Watch the Birdy!

MANY FRANKLIN PIERCE - Parkland area youngsters took part in a visit to Pt. Defiance Park last week. Pierce County play leader Charlene Baker is pictured here with a large group of the youngsters from Dawson and Gwynne Parks. Bus transportation was provided by the Franklin Pierce School District. The all day excursion was highlighted by visits to the aquarium, children's zoo and Ft. Nisqually.

Open House at Gratzner Farm

Pierce County's Dairy Family of the year, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gratzner of Puyallup, will be honored at an open house Wednesday, August 9, at 11:30 a.m. This is Pierce County's part of the State Dairy Family of the Year contest. The judges who are visiting the eighteen state-wide contestants dairy farms will be here on this date.

Events of the day include tours of the farm, a program including contests with prizes, and a free lunch. Consumers as well as dairymen are urged to get out and see a modern dairy farm in operation. Most people are aware of the valuation of modern dairy processing plants but few realize that 95% of the industries total investment lies on dairy farms.

Mr. Gratzner is a member of a pioneer Pierce County dairy family. He has developed his farm and fine dairy herd to the point where he has led all herds in the county in production for the past three years with an average of over 16,000 lbs. of milk per year per cow. He is presently chairman of the Pierce County Dairy Herd Improvement Association's board of directors.

The Gratzner farm is located three miles south of Puyallup and one mile east of Meridian Highway on the Patzner Road. Everyone is welcome and urged to attend.

Training Exercise

4th Armored Div., Germany AHTNC) - Army Pfc Robert H. Maxfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maxfield, 5009 E-100th St., recently participated with other personnel from the 4th Armored Division in a five-week field training exercise in Grafenwohr, Germany.

During this exercise members of the division received training in military skills ranging from individual physical training to the firing of guided missiles.

The 18-year-old soldier, an intelligence specialist in Headquarters Company of the division's 68th Armor, entered the Army in August of 1960.

He was graduated from Franklin Pierce High School in 1960.

Local playground leaders are planning the details of the event and can be contacted for further information.

The Northwest A.A.U. Junior Olympic championships for boys 14-15 and 16-17 will be held August 9th at Tacoma's Lincoln Bowl. It's The Law MENTAL SUFFERING

How much is your peace of mind worth?

In recent years the courts have made a person pay damages for invading another's peace of mind on purpose. This may be done through flagrant acts or words, insult and abuse. This mental suffering may stem from fear, nervousness, anxiety, grief, shock or humiliation.

In one case an evicting landlord locked a woman tenant out of her apartment and then screamed abuse at her. She suffered mental distress and some physical injury, and she recovered damages from the landlord.

In another case, a creditor called a woman to her neighbor's phone for an "emergency" message. There he falsely accused her of not paying her bills, threatened to make trouble for her, and to sue if she did not pay up. For her shock and humiliation she recovered damages from the creditor.

In our complex society people may hear rough language, and put up with unkind words or acts. The law can't force people to be nice to you, nor can it shield you from many crudities of human conduct. They must go far beyond the usual limits of tolerance.

So you can't make every mental disturbance into a law suit. Under the law, the distress must be real and extreme, and, as a rule, directed particularly toward the injured person, not some third person.

(This column is written to inform, not advise. Facts may change the application of the law.)

If you have been badly wronged, forgive and forget.

GOOD GOLF

Slice—Golfer's Curse
By SAM SWING
A slice spells trouble—and high score. Usually, slices are caused by a golfer's impulse to smack the ball before he's in position to do so. At impact the club-head cuts across the line of flight, imparting a left-to-right spin to the ball.
Play the ball off the left heel on the tee. Keep swing in path it made on backswing. On the pivot, weight must be lifted from right heel to keep that swing in its groove. Practice good footwork on tee and banish that slice.

Mr. Jack Brown
Parkland Times-Journal
Parkland, Washington
Dear Mr. Brown:

Your editorial of July 20th in the Parkland Times-Journal has just come to my attention. Your support and enthusiasm for the new Youth Development and Conservation Corps is certainly welcome.

