New Presbyterian Church Is Organized In Parkland

The Organizational Service for the new Parkway Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday, April 12, at 3:00 p.m. The service will be held in the Little Church of The Prairie, Lakewood Center. The new church will be organizing with approximately 100 Charter Members, according to the Rev. Wesley J. Drummond, organizing minister.

The activities of Sunday will include a worship service with the Rev. Harold Penhalurick, Field Director of the National Board of Missions, as guest speaker. This will be followed immediately by the services of organization. Those participating in the services will be: Rev. Phillip Schiller, Moderator of the Olympia Presbytery; Mr. James Repp, Moderator of the Synod of Alaska and Washington; Dr. Albert Lindsey, Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Tacoma; Dr. Theodore Koopmans, Pastor, Little Church Of The Prairie; Mr. H.A. Briggs, Layman, First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. William McCormick, Pastor Emeritus, Little Church Of The Prairie.

A social hour will follow. Elders for the new church will be ordained and installed at this service. Those chosen to be elders are Donald Visser, Ellwood Johnson, William Sargent, George De-Haan, Edgar McNeal, Rich Ralph Weigard and Gordon Gaylord.

Jr. Fair Queen Will Be Chosen From Senior 4-H

In a setting befitting regal dignity, a new Pierce County Junior Fair Queen will be selected Tuesday night, April 14, at 7:30 p.m. in ceremonies at the Fruitland Grange Hall. A bevy of nine beauties from throughout the Pierce County Senior 4-H world will compete for the honor before what is expected to be a standing room only crowd. On a flower bedecked stage, judging will be close as the nominees, gowned in Spring cottons, each perform a talent number, give short talks on the State of Washington, and answer a surprise question. Five of the girls will parlay their charm, speaking ability and talent to become members of the 1964 Royal Court.

Norbert Grove of Puyallup will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the event. County Commissioner Pat Gallagher will proclaim the new Queen with a bouquet of American Beauty Roses, and hand bouquets will be presented by the 1963 Queen, lovely Jade Perryman of Franklin Pierce High School. Background music will be provided by Mrs. Vi Page at the keys of a Thomas Organ, donated by the Fulton Organ Company of Lakewood. KTNT will film the selection for television.

Candidates seeking the crown are Sandra Hendricks of Sumner; Judy Freestone, Parkland; Marilyn Haugen, Buckley; Kathryn Polly, Graham; and Christine Berg, Carolyn Gaskins, Mary Temus, Nancy Wearne, and Nancy Wooley all of Puyallup.

The selection of the Queen and Court will begin for them a whirlwind of activity as they serve as official good-will ambassadors for the Fair in August. The girls will spend the summer months traveling to civic clubs and organizations to tell the story of the Pierce County Junior Fair. Mrs. Leonard Schwied of Buckley is Queen Mother.

The ceremonies are open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Bethel Princess

VICKIE LYNN BUTH, one of Monday's runners-up in the Daffodil Queen contest, is Bethel's contribution to the royal court. Vickie is a 17 year old senior who has been in activities ranging from horsemanship to honor clubs throughout her school career. She is the daughter of the late Howard F. Buth and Mrs. F. L. Cusher, well known Spanaway people. She was the first Daffodil Princess chosen this season.

FP Board To Discuss School Bids

Franklin Pierce school board's regular meeting has been changed from Monday to Tuesday for the April 14th meeting only. Unfinished business the board will consider includes administrative salary schedules and a discussion of the role of the Franklin Pierce education council relative to special school elections.

Included in new business will be a request for authorization to call bids on (1) furniture and equipment for Mayfair elementary school and Collins addition; (2) bids for five school busses, one to replace an old bus; (3) contractual custodial service bids for Franklin Pierce High and Ford Junior High schools.

The board will also consider the Summit Youth Association's request for permission to extend their building and will award contracts for construction of the Mayfair elementary school and Collins addition.

Adoption of personnel policies will be discussed at this meeting and Superintendent Edwin Nelson will report on building progress.

The board and the administration of the district have expressed their gratitude at children and adults were bap-tized by the large attendance at recent meetings. It is hoped that all interested members of the district will continue to attend.

