PLU Choir Electronics To Tour Europe Swing Shift

Pacific Lutheran Universi-ty's Choir of the West was invited this week to present an American-Danish concert with the Aalborg City Sym-phony Orchestra, Aalborg, Denmark, Dr. Eugene Wieg-man, university president announced Friday.

The concert is scheduled for July 3, 1970, near the end of the choir's five week con-cert tour of Europe this coming summer. Arrangements for the appearance are being made with the Rebild (Denmark) National Park Society, which earlier scheduled the Choir of the West to perform during the Rebild 4th of July Fes-tival, which annually draws more than 50,000 people. The Choir of the West, under the direction of Prof. Maurice Skones, begins its concert tour of England, Germany, Norway, and Denmark May 29. This is the choir's second European tour in the past seven years. Scheduled appearances of the 70-voice choral organiza-tion include the 900th anniversary of Bergen, Norway; Copenhagen, Denmark; Copenhagen, Denmark; Coventry, England; Ham-burg, Germany; and Oslo, Norway.

Class Planned

A second swing shift class in electronics will begin January 5 at Clover Park Voca-tional Technical Institute, according to school officials. The hours of the course, which is designed to train qualified electronics technicians, will be 4:00 to 10:30 Monday through Friday.

Maurice Foss, coordinator of all electronics training at the school, said the contin-uing and growing need for trained electronics technicians in Electronics requires a greater number of graduates of this type training. The excellent response to the first

As a result of the two famthe board "look into" the fail-ure rate and testing program at Clover Creek Elementary School, a three hour study session was held.

Interviews Made Highlights of the session included reports by Mr. Phil included reports by Mr. Phil Zurfluh, board member, Mr. Charles McAvoy and Mrs. Eloise Corbin, Principal and Examiner of Clover Creek Elementary School respect-ively. In response to the comment that people in the area didn't know what was going on, Mr. Zurfluh report-ed that of 24 families he con-tacted who were directly in-volved in the Developmental Replacement Program, 20 said they knew what it was a about and thought it was a good program. Two were undecided, and two were in disagreement with the program.

Techniques Explained Mr. McAvoy explained the placement procedures and Mrs. Corbin explained the interview technique in the test. They emphasized this was not a psychological test, but a method of determining how mature a student was. Mrs. Corbin also commented, "We want the parents to be present at the interview."

Only Three Repeaters

It was shown that instead of 13 repeaters in the section of 22 students, as indicated last week, the actual number of repeaters is 3.

Another area of discussion was in answer to the comment that many parents are taking the children out of Clover Creek to attend priv-ate schools. The school re-cords show 33 students withdrawing from this school this year, with 21 of these re-entering a school in Bethel, Franklin Pierce, Puyallup, Clover Park, or Tacoma as a result of the family moving. Six families left the state, two entered a private school, and four did not indicate where they would be enrolled and no records have been requested. In other business, the board acted to have the firm of Jacobson and Wall as the architect for the additions at Kapowsin and Roy Elementary Schools and for a complete new elementary school on a site as yet undetermined.

Book Honored

"Longhouse Legends" written by Times Journal edi-tor Emerson N. Matson, was a first place winner in its category at the 24th Annual 1969 Philadelphia Book Show.

The award was based on book quality including design, cover, binding, type, layout, paper quality, and overall appearance. The author was notified of the honor in a letter from his publisher, Thomas Nelson and Sons of Camden, New Jersey.

The book is a collection of Puget Sound Indian legends that reveal the early culture of the bands and villages of the area. Published October 1968, it is now in its second printing.

Mom's Cooking

Dear Miss Brookfield:

My mother, who is widowed, lives close by. She is a marvelous' cook. I can put together a meal of meat and potatoes, but I am not the type who enjoys baking apple pies. I go to business. Lately, mother has been inviting us over for dinner three and four nights a week. I thought my husband enjoyed this, but last night we had an argument because he told me he would rather come home than go to mother's so often. I think he is very unfair. Don't you? R.L., Oklahoma City

Dear R.L.:

No. A man's home is his castle - even if the only food on the castle menu is meat and potatoes. Three or four nights a week is a lot of mother. Your husband probably wants to come home and relax after a hard day's work. Couldn't you ask your mother for some recipes?

