Western Washington Fair Starts Saturday

Fair time is youth time.

The real meaning of the fair sometimes gets lost in the fun and celebration so many look for. But it's a lot of work for those who participate in the program. The work of the exhibitors can only be appreciated by observation of the work or, the result of that work, the many, many areas where the displays are presented.

You can get the real meaning of the fair from our youth participating in the following events:

Visitor from England Compares Countries

Ealing, England, a suburb of London, has been missing one of its most loyal residents for nearly two months. Mrs. Hilda Woodland has taken her holiday in the States; the first time she has been outside the British Isles in her 84 years.

Mrs. Woodland is the aunt of Mrs. Earl Clemens of Parkland and has spent the past few weeks with Irene and her husband.

Aunt Hilda, as she is known by now to all the friends of the Clemens', has had a wonderful time seeing the beautiful and interesting sights of our area. Mt. Rainier was fascinating to her because there just isn't anything like that on the British Isles. A boat trip to Victoria and Vancouver reminded her of her home and its surroundings.

The greatest thrill during her visit was to be honored by the Tacoma Cubs at a recent baseball game. It was the first time she'd ever seen baseball played and suggested that if they made the bat flat, the boys could hit the ball easier. The Cubs Public Relations people presented Hilda with an autographed baseball and a picture of all the players.

Hilda misses her home. Everything here is so open its really surprising. In England the shops are very different, so many of them specialize in one certain item, such as the "green grocers"—the place where they buy their vegetables. Fresh beets are purchased pre-cooked in England because they require a long cooking time and one uses less fuel per beet if they can be cooked in large quantities.

"The diets in the U.S. have more meat in them than in England," says Hilda. "Also, in England we take time to enjoy our meals, perhaps making a bigger thing of eating."

After 84 years, Aunt Hilda still has great faith in the world. Some of the things that go on are difficult to accept or understand . . . take hippies, they are "beastly", "horrible" but its only a passing fad and they will fade out of existence to be replaced with something else.

Mrs. Hilda Woodland of Ealing, England (near London), has been very expressive about her England and its place in the world.

Earl and Irene Clemens have entertained Aunt Hilda during her visit to the United States. She plans to leave Parkland Monday for London.

Aunt Hilda's first trip out of England lasted 9½ hours, a non-stop flight from London to Sea-Tac. She will return the same way next week and her bit of philosophy and wisdom, with her own touch of humor, will be missed in Parkland but always remembered.

Garfield and C Street will become an important intersection in the near future with the Pierce County Library moving into the Parkland Light and Water Company's vacated office building. (See story on page 16).

Bethel Growth Rate Fastest in County

For the third straight year, the Bethel School District has grown at a faster rate than any other first class school district in Pierce County. An additional 588 students were greeted by Bethel teachers as they opened school this year. A breakdown shows K-5 enrollment of 2,579 last year compared with 2,876 this year; 1,147 in grades 6-7-8 last year and 1,325 today; and the high school growing from 1,178 to 1,322. The total district enrollment was up 12 per cent from 4,935 to 5,523. The Bethel District opened another new school this year with the Spanaway Junior High housing 655. The rated capacity of the building is 700. Eleven portables are located in what last year was the teacher's parking lot at the high school, but this will change next year with the opening of the new high school addition of some 60, 000 square feet. The state board will take action in October on another addition — this one at the Kapowsin Elementary, and it appears another elementary school must be opened during next year to keep pace. During October and November, the Bethel School Board will be studying the building program for the district, as well as how to finance the needed additional classrooms.

THERE CAME A RAPPING . . .

SHARING THE LAND

As our country grows, the problem of "sharing the land" becomes more acute. Thus, multiple use of land is a subject of wide discussion.

Private enterprise companies increasingly are making their industrial lands available to the public for recreational uses. A survey has revealed that more than 95 per cent of the 234 forest product industry companies queried open their lands to the public for camping, hunting, fishing, picnicking, and sports.

Also, the extractive minerals industries are restoring the original land environment — and often improving upon it — in a way which results in opportunities for public recreation. Some of these areas are used for camping sites, and lakes for boating, fishing and swimming. Industries involved with rights-of-way — power generation and transmission, oil and gas transmission, and rail transportation — are reporting progress in sharing the land. The electric utility industry has converted thousands of acres of company-owned land into parks and conservation areas.

Private companies are doing their part. The federal government must open up more of its lands (one-third of the total area of the United States) to economic as well as recreational uses, if we are to meet the needs of a growing population.

Private enterprise has shown the way to the practice of compatible multiple use through which all may benefit by sharing the land.

COUNTY NEWS

By George Sheridan

Budget hearings are a full time business presently for the county officials. Every available minute this week is scheduled with county government department heads to discuss their varied needs. They have been requested to justify every cent of increase from the previous budget.

One serious problem is going to be with the court department — we just do not have courts enough for all the cases that must be tried. Realistically, we are presently short of judges also. If one or more judges were put on, the problem of having enough courtrooms would be magnified. Solutions have been proposed, i.e., to run courts on a shift basis in order to provide facilities for more hours per day, but this leads to more expense — and balancing the budget is important.

The proposal of the planning commission to re-zone 7½ square miles in the Lacamas area, from general use to suburban agriculture — one acre sites, was denied by the Commissioners in Tuesday's meeting. Our feeling — the re-zone was not determining the best use of the land and the property will still remain as it has been for many years. It is too bad the final decision was delayed for so long, many property owners were unable to obtain permits during the period the change was under consideration.

Approval of some new stop signs and speed reduction signs from 35 to 25 mph was granted at Tuesday's meeting for the Bethel Green Acres.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

By Robert C. Cummings

OLYMPIA. . . Now that the primary election is out of the way, you probably won't see any more special school levies or bond issues on the ballot until after the general election.

All school superintendents and school directors have been urged to avoid placing any excess levies or bond issues on the same ballot with the governor's tax revision proposal.

The tax program will be on the general election ballot Nov. 3 as House Joint Resolution No. 42.

A resolution against submitting any local money issues to the voters in the general election was adopted at a meeting of groups supporting the governor's tax program.

School Forces Agree

It included representatives of most educational forces, including State School Directors Association, Washington Association of School Administrators, Association of School Business Officials, Washington Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Washington Education Association.

The meeting also was attended by representatives of the governor's office, State Department of Revenue, League of Women Voters and the Citizens Tax Reform Committee.

Participants said it was felt local issues on the ballot only would serve to confuse the voters and might increase the negativism resulting from too many financial measures.

Besides the income tax resolution, there also will be three referenda seeking to remove the 6 per cent interest ceiling on bond issues which had been approved by the voters in 1968.

No One-Man Show

When the 1971 Legislature takes up the task of redistricting itself again, precautions will have been taken in advance to prevent it from becoming a one or two-man show, as it was in 1965.

The Senate legislative facilities committee will contract with a research firm before the end of this month to do a thorough job of analyzing the population and voting patterns of the city precincts in all of the major cities, based on the official U.S. census.

The report is to be ready by the convening of the 1971 Legislature in January.

Available To All

The purpose is to make it possible for every legislator to start out with a background of information on an equal basis with all others, so he won't have to rely on information supplied by his colleagues.

Many probably won't take advantage of the information, but it will be there for those willing to devote the time to it.

When the last redistricting law was passed, in 1965, Democrats relied chiefly on information supplied by Sen. R. R. Greive, while the Republicans depended upon that supplied by Rep. Slade Gorton.

Passage of the bill in its final form left some wounded feelings among some of the Democrats.

Pricing Practices Eyed

A legislative subcommittee is taking another look at gasoline pricing practices of various major oil companies.

The Joint Committee on Highways subcommittee on finance is interested especially in variances in prices in various parts of the state.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. Nat Washington, Ephrata, wants to determine whether a conspiracy exists.