Hen House To Be Topic

Ideal layer and broiler housing will be discussed by W.W.E.S. Poultry Scientist Reed Hansen and W.S.U. Extension Poultry Specialist Dr. Daniel Andrews at an April 13th poultry meeting at the W.W.E.S. in Puyallup. The location of buildings on the farm and the relation of health, labor, and economic factors will be discussed by Hansen.

Dr. Andrews will compare housing systems including cages, conventional litter, slat floor, and environmental control buildings.

Hansen will conclude the meeting by summarizing the relation of construction costs, production results, net profits to be expected from various housing systems.

The meeting is the last in a series of five poultry management topics sponsored by the WSU-Pierce County Extension Service and the Rural Suburban Council.

During a previous session, Dr. James McGinnis, WSU Poultry Department Chairman, gave poultrymen a formula for figuring realistic amounts to invest in labor-saving equipment. Future profit margins will be too low to make mistakes in equipment purchases, he cautioned.

Where's Lorraine Hodge? Valdez Message Awaits

A former Spanaway resident, herself injured in earthquake-stricken Valdez, Alaska, is here with an urgent message for Lorraine Hodge of this area whom she has been unable to locate. The Times Journal has offered its assistance.

Attention—Lorraine Hodge or friends who know your whereabouts: Please contact Mrs. Betty Feakes at Rt. 1 Box 1019, phone LE 1-4809. She has the message from Valdez.

Mrs. Feakes, together with her husband, Robert, who up to a year ago operated a television business at Spanaway, and two children, Dan, 10, and Marnell, 16, arrived by air early last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Feakes, with a broken leg and injured ribs, was the only injured member of the family, all of whom were a part at the time the quake struck. She was baby sitting for three youngsters, whose father lost his life.

The Feakes lost both their home and their electrical repair shop, and came here with little more than their wearing apparel. He was due to go back to Valdez as quickly as possible to re-establish, but with women and children not yet allowed the others expected to be here several months. They were staying temporarily at the Spanaway home of Mrs. Olive Nettleton, Mr. Feake's mother.

"The death and destruction in Valdez were appalling, unbelievable," Mrs. Feakes said. "The business district was entirely ruined and the residential a shambles. What homes weren't knocked down were twisted and torn on their foundation. The unhurt pitched in to help the many injured."

Sewers and water mains were destroyed, although power service was maintained except for precautionary periods. Despite her injuries, in fact unaware of them at the time, Mrs. Feakes took the youngsters she was caring for several blocks through the horror-stricken town to locate their mother. "I guess you can do anything you have to," Mrs. Feakes commented. "I just had to locate the children's mother and nothing else mattered."

Some of the finest registered Guernsey heifer stock in the state will be offered to young bidders during the 18th annual 4-H and Future Farmers of America sale April 11, at the Thurston County Fairgrounds near Olympia.

County agents will soon have catalogs on the sale, Winters said, and these will give further details about the animals that have been selected for sale by the Washington Guernsey Cattle Club.

Jack Crawford, Pierce County Extension Agent, in calling attention to the sale, said that it is an excellent opportunity for 4-H and FFA members to obtain quality Guernsey heifers for their individual projects. In the past many of the animals in this sale have gone to top prizes in the show ring and top production in the record books.

Bidding on these animals is limited to 4-H and FFA members.

Names Make News

"What's in a name?" Shakespeare gave his own answer. "That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." The only thing is, Mrs. Rose Marie Salter, daughter of the William Rightetti's of South End Hardware, doesn't particularly care to smell like a rose; she prefers having her own name and not that of her sister, Mrs. Wilma Thomas, which she was inadvertently given in last week's Times Journal. As a matter of fact, nobody came out smelling like a rose in that little goof. Mrs. Salter, we are sorry!

Since Unions have popped into prominence in the Tacoma market with the recent brickbats directed at several Publishers by the Typo Union . . . let's analyze some of the antics that may be in store for other small businesses during this year of "upgraded economy."