I am sure that the majority of the people of the State of Washington support the idea of this type of program; however, there is probably a comparatively small percentage of people who are aware of the program which we have started. Of the human values of character development to be offered to the boys of the opportunity for the State to improve, conserve and beautify our public lands.

Secretary of the Interior Udall has recognized this program as the first effort on the part of a state to conserve and develop our two greatest resources—our youth and our public lands. He sent a letter to each member of the first pilot program letting them know that he was aware of the program and that they should be proud to be a part of it.

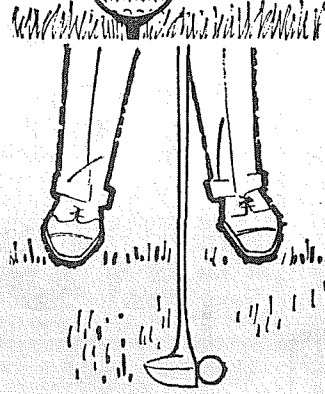

Again, thank you for your supporting editorial.

Sincerely yours,

Addressing the Ball.

Stance and Swing Tied Together

BY SAM SWING

Sarazen once said that a correct grip makes the right stance second nature. The key is freedom from tension when addressing the ball. This results in a smooth swing which packs power.

Distance you stand from ball is dictated by length of your club, which is laid behind the ball with the sole of the clubhead level on the turf. Feet are spaced wide enough for balance, wider on a drive than on a chip. Spreading feet too far prevents hips swiveling; hands are wrong at top of swing. The result—a slice.

with JACK BROWN

Well, I hate to harp on the same old subject but I've got something stuck in my craw, and the only way to get it out is to do a little re-harping.

This past week we have had quite a ruckus over a cartoon appearing in the Times Journal. To set the record straight I did not select the cartoon personally, nor did I even see it until the paper was printed. Therefore, I feel that the criticism directed to me personally was not earned.

In case you missed it, the cartoon depicted a labor boss holding up union demands to an employer and saying, "and I want 'em now!" In turn it showed the employer saying, "not so fast—remember, I can get along without you, but what are you going to do without me?"

Now to start with, this cartoon came from a firm in Florida that is well known for its loyalty to our American Way of life, and a firm dedicated to preserving same. We pay for these cartoons on a flat rate basis, and it is our prerogative to use them or throw them away. This choice falls into the lap of our editor. It's one of the little things he is paid to do. Now he is one of the down trodden workers around here who gets about ten clams a week more than the union scale would be for his job and therefore it might seem to those who complained that this particular cartoon should have been repulsive to him since he is an employee to the extent that he would toss it in file X. However, being fresh out of college and full of ideas that an editor should print what he feels is in the best interest of all, he proceeded to run it in the paper.

When I saw it for the first time I hardly gave it a second thought, for I found it to be very true to life. It seemed to me that it might accidentally get some of you thinking as it was intended to do. I for one have sat at a table and had a union boss snap his brief case in my face and tell me he wanted his demands now, or else. If you doubt this I will be glad to supply you with the individual's name and address, so you can check with him as to his exact wording at the time of his demand.

I found this cartoon to be true to life for another reason. I used to pay my monthly stipend into John L. Lewis' coffers for his guidance and representation. He was famous for his demands and "wanting 'em now!" As a result there are some 500,000 miners besides myself now trying to adapt themselves to some other occupation in which to make a living. The employers soon found that automatic muckers and drift machines couldn't make demands nor threaten their operation with walkouts, so in came the machines and exit the miners.

This is but one case out of hundreds which lead me to believe that instead of reprimanding my editor for his choice of cartoon, I should compliment him instead. I'm all for riling you up and making you think, for everytime one of you lose your job, I lose too. The merchants in this area need your business made possible by your paycheck, and I need theirs, also made possible by your paycheck.

Now as usual, there was some name calling going on. It seems some of you feel that because I may or may not have just a little more than you that I am some sort of scum not to be trusted, and have an ulterior motive for each move I make. This I resent. I also resent the inference made by some of you that I feel I am above the average working man. This is where the harping on an old subject comes in.