Any variance of prices between various areas which can't be attributed to transportation costs will be subject to searching scrutiny.

Thermal Siting Up Again

There may be a serious attempt in the 1971 session to modify the nuclear siting act passed by the special session earlier this year.

The 1970 Legislature placed responsibility for siting nuclear energy plants in the hands of a newly-created Thermal Power Plant Evaluation Council, composed of representatives of 13 agencies, at least eight of them environmental-oriented.

Paul Harvey This Week

R/X For Revolution

by Paul Harvey

The rioters, the bombers, the burners, the cop-killers are not all Communists.

But there are pros prodding the amateurs, showing them how, egging them on, fanning the flames. And so they'll know we know them —

I have here a copy of a letter of instruction to revolutionaries.

"Go to the youth. Form fighting squads everywhere. Let groups be at once organized of three, 10, 30 persons.

"Let them arm themselves at once as best they can, be it with a revolver, a knife, a rag soaked in kerosene for starting fires . . .

"Do not make membership in the party an absolute condition — that would be an absurd demand for an armed uprising.

"You must proceed to propaganda on a wide scale. Let five or 10 people make the rounds of hundreds of workers' and student study circles and everywhere propose a clear, brief, direct and simple plan.

"The propagandists must supply each group with brief and simple recipes for making bombs."

Now, let me interrupt this reading to identify the author of this document: Nikolai Lenin, Oct. 16, 1905.

There are a few more sentences in the letter which you should know about because we face a situation now with important similarities to the one then.

The letter says: "Squads must at once begin military training . . .

"Some may undertake to kill a spy or blow up a police station, others to raid a bank to confiscate money for the insurrection . . .

"Let every group learn if only by beating up policemen; this will train hundreds of experienced fighters who tomorrow will be leading hundreds of thousands."

Now, let's recall that when Lenin wrote this prescription for revolution in 1905, the Russian people were bitter about military defeats in the Far East.

The Japanese had virtually destroyed the Russian fleet at Port Arthur.

Encyclopedia Britannica says, "Patriotic feeling began to turn against the government; the war grew extremely unpopular."

Thus, when Lenin sent this letter to the combat committee of what later became the Communist Party, the stage was set, the climate was right for revolution.

So students and workers met, groups were organized, guns were stolen, thousands of young people paraded, demonstrated. Hundreds were killed or injured in pitched battles with police and troops.

Fire bombs were thrown into public buildings. Police were attacked, killed, schools and colleges were disrupted. Czar Nicholas II tried many political concessions but, within 12 years after that letter was written, Russia fell.

Only a tiny fraction of the anarchists were Communists. Most were just people who were unhappy about conditions and let themselves be misled.

There are those who feel that because the State Utilities and Transportation Commission is responsible for electrical energy, it should have a greater voice in the establishment of nuclear plants.

It has a representative on the evaluation council, but governmental reorganization has given the Department of Ecology three.

The National Association of Utilities Commissioners is drafting a "model bill" which probably will be submitted to all legislatures.

Agitation to get nuclear power plants on the line has increased with threats of power shortages and brownouts.

Shy On Gas, Too

More immediate is the need for more natural gas in this state. There will be an adequate supply for residential and commercial users this winter, but there will be a shortage of interruptible gas, which means industrial users will be hurt.

Gas distributing companies already have quit signing up any more industrial customers, pending a larger supply of interruptible gas.

The Canada Energy Board is expected to approve export of an additional 300 million cubic feet to this state at the border near Sumas later this month.

But it will be too late to start construction of the necessary pipeline and compressors this year. It will have to wait until next spring.

And Short On Oil

Coupled with the power and gas situations is a shortage of fuel oil in the Pacific Northwest.

One large industrial consumer which usually burns 1.25 million barrels a year has been able to contract so far for only a quarter million barrels, or 20 per cent.

Many industrial users of interruptible gas use oil-fired plants for standby. They could be hurt.

A relaxation of oil quotas which would permit Canada to export an additional 100 million barrels of oil to this country may relieve the situation. Such action is anticipated.

In turn this could prompt the Canada Energy Board to release the natural gas sought for this area.

U.S. Sen. Henry Jackson thinks the best way to assure continued supply would be a long-term treaty between the two nations, which couldn't be upset by changes in government resulting from elections.

Summer Outings

The 5th Grade Camp Fire Girls of Brookdale School had dinner and a swim party at the home of their leader, Mrs. Van Beek, in early August.

Later in August, the group took the train to Seattle, using money earned during the candy sale. They walked to the waterfront, shopped at Trident Imports and Ye Olde Curiosity Shoppe. Lunch at Ivars was one of the high points. The girls enjoying the afternoon were: Vicki Korsmo, Carol Unkrur, Susan Giving, Paula Normes, Kim Ross, Linda Van Beek, Lynette Van Beek, and Brenda Hill. Mrs. Pat Hill accompanied the group.

FAIR DISPLAYS

Camp Fire Girls of Western Washington are busy this week, baking, and getting crafts ready for display at the Fair in Puyallup. They would like to invite everyone to see the Camp Fire Building, which is the same building as Antons Restaurant, next door to the State Patrol and across from the Automobile Building. The girls may enter anything made in their groups, at home, or at school.

ORGANIZATIONS & NEW GROUPS

Reorganization under the leadership of Mrs. Edwin Roalkvam, is news for one of the 4th Grade groups at Parkland School. The group is having their first meeting of the school year, this week, and looking forward to starting their first Rank, and other interesting activities in their new program books.

Fall organization started, Sept. 8th, in all districts of the Tacoma Council of Camp Fire Girls. This year, girls six years old, or in the first grade, may become members of Blue Birds, the first level of the Camp Fire program. If anyone is interested in helping with any age group, please call Mrs. Richard Wheeler, LE 1-0213, Bethel District Organization Chairman, or Mrs. Glen Raybell, LE 1-1538, Franklin Pierce District Organization Chairman.

Growing Pains

To illustrate the staggering federal debt, Cong. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) said that when the foreign aid program was launched in 1947 its promoters said that it would be only a 5-year program and the total cost would not exceed $5 billion. He added that with the current legislation approved the cost of foreign aid since it was launched in 1947 will come to more than $200,000,000,000 — (two hundred billion dollars).

Mini vs. Midi?

By Frieda Kaye

New York (MW) — Even if the midi edges out the mini in cosmopolitan cities this fall, on Mainstreet U.S.A. hemlines will drop gradually — if at all.

At least, that's the consensus of leading fashion editors from all over the United States and Canada, following designer showings held in New York recently. Their reactions to the mid-calf midi look were mixed. Opinions ranged from the claim that women over 40 look ten years older for every inch added below the knee, to that of Margaret Ness, Canadian newspaper woman who is "delighted to see skirts go down."

Oklahoma may be pivotal in deciding the success of the midi. Pat Shockey, fashion coordinator for WKY-TV in Oklahoma City, said that women in the heartland of American are fashion conscious but are also imbued with a spirit of independence. "A greater segment of the public has occasion to wear fashionable clothes, the homes to wear them in and the money to spend on clothes." If the designs are "good" and "appealing," they'll sell. "You are always going to buy what's good." But according to this fashion expert, the showings left her cold. "I have not seen anything that makes me say 'I would like to buy that, or wear it or talk about it.'"

Anti-Midi

Generally, the fashion experts agreed that the mini "had gone as far as it could go" (one went so far as to label the micro-mini "almost obscene") but they also felt the reversal to mid-calf was too sudden and drastic. Priscilla Parker of WINQ-Radio in Tampa, Florida believes women will wear the glamorous midi for after-five social occasions, but "for general wear I still think that length is rather long." The comments of Milda J. Sandstrom of WIBW-TV in Topeka, Kansas were even less flattering to the midi. She called it "dowdy . . . and aging" and said mature women were "quite satisfied with the freedom of the shorter skirt."