Menopausal Headaches Dear Miss Brookfield:

You have written about menopausal symptoms, such as hot flashes and fatigue. Can you tell me if headaches are also symptomatic of this time of life? I would go to the doctor -- but it seems like such a small matter to bother him about.

C.G., Burley, Ohio Dear C.G.:

Yes, headaches are menopausal symptom. Every woman should have a complete examination at least once a year -- so tell your doc-tor about the headacheses when you go for a checkup. Dr. William Cooper, obstetrician-gynecologist in Washington, D.C., and author of "The Husbands's Guide to Menopause," recently told an interviewer that headaches are a common complaint of menopausal women. They are associated with a decline in the ovarian production of the female hormone, estrogen. When caused by a hormone deficiency, headaches and

py. Only your doctor can pro-vide a definitive answer on the cause of your headaches. But you might be intereste-d toknow that Dr. Cooper said that mony menonausal pathat many menopausal patients who compalin of heada-chess undergo thorough physical esaminnations that reveal no cause except a decrease in the body's hormone level."It's amazing," Dr. Cooper said. "You put some of these ladies on estrogen -or, in other words, female hormones – and not only their headaches but all the other common symptoms cease.

Machine Marriage

Dear Miss Brookfield:

Over a year ago I subscribed to a computer dating service and met a man I subsequently married. In many respects we get along beauti-fully, but either he lied on his application or the computer goffed. He is very untidy. He forgets to hang up his clothes, and in one evening dumps pipe tobacco into every ashtray in the house. Maybe I'm fussy -- he claims I am. This is my first marriage, his second. What do you suggest? E.H., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dear E.H.:

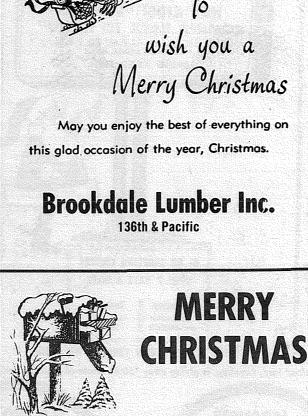

If you love him, tidy up. You probably can't reform him now. And don't blame the machine. Look at all the couples who marry without the help of a computer and make mistakes!

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help, write to Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Dec. 20 Winter Prep Show

December 20, the special Christmas winter prep show will be held at the Tacoma Unit No. 1. In accord-ance with the festivity of the holiday season the show committee has spent many hours decorating the arena. Fragrant boughs of pine border the walls and in the center glows a magestic tree, sparkling with glittering balls and brightly wrapped gifts. The spirit of giving has been displayed by the show committee who have purchased various gifts to be awarded to participating exhibitors. Entries are $1.00 per class with first place trophies and ribbons to fifth place. For those still young at heart a surprise visit from dear old Santa himself will be on hand. The show will begin at 9 p.m. Jerry Edwards will be this month's judge. The following classes are to be offered:

Colts & Fillies Banquet December 12 the Colts and Fillies held their annual awards banquet at Steve's Gay 90's. The evening's events began with Vicki Bowerman introducing the 1970 acting officers, a brief summary of the club's activities, and introduction of Mr. William Russel, master of ceremonies. Honored guest included, Dean and Dodie Vos-burg, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bowerman, Em Matson, and Harlend Harris.

Trophies were presented to those riders accummulating the most points over the previous year. The 10 and under award was presented to Bonnie Kaasa, 11 thru 13 to Kary Moore, 14 and over to Michele Nelson and Susie Wilson received the most improved rider award. Buck-les were presented to the Tacoma unit winners of the Junior Achievement winners. They were Julie Magnuson, Sharon Ackley, Jo Twomey, and Jack Wulfekuhle. A special award was present to Harry Twomey for being the oldest Colts and Fillies member. The motive behind it was a token of the appreciation the Colt and Fillies wish to express to Harry for all his help. This year's hi-point saddle was given to Kim Stecker. She rides both English and Western and has worked especially hard for this special award.

