Summertime Head Start Program

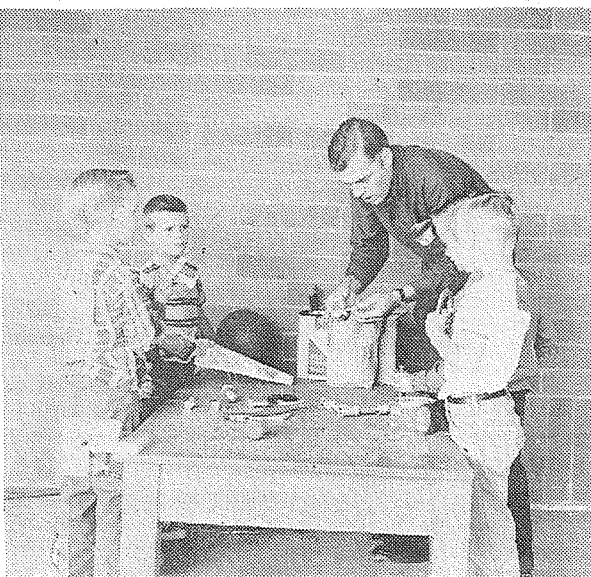

For the past several years all over the nation summertime is Head Start Time.

Youngsters who need help to overcome the advantages others have, are given a preliminary of what school will be like. Using simple childhood devices the kids are taught social skills from the simplest, like cooperation, to more complicated mechanical skills like personal hygiene.

This year the Bethel School District is operating its Head Start Program at Thompson Elementary School at 159th and East "B." These photos were taken during the regular program day and are a small slice of what a day at Head Start is like. In each picture there is some of the warmth shown by the staff and the eagerness shown by the students as they get a start on school for next year.

Mrs. Odsather plays catch with Melissa while Billie plays ball by herself and Kari, Sheri, Debbie, Kelly and others jump rope.

Mr. Cooke hands tools to four beginning builders.

Greatest Freedom In the World

Freedom is something that most of us would be willing to fight to protect. In fact, Americans have been called on to risk their lives in defense of freedom on many occasions.

But what is freedom? It has different meanings to different people.

For example, there is the young man, a student at Oakland University, near Detroit, who hit the headlines recently by taking off his clothes while he read poems and talked to a class of about 50 students of both sexes, discussing poetry and life.

He took an apple and started talking about Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden.

Explaining his action, he said, "If I am naked and I am not ashamed, then I am free."

Freedom From What?

He did not explain what he was free from. Clothing, obviously, but what else? Good judgment? Common sense? An understanding of what is expected of decent and respectable people?

Yes, he was free from something—but his action indicates that he is a prisoner of some false and peculiar notions of what life is really all about.

Another comment on freedom was made, not long ago, by Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine. Sen. Muskie said, "A man who's poor isn't free. A man who is ignorant isn't free. A man who can't send his children to a good school isn't free."

Now, nobody is going to say that it is desirable to be poor, or ignorant, or unable to send one's children to a good school. But to equate this with freedom indicates a lack of a clear comprehension of the meaning of freedom.

Sam Levenson, well-known comedian and author, says of his childhood circumstances, "We were independently poor."

If anybody undertook to tell him that the Levenson family wasn't free — because it was poor—he would laugh at the idea.

"Glorious Liberty"

Another example: the apostle Paul was poor, sometimes lacking adequate food and clothing. But was he not free?

In truth, Paul was free in a sense not comprehended by many of his contemporaries and certainly not understood by many today.

Paul spoke of the "glorious liberty of the children of God." He experienced this most important freedom.

Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

There is a freedom from sin, a freedom from guilt, a freedom to have fellowship with God which Paul had, in spite of his poverty in terms of this world's goods.

This freedom you, too, can have by taking the way of Christ, as Paul did.

And this is the greatest freedom in the world.

The firemen attended classes which emphasized responsibility for arson detection, defensive driving and fire-fighting tactics. In addition members of the Conference were invited to demonstrate their skills in a series of competitive drills. Fire-fighting equipment on display included some antique items from the Washington State Fire Service Historical Museum in Seattle.