Pro-Midi

Dorothy Dale, radio commentator of WBET in Brockton, Massachusetts, sees the new length as inevitable. "We're going to have to drop the hemlines whether we like it or not," she said. She added that the midi will probably revive the popularity of millinery as a flattering accessory to the new length.

But in the towns of Pennsylvania the midi will probably be adopted with mini adjustments. Margaret Manning, editor with the Standard-Speaker in Hazelton, said her community has "never been too terribly mini." But she predicts that the "new look" in Hazelton this fall will be about two inches below the knee.

In agreement is newspaperwoman Margaret Ness of Toronto, who states: "I think a lot of the middle-aged women . . . are rather pleased with the mid-calf length." Her appraisal of the new fashion ranges from "comfortable" to "flattering."

But perhaps Pat Shockey of Oklahoma voices the indecisions and complaints of many mature women. She states flatly that the new length is much too uncomfortable for the suburbanite who does a good deal of driving. As for the success of the new length, she adopts a wait-and-see attitude. "If you walk through the mark-down racks of any stores in October, you are going to know what the choice has been."

ETA States Goals

The Equitable Tax Association is gathering information to base action, legislative proposals, legal attempts, news releases and all communications on the best and most accurate facts that they can obtain. Uniting their action with all other tax payer groups in protest of unnecessarily high government costs and strongly supporting the prevention of government waste — local, state, and national — and unneeded government jobs, bureaus and committees, they wish to reduce the burden and ever-rising taxes for the tax paying public.

One of the legislative proposals being considered by the ETA is to provide a tax incentive for certain types of home improvements which add to the external appearance of the property, including painting, landscaping, paving of sidewalks and driveways, and new siding. These things shall not be considered in the appraised value, or such value shall be exempt from taxation, providing that the limit of such exemption shall not exceed $2,000. Also included would be a provision for a tax credit for certain home improvements.

"It is our hope that the necessary bills to be presented to the Legislature will be ready some time in November so that they may be distributed and have statewide support," said C. Melvin McKenney, President of the Board of the ETA. "Equitable Tax Association in Pierce County hopes to contribute their share in ideas, effort and money."

It's the LAW
PRESENTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE BY THE

WASHINGTON STATE BAR ASSOCIATION Promise to Give

With exceptions, the law does not enforce, as it would a contract, a promise to make a gift. Promises do not carry "considerations," that is, promises in return.

The promisor can revoke a gift if the person promised does not act in reliance on it and there are no others joining in the project. The single promise or pledge is just an offer which can be revoked unless others act in reliance upon it.

Take Oswald Church. He promised to give money to help a new community hall. His pledge read: "In view of the gift of others, I welcome the privilege of subscribing $10,000." But Oswald changed his mind later, and the charity went to court to enforce his pledge. Oswald said that when he withdrew his pledge, the charity had done nothing in reliance on his pledge. He had therefore entered no contract. At most, he said, his pledge was just moral, not a legal commitment.

But the court said Oswald was wrong. Other donors had given when they knew that people like Oswald had also given to a project for the benefit of all. No one can withdraw without the consent of the others who have joined in the project.

A promise is often binding, too, when the charity spends money or incurs debts in reliance on the promise.

Suppose a rich uncle promises to pay for his niece's educational trip to Europe, and she quits a good job, takes the trip on credit, and then the uncle backs out. Since the niece, in reliance on the uncle's promise, changed her position, the law would not allow the uncle to withdraw his gift.

Of course the reliance on the gift must be reasonable and substantial.

The law would enforce promises by an employer to pay a bonus to an employee, for example, if in reliance on the promise he had worked hard and refused other jobs. Even though the bonus is a gift, the employee's reliance on the promise makes it binding.

(This column is written to inform not advise. Facts may change the application of the law.)

Thomas - Selk Wedding September 5th Former Puyallup Daffodil Queen To Marry

The Rev. E. G. Brown officiated for Carla Jean Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Thomas, and David Allan Selk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Selk in a marriage ceremony at The First Church of God. Both young people are graduates of Franklin Pierce High School, and the bridegroom studied at Washington State University, where he affiliated with Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

For her wedding the bride wore a full length gown of lace over taffeta with v-necked bodice and long fitted lace sleeves. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a cluster of brocade roses with bead trim. She carried a bouquet of gladiolus and daisies centered with rosebuds. For something old and borrowed, she wore an agate cross belonging to her mother. It had been made by her grandfather, the late John Solomon. In her shoe was a penny with the date of her birth.

Maid of honor, Barbara Hendricks, wore a pink taffeta gown and carried white chrysanthemums and forget-me-nots. Bridesmaids, Karen and Marian Thomas, in blue taffeta, are sisters of the bride. The bride's little sister Jeannie Thomas was flower girl and the bride's brother,

Mr. and Mrs. David Allan Selk

Wallace Thomas Jr., was ring bearer.

Best man for his brother was John Selk and ushers were Jerry Grout, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Michael Kesel.

Serving the some 150 guests in the church social hall reception were Mrs. Leland Louderback, Mrs.

Robert Chappell and Miss Sandy Hill. Mrs. J. Orville Thomas, the bride's aunt, and Mrs. John Solomon, the grandmother cut the wedding cake. Playing the piano was Anna Becker.

After a wedding trip to Victoria, the newlyweds will make their home in Tacoma.

The forthcoming marriage of Parkland's 1967 Puyallup Valley Daffodil Queen, Carol Parcheta, to G. Douglas Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Grant of Kirkland, was announced at a dinner party hosted by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Parcheta. The young couple revealed their plans for a December wedding to a group of friends and relatives gathered in their honor.

Miss Parcheta and Mr. Grant are both students at the University of Puget Sound, where they are active in student organizations. Miss Parcheta is social chairman of her sorority Kappa Kappa Gamma, president of Phi Beta and has been a cheerleader. She is little sister of Minerva for the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and is remembered by the Puyallup Valley and Tacoma area as their 1967 Daffodil Queen. She expects to graduate in June from U.P.S. with a degree for secondary education and plans to cadet teach this spring at her Alma Mater, Franklin Pierce High School, in Tacoma. Miss Parcheta is presently employed by the Pacific National Bank of Washington.

Carol Parcheta to wed G. Douglas Grant in December.

Her fiance is participating in the business intern program at U.P.S. and is employed by the U.S. Government as a bank examiner. Mr. Grant is social chairman for his fraternity Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and is active in young life programs both in Tacoma and Seattle. He takes part in intermural athletics and excelled in swimming while attending Lake Washington High School. His future include plans to attend law school.

Under Attack?

FORT LEWIS, WASH. — "Be violent, scream, bite, scream. Use fingernails, scream, kick, scream."

Advice from the hand-to-hand combat manual? No, ma'am. Just Pierce County Sheriff John Shields coaching ladies of the Fort Lewis Officers Wives Club on what to do if attacked.

Shields also showed them a film which demonstrated how niftily a little lady — 5 foot-four, a hundred pounds — could completely subdue a man attacking from behind.

Without using karate or jiu-jitsu, the lady bit the hand across her mouth, at the same time raking and jabbing her heel down the attacker's shin.

She stomped down hard on his instep, then turned to hit him again and again with her purse.

Shields emphasized the power of the purse.

"A comb can be used to rake a face, a lipstick to jab into a person's eyes, and pen, pencil or nail file to inflict serious wounds," he said.

Repeatedly, he reminded the women to "scream, scream, and scream some more."

Some of his tips for self-protection included:

Never travel alone at night if at all possible, and avoid dark streets.

Be sure doors and windows are locked when you leave your car. When you get back, check to see if it hasn't been entered by a stranger in your absence.

Park your car in a well lighted area even if you have to go somewhat out of your way.