It seems axiomatic that increased Union demands and pressures inevitably follow in the wake of supposed economic gains such as those recorded in 1963 . . . the philosophy probably being that if business is registering higher sales, then it stands to reason business is making higher profits — and can thus afford greater remuneration to the employe . . . a philosophy I have no quarrel with, provided license is given for business expansion and growth to meet the demands of the fantastically expanding labor surplus brought about by the population explosion, that is pouring increased thousands each year into the unemployment ranks . . . a situation that has produced rumblings of a three-day work week, an impossible salary increase, and, among other things, a three or more month sabbatical (vacation) every other year as a possible solution by the Unions — with little thought as to how business may be able to support this ingenious plan with continually decreasing profits.

Here are some interesting excerpts from a speech before the University of Chicago by Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Company:

" . . . Since 1950, profits have grown by 4.4 billion, or less than 20 per cent. Meanwhile, here is what has happened to other factors in the economy: Gross national product, up 106 per cent; employe compensation, up 120 per cent; weekly wages in manufacturing, up 70 per cent; business investment in new plant and equipment, up 90 per cent; per capita disposable personal income, up 56 per cent; government spending—federal, state and local — up 179 per cent; prices, up 33 per cent."

In reality 1963's record-breaking profits, converted into 1950 dollars, would be 10 per cent below the actual profits of American Corporations in 1950.

Henry Ford also had this to say about current profits: "By any relative measure, profits are now at about the same level as they were during the 1954 recession."

So by what intelligent gauge are Unions beginning to make demands on business that has already resulted in 370 strikes throughout the nation in January, 1964 and a loss of 1,010,000 man-days of work . . . or in excess of $20 million dollars worth of food, clothing, medical care and shelter to several thousand families . . . and finally settling a portion of these strikes at little or no gain — no more than could have been accomplished by sensible and factual bargaining.

It appears the die is already cast for 1964 and a general harassment and intimidation of smaller businesses throughout the nation will be evident during the year . . . This could well be the result of a growing complacency toward the Union officials by the membership and the need for the Unions to gain greater stature in the eyes of membership. There's no question that developments in some Unions have been a bitter pill to swallow by even the most ardent member.

The primary reason small business will become the springboard for the so-called Union membership consolidation is that Small Business is far more vulnerable and less prone to seek NLRB protection through mediation . . . and NLRB intervention has largely been responsible for creating the complacency towards Unionism.

Oddly enough, the Union activity gathering momentum across the nation could have been triggered by the recent revisions in the Consumer Price (cost of living) Index . . . the first in eleven years, that reflects an overall increased service cost. Collective bargaining agreements for millions of Unionized workers are based on the ratio of hourly rates to the index . . . but as business costs increase, profits decrease — until one day, who knows, we may price ourselves into the fraternal brotherhood of Communism — a Socialist State!

Local News

The caterpillar stage of the holly bud moth can cause unsightly damage and dying of new holly growth on infested trees later in the spring.

Now is the time to examine for the presence of this serious holly pest, and to apply control measures if needed, says county agent David Klemperer. The bud moth's tiny orange eggs are found singly on the underside of holly leaves in the winter. During late March and early April these eggs are starting to hatch, so a thorough spraying that reaches the underside of leaves would be an effective control at this time. Use 4 tablespoons of summer oil plus 1 teaspoon of 40 per cent nicotine sulfate per gallon of water (or 1 1/2 gallons oil plus 1 pint nicotine sulfate per 100 gallons water).

If this spray is not applied, later control can be achieved against the larvae by spraying Diazinon emulsifiable concentrate at the rate of 1/2 tablespoon per gallon of water (or 1 pint per 100 gallons). Apply as soon as the petals have fallen. Klemperer adds that the use of a spreader-sticker with any spray will provide better control.

Raspberry and blackberry growers in the Puyallup Valley are now applying Lime Sulfur sprays to the berry canes. This sulfur is applied to help control insects and diseases that would otherwise be a problem next summer. Growers time their applications to be made when the berry buds are about 1/2 inch long. The amounts used are from 6-8 gallons of Lime Sulfur and water is added to bring the spray solution up to 100 gallons or home owners will spray their berries at the rate of 1 cup Lime Sulfur per 3 gallons of water. As the buds continue to grow, then proportionally less Lime Sulfur is used. For example, if your buds were 1 inch long, then 6 gallons of Lime Sulfur in 94 gallons of water would be the recommendation.