The Colts and Fillies wish to express their thanks to master of ceremonies, Bill Russel, Harry Twomey, Dean and Dodie Vosburg, Carol Stecker and all the numerous parents and associates who they feel they couldn't have succeeded without. And to the Colts and Fillies an eventful and prosperous holiday season and new year.

Down Winter Services Open At Paradise T-Birds

LONGMIRE (SPECIAL) — Mount Rainier National Park Superintendent John A. Townsley announced today that there was enough snowfall at Paradise last week to begin operating the winter use facilities. The ski area at Paradise will operate on a weekend and holiday basis throughout the winter.

A Pomalift and four rope tows offer skiers a variety slopes with a maximum elevation rise of 600 feet. All rope tows will be in operation this weekend and the Pomalift is expected to be in service by the following weekend. Private and group ski instructions will be provided by the Paradise Ski School under the direction of Mr. Dick Vanderflute. A snow play area is available for those who enjoy platter and inner tube sliding. The Paradise area also offers excellent ski touring possibilities. Ski tourers are urged to register at a ranger station before starting a trip. Area Rangers will be glad to suggest possible routes for ski touring.

The Paradise Visitor Cen-ter is open daily until 5 p.m. and weekends until 6 p.m. Facilities include a large observation deck, food service, a ski shop where ski equipment, platters and innertubes for sliding may be rented. Other visitor services include interpretive films and slide programs, information about the park and Paradise area, first aid room and a souvenir shop.

During the Christmas holidays the ski tows and food service will be available from December 26 through January 4. Overnight accommodations are not available in the park during the winter. The Sunshine Point Campground, near the Nisqually Entrance, will be open all winter.

Superintendent Townsley advised that visitors should be prepared to use tire chains where requirements are posted. The service station at Longmire has tire chains for rent

Their rebound power overshadowing their cold shooting the Bethel Braves downed the Tumwater T-Birds 72-59. "The rebounding and press were our best parts of the game. The number of turnovers hurt both teams and our second five lost their pose when they were in there to-gether. "That we have to work on," stated Bethel's head coach, Bob Fincham.

The Braves were never seriously threatened although their All-League center Bob Niehl had to watch a good part of the game from the bench because of foul problems. Niehl managed to haul in 17 rebounds and split the nets for 11 points.

"I was happy with the indi-vidual efforts of Platt, Belvin and Krumpos. They did a real good job," commented Fincham.

Belvin was high point man for the evening as he dumped in 23 points and snared 15 rebounds. Platt was credited with 12 tallies and Krumpos eight along with a good defensive performance.

Bethel outscored the T Birds in every quarter but the final one. The fourth quarter was played mainly by the second team which piled up several turnovers resulting in a 19-17 deficit.

The Braves connected on only 27 of 80 field goal attempts but gained control of 45 of the 67 rebounds. Tumwater shot 22 for 46 from the field but the lack of a big man on the boards proved to be their downfall.

Bethel, predicted to be a power, has been showing its stuff but cold shooting could realy hurt the team when it faces an opponent with a little size. Maybe it's just the lack of necessity which hasn't forced the team to consistantly put the ball through the hoop. The team gets the job done when needed and maybe the shooting percentage will rise when stiffer competition is faced.

Ski Races At Crystal

Two major regional ski races have been announced for January at Crystal Moun-tain by the Crystal Mountain Athletic Club.

Coming up January 10 and 11 will be competition for the Northwest's sizeable contin-gent of Junior Novice racers. Following on January 31 and February 1 will be a qualifying meet for the selection of the Pacific Northwest Ski Association team for the Junior National Alpine Ski Cham-pionships. The end-of-January event will be for Class A and Junior Expert racer.

Entries now are open for both meets. Deadline for entries for the January 10 and 11 giant slalom and slalom is January 5, according to CMAC Race Secretary Jeanne Beall. Deadline for the second meet, including a downhill and giant slalom, is January 26th. The entry fee is $3.25 per event, or $6.50 per weekend event. Entries should be mailed to Mrs. Jeanne Beall, Rt. 1, Box 268E, Enumclaw, Wash-ington, 98022.