Visitors to my home and personal friends of mine run the gauntlet from operators of an idiot stick up to and including presidents of large businesses. The guy with callouses on his hands is as welcome and gets the same treatment in my home as the VIP.

The way I look at it we are all equal. Each of us has a choice as to how we will pursue the fulfillment of our ambitions. If some of my friends are content to work 7 or 8 hours a day, 5 days a week and set on their rump the rest of the time I figure that is their business and I certainly don't think the less of them for it. I will admit that I feel admiration for my friends that have pushed themselves ahead in the world. To those who have surpassed me I certainly hold no animosity as some of you seem to hold for me, just because I seem to have progressed somewhere a little beyond you.

What I cannot understand is how a person can cuss the communists, socialists and all the other "ists", proclaim to be a real American and have a deep belief in our American way of life on one hand; and on the other, make snide remarks about those who have advanced themselves through the very channels that have made America great.

If anything burns me up it is to have someone condemn me for bettering myself. Whatever you are and wherever you are down the ladder in the working world, I have once been myself. I did manage, however, to keep reaching for a higher goal all the time, thankful that I lived in a country where looking up and reaching up could bear fruit.

The day I quit trying to better myself will be the day some friendly undertaker pats me in the face with a shovel full of sod.

There are two little brothers, Geoffrey, three years old, and Kevin, 1½ years old, who are asking for him.

Ward Smith, Inc. Expands To Service South End Brokers

Ward Smith, Inc., long established downtown mortgage banking firm informed the Times-Journal of its new branch office opening today at 9311 Bridgeport Way.

This is the firm's first move and is aimed to expedite service to real estate brokers and borrowers in Southwestern Tacoma and Washington.

Smith said "the expansion move was necessary to properly service this growing area." All regular transactions will be handled by the new office except mortgage collection payment.

Opened daily from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. the office will also open on Saturdays from 9 until 1.

Jehovah Witnesses Plan Convention

Daryl Schinnell, presiding minister of the Spanaway congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced this week the coming Circuit Bible Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held at Port Angeles, in the Senior High School, September 1-3.

Staffing the new office are Mrs. Eleanor Dockery, processing department; Mrs. Lavonne Allbery, closing department, and Wayne Thomas, fieldman. Thomas is well-known among Parkland real estate brokers. He will continue to represent them from the new office.

Canyon Road Man Believes Bad Luck Comes In Threes

It is said that tragedy comes in threes. According to John Andrews of Canyon Road it must be so. Last week his uncle, Harry Andrews of San Bernardino, died. One of his closest friends, Roy Gross, had a heart attack while on a fishing trip and passed away. His stepfather, Mr. George Foster of Tacoma, had a heart attack and was hospitalized.

Navy Reports

Lucky Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nelson, is reported in sick bay with pneumonia. Rusty Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews, has been transferred from the submarine Bluegill to the U.S.S. Coral Sea and is ready to leave for a cruise of the Philippines, Japan, and China.

Out of the Hospital

Little Larry Grunow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Grunow of Canyon Road is home from the hospital where he was confined under oxygen for a lung infection.

To The Ocean

The low clam tides drew many to the ocean over the weekend. The Ed Hoffmans, with Kathy and Jim, the Paul Bacons with Bob and Dorothy, and the Ed Ostrom family all reported home with their limits.

Larry Hoffman went to the Hot Rod races in Spokane.

To The Mountains

The John Folks, with Sherry and guest Julie Bartlett went to the mountain. The Bill Folks moved to their new home near the Bethel School. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Carlson are the new owners of their old house.

Calling Elliot Ness

It seems the old gangster days are back with us, as reports have been received of people in moving vehicles shooting out plate glass windows. The windows of the Zumirs, Tidlows, and Hopkins were all shot at about 2 a.m. Saturday. We hope all our kids that own 22's were home in bed.

Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Titlow entertained Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Morrow, son of Mike and daughters Lynn and Virginia of Balboa in the Panama Canal Zone last week. The Morrows were formerly of Puyallup.

Blood Bank

Again our blood bank has come to the rescue. Mr. Carl Millar of E. 72nd, now in Tacoma General Hospital, recently received eight pints of blood from the bank.