Blackberry growers will be applying a second application of Lime Sulfur (4 gallons to 96 gallons of water) for mite control after flower buds have formed but before any flowers have opened. Lime Sulfur's effectiveness and its importance in all berry growers' spray program has not decreased with the years. If you have 20 acres or 5 plants, a dormant spray of Lime Sulfur is a good practice.

Copies of WSU insect and disease control recommendations for cane berries is available at your County Extension Office.

a - Wondering and a- Wandering . . .

With JACK BROWN

Well here it is time for another article and the dust hasn't even settled yet from the last one, but I'll have a go at it.

A deserted farm house in a gullied field was pictured in a farm magazine some time ago, and a prize was offered for the best 100-word description. The award was given to an Indian, who submitted the following:

"Picture show white man crazy. Cut down trees, Make big tepee. Plow hill. Water wash. Wind blow soil. Grass gone. Door gone. Window gone. Whole place gone. Buck gone. Papoose gone. Squaw too. No chuckaway. No pigs. No corn. No plow. No hay. No pony. Indian no plow land. Keep grass. Buffalo eat grass. Indian eat buffalo. Hide make tepee. Make moccasin. Indian make no terrace. No make dam. All time eat. No hunt job. No hitch hike. No ask relief. No shoot pig. Great Spirit make grass. Indian no waste anything. Indian no work. White man loco."

It just could be that the Indian has something there.

The theory behind communism—which has had 45 years now to prove itself—is that the wealth should be shared by all. This was to be done by an all-powerful government which would own and direct anything of any consequence and make all the decisions.

The result has been the creation of the greatest poorhouse in history. To quote from Time magazine, "The eight-nation group created by the communists in frank imitation of the Common Market not only has failed to relieve the economic chaos in Eastern Europe, but in many ways has actually worsened it. So nightmarish is their job that the satellite economists have begun to grumble openly."

The moral is plain enough: Economic progress, with all it involves in the way of living standards, has as its primary requirement—economic freedom. Then, beyond the material, economic freedom is the basis on which all human freedom rests. The whole history of communism refutes the efficiency of the superstate.

It's high time some of the jug heads in Washington woke up to this fact.

There's one thing that troubles me more than a little. There is a hue and cry throught the nation alerting the populace to the dangers that exist in our present line of thinking. Apathy is on the wane and this is good. However, with this renewed effort on the part of many to create a rededicated America there lies the potential threat of communists sneaking in amongst us.

Of late I have received baskets of mail and material from organizations I have never heard of before. Printed material is finding its way to my desk from across the nation. On the surface most of it seems good, looks good and reads good, but I certainly haven't the time to check out the background of each organization to separate the pink from the red, white and blue, so I'll just blunder along on my own.

I do urge you readers to look into the background of any organization you join or support thru subscription or otherwise. Let's don't be led into the sea by some Pie Eyed Piper with red long Johns.

Did you hear about the preacher who died and went to heaven? Seems St. Peter was checking out his credentials. "My good man," said the preacher, "I have extolled the virtues of Christianity for the past 30 years. Surely you cannot question my right to enter the pearly gates." As this conversation went on, a man in uniform appeared and St. Peter gave him the inbound go ahead with scarce a second glance. "How come you let that fellow in without any questions?" said the preacher. "Didn't you see his uniform?" said St. Peter. "That was a Tacoma Transit uniform he had on . . . you can bet he's scared the hell out of more people in his life with a bus than you ever did with your preaching."

Boys Collect Bottles Here

A bottle drive to create funds for Little League equipment and uniforms will take place Saturday, April 11th, at the Bargain Basket, Lucky Store, and PX Sooper Market during normal business hours.

Louie King, chief custodian of the Brookdale Elementary school and manager of that team announced that the boys will be stationed outside each store with boxes to collect extra bottles from contributors.

Drivers Warned On Hitchhikers

Spring is the time when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of many things — one of those things inevitably seems to be hitchhiking.

According to Chief Will Bachofner of the Washington State Patrol, each year about this time, and on through the summer months, the problem of hitchhiking becomes greater than at any other time.

