Hawks Top Bethel League

Sat. Start With Pac.

The Pacific Lutheran University Knights will open their 1961 football season Saturday night when they meet Pacific University in Forest Grove, Ore. in a non-conference game. In a rivalry which dates back to 1939, PLU and Pacific have met 13 times, with the Lutes gaining four wins, the Badgers seven, and two ending in ties. The last time PLU won was in 1954 by a 26-16 margin. Pacific won last year, 20-12.

Coach Jim Gabrielsen, starting his fourth season at PLU, has a nucleus of 19 lettermen around which to build his 1961 club. But most of his returnees are linemen. Graduation and drop outs cut down the backfield to the extent that the Lutes have but one starter from last year's club -- Doug McClary, senior quarterback.

A new map folder on the Skyline Trail in Oregon is now available at U.S. Forest Service Offices in Oregon and Washington, reports J. Herbert Stone, Regional Forester. The folder replaces one printed in 1952. Maps and information have been brought up to date, and the folder has been made more attractive by use of color printing and new illustrations.

Old Friends Visit

Mrs. Birdie Ingham had a wonderful surprise visit with old friends whom she had not seen since 1908. They were formerly from the Spanaway district, having lived here many years ago. The friends, Henry, David and Allen Miner now reside near Bremerton. A memorable afternoon was spent in recalling the old days at American Lake prior to the time Fort Lewis was erected in that area. At that time the only army base near the lake was Camp Murray.

Two 4-H girls from Parkland, next door to the Western Washington Fair, proved their prowess in the hot stove division over girls from other western Washington counties competing in canning and baking exhibits.

Joan Haakenson was awarded six blue ribbons in the canning classes and Martha Hovey took four blue ribbons in baking. Billie Sue McDougall, of Spanaway, was another Pierce County girl in the multiple blue ribbon group in the baking exhibits, with two.

Multiple blue ribbon winners in clothing exhibits were Molly Stuen, 12132 E. "P" St. Multiple blue ribbon winners in gardening were Dale Brashears with 8 and Joe Knopf with 5, both from Eatonville.

Midland Wife Wins $50.00 For Yeast

Mrs. June Seney, of 9001 East 1 St. is mighty proud of her yeast. And well she should be, for her cooking brought her the Best of Show award for all yeast made articles and $50 from Fleishchman's Yeast Co. in Monday's judging at the Puyallup Fair.

By NEIL McLEAN

At the end of four weeks of operating the Times Journal, to say we are pleased with the paper, the area and the people we work with and have met during this period, would be to make a gross understatement.

The reception of the people of the area of the paper and the matter-of-fact way they accepted our 'intrusion' into the status quo (and a very friendly status quo it has been, apparently) has been the finest. From Jack Brown, our landlord and contributing editor, through the employees, the advertisers, and readers, our acceptance has been gratifying and very pleasing.

We may not do things as they have been done in the past, we may have a few ideas which are new to the readers and users of the columns of the Times Journal, but it is our sole intent to give the area the best that we can in the way of service and thus in the way of a good newspaper.

If you are among the hundreds who we have missed in our daily scramble to get back into the swing of weekly newspaper living, be patient. We'll see you soon, we hope, and later surely.

"The greatest good for the greatest number" will be as good a guide as we can set for ourselves and will govern our operations. So within the limits of our pages we'll try to give everyone, from the smallest organization with a news item to the largest advertiser, the fairest shake we can.

Now that we've thrown a few posies hither and yon, let us fire our first brickbat. Too bad that the target is unknown to us, but he knows himself.

The person who left lying around near the Times Journal building poisoned material which poisoned a house cat is as despicable a villain as any TV crook. To poison a cat or a dog is as cruel and mean as any of the horrors we see on our TV screens. Worse, maybe, since the animal can't fight back.

But, if the person who left this poison lying around, in the hope that some animal would find it will stop to think what COULD have happened if a child had eaten it, we think he will suffer cold chills, at best. According to the veterinarian who treated the dying animal, the poison was strong and quick acting.

You'll find it in the Times Journal Classified ads.

Card 'Streak' on Line

Fresh from a 7-0 win over Kent-Meridian, the Franklin Pierce Cardinals inaugurate the home season Friday evening at 8 against powerful Evergreen.