In Georgia

Miss Merilyn Titlow and Ann Tison of Puyallup have jobs as hair stylists in Forsyth, Georgia.

SOIL LINE

Drowning in Dirt
A tree or shrub can actually "drown" in dirt. The tendency of many home gardeners is to transplant shrubs too deep in soil. The transplants seem to do all right for a week or so. Then there comes a loss of foliage; soon twigs and branches die back. Prevention: observe the soil line mark on the shrub you are planting.

Safety Precautions For Dairy Show Exhibitors
Jack Crawford, county Extension agent, today issued best wishes and a safety reminder to dairy cattle exhibitors heading for shows, especially 4-H and FFA members entering for the first time.

He pointed out that constant care and alertness on their part can help their animals win the high awards they deserve. And constant observance of a few common-sense, health and safety precautions can mean a safe return home for all concerned—exhibitor, onlookers, and animals.

Only a moment's neglect, he cautions, can sometimes mean a skittish cow on a rampage, a scared crowd, and general chaos. He offers this checklist of safeguards for all exhibitors, especially new ones.

Follow the health requirements for animals established by the fair management. The requirements are established to protect the health of all animals being exhibited, both yours and the other fellow's.

Do not make a lot of changes in the feeding care of your animals. The dairy animal is a creature of habit and reacts rapidly to its environment. The environment at the show is in itself a change from the home barn. Everything you can do to keep the feed and management similar to home conditions will help keep the animal in top shape for showing.

NEVER tie your animal to a movable object such as a sawhorse, bench, loading chute, etc. If a cow is suddenly frightened, she may jerk back, carrying the object with her. This may frighten her and she may run wildly over the fairgrounds. A path of destruction could result, ranging from broken equipment to frightened, injured and sometimes dead people.

Do not leave animals unattended. Most visitors at the show are not acquainted with animals' horns and feet and other characteristics. Even if tied, an unattended animal could accidentally step on the toes of a child or other visitor who gets too close, or even kick or push the person over.

Only the brave know how to forgive; it is the most refined and generous pitch of virtue human nature can arrive at.
—Laurence Sterne

One fellow we have in mind was nagged so often he requested his wife to list her complaints by number. When he stepped out of line she then merely shouted: "34, 32—oh yes, and 112!" At the end of a month they increased their television watching time about 40 hours.

Flying

Bob Beck combined extra pleasure with his solo cross-country training by flying to Kelso where he visited his parents in Longview for the day. Two training flights were made by Dick Albertson this last week. One trip was to Bellingham and return, Melham and return and the other via McDonald made a flight to Hillsboro, Oregon and return.

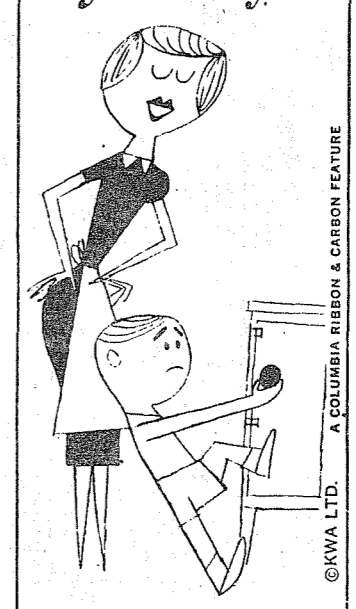

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Loomis flew to Seaside Friday where they met her parents and enjoyed a two day vacation.

The Villont family enjoyed a week's vacation in California. Bob and Mary and two children met Donna Terrien at Fullerton and proceeded to take in the usual attractions in the Los Angeles area which included Knotts Berry Farm, Disneyland and Marine Land and also a trip to the CBS Studios. They were unable to see any shows but visited some of the stages.

The Tieton "Camp Out" Fly-In sponsored by the Western Travelers was well attended this year. A total of 113 people were there with 16 planes flying in to the Tieton Reservoir Emergency Strip up in White Pass.

Here again, you will be able to read a full coverage on the Tieton Flight, Lebanon, Oregon and Paine Field Fly-In in your Northwest Flyer, published by the Times Journal Publishing Company.