Spanaway Legion is Moving!

Spanaway Post 118 of The American Legion is going to be known around these parts as the "community involved" post. So far, since their installation of officers, they have made 100 per cent membership and are reaching for 200 per cent. They have made visitations to other posts as a group and have attended both State and National Conventions.

A group of Legionnaires and their wives visited Olympia Post 3 on Sept. 8th for the installation of their offices. Interested people are cordially invited to attend the meetings as either a guest or potential member.

The members have started to remodel their post home and are presently setting up plans to have a recognition dinner in honor of the Spanaway-Elk Plane Volunteer firemen and their wives, scheduled for Oct. 3.

Sheriff Shields said the exception to his defensive advice would be if the attacker appeared to be armed with a gun or knife.

"Don't try to use them, then," he warned.

The meeting was the first of the new season for the Wives Club. Major General Willard Pearson, Fort Lewis commanding general, welcomed new members to the club and described some of the post's missions and activities.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

Office Problem

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I am a mature woman, employed for many years in a supervisory capacity. Lately I have been hiring recent college graduates. Can you tell me what's wrong with this younger generation? One girl, hired as a typist, was home disabled with a broken leg or a broken arm for weeks on end. When she did show up at the office, she spent half the time on the telephone and the other half in the ladies' room. Fortunately, her replacement seems to be in excellent health (no broken bones so far). But she can't spell simple words, she broke the copying machine three times, and after a two-hour lunch when she was asked to "rush through" some work, she complained of a headache and went home. Is this problem common?

D.O., Boston, Mass.

Dear D.O.:

Not all of these problems are common. We have no answer, but we do have a question: Is your business still solvent?

Adopting a Child

Dear Miss Brookfield:

Our 13-year-old daughter died in an accident recently. (we also have a married son.) I want to adopt a child. My husband had doubts about this but finally consented, to please me. We consulted an adoption agency but they suggested we return in a year. Since then I have come to the conclusion that I would like to adopt a child of pre-school age. Friends say we're foolish to take on the responsibility of raising a young child. Are we? I am 54, my husband is 56.

Dear E.B.:

E. B., Baltimore, Md.

It is possible that the adoption agency asked you to wait a year to allow you time to see whether the desire to adopt a child isn't prompted by the wish to "replace" your daughter. The agency was following sound adoption policies. When you return in a year's time, if your decision remains unchanged, talk frankly with the agency's representative about your husband's misgivings and the doubts in your own mind raised by the advice of friends.

In cautioning you against the wish to adopt a pre-school child, your friends are thinking ahead. If you were to adopt a child, say, five years old, your husband would be past retirement age when the child became 15. At present, the idea of having a young child again to love and mother may seem to be an emotionally satisfying goal. But we would suggest that you wait a year, return to the agency and discuss all these matters with them.

TIPS AND TALES

Sounds of the forest are one of the great pleasures of being a hunter or fisherman and one of the most intriguing through the years has been the drumming of ruffed grouse.

The first time one hears this "putt, putt, puttputtputt-putt" he thinks someone is starting up an outboard motor. Over the years, there were a number of ideas as to how the grouse made that sound which could carry for such a great distance through the woods.

Indians thought it beat its wings against a log. Audubon thought they beat their wings against their sides. Some others maintained the wing tips hit together in front and behind to make the noise.

High speed photography finally settled the discussion in the years immediately after WWII. This is described in the excellent book, "Ruffed Grouse" by John Madson.

"High speed photography shows the sound is made by the concussion of air filling the vacuum created by the powerful forward, upward and inward wing stroke followed by an instant reversal of motion. This is an 'implosion' similar to the hollow pop of a light bulb.

The first few beats can be easily seen, but soon the motion becomes a blur as the grouse stands on the log, braced by its tail, its wings going faster and faster."

Those wings are exceedingly powerful to make such strokes that they cause a small vacuum. And it's those same wings that make a grouse scare you almost out of your shoes as it bombs out of a thicket with the unforgettable roar of its wings.

Grouse have been known to drum at every hour of the day and every month of the year, but most of it is done in the spring.

As this is being written, I'm nearing the end of two weeks spent visiting Chicago, New York and Washington D. C.

One of the biggest impressions I've had is to realize all over again how tremendously fortunate we are in the Northwest, with our open spaces, trees, lakes, rivers, ocean, mountains and our air that is so clean compared to these big cities and their sprawling suburbs.

One day in New York a woman told us it was really a good day to see the city. Yet when we viewed it from the observation tower, the buildings less than a mile away nearly invisible in the haze and smog.

In another place I watched youngsters fishing in water which was dirty beyond belief to my eyes. Within casting distance of where they were dangling bait hoping to catch carp, I counted more than a dozen beer and whisky bottles plus newspapers, plastic cups and other garbage in the water.

We have these same problems growing in the Northwest, but we are so much better off: there is no comparison.

Spanaway Speedway

SPANAWAY - Although the saying goes, "Kent's got it all together", it was brother Rick Brock who put it all together at last week's A.R.I. Season Championship stock car races at Spanaway Speedway. Brock made a shambles of the 75 lap "AA" Main in Saturday night's feature, driving his double zero Sunset Chev Special to an easy win. Jackie Kuper, finally getting some consistency from his new Chavelle, came in a distant 2nd and Kent Brock claimed 3rd in his Phillips Auto Parts Special.

Brock took command on the 41st lap after early leader Bruce Stanley spun out on the slippery surface. Frank Cey came a cropper when he blew a mill on the home chute, eliminating his 66 car from further competition.

In the 50 lap "A" main, Ken Longley toiled his Chubby and Tubby 92 car to victory, with Ed Wilson 2nd and Ed Gaspar 3rd.

Stanley lowered Brock's track record by a considerable margin during time trials, turning the 3/8 mile oval in 15:48.

Sunday saw the 75 lap "A" main, the big one for double points, take a complete reversal of form when Jimmy Johnson of Sumner, driving the number 69 Ted's East End Mobil Special dominated the event and won going away. Ed Wilson wound up 2nd in the 73 East Hill Salvage Special and Al Rang claimed 3rd in the number 23 Cope Bros. Special.

The 50 lap "AA" main again found Rick Brock taking the checkered, with brother Kent grabbing 2nd and Jackie Kuper 3rd.

Vaughn Cress won the Claimer Stock feature in his 78 car, with Rick Lunore 2nd and Orting driver Dennis Forbes 3rd.

Rounding out the full racing schedule, Laurie Wilson chauffeured hubby Ed's 73 car to victory in the Powderpuff Derby season finals, Judy Hansford nabbed 2nd and Pearl Rohr 3rd.

In the only action next week, the Claimer Stocks take over the Saturday night A.R.I. time slot for a full evening of racing. The superstocks will hit the trail for a program in Ephrata Saturday, and another possible race in Wenatchee Sunday.

Braves Win Their Opener

Don Ladwig (27), Bethel's senior halfback, is pulled down after a short gain in Bethel's 7 to 6 win over the Tahoma Bears last Friday in the league opening game for both schools. Coming up too late to help Ladwig are Bethel players Craig Campadore (63), Gary Salter (71) and Bill Robinson (55).

By Glenn Ryder

The Bethel Braves started the season off right this year with a hard earned win over the Tahoma Bears last Friday. They edged the Bears out 7 to 6 in a last quarter classic.

The "Big Red Machine" started off well like a machine should, with well oiled gears and cogs. The defense was as tough as a brick wall and stung like one. The offense held together like glue with very few exceptions.

The scoring started off as Bethel marched 53 yards in 7 plays during the second period. Don Ladwig helped on the ground with two ten yard runs. Then quarterback Skip Thiel passed to Doug Wilson for a 25 yard scoring TD. Steve Sabalaska's extra point attempt was good and the Braves were on the board. Tahoma provided tough opposition as they held the Braves on the one yard line for no score.