The Wolverines swamped Summer last week 28-7 on the strength of runs by halfbacks Rich Champie and Dave Cass. The entire Evergreen backfield is capable of sprinting 100 yards in under 11 seconds. This speed will pose a real threat to the local gridgers.

Led by quarterback Tom Tommervik and pass-catching halfback Jim Pederson, Franklin Pierce expects to show well against the Wolverines. Tommervik led the club last year in total offense. The rushing leader was Pederson, who averaged over 4-yards a carry and who snagged 15 passes for a huge lead in that department.

Evergreen lost a 20-0 decision to the Cardinals last year in mid-season, so will be seeking revenge on the Parkland turf this week.

Franklin Pierce met the Kent-Meridian Royals on fairly even terms last week barely emerging with a 7-0 victory. The Royal's highly touted line, averaging 200 pounds a man, failed to entirely contain the Cardinals, and Gerald Parker scooted six yards through its middle at the end of the second quarter for the games only score.

Auxiliary 118 Meets

American Legion Post and Auxiliary of Clover Creek 118 will meet at the Hall at Spanaway, 8 p.m. on Sept. 22nd.

Both Post and Auxiliary took part in "I Am An American" or "Citizenship Day" at the Public Utilities Bldg. Ted Anderson and Warren Stinson carried colors for the Post and Birdie Ingham and Rose Stinson for the Auxiliary. Nine members attended.

In attendance at the first Fourth District Council meeting were Isabel Lucas, Lillian Hansen, Blanche Rediske, Bonnie Baunach, Rose Stinson, and acting as hostess, Birdie Ingham.

The touchdown run was set up by Keith Abbot's fumble recovery and healthy gains on rollouts by Tommervik. Next week will find Franklin Pierce playing at Puyallup, a first-round 26-0 loser to Renton.

New Farm Interphone System Now Available

A new communications system which for the first time combines the household telephone with a wide range of intercommunication aids for the farm family is now being offered by Pacific Northwest Bell.

Called "Farm Interphone," the innovation provides a direct internal telephone link among such farm locations as the house, barn or other buildings and selected outdoor work areas. According to manager, W.E. Russell, Bell System research studies, conducted over five years and including trials on more than 100 farms, show that Farm Interphone can bring about more efficient farm operations and increased family convenience.

Farm Interphone teams up the telephone's usual role of handling outside calls with the ability to handle internal communications as well. These include communicating from or to any Farm Interphone telephone, hands-free answering, paging, talking either on a private or "broadcast" basis and the ability to monitor barn and selected outdoor areas at all times to protect people, property and livestock 24 hours a day.

The basic Farm Interphone system consists of a master phone in the house, an extension phone in the barn or other out-building and a two-way loudspeaker located in the barnyard. Each telephone is equipped with a special loudspeaker-microphone and a button which enables the phone to be used for intercom calls or regular phone calls. Additional phones and loudspeakers are available to meet individual requirements.

Beetles Do Large Damage

Just the other day a man came into the county agents' office with a piece of hardwood oak flooring from a relatively new, five year old home, which was honeycombed by powder post beetles. With the increase of house building in the last 15 years, the destructiveness of powder post beetles is receiving more widespread attention. The damage that is done by these beetles is found in the structure of the building as well as in wood products used within the home itself. The larvae, or gurls, feed on the starch or the cellulose in the wood. As they feed, they bore irregular tunnels through the wood. Borings left in the tunnels have the consistency of powder. Severely damaged wood becomes a crumbly mass of pellets, or borings, and sometimes has a honeycombed appearance. Surface holes may mar the appearance of the wood. Those most commonly seen are made by adult beetles when they emerge from the wood. Many of the species, as was the case with the sample that was brought into the office, make holes about 1/8" in diameter. These give the wood the appearance of having been hit by buckshot and are called shot holes. Larger beetles make holes from 1/4" up to 3/8" in diameter.

The adult females lay eggs on or in the wood. The larvae, upon hatching, tunnel into the wood. This tunnel continues throughout the larvae stage which lasts from months or years, depending on the kind of beetle. After pupating, the adult beetles bore circular holes to the surface of the wood and emerge; others make oval holes. Some species emerge in early spring, others, in early summer. The adults may remain on the wood from which they emerged and remain on the wood from which they emerged and which they emerged and reinfest it, or they may crawl or fly to a similar piece of wood and attack it.