THE DUANE JOHNSTON family received a jolt recently when this 1956 Buick piloted by Clarence L. Hartwell of the Job Corps Center at Randall slammed into the front porch. Hartwell and a passenger, 18-year-old Robert Bredeson, of 722 So. 53rd St. were taken to Lakewood General Hospital with injuries ranging from lacerations to broken legs. WOMEN'S WORLD

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

The Widow Next Door

Dear Miss Brookfield:

We have a childless and recently widowed neighbor who is quite attractive. And so is my husband. About six months ago, she had some trouble with her window sash and asked him to repair it. Well, he did, and since then I get the impression that her house is about to collapse around her ears. Every week she asks my husband over to change a washer or a fuse or something else. At first he was back inside of a half hour. Now the jobs seem to be getting more complicated and I'm getting suspicious. I told my husband and he admitted he's fed up with this widow's repair problems but doesn't know how to say no. What do you suggest?

B. G., Doylestown, Pa.
Dear B.G.:

Maybe your husband can't say no, but you can. When your neighbor calls again, tell her he's busy and recommend a good handyman. If that doesn't work, next time she traps your husband into fixing the washer or whatever, phone him at her house and tell him to come home immediately because you've blown a fuse.

Employment Problem

Dear Miss Brookfield:

You recently advised a woman who wanted to return to work to feel confident because employers favor the mature. Well, I have tried to find work but it seems that younger women are preferred. I graduated from several home study courses, as you can see by the enclosed resume. But today it is not what you know, but who you know.

R.L., Cranston, R.I.

Dear R.L.:

Keep trying. But before you do, throw away that resume and prepare a better one. It's packed with irrelevant details such as the town you were born in. Concentrate on what's important: your valuable skills and occupational background. Your resume reads like that of a jack-of-all-trades. For example: if you are an excellent switchboard operator it seems rather pointless to submit a resume stressing your photography skills. This skill is important if you are applying for a job as a photographer or, say, a receptionist or switchboard operator in a photography studio.

A Nose by any Other Name

Dear Miss Brookfield:

I have, shall we say, a prominent nose. Lately my husband keeps urging me to undergo plastic surgery. I have refused repeatedly. I think he is being silly. After all I had this nose when he proposed. Any suggestions for making him drop this subject?

E.B., Corpus Christi, Tex.
Dear E.B.:

Yes, several. You might do a little investigating and then advise him how much money the surgery will take out of his wallet. If that doesn't deter him, start urging him to undergo plastic surgery for cosmetic reasons himself. Is he losing his hair? Begin a lot of toupee talk. Eventually, he'll probably drop the subject.

Have you a problem as a mature woman, or with one? For advice and help write to Margaret Brookfield, Information Center on the Mature Woman, 3 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Stargazers Popular With Mature Women

By Alison Goddard

New York (MW) — The booming popularity of fortune-telling is being boosted by mature women flocking to astrologers to find out what the stars have in store for them.

A survey of astrologers and practitioners of such occult arts as palmistry and numerology reveals that many women over 40 consult them. Usually these women seek help or predictions about marital difficulties, problems with children, or advice about careers and health.

Numerologist Perry Robinson says that most of his clients are women over 40. "Most of them are interested in love. Many of them are divorced. They want to know if they will get married again."

Careers and Fun

On the other hand, the mature women who seek the services of Phyllis Woodbury are less interested in romance than a weekly paycheck. "Mature women are asking one question of me: 'What can I do now that I have raised my family?'"

Mrs. Woodbury practices astrology, numerology, graphology, phrenology and palmistry. She encourages women in their career quest. "After analyzing their names and handwriting I say if they want to go into any specific field it's never too late, because the brain is never asleep. Maybe society is, but never the brain."

Many mature women admit that they consulted stargazers because they were prompted by "curiosity." Zolar, a prosperous New York astrologer, concurs. He estimates that "about 80 per cent of the people interested in astrology these days do it mainly for the fun of it."

Astrologer Elizabeth Martell is convinced, however, that the ego plays a role in horoscope readings: "All people want to hear about themselves, what their wishes are, where they're going and what's in store for them," she said.