Finally, halfway through the final quarter Tahoma's Lynn Greenleaf sprinted 91 yards on an option play and scored for the Bears. Lone opposition came from Don Ladwig on the play but to no avail. The Bears needed two points to go ahead, so on an extra point attempt they faked the kick and threw but the pass failed. The Braves from then on went on to win the game 7 to 6.

In the passing department Skip Thiel threw the ball 7 times, completing 3 of them for 58 yards total. The leading ground gainer was Don Ladwig with 13 carries for 59 yards, followed by Doug Wilson with 9 carries for 39 yards. High tacklers were Bill Jasmer with 9 and Ken McLaughlin with 9 also. Don Ladwig led in interceptions

The Bethel Braves' forward wall, led by Skip Thiel (12), Craig Campadore (63), Steve Bruner (23), Gary Salter (71) and Bill Jasmer (76), move up to stop Tahoma's Lynn Greenleaf (15) in last Friday's game at Art Crate Field. Late in the fourth quarter Greenleaf broke loose from the Braves and scored on a 94-yard run, a new Seamount League record.

Cards Crush Warriors

The SPSL defending Co-Champions, Franklin Pierce, took a giant step in defending their crown as they beat favored Clover Park 21 to 8, last Friday night.

The Cards stunned the Warriors early in the first quarter when half-back Mark Conrad took a hand off from QB Dennis Novotney and spotted wing-back Kerry Connell all alone in the end-zone for a touchdown. In the third quarter, the Cards again exploded when Mike Maiuri broke through the Warrior's line and blocked a punt, then proceeded to pick it up and scamper 53 yards for the touchdown. With 6:18 left in the game, the Warriors finally scored and ran in the two-point conversion. After both teams exchanged possession, the Cards started a drive which was capped off by Dennis Novotney's 8-yard scoring toss to end Jim Penning, that put the game on ice.

Friday, the Cardinals will host the Washington Patriots in a game at the F. P. field.

Coho Fishing Open & Good

The special coho fishing area at the salmon hatchery on the Washougal River begins its season September 11, the Washington Department of Fisheries has announced.

Director of Fisheries Thor C. Tollefson said recent rains have brought the river up and coho are moving into the special area between the barrier dam and a marker 50 feet above the hatchery rack.

This stretch of the river will be open through noon October 30, with the daily bag limit six salmon over 10 inches in length. The first six salmon caught must be retained, regardless of where they are hooked (inside or outside their mouth).

This special fishing area, first opened in 1967, has proven very popular with anglers, Tollefson said. Over 30,000 salmon were caught there the first year, and several thousand were caught in 1968 and 1969, when dry weather delayed the opening.

Patriots Upset by Lakes Lancers

Washington Patriot title hopes were given a setback Friday night as they lost a 19-14 encounter with the Lakes Lancers in a game played at the Franklin Pierce School District field.

Instrumentally playing a vital link in the Lancer victory was Lakes' halfback Darrell Dahl who carried the ball 34 times for a total of 130 yards and two touchdowns. He led all rushers and was responsible for many clutch Lakes first downs.

Washington struck first as Hans Woldseth took the initial punt of the contest and ran it back 75 yards down the sidelines behind a wall of blocking to score. Bryan Gaume kicked the extra point and the Patriots led 7-0 with 6:31 left in the first quarter.

On the next series of downs Woldseth intercepted a Mark Cahill Lancer pass to give the Patriots possession of the ball. He then proceeded, on the first Washington play from scrimmage, to throw a touchdown pass to Jay Page covering 24 yards. Gaume kicked the point after touchdown and with 5:02 left in the quarter Washington found themselves with a quick 14-0 lead.

After this action the teams settled down to defense for the remainder of the half and exchanged a total of five punts. The Lancers had one drive which penetrated to the Patriot four yard line but there the Washington defense stiffened and held. The score at the half was Washington 14, Lakes 0.

After intermission the Lancers played inspired football. They held the Patriots on the first series of downs and blocked a punt by Jeff Kylo on the Washington 43. In seven plays Lakes drove 43 yards with Greg Weeks going the final two for a touchdown. The two point conversion attempt was no good and with 6:40 left in the third quarter Washington's lead was cut to 14-6.

Washington received the Lakes kick off and was forced to punt on a fourth and four situation. The Lancers took over on their own 44. They drove 56 yards in ten plays and Darrell Dahl scored with seven seconds remaining in the quarter. A two point conversion, which would have tied up the game, was no good and the score was Washington 14, Lakes 12.

The Lakes defense held the Patriots after the next kick off and forced them to punt. The punt travelled 35 yards where the Lancers took over on their own 40. In the 60 yard final drive that followed, Darrell Dahl carried the ball eight times and went over for the winning touchdown. Phil Leroy kicked the extra point and with just under four minutes remaining the Lancers were sitting on a 19-14 lead.

In the final minutes of play the Patriots desperately tried to mount a scoring threat but were stopped cold by two interceptions. The final score showed Lakes the victors 19-14.

The Patriots will try to get on the winning track in their next game against intra-district rivals Franklin Pierce on Friday at Franklin Pierce. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Patriots Face Cards At FP Field

The Franklin Pierce Cardinals will play host to the Washington Patriots tomorrow at 8:00 p.m., in what should be one of the hardest fought gridiron battles of the season.

The games features a tense intra-district rivalry which has grown since junior high school in the minds and bodies of the majority of the participants. It is the first game in which both teams represent complete students bodies with equal odds.

The Cardinals, high off of their 20-8 upset over Clover Park, will be going after win number two in their quest to retain the South Puget Sound League crown. They are rated as the underdogs but are eager to pull off another upset.

The Patriots hope to put things back together again after a decisive 19-14 upset loss to Lakes. This game is a must to get Washington back on the track and to restore the confidence and desire in the team that is needed. A key to Patriot success will be the comeback of the defense from a poor showing last Friday.

Game time for this football contest is 8:00 p.m. at the Franklin Pierce District stadium.

Mini Meet For Runners

by Jeff Hill

Seven guys running their guts out for over two miles is a crazy sport called cross country.

The Washington High School cross country team, under the direction of coach Jon Herrington, has been logging about five miles a day since the beginning of school, getting in shape for the coming season. The first competition for the Patriots is set for tomorrow with a practice meet against Eatonville. Also, on Friday night, the top three Washington runners will be entered in a 2000 meter competition against six other schools. This "mini meet" will be held at halftime of the Washington-Franklin Pierce football game.

When asked about the coming season coach Jon Herrington said that, as far as Washington is concerned,

Army Aids Climbers' Rescue

FORT LEWIS, WASH. — A helicopter from Ft. Lewis picked up two injured climbers in a difficult rescue at the 12,200 foot level of Mt. Rainier last week.

The Huey helicopter, operating under project MAST, left Fort Lewis at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

At 7:30 a.m., it landed at Paradise Lodge and picked up two park rangers. The party flew to the injured climbers but could not land because of the steep terrain. They dropped stretchers and flew back to the lodge and picked up a rescue team.

The victims were moved 150 feet to a better pickup spot. The craft could not land, so the pilot hovered

Cross-Country Winners At Bethel Junior Patriots

The Bethel Braves Cross-Country team won their first meet Saturday, Sept. 12 against the Aberdeen Bobcats at Ocean Shores. The Braves ran (literally) to a 20 to 38 victory over the Bobcats.

The Braves ran a four-mile race on the shores off the Pacific. Placing for the Braves were Jim Conant, first, (21:47); Stan Adkins, second, (22:23); Mark Riehm, fourth, (23:46); Jim Hatcher, sixth, (23:55); Terry Browning, seventh, (24:20); Vic VanWieren, ninth (24:34); and Bob Nylander, eleventh, (25:46).