Beetles which infest seasoned hardwoods, lay eggs on or in the wood from which they emerged, hence, the same wood may be infested repeatedly. On unseasoned hardwoods the eggs are laid in pores leading from the entrance tunnels.

Aside from observing tunneled wood, there are several ways of detecting powder post beetle damage. You may see surface holes, or borings that have been ejected from them. The borings may be in piles near the holes or, where timbers overhead are attacked, they may be on the floor below. Also it is sometimes possible to see adult beetles crawling on the wood, or in quiet surroundings, hear a rasping or ticking sound that is made by the tunneling larvae.

Control: Depending on whether the infestation is severe, or whether it is light, will determine if you can handle the control job yourself, or if you will need the services of a pest control operator. Where the damage is severe, and the structural strength of the wood is impaired, replacement may be necessary. It is wise to coordinate the control work at the same time that you do the repair work. For light infestations of beetles which makes numerous small holes in the surface of the wood, control can be obtained by saturating the wood with a 5% solution of DDT in deodorized kerosene or with a 5% solution of Pentachlorophenol in an oil carrier. DDT and Pentachlorophenol are long lasting insecticides. If they are not available, use a mixture containing nine parts of turpentine and one part of ordinary kerosene. Aready prepared solution may be available at your grocery store. These are listed under various trade names, two of which are Flit and Biff.

With one gallon of any of these materials, you can treat at least 100 sq. feet of wood surface. However, where only a few boards are infested, treating these boards with the 5% DDT solution will usually prevent spread to adjoining wood.

For best results from treating any kind of material first remove the finish. This is especially desirable when you treat a large area such as a floor, but it may not be desirable when you treat ornamental products. Where you have a small infestation in the floor, it may be undesirable to remove the finish, therefore go ahead and treat the floor but do not walk on it until it has dried, this may take several hours.

If you have a heavy infestation, it will probably pay to call in a pest control operator since special equipment and methods may be necessary to bring about control. Most of the insecticides mentioned are poisonous and should be treated with caution. Keep them away from children and pets. Do not let them come in contact with the body and when applying them, wear rubber gloves, a face guard and a rubber apron. Since some of the solutions are explosives, do not apply around heavy flame, do not smoke, and provide plenty of ventilation.

The USDA leaflet #358, entitled "Powder Post Beetles in Building, what to do about Them" is available at the county agents' office, 742 County-City Building.

Increase In Chicks

OUTLOOK: USDA outlook reports indicate a 6% increase in chicks for laying flock replacement during the first six months of this year. They suggest a gradual seasonal egg price rise which should reach its peak during September and then decline. Late fall, winter, and spring of 1962 egg prices will average below the previous year. This indicates another cost-price squeeze for egg producers but we would hope not as severe as during 1959.

and a-Wandering . . .

Well I've wandered off again and am writing this in Caldwell, Idaho. I'm far enough away that I could write a lot of things and probably get away with it because you can't get to me. I've got a few articles like that in mind but I'll wait till I get back because if any of you have something to say to me I don't want to be hard to find. Of course that attitude will someday undoubtedly cause me the loss of my front teeth but I'll chance it.

I'm driving this trip and all I can say is that this ground travel is for the moles. Me, I'll join the birds. So far I have missed death by mere inches on the Stevens Pass highway when a truck blew a tire and came headon towards me. We missed by inches. How, I'll never know. I came around a turn down on the Snake River just in time to witness the results of a car going over a cliff into the river. One 19 year old college student dead and two others in critical condition. A few minutes later I saw a high transport truck that had gone over a bank and caught fire. I'd rather be flying. You'd better start looking at statistics and get into the 'air yourself so that you too may live a little longer.

There's more to be seen on a trip like this than the scenery. Sometimes you can get a glimpse of life. I caught a couple of glimpses that made me realize what a great factor personality is in making a success of ones self in this modern day and age.

I pulled into a service station sporting a well known brand of gas and a young fellow in his twenties came out to serve me. He didn't ask me any questions. Just walked up to the car and I said "Fill 'er up". Without a word he did just that and all he asked me was "Credit card or cash?" I gave him my card and asked

Letters to the Editor . . .

