Oratorical contest, emphasized the indignities and hardships imposed on colored people around the world. She predicted that the yellow race will eventually annihilate the White race unless our relations become better.

It was the first time in PLU's history that a freshman had won the contest and only the second time that a girl has won it since the University's founding.

Letter to the Editor:

Defends Supervised Racing

by: Doug Meyer

A large majority of the that they can imagine such expell the idea of high school students racing their cars on a completely safe and supervised strip. What the adults and parents don't understand is that this completely supervised sport is one that builds character and promotes fair play characteristics in every participant.

When superiors think of speed, they usually think of leather jackets and street gangs. This idea is so far off that it is hard to believe with Jack Brown

I just about had the opportunity to initiate or unofficially open Tacoma's new airport on the peninsula, last week.

We had all contractors working on a split hour schedule in building the Shady Acres airport here in our own community. When it was time for one contractor to show up to go to work it became apparent that one of the other ones had failed to show on time to shoot a line. Where was he? Somewhere on the Peninsula. I was told, and with visions of men standing around waiting his arrival with their meters ticking away I climbed into our Curtiss Robin with one of the said contractor's men on board to identify his boss from the air.

We checked the new airport, a log dump by Lakebay, his office and home all to no avail. On the way back, a recheck of the new Tacoma airport showed the wanted man sitting under a tree with a couple of his men enjoying a cool one.

Flying by real low and wagging the wings we got a friendly wave from the group below. On the next fly-by I shut the engine down and the fellow with me aired his tonsils, still to no avail.

We then began throwing things from the plane, first a red handkerchief weighted down with a pocket knife. This failed to get their attention. Next went my white handkerchief weighted down with my passengers cigarette lighter. By this time it began to register on our man that he was the object of our gyrations.

By that time I started to look for a spot level enough to set the old bird down on the new strip. I kept having flash thoughts of upsetting the applecart for the mayor and the city council because it's a fair bet they have made great plans for the first plane to land on their new airstrip and they certainly do not have me in mind, I'm sure.

Anyway we were already for one last bombing run before I tried to set the plane down. This time we had my passengers hard hat with a note stuck in it and his undershirt for a marker flag when we saw that the group below had spotted and picked up the first red handkerchief dropped. They waved to acknowledge the note and headed for their truck. I pointed the old Robin back towards Spanaway, meanwhile wondering what all you people with good sense do for excitement.

The other day I attended a chamber of commerce committee luncheon in Spokane and was amazed to find that the main topic on the agenda was the World's Fair. To hear people talk over there it seems that Seattle and Tacoma will become tent cities during the fair and the overflow is expected to reach as far away as Spokane and Portland.

Maybe we're too close to see the forest for the trees but I just can't quite see that many people journeying to Seattle.

On the other hand no one will be more delighted than I to see it, not because there will be an extra buck in it for me, but because if these spectacular attendance figures come true it should be a guiding light for the world to observe democracy at play. Where else in the world might you even expect so many to make such a trek. Anywhere else, costs, the economy, regulations and lack of facilities would prevent it.

Even though it's still just a thought, the fact that it may come to pass bolsters my admiration for our way of life.

Mouse-eye view...of...
people plugging for trouble

Overloaded circuits, insufficient outlets are sure signs of low housepower. That means your house has inadequate wiring — means trouble with electric washers, dryers, ranges, air conditioners, irons and other appliances. These electric servants can't perform as they normally should. And you suffer the added inconvenience of blown fuses when you use too many appliances at one time.

First step to take in resolving a low-housepower problem — call your electrical contractor. He can give you an accurate rewiring estimate and install plenty of circuits to help you live better electrically!

Increase Your Housepower . . . Save $50

On new construction, remodeling or rewiring your present home, Tacoma City Light will pay fifty dollars toward the cost of increasing your home's electric capacity. To qualify, install a 150-ampere service entrance with 30 kilowatts capacity . . . using city-approved water heater.