Head Coach Doug Wisness had the boys working out hard on the sands of Ocean Shores. Eight mile workouts were some of the things he had in store. The team has been running very hard lately, and that's putting that mildly. Asked about this Saturday's race at Wright's Park he said this "I think we will be a dark horse, with plenty of surprises. We've progressed very well and are ready for the meet." The Braves will be going to the Tacoma Invitational this Saturday at Wright's Park in Tacoma.

So looking forward, the Braves are pretty content as to how they are coming along.

Top Lakes

A 30 yard scoring screen pass on the last play of the game enabled to Washington Patriot junior varsity football team to pull out a 12-6 victory over Lakes in a game played Monday.

Lakes opened up the scoring with a touchdown in the first half but from then on the Patriot defense was nearly flawless. Washington, however, had trouble moving the ball into scoring position and at the half trailed 6-0.

The score stood until the middle of the fourth quarter when, on a fourth down play, Patriot quarterback Jeff Kylo threw a screen pass to Tom Butler who scored from twenty yards out. The extra point was no good and the score was deadlocked.

The winning play was another pass from Kylo to Butler.

The win puts the junior Patriots 1-0 on the year. They face Franklin Pierce at home next Monday.

In another game played Monday the Washington sophomore team was defeated by Wilson of Tacoma 30-0.

Washington Golf Scores

The golf team of Washington High School opened up its 1970 season on Monday with a disappointing 64-56 loss to Jefferson at the Northshore Golf and Country Club.

Figuring the loss was a lack of overall consistency in scoring among the six starters.

This year 15 people are out for the Patriot golf team. Of that number, there are only three lettermen, an obvious lack of experience. Coach Malmin, however, is optimistic about the coming season and is confident of a reasonable finish, if not the championship itself.

Excitement on the team was generated when Ken Capron, a novice golfer, shot a hole-in-one during his first round of golf with the golf team. The shot was made on the 175 yard, par 3, third hole of the college golf course. Steve Olson, currently the number six man holds the lowest score recorded this year - a one-over-par 36.

Starters for the Patriots listed by their ranks and with their scores in the Jefferson match are: Don Tommervik 12, Dave Olson 6, David Petersen 11, Chris Jacobson 5, Jim Sloan 10, and Steve Olson 12. Medalist of the match was Chuck Kempainen who shot a 37 on the Northshore course.

The Patriot linksmen meet Federal Way and Franklin Pierce in a match at the College Golf Course this afternoon.

Former Cardinals Keys To Lute Hopes

Three former Franklin Pierce Cardinal standouts are among eight local gridders slated for starting assignments as the Pacific Lutheran University Knights prepare for their 1970 home opener against the Whitworth Pirates Saturday.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. at Franklin Pierce Stadium.

Two former Cardinals, quarterback Jim Hadland and Halfback Gary Hammer, have already earned laurels in the Lute Black and Gold. The third Franklin Pierce product is guard Steve Harshman, a 215-pound dynamo who was red-shirted last year following transfer from Central Washington State College.

Hammer is the veteran of the trio. The son of Mr. and

Gary Hammer

Mrs. Walter G. Hammer, 1614 S. 100th St., Gary achieved stardom as a sophomore two years ago when he finished second among Northwest Conference rushers and was named to the all-conference team. Last year he was on his way to another outstanding year when he suffered a broken leg during a conversion attempt against Linfield.

But the leg is as sound as ever, Hammer maintains. "I don't even think about it any more," he added.

This fall Gary is back at halfback after a stint in the fullback slot early last season. The popular Knight co-captain is a bruising 200-pound who would just as soon go through a defender as around him.

Steve Harshman

Hadland, a 6-0, 185-pound junior, arrived on the PLU campus last fall after a year at Washington State, and immediately began earning comparison with other great Lute quarterbacks. In nine games he became the second PLU passer since Hall of Famer Marv Tommervik to hit his receivers for more than 1,000 yards and scampered 300 yards on the ground as well.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hadland, 759 133rd St. S., Jim helped establish a family quarterbacking tradition at Franklin Pierce, where he followed brother Glenn to stardom. Glenn is now the varsity signal caller at Western Washington State College. The pair will face one another next week at Franklin Pierce Stadium when the Lutes take on the Vikings.

Jim Hadland

Harshman is also carrying on a family athletic tradition. He is the son of 1940's Lute sprint star Sterling Harshman, 711 S. 120th St., who is now a veteran coach and teacher at Puyallup High School. Steve's uncle is Marv Harshman, former Lute football and basketball great now head basketball mentor at Washington State.

Steve, also a standout as a discus and shot man for the Lutes last spring, is considered to be one of the keys in Coach Roy Carlson's rebuilding efforts this fall. The Lutes have a fine aggregation of running backs returning from last year's team which set new PLU rushing and total offense standards, but the offensive line was hit hard by graduation. Young Harshman's presence should help soften the blow of losing standouts like tackle Rick Johnson, guard Randy Jorgenson and center Duane Oyler.

Another of Coach Carlson's veterans starting Saturday is Hans Lindstrom, a senior from Puyallup. Lindstrom, one of the fastest men on the squad, is switching to split end this year from halfback, where he has starred the past three seasons.

The malicious damage at the new Ballou Junior High located in Firgrove will greatly exceed the original estimation of $3000. Several youths entered the school building sometime late on Labor Day and ransacked literally everything, wrote obscene words on the walls, spilled ink on the carpet and stole many small items. Pierce County Sheriff's Deputies have one youth in custody and will pick up at least three more today that have been accused of being involved in the incident.

Mann Junior High in Lakewood was damaged over the weekend by rock throwers. It is estimated that over $2000 in glass windows and doors along the building's east side were totally destroyed.

SEPT. 10
Pierce County Sheriff's Deputies arrested an 18 year old local youth while investigating a burglary at the home of Matt Herreid, No. 1 Ponce De Leon Terrace. Mr. Herreid reported his home had been broken into yesterday afternoon and many items of food had been taken. When deputies arrived Mr. Herreid told officers also of a burglary on September 3 of his home and that he had found some of the items taken in the woods behind his home. Later, on investigating the woods area, deputies found a young man fixing and eating sandwiches out of the food removed from the Herreid home and he had in his possession some items that were taken from the September 3 burglary of the Herreid home.

Pierce County Sheriff's office reported investigation of an armed robbery of the Willows Food Center at 9:10 p.m. Thursday. A white male entered the store, hung around the display racks for a few minutes then approached the clerk and said, "put all the green stuff in a bag... I have a gun." The clerk followed the robbers, but never saw the gun. After the man directed the clerk into a store-room he left on foot. No estimate has been given as to the amount of loss.

Pierce County Sheriff Carl Peterson announced this morning that officers, Detective Ward Archer, Deputy Henry Suprunowski, and Deputy Wayne West conducted a successful drug raid on a residence near Parkland. After considerable hours of investigating, the sheriff's officers were able to capture and arrest Robert V. Massey, Randall J. McKelg and Peggy L. Long, at 10431 Sales Road. They are charged with unlawful possession of dangerous drugs and unlawful possession of dangerous drugs with intent to sell and are being held on $2500 bail on each charge. Found in the home was considerable LSD and hashish and in the garage hanging up to dry was about 40 pounds of marijuana.

Tacoma Police are investigating a

Hans was one of three Lute backs to rush far more than 500 yards last fall.

Other local products slated for starting roles this season are Dan Pritchard, sophomore fullback from Clover Park; Stan Pietras, junior center from Mount Tahoma; Ed McGrath, junior split end from Wilson; and Burnell Coleman, senior halfback from Lincoln. McGrath and Coleman are transfers.