Mr. Floyd Fessler, Editor
The Times Journal
Parkland 44, Washington

Dear Mr. Fessler:
Because of an incident that just occurred and which was one of many similar incidents at various places, I would appreciate your having this printed in the Times Journal if you think it feasible.

Just a half-hour ago a peddler was at our door selling books of needles imprinted with the information that he was a deaf-mute and was selling these items as a means of livelihood. When I relayed to him that I was deaf and reproached him for chiseling the general public he made a plea's pity and chiselled him if he was the owner. He grunted something that was to be considered an affirmative answer and started back to his office when I let out a yip about my dirty windshield which he promptly smeared up good for me with an oily rag. Bearing my cross I drove off marking this place well in mind so that I'd never make the mistake of stopping there again.

On the same highway and in quite a similar setting I stopped at another station offering the same brand. A young fellow of similar build and age as the last came running out of the station grinning from ear to ear, wiped off the windshield, lights and even the side glasses all the time keeping up a running patter of pleasant conversation.

He asked me if I had enough maps, wanted to know if I wanted the trailer water tank filled and did about everything but wash the car for me. I popped the same question to him. Yes, he was the owner.

Guess which one of these two individuals I have described is the most apt to succeed.

Better turn up your own personality a little. It can mean a lot to you no matter what walk of life you're in. The best place to start practicing is with children and animals.

Did you ever notice how the eyes of a strange child light up when you give him a pleasant word or did you ever watch an old mongrel wag his tail after you've given him a pat or a just friendly word.

Start practicing and pretty soon it will bet to be a habit. If nothing else comes of it you'll certainly live more harmoniously with your inner self.

More next week from lower Slobovia.

What am I doing out here? Forgot to mention it. I'm making a tour of airfields in Idaho, Utah and Colorado for our aviation paper.

—JACK BROWN

It's The Law!

Joe Independent owned a refrigerated truck and delivered ice cream and milk over a rural route he had built up.

He was an obliging fellow and often accommodated friends and customers by delivering meat or other items that needed to be refrigerated without charge, since such deliveries didn't interfere with his main business.

One day he was hauling two hundred pounds of meat to town for a man on his route when the truck refrigeration unit broke down without any fault on Joe's part. The day was hot and the meat spoiled.

The man who was to receive the meat had already paid for it and he got angry at Joe and demanded that Joe pay him for the meat which had spoiled in the overheated truck.

Do you think Joe can be made to pay for the meat? You'll find it in the Times Journal Classified Ads.

meat which spoiled in his truck?
The answer is that Joe cannot be made to pay. Since he was hauling the meat for free, he would be considered a "gratuitous bailee" under the law. He owed the owner of the meat no duty other than that of not deliberately or maliciously damaging the meat.

Since Joe did not deliberately cause the refrigeration in his truck to break down, or maliciously damage his own refrigeration unit, he could not be forced to pay for the damaged meat. (This column is written to inform, not advise. Facts may change the application of the law.)

"Life and Growth" Mission Begins

A special "life and growth mission" began at Hope Lutheran Church last Sunday evening with a fellowship supper, and will continue through Oct. 26, Pastor Harold E. Aalbu announced today.

Vern Sanders, chairman of the mission, indicated that the program is being conducted to "stimulate spiritual life and growth of the church through prayer, fellowship, visitations and a four-day teaching and preaching session."

A series of three Wednesday evening, hour-long "get acquainted" Cottage Meetings beginning on Sept. 20 will be held for members of the congregation at 16 different areas of the community. The bible-based discussions have been organized by co-chairman Bep Shandrow.

A special visitation will begin on October 15, under the direction of Art. Theimer. All who are interested will be urged to attend the special four-day "preaching and teaching" mission to be conducted at the church from Oct. 22-26. Pastor F. Warren Strain, Trinity Lutheran Church, Vancouver, will conduct the sessions. Rev. Strain, who is trained in the field of counseling, will also be the main speaker for the fellowship dinner.