To keep small children out of cabinets, just add a second cabinet latch some distance above or below the first one. The two latches at the same time is just too big for toddlers.

Bargain Basket "Buys" Box Boy

A few months ago the Bethel Boosters held a slave auction. Bargain Basket, with an eye to the future, purchased Harry Sprinker, County Commissioner, for a day's work.

This Saturday, in connection with Bargain Basket's fourteenth anniversary, Mr. Sprinker has been assigned the job of "box boy". He will be at the store from noon till 6 p.m. performing his duties.

Everyone is invited to come out and attend the gala week-end festivities, and especially to watch the new "box boy".

Bible School Features Whale

The Immanuel Baptist Church Vacation Bible School got under way July 31 and will conclude August 11.

The main project under construction by the children is the huge 60 foot whale in front of the church, located at 94th and Pacific. The theme for this session is "Heroes of Faith."

Forgiveness ought to be like a cancelled note—torn in two, and burned up, so that it never can be shown against one.

FALL WEB WORMS
This is the time of season that we can expect the Fall Webworm to put in its appearance and it has done just that—it's here! This caterpillar spins a rather extensive webbing over the twigs and leaves on many of the fruit trees and will also cover various types of shrubs and ornamentals. After the web is spun, they begin to forage on the leaves and it isn't too long before we have in addition to these gray, webbed areas, a browning of all the leaves that the little caterpillars are feeding upon. Of course, these masses of webs cause a very unsightly landscape.
Now the control for these destructive little fellow is to spray with some type of a stomach poison, such as DDT, Malathion, Seven. I have noticed, too, that the summer brood of aphids are building up and these materials mentioned for the control of the web worm will also cut down on the aphids. So really by spraying for aphids, you're also going to control the web worm. If you are lucky enough, only to have one of two colonies of web worms, probably you could clip the twigs off and burn them and it would be an easier way to eliminate them than by spraying.
My advice is to get into action right away as the longer you wait, the more unsightly these fall web worms will become and, of course, the more damage they will do and at this time of year the leaves or substitute leaves will not appear.

They tell the story about the counterfeiter whose apprentice accidentally ran off a stack of $18 bills.
"Don't worry," soothed the apprentice, "I'll take them into the hills and pass them off on some hicks!"
Accordingly he drove to a small town and asked a clerk in a general store if he could make change for an $18 bill. "Sure thing," said the clerk. "How do you want it: two nines or three sixes?"
A thing of beauty can be a law forever.

Brush It Up
To maintain luster and neatness of your crowning glory, make it a habit to brush your hair at least 100 strokes each night before retiring. This applies even if your hair is set into a pile.

OUTDOOR TIPS

from the Ancient Age Sportsman's Idea Exchange FISHING
Salmon eggs are as fine a trout bait as can be found, so say many anglers. Sometimes, though, they are soft and have a tendency to fall off the hook. Don't switch to another kind of bait, simply try this: Remove the eggs from the jar and set them out to dry for a couple of days. This makes them tough and they'll cling to your hook until Mr. Trout comes along. If you over-dry them and the eggs become too hard, return them to the juice in the jar and they will soften up again.
Here's a tip for do-it-yourselfers. A good homemade dry fly dope is easily devised by shaving paraffin into a small jar of gasoline. Shake well, and you'll have a mixture that will float any type of fly, be it dry or wet. The paraffin is the floating secret. By adding additional amounts you can almost float a bare hook.
Many anglers like to eat fish as well as to catch them. Often this entails freezing the fish so that off-season bass and panfish dinners can be enjoyed. Some experts, however, complain that frozen fish loses its flavor. This problem is easily solved. Next time you plan to freeze a fish, first place it in a pan of water. Put the pan in the freezer. Remove when the ice is solid, run some warm water over the pan and out will come the cake of ice—fish and all. Wrap this up and pop it back into the freezer.

TELEVISION SERVICE CENTER
PRESENTS TV CHUCKLES
He led the first echelon up to his apartment to watch T.V. and the rest of the parade followed. You can't blame Charlie though. Since T.V. Service Center repaired his set, it works so good he wants everyone to see it.