Lute prospects? If Coach Carlson, now in his ninth year at the PLU helm, has been able to plug the holes in his offensive line, the attack could be one of the most devastating the Northwest Conference has seen in years. There are question-marks on defense, where Carlson has added strength at some positions and some uncertainties at others.

Overall, Carlson rates the defensive unit "about the same" as last year. The 1969 crew ranked second in the conference in total defense and rushing defense but were fifth in pass protection though they stole a school record 25 passes.

Last year PLU defeated the Whitworth Pirates 36-0 in the second game of the season.

KNIGHTS TO AIR GAMES ON KMO

PLU football games, both home and road, will be broadcast live this fall on radio KMO, 1360 kc., with Bud Blair doing the play-by-play.

Channel 13, KTVW-TV, will film the Lutes' five home games for showing on Sunday evenings at 6 p.m. Clay Huntington, long associated with PLU sports productions, will provide the narration.

Moose Lodge United in Allegiance

Robert Kennedy, Governor of Parkland Moose Lodge, No. 1814, reports that a "Resolution of Allegiance" was unanimously adopted at the 82nd annual international convention of the Loyal Order of Moose in Chicago in which the Moose Fraternity publicly proclaims and reaffirms its allegiance to God and Country.

The resolution states: "Whereas, our fraternity demands of us a life of faith and instills within us the desire to strengthen and preserve that for which our forefathers have died and,

"Whereas, the principles of our fraternity, those being 'Purity, Aid and Progress' have historically become the means through which the greatest of free nations were conceived and have grown, matured and abundantly prospered and,

"Whereas, we presently recognize the potential destructive consequences of both a domestic and international nature which tend to destroy the nations which are less than strong and,

"Whereas, we are a patriotic and humanitarian fraternal order comprised of American and Canadian citizens and subsequently recognize that our loyalties are equal to those owed to our families and our fraternity.

"We respect law and order and endeavor to instill within others the desire to maintain that respect and we are dedicated to the means through which we can achieve universal peace but we shall always, above all else, honor our freedom."

Washington Student Council

The adoption of a dress code was the main business at the first meeting of the Washington High School Student Council, held September 16.

It was decided that all forms of dress which are of good taste, as discerned by the administration, are allowable. This includes pants for the girls and Bermuda shorts for the boys. The Council also decided that if a student is prohibited from wearing a certain combination of clothing by the administration then the student shall have the right to appeal the decision to a permanent board made up of student and faculty representatives.

In other action it was decided that student body cards will cost five dollars and that some type of a money raising drive will be held during the coming year. Some suggestions were the selling of candy, candles, or carved figures.

The meeting was adjourned by President Jay Page.

Franklin Pierce School Board

Dr. Edward Hill, Superintendent of Franklin Pierce School District, announced that the next school Board meeting, the second regular meeting of the month, has been postponed until September 29. The purpose of the meeting will be a public hearing for the final budget. The meeting will commence at 8:00 at the Administration office.

FOREST FACTS

by Bob Bradley,
Pierce County Extension Forester

With the arrival of the hunting season, and especially the high Cascade buck season, many people are thinking about this subject.

Wildlife management is one of the many uses of our forest areas and is closely tied to forest, water and fish management. The hunting season is simply the harvest part of wildlife management.

When virgin forests covered all of the natural forest regions of our country, game of all kinds was abundant, as well as the predators that preyed upon it. When the white man began clearing the wilderness, game populations changed and fish and water became generally less abundant.

With emphasis on land clearing for agriculture and cities, and no hunting restrictions, populations of both large and small game animals and birds were greatly reduced in numbers. These practices also affected fish and water in a similar manner.

Today with hunting regulations enforced and timber being harvested as a crop, many native game species have increased in numbers. So, what I am saying is that good forest management actually favors good hunting.

Block cutting in old growth timber and partial cutting in second growth produce browse species for large game like deer and elk and fruit bearing shrubs for upland game birds, plus a desirable habitat for all. And, of course, this type of cutting encourages a new growth of timber to replace the old.

So, when you apply good forest management to your forest lands you are providing yourself, and others, with good hunting and improving the situation for more water and good fishing. Talk about the expression of "killing two birds with one stone," — you are the one who throws it.

Since hunters sometimes become lost and a game diet could become monotonous over an extended period you might be interested in the following free booklet. It is called "Natures Wild Plant Foods," by Bob Bradley, Pierce County Extension Forester, 742 County-City Bldg., Tacoma, 98402. All you have to do is ask for one.

If Hunttable, Is It Edible?

Mercury poisoning, first observed in the U.S. in fish taken from Lake St. Clair in Michigan, is emerging as a serious problem in fish and game birds in several states, according to Dr. George Hinman, director of the Nuclear Radiation Center at WSU. The hunting season in Alberta province in Canada was canceled last year because of high mercury concentrations found in some birds.

The source of mercury in the game birds is apparently a fungicide which has been used for many years in treating wheat. In the case of fish, it seems to be discharges from industrial processing plants," Hinman said. Contrary to earlier reports, the breast meat and liver sometimes contain comparable concentrations of mercury. The feathers have much higher concentrations than other tissues, but are not dangerous because of their inedibility.

Studies on game birds are only one facet of the program of research on environmental problems being carried out by scientists at the WSU Nuclear Radiation Center, Hinman said. "Much of this work, including the mercury analysis, depends on a process called neutron activation analysis, in which samples to be analyzed are inserted into the nuclear reactor at the Radiation Center and subsequently checked for radioactive emissions characteristic of different elements," he said.

Dairy Records For August

The dairy herd of Frank Swetz, Graham, is the leader in the Pierce County DHIA summary for the month of August, announces County Agent Eddie Thomason. Swetz's herd of 15 Holsteins averaged 50.9 pounds of milk and 2.03 pounds of butterfat per cow per day.

Honor roll leaders for cows completing lactations in August are: 2 year old - No. 19, a Holstein, owned by Joe Sutter, Puyallup, with 16,430 pounds of milk and 746 pounds of butterfat; 3 year old - No. 57, a Hosten, owned by Arnold Ochsner, South Prairie, with 17,677 pounds of milk and 724 pounds of butterfat; 4 year old - No. 299, a Holstein, owned by Wilcox Farms, Roy, with 21,708 pounds of milk and 930 pounds of butterfat; and 5 to 10 year old - No. 165, a Holstein, owned by Wilcox Farms, Roy, with 23,883 pounds of milk and 851 pounds of butterfat.

Testing and calculation of records was supervised by Washington State University.

The Nuclear Radiation Center at Washington State University is cooperating with the State Department of Game in the study of mercury distribution in pheasants.

After reviewing analysis performed at the Radiation Center in July and early August, the State Department of Game decided that the hunting season for pheasants can proceed normally this year in Washington.

A — If you have no dependents and carry the full-time load you anticipate, your monthly payments will be $175 at the present rate.

Q — I entered military service last year before completing high school. When I get out of service will the VA pay me any educational allowance while I complete high school? If so, how much?

A — Yes, if you have more than 180 days active service. If you are a single veteran, you will receive $81 a month for adult evening high school or $175 a month for full-time schooling; more if you have dependents. Intensive, Individual Training

FORT LEWIS, WASH. — "An army travels on its stomach."

When Napoleon said that over 170 years ago, he was talking about how important supply work was to the well-being of his army.

But when a basic trainee goes through Individual Tactical Training (ITT) he begins to wonder if Napoleon ment it literally. A full day of ITT leaves a man exhausted. During that time he crawls under barbed wire, over sand and rocks, over logs and into trenches. When he is not crawling, he is either running from log to log or hiding behind trees.

ITT tries to teach several combat skills in one day. Included in the instruction are the uses of cover, the handling of prisoners, camouflage, defensive operation, and movement under fire.

A night portion of the training teaches combat skills used in the dark.