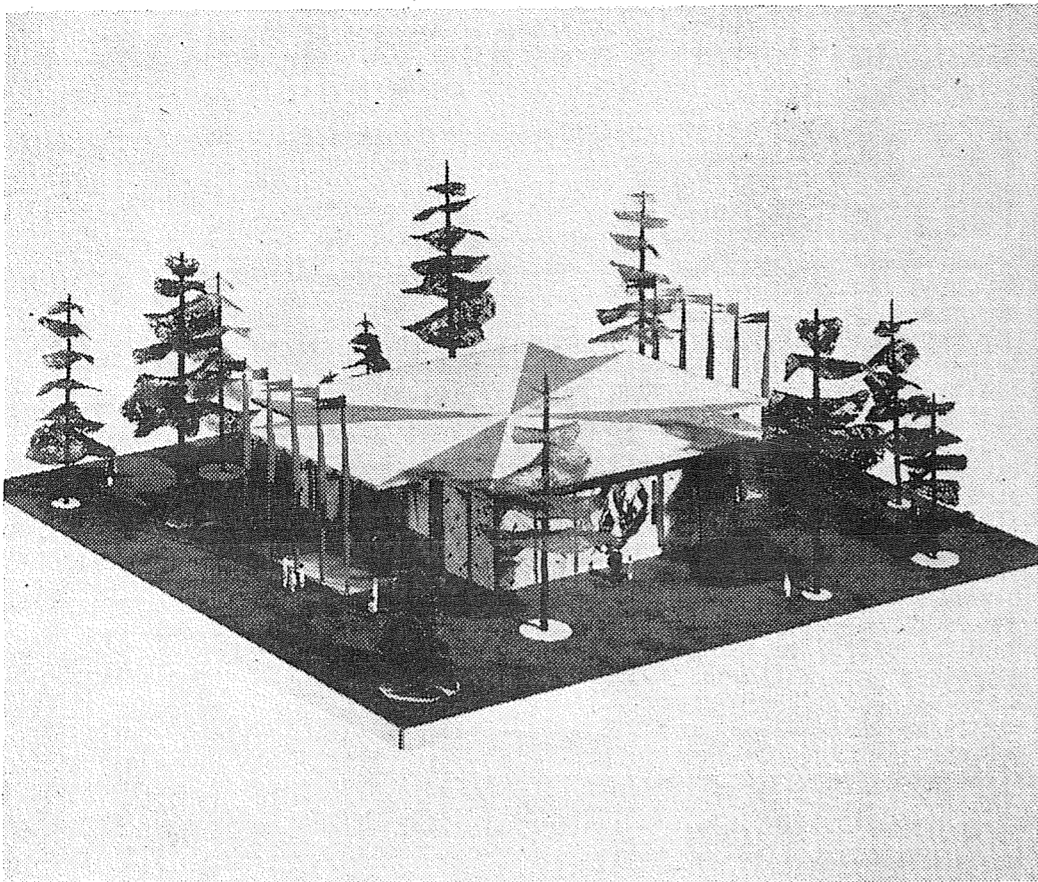

The Life and Growth Mission also includes a prayer vigil to be held at Hope Lutheran from 12:00 noon until midnight on Friday, Oct. 20.

Pack 302 Plans Fall Program

Cub Pack 302 held its monthly meeting September 12th and discussed the highlights and made preparation for its fall and winter programs. One of the new special activities discussed was the participation in a swimming instruction class which will allow boys to take swimming instruction under competent instructors at a heated swimming pool. These classes are to be held on Saturdays. Also discussed were plans for securing new den mothers for the Parkland and Brookdale areas. It is asked that if there are women in this area who are interested in scouting and working with boys to contact the pack committee or cub master of Pack 302. No experience is necessary. Basic training is provided.

Pack 302 can pride itself on being one of the few packs in this area who have carried out a summer program. They have done this for the past 4 years. This past summer three colorful outdoor meetings were held at Spanaway Park. Also the dens in the pack had the opportunity to visit one of the large army transport planes at McChord field.

Any parents having boys aged 8 through 11 years old and interested in joining the Cub Scouts of America are invited to call M/Sgt. Joe Harvie, Cubmaster of Pack 302. LE 1-0972.

Agriculture Produces Great Income

Fifteen and one-half million dollars is quite a chunk of money to add to our economy. That is the gross value of agricultural products produced in 1959 on Pierce county farms. This is 3 1/2 million more than in 1954. The figures come from the U.S. census of agriculture 1959.

The 15 1/2 million dollar gross income includes approximately 5 1/2 million from poultry and poultry products, 4 million each from horticulture and dairy, 1 million from other livestock, and half a million from forest products sold from farms.