Although hitchhiking is definitely an illegal act, many well-meaning drivers still endanger themselves by stopping to pick up total strangers who stick out their thumb for a ride. "I doubt," said Bachofner, "if these people would care to stop for hitchhikers if they only knew the potential danger they were placing themselves in. There are thousands of crimes committed each year on our highways by this particular group. In fact," he continued, "some studies have shown that over 50% of the hitchhikers either had been afraid of the law or were wanted for some crime."

Chief Bachofner further pointed out that it is also illegal for a driver to pick up a hitchhiker. Yet each year, especially at this time, many young runaways, escapees from jails and other wanted criminals are given rides by drivers who feel they are helping some innocent person.

"Remember," cautioned Bachofner, "criminals have two main means of travel if they don't have a car of their own — they either must steal a car or hitchhike."

Brookdale P-TA Will Install

Brookdale P-TA will meet in the multi-purpose room of the school at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 16th, with Mrs. Charles Nunn, president, presiding.

Highlighting the evening will be a concert by the School Band.

Newly elected officers for the coming year will be installed during the short business meeting — Mesdames Donald Jones, President; Adolph Roller, Vice-President; Robert Myers, Secretary; and Howard Motteler, Treasurer.

Kjelsteads Named Top Grangers Of The Month

Matt and Velma Kjelstead, well known residents of Eatonville, and members of Ohop Grange No. 12, are being honored by Pomona Grange as "Grangers of the month" for April.

Matt became a charter member, when Ohop Grange was organized in 1924 and has been a guiding light for fellow Grangers ever since. Velma joined the Grange shortly after. They are also members of Pomona, the State and National Grange. The married life of the Kjelsteads has been mingled closely with Grange work, since the day in May of 1930, when they were married in Ohop Grange Hall with members as ushers. Their silver anniversary was celebrated by relatives and friends who gathered once again in the Grange Hall in 1955.

The Kjelsteads are both of pioneer families in the Ohop area; she being the former Velma LeMaster. They have two daughters, Mrs. Steve Burwash of Tacoma and Mrs. Lucio Sorre of New York City.

Matt Kjelstead holds a record for serving Ohop Grange as secretary. Since its organization there has been only the year of 1946 that another held the office. For 20 years Matt has made lasting impressions on new members, throughout the country, as he presented the message of the first and second degrees of initiation, in the capacity of Master of the Ohop degree team. Serving on the building committee for many years, he greatly aided in the construction of the present hall and all its various additions. Kjelstead was Pomona Master in 1931-32 during the height of the depression. He and many old timers of Pierce County look back on those days and marvel that the Grangers were able to raise the necessary funds to host the state convention. But, — they did. This was the same year the Grange Supply began delivery of petroleum from its headquarters near Loveland, and Pomona Grange helped promote the idea of power from Grand Coulee.

Mrs. Kjelstead, a teacher in the Eatonville schools for many years, still found time to devote to Grange work. On numerous occasions she assisted her husband with the Secretarial duties of the Grange. For 4 years Velma was Master of the Ohop Grange All Girls Drill Team. Their performances will be remembered by Grangers throughout the country. She has been pianist for her home Grange for years and has held office also, including the duties of the Home Economics Chairman. "Grangers and friends have enjoyed many a tasty dish prepared by Mrs. Kjelstead and served at Grange dinners", say her friends. "She is an excellent cook!"

Velma is past Matron of the Eastern Star of Eatonville and assisted with the Mothers' Club of the Rainbow Girls. She is pianist for Weyerhaeuser Lutheran Church and active in the Ladies Aids of Weyerhaeuser and Ohop, helping in their many projects of community service. Mr. and Mrs. Kjelstead are members of Bethany Lutheran Church.