The morning session of ITT is filled with lectures and demonstrations. After lunch, the trainees get their chance to act.

One of the most dramatic training courses is the man to man reaction course. This course develops the principle that the smaller the target, the less the possibility of getting shot. Or more simply, if you can't be seen, you won't get hit.

Armed with BB guns and protective equipment, a trainee team and instructor move along a path that winds through the dense woods. Suddenly they are attacked by BB gun toting snipers. The first reaction of the trainees is to find cover. The sting of a BB tells them if their cover is good enough.

Other courses teach the trainee to work as part of a team. He learns to provide covering fire while his buddy moves.

Firing blanks, each man gets to move along a simulated combat assault course, climaxed by a mock assault on a bunker. Each movement has a corresponding covering fire.

It's a lot of training crammed into a short time, and it's not designed to make every trainee a top infantry man in one day. But it does bring home the point that whatever a soldier's job may be, there may be times where he is called upon to act as infantry.

"The individual soldier is the most important element on the battlefield," and instructor said. "No matter how much supporting fire is available, the hill is never won until the man with the rifle is physically sitting on it and defending it."

TAKE TIME TO BE SELFISH

After every payday... year in and year out... most of us sit down to pay our bills. The house payment. A check on the car. The doctor. The dentist. And after we're all done... we usually spend what's left.

And we've forgotten to pay the most important person of all. Ourselves. Next payday, and every one thereafter, why not get into the habit of paying yourself FIRST.

Learn to put a little aside in one of our insured Citizens savings accounts BEFORE YOU PAY ANYONE ELSE. (We'll even transfer it from your Citizens checking account, automatically, if you wish.)

Chances are you won't even miss the amount you save. Your money will go just as far... and you'll be on your way to saving money.

Do Women Want "Liberation"?

Among the noisy minorities that are bombarding us, these days, with their raucous demands, there is none more vociferous than the advocates of Women's Liberation.

An editorial in the Birmingham "Sun" recently said, "Every American male should be concerned about the swelling liberation movement being promulgated by the women who long since shook the shackles of most restraints from their beings. . . ."

"The automatic water heater, washer, and drier have liberated them from the wash-pot, scrub-board, and clothesline. . . ."

"Modern woman has an automatic range with more controls than a B-747 air liner to cook her meals on. . . ."

"What do women want to be liberated from?"

Progress?

But before men get too upset about this movement, they should listen to some women who are among the vast majority who have not joined this movement and have no intention of doing so.

Here, for example, is what syndicated columnist Harriet Van Horne says:

"Women have come a long, exciting journey in the past century. One hates to see their progress undone by the viragos who imagine they can win the world by becoming meaner than the men."

Recently, in "Time," Miss Gloria Steinem wrote, "The revolution would not take away the option of being a housewife. A woman who prefers to be her husband's housekeeper and/or hostess would receive a percentage of his pay determined by the domestic relations courts. . . . A divorce could be treated the same way that the dissolution of a business partnership is now. . . ."

"If these proposals seem far-fetched, consider Sweden, where most of them are already in effect. . . . That country is so far ahead of us in recognizing the problem that Swedish statements on sex and equality sound like bulletins from the moon."

Sweden, by the way, is the country where it has recently been seriously proposed that it be made legally permissible for men and women to copulate openly in the parks and other public places—so long as it does not offend others. This is progress to which we should aspire?

Later in her article, Miss Steinem added this gem, referring to conditions in society after the victory of Women's Lib, "Lesbians and homosexuals will no longer be denied legally binding marriages."

In Berkeley, an organization called Women for the Free Future recently burned, among other things, a Bible.

Prescription for Disaster

Isn't it too bad that the Women's Lib agitation is not given the treatment that it deserves—to be ignored, as the ravings of those who have only a prescription for disaster?

The Bible gives a picture of a woman who has found happiness and contentment. Her industry and astuteness are outlined, and she is described in these words:

"Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her. . . ."

"Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her. . . ."

"Favor is deceitful, and beauty is vain, but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. . . . Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her own works praise her."

Bethany Lutheran Changes Time

A bit of confusion reigned last Sunday when Bethany Lutheran Church on Mountain Highway, Spanaway, changed the time of their services. The church worship service was meeting at 11:15 a.m. and Sunday School at 9:45 for the last year. Due to the fact that their Pastor Robert Braun has two parishes under his charge, it was arranged that every year the two churches switch time to accommodate the members. Pastor Braun is pastor for Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Yelm, also.

So for the next year Bethany Lutheran Church will have their Sunday services at 9:30 a.m. with Sunday School and Junior Choir at 10:45.

Christian Science

Emphasis on materialism is a modern form of idolatry and can be counteracted by an understanding of the Ten Commandments as explained in the Lesson-Sermon on "Matter" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, September 20.

"We bow down to matter, and entertain finite thoughts of God like the pagan idolater," states one of the readings from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. "Mortals are inclined to fear and to obey what they consider a material body more than they do a spiritual God."

The Bible citations include the First Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," and the other nine commandments.

All are welcome to attend services beginning at 11 a.m. at all Christian Science Church of Tacoma.

Live as free men . . . live as servants of God. — (1Pet. 2:16).

We have freedom of thought, spirit and self-expression. God has blessed us with divine intelligence to sort out, evaluate, accept or reject thoughts. He has given us freedom of spirit for spiritual growth and fulfillment. He has given us the opportunity to express ourselves. Let's apply them all constructively for a better world.

young people.

Ben Song was orphaned when the communists took over his part of the country, and he was the sole supporter of his younger sisters and brothers.

The public is very welcome to come and hear this exciting young man.

Immanuel Baptist Host Speaker From Korea

The Immanuel Baptist Church, 94th and Pacific in Parkland, will have an interesting speaker on Sunday, September 20. Ben Song from Korea will talk about an exchange program between the young Christians of his country and ours. He is touring the country trying to reach high school age

Sertoma

What is Sertoma?

Sertoma is one of the fastest growing service clubs in the United States today. Although it is relatively new to this area, Sertoma is far from being a new service club. The mother club of Sertoma International was founded in Kansas City on April 11, 1912. The name Sertoma is a word coined from our slogan, "Service To Mankind."

Why Sertoma?

Sertoma members participate in meeting the responsibilities inherent in the preservation of our heritage of freedom and in the attainment of community goals. Sertoma sponsors a multitude of community services giving opportunities to repay the obligations every responsible citizen owes. Sertoma sponsors the freedom program which has been recognized repeatedly for the impact Sertoma has made throughout our lands in protecting free enterprise and the principles fundamental to the existence of free men. Sertoma sponsors the service to mankind award which recognizes the deeds of men and women who have devoted themselves to helping others and by spotlighting these fine people, encourages others to do a little more.

Pacific National Bank of Washington opened its new Spanaway Banking Center last Saturday at 10 a.m. The highlight of the event was the cutting of the ribbon ceremony — the ribbon being a continuous strip of one dollar bills, 58 to be exact, representing the 58th banking center of PNBW throughout the state. The ribbon of dollars was presented to Karl Bond, principal of Spanaway Junior High School, by Lee J. Dolman, executive officer of the new center, as a seed for the youth activities program at the new school.

Parkland Office Building To Become Library

Public Relations Director Ozzie Ellingson, of the Parkland Light and Water Co., announced that at the meeting of the board of directors held on September 8, a tentative agreement was made with the Pierce County Library Board for lease of their vacated office building at 402 Garfield Street. The lease to be worked out between Les Heineman, Manager of the Utility Company and Carl Lindgren, Chairman of the Library Board, will provide for a five-year term and a five-year renewal option. Mr. Lindgren said, "The Garfield building will make a fine library and will serve the community for a long time. Now that we've made our decision to move, we're getting anxious to get going." The opening of the Pierce County Library on the corner of Garfield and C Street will be announced soon.