I should hasten to emphasize that the 15 1/2 million dollars is a gross income. This means that most of the money is spent to cover production expenses - approximately 10 million dollars. Nearly half a million dollars was spent on gasoline alone.

The agriculture census figures do not include the income earned and spent in the transporting, processing, and selling the finished agricultural product. This amounts to many times the amount received by the farmer. You can easily see the economic importance of Pierce County's 2500 farms to the economy of the area.

Dave Bottemiller, senior end who was all-conference last year, has been showed up with a pulled muscle, but may see action against the Badgers. Tackles will be senior three-year letterman Bill Bates and junior two-year letterman Marv Snell. Norm Juggert and Dick Johnson, two-year lettermen juniors, will be the guards and Al Svith, two-year veteran junior, will be at center.

Co-captain McClary, who set a new school season record in passing last year with 76 completions in 160 attempts for 805 yards, will be the signal caller. Mike Macdonald, a sophomore who lettered at defensive end last year, will be at right halfback; and Brian Wooten, another sophomore from the defensive platoon, will be at left halfback. Keith Shahan, who saw considerable action on offense as a frosh last fall, will start at fullback. The tentative lineup on defense will see Vigeland and Phil Pruski at ends. Pruski is a 6-2, 225 pound transfer from the College of San Mateo. Snell and sophomore Dave Sovde will be the tackles. Sovde, a 6-5, 225 pound sophomore, lettered as a reserve center last year; Guards will be Johnson and senior co-captain John Mades.

Dave Olson, an all-state high school grinder from North Salem (Ore.) is the sole frosh to be named for a starting role. He will be paired with sophomore Kevin Thomas in the linebacking spots. At the halves will be Bob Brod-hun, sophomore who lettered as a reserve last fall, and Wooten. Garry Nevers, speedy junior and two-year veteran, will be at safety. Nevers understudies McClary at quarterback and will do the punting. Jack Cocchi, one-year letterman senior, who was a starter at defensive half, dislocated his left elbow in scrimmage last week. He may be available for use Saturday.

ODDS and ENDS -- Gary Vestal, senior who lettered at end as a frosh and was sidelined by injuries midway in his sophomore season, is out this fall and should see action. He played his high school ball at North Salem.... Dick Johnson, PLU starting guard, married his college sweetheart, Judy Hoddevik, in Seattle last Friday night...

Be brave about going back to school. Remember, you won't just be coping with the 3 "R's"; you'll be keeping up with the 3 "D's": dating, dancing and doings. Be prepared for all three by singing the "BIRTHDAY BLUES," the newest, happiest way to look for a party, as introduced by SEVENTEEN Magazine in the jubilee seventeenth birthday issue this September... For more fun, get ready to dig the teen scene from coast-to-coast... In LOS ANGELES, bongo drums are out, but the "hoots" (glorified folk-singing parties) are in... In DENVER, teens make the coffee-house scene; give "Bermuda Brunches" (you wear shorts, eat pancakes)... MILWAUKEE teens date on smell fishing parties in the spring when the smelt begin to run... And the PHILADELPHIA story is poetry parties where you write it, we act it out... In this citadel of patriotism the most popular dances are the "slop" and the "pony"... Another September song for whistling while you work or play is "THE MAGIC AGE IS SEVENTEEN," a new ballad written for SEVENTEEN by JULE STYNE ("Gypsy,"

Restivo Lollobrigida Allen
"Bells Are Ringing") and recorded by teen-aged JOHNNY RESTIVO... Speaking of this ninth month, which in Latin means the seventh month, this is the time to go see "Come September," a humorous Italian "travelogue" starring ROCK HUDSON, GINA LOLLOBRIGIDA, BOBBY DARIN and SANDRA DEE... We predict you'll like it... More predictions: STEVE ALLEN feels that the next 17 years will see more emphasis on educational TV—"Our nation's survival may depend on it," HELENA RUBENSTEIN predicts that within 17 years appearance pills will make figure control and hair coloring as simple as a swallow... But you won't have to wait 17 years to enjoy TROY ("Parrish") DONAHUE in his next movie, "Susan Slade," co-starring CONNIE STEVENS.

Parkland PTA meets Sept. 26 at 8 p.m. in the Parkland school auditorium. Mrs. N.A. Riggio is presiding officer. Paul Larson, principal, will introduce the teachers. Mrs. J.