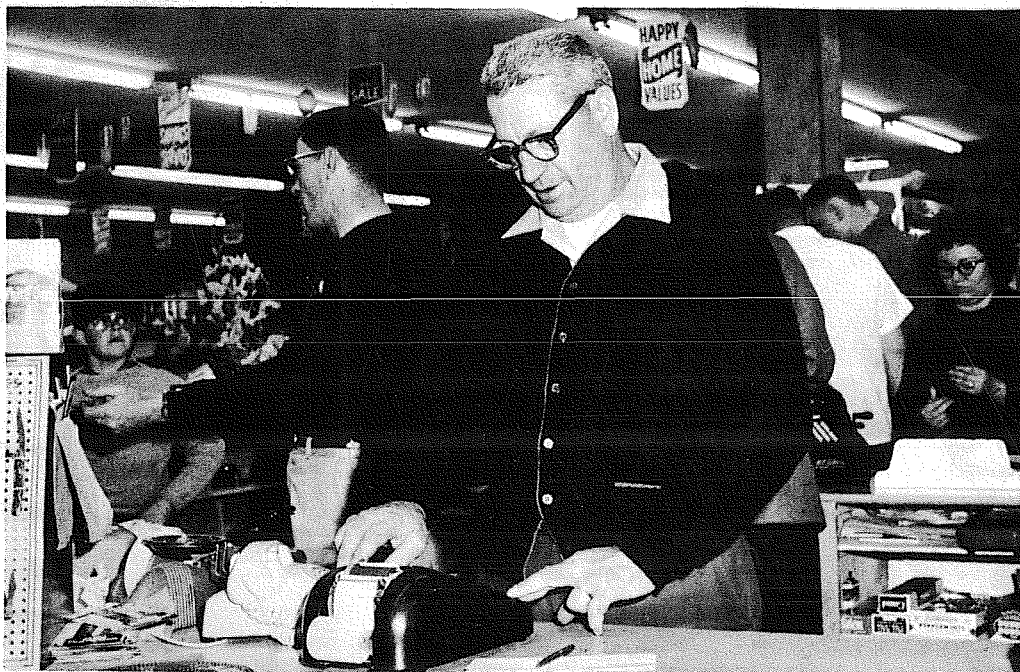

Matt is Past Master of the Masonic Lodge in Eatonville, has been Secretary-Treasurer of the Ohop Mutual Light Company for the past 10 years. A past president of the organization and on the board of directors for many years. He operates a small dairy farm in the Ohop Valley and spends much of his time working at the carpenter trade. He has built many fine homes in the Eatonville area and in Parkland.

Matt and Velma Kjelstead are going to travel this summer. They are planning a trip to Norway, but will visit with their youngest daughter in New York before going by boat to Europe. They expect to spend the summer there.

Foresight In Accident Prevention At Home Can Save Your Sight

New York, N.Y.—Foresight can save sight if there's a "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up" campaign planned for your home this spring, counsels the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness in a "Save Your Vision" message today.

The eye safety alert was prompted by reports of injuries during cleaning and gardening chores last year, said John W. Ferree, M.D., executive director of the sight conservation agency.

Trash fires were the cause of particularly serious accidents, such as the Midwestern man hurt when an aerosol bomb discarded in a trash fire exploded in his face, or the Pennsylvania woman seriously cut around the right eye when a glass blew up in the incinerator behind her home.

Discarding old bottles or cans in the rubbish fire can mean tragedy if the heat explodes them and sprays blinding fragments of glass or metal for yards around, the National Society warns. The danger is multiplied if the container still holds some combustible powder or liquid. Disposing of old flashlight or portable radio batteries in the trash fire is also risky; they explode with immense force when subjected to heat.

Eye protection such as safety glasses or plastic cover goggles are a must for painting and planting work, Dr. Ferree declared, citing the case of the housewife-decorator who got two eyes

PLU Concert April 10 In Chapel

Selections from operas, Broadway shows and television productions will be featured on the annual spring program of the Pacific Lutheran University Concert Band to be given Friday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock in Eastvold Chapel auditorium. The program will be complimentary to the public.

Prof. Gordon O. Gilbertson, director of the 55-piece band, announced today that the concert will open with "Titus Overture" from Mozart's Opera, La Clemenza di Tito. Next the band will play "Italian in Algiers" from the opera "L'Italiana in Algeri" by Rossini.

for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc. Founded in 1908, it is the only national voluntary health agency devoted exclusively to sight conservation through research, education and preventive services. Working nationally and through state divisions, the NSPB has headquarters at 16 East 40th Street, New York, N.Y. 10016.

