$a$-Wondering and a-Wandering

One of the most disturbing developments in our nodern way of life is the ever increasing trend toward con formity. Too often these days a person is con ly nuts if he dares to do things differently.

Whether it be that he refuses to conform to generallyaccepted society patterns, or holds unusual views on religion, or has individualistic opinions in politics, or any dares to be different is risking the ridicule, gossip and even scorn of too many of our fellow citizens.
Of course, there are certain limits of good taste and havior and judgement which must be observed. Beyond cats, beatniks, etc., individualism is a good thing. In fact it is what made the United States the most productive and astest-growing country in the world, economically. isest trend toward conformity is worrying some of the merit in absolut country's citizens. There never has been any other mediums now tending to "standardize" all of and other mediums now tending to "standardize" all of us, to old is sometimes abused.
Why should the intelligent person for instance, be con sidered off if he can't stomach the hours on end of westerns should he dress exactly like John Doe? Why should he be considered an odd ball if he doesn't care to spend his time watching football or baseball games?

Why should the woman who doesn't follow the style manipulators like the rest of the women-sheep of America be considered odd if she don't play bridge, or doesn't go in Theocritical social functions or so much club doings. ains and the is that individualism often brings us great more suce he indidualists of our country have pioneered conformist basically is eithan are conformists. For the conformist, basically, is either afraid to go his own way to dare to be different dare to be different.
mark about someone who dares to be make a sarcastic refuses to conform to your notions about life and how to live, think twice about it. And next time you hear a nove opinion, or an unusaul one, presented sincerely; think twice before you brush it off. For the individual who dares to be different, who refuses to conform to much of the pattern fast being established in America life, and who thinks for himself is an asset in our society and he is following in the great American tradition.
There's nothing like a stroll through the woods in autumn for getting your shoes muddy, your nose rumn and your wife worried about your mental condition.

The word progress is deceptive. It cannot be defined without qualifications. We cannot go backward, but at rush forward toward ever higher standards of living which demand a tremendous price. If we could have "progress" that retained some of the peacefulness, security, and traditions of the past we would lead a more enjoyable existence
The change brought about by progress is illustrated by H. H. Bushnell of Wallowa, Oregon, in a description of Bushnell: "Within easy walking distance from the main. Bushnell: "Within easy walking distance from the main entrance to the farr was a grove of oak trees and under lots, each capable of containing a tent. Shortly before the fair opened, families arrived in wagons from various sections of the Willamette Valley, and they unloaded cots and bedding; stoves and dishes, usually sufficient for camping out. Many of them were fair exhibitors coming out of the fair grounds in the evening, one could see the white tents lit by kerosene lamps, the flies back, and hear the neighbors talking and laughing. Friends were invited in to eat supper and discuss the judging and placing of awards. The Willamette Valley was inhabited by one big family and the fair was a family reunion. Of course we can't go back but there is something ry of more carefree days-less crowding speed, noise ry of more carefree days-less crowding, speed, noise, costs, restrictions, laws, regulations, taxes. Along with progress it is too bad to lose so many of the virtues of the past which were less conducive to heart failure and nervous breakdown.