Bethel District Surveys For Federal School Funds

Federally impacted school districts are entitled to Federal funds under the provisions of Public Law Number 874. The number of children of Federally connected employees and service personnel determines a district's eligibility and entitlement.

Bethel District surveys its Federally connected pupils twice a year; in October and April. Cards are sent home through those pupils known to be Federally connected.

Cards were sent home on Tuesday, April 7th to determine if parents are Federally employed. Any parent or guardian employed on Federal property on April 7 establishes eligibility. You are also eligible if you work for any private company, providing you are working on Federal property on April 7.

Our first survey in October listed parents assigned or working at Fort Lewis, McChord Air Base, Madigan Army Hospital, Armed Forces, Gifford-Pinchot National Forest, Bremerton Shipyards, Veteran Administration Hospital, Federal Buildings, Federal Aviation Agencies at Seattle and Auburn, and Boeing at Seattle.

Federal cards are sent home with children who were on the Federal list last October and with children whose student enrollment card indicates the parent works on Federal property. For this survey, we will appreciate it if you will call if you do not receive a card any of the building principals or the district office.

Safe Play Areas Parental Responsibility

"My children love to 'go out and do nothing'. What should I tell them about 'forbidden playgrounds'?" asks a parent.

The press in recent months has been full of stories that give a parent pause. These stories don't mean that you should become a worry wart everytime a youngster wanders off alone, or with a best friend. But they do suggest that you tell your youngsters what to watch out for.

Young adventurers seem especially drawn by construction sites, with their deep excavations, mounds of earth, and other assorted hazards. The accident prevention department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, an insurance sponsored service organization, urges parents to keep children away from these areas. The Association also advises neighbors who live near construction sites to inform watchmen or policemen if they see children playing in the danger zone.

You can also contribute to child safety by organizing a hunt for old, unused refrigerators in your vicinity. These discarded conveniences can be deadly when stored where children can get at them in garages, cellars and other storage areas. They should be thrown out.

Another way to safeguard children is to keep stairways clear. Cluttered stairways are responsible for numerous injuries in the United States each year. The Association also recommends that stairways be properly lighted and in good repair. It is especially important that you keep cellar and basement stairs from becoming a catch-all for cleaning materials and equipment or other household paraphernalia.

Local "Ham Operator" Gets Quake News First

By: PFC Richard C. Warner
4th Infantry Division
News Writer

The first person in the continental United States to receive the news of the Alaskan earthquake is a civilian employee of Fort Lewis. He is Donald D. Stone, 40, an electronic calibration technician in the Fort's logistic center.

A "ham operator", Mr. Stone learned of the disaster from a fellow ham operator in Alaska at 7:28 p.m. Friday, and moments later called Seattle radio station KVI because of Stone's fast reporting. KVI had the news of the earthquake more than 30 minutes before any other news media.

Stone was first alerted that something unusual was happening in Alaska by Captain Robert Nash, Air Force Officer and another local ham operator. After Mr. Nash's call, Stone reached a mobile unit in Anchorage and asked what was going on.

"I think we're having a small earthquake", the mobile operator said. "I can see a ripple in the ground." Seconds later he cried "Oh, my God! The ground is waving like an ocean!" Then the air became jammed with emergency calls and Stone telephoned KVI.

Mr. Stone was able to reach KL7CSR, Lila, in Alaska, who in turn telephoned the daughter and informed Stone and Mrs. Bacon that the family was safe.

Rev. Lawson Will Discuss Mission

Rev. Norman Lawson, pastor of the Auburn Methodist Church, and Tacoma District Secretary for Mission Work of The Methodist Church, will lead a discussion on the changing missionary work this Friday evening at the Spanaway Methodist Church.

The emergence of new independent nations in Asia and Africa, the threat of Communist revolutions in these areas, and the decline of the West from its position of dominant power, the renaissance of the classical religions, and the rise of a complex technological world have made older approaches less effective.

Rev. Lawson will also raise the question, "Who is a missionary today?" At one time missionaries were persons sent to distant lands and whose primary task was to rescue souls from a perishing world. But in today's world, thousands of American church members live in distant lands and are able to share their faith with others.