Current Popularity

The seeming paradox of occult arts — including witchcraft, which is popular with many disaffected, young adults — flourishing in a scientific age, has been explained by many authorities. Looking back at history (instead of up at the stars) they point out that occultism has always bloomed in times of confusion and uncertainty.

Whatever the reasons, no one doubts the phenomenal popularity of astrology at present. There are the daily guides and zodiac news published in newspapers and women's magazines; astrology cookbooks and cosmetic guides, and zodiac signs are beginning to embellish everything from writing paper to children's clothing. Across the country, de-

Cheerleaders School

There are still opportunities for cheerleaders from throughout Washington to register for the Great Northwest Cheerleading Conference being hosted July 13-18 at the University of Puget Sound.

Sponsoring the workshop, offering cheerleaders the opportunity to learn the latest techniques for promoting school spirit, will be the International Cheerleading Foundation.

Barbi Lewis, a coed from Lynden, Wash., selected from nearly 8,000 cheerleaders who participated in cheerleading clinics sponsored nationwide last year by ICF, will be an instructor at the workshop. Other instructors, trained personally by Randy Neil, founder and director of the organization, will include Marty Sewell and Rosie Shiroma, former pepsters at the University of California, Los Angeles; Mary Lou Powers, formerly a cheerleader at Central Missouri State College; and Lonnie Billard, clinics secretary.

This year's workshop — the second annual ICF workshop to be hosted by UPS — is approved by the Leadership Committee of the Washington State Principals' Association as a pilot program to determine the feasibility of expanding the workshop program to other sections of the state.

partment stores are mounting astrological promotions while astrologers are being hired for charity balls and benefits.

The mounting demand for horoscopes has swollen the ranks of stargazers. At present there are about 10,000 full-time and 175,000 part-time astrologers in the United States. To take up the slack, one company has put a computer to work turning out 10,000 individual readings every two minutes.

Questions Asked

For the more affluent client, astrologers render personal services for an annual retainer. This service includes the right to wake up the astrologer in the middle of the night for help or predictions. One actor called his astrologer, Carroll Righter, in the middle of the night, from Hong Kong, to find out when his twisted ankle would heal. Mr. Righter, is the best-known and most successful astrologer in this country.

Health is also a question on the minds of women who consult the practitioners of these ancient arts. One woman of 50 consulted a palmist to ask about her lifeline. "I wasn't feeling too good. She didn't say anything about my health but told me to see a gynecologist."

Women who do not believe in Shakespeare's words that "The fault lies not in our stars but in ourselves..." and consult an astrologer, must be prepared to furnish not only the time but date of birth. As astrologer Elizabeth Martell points out: "Astrologers are really the only ones who know a woman's age."

Pomona Grange Salutes Parklandite

For the month of June, Pomona Grange of Pierce County is very proud to salute a Gold Sheaf member, which in itself speaks for the many hours of time put into the Grange work of Annie Brandt, who with her late husband Jacob, signed the Charter member list of Roy Grange May 16th, 1919.

Most outstanding was their faithfulness, thie punctuality, and their loyalty to their Grange and to the Pierce County Pomona Grange. A tribute to Jacob is also a tribute to Annie, the loyal help mate and life companion of a man who unwaveringly to his last days championed the principals of the Grange.

The Brandts were early officers in their Grange, Jacob was overseer in 1919, 20 and 1921. In 1926 and 27 Annie served as Juvenile Matron, and throughout the years graced the Court of Pomona, Ceres and Flora.

But to find her in her most glorious element: where do we find her? A marvelous cook, and most hospitable neighbor, her responsibilities as a home maker came early in life. Her mother passed away when Annie was only eleven, whereupon she assumed the task of being a mother to three sisters and a brother. All younger than she.

Upon retiring from the dairy farm the Brandts moved to Parkland, and still interested in Grange work, demitted to James Sales Grange, in 1947.

The years have been kind to Annie and at the age of 86, she is still an active member, having both the time and energy in the kitchen. She has acted as Chaplain a number of years, and also as Pomona and Flora, in these later years.

Seldom a work day went by that she didn't bring apple pie, stew or other good food. She literally made hundreds of Swedish meat balls for dinners, smorgsboards, both for Grange and her church.

She also made many aprons, pillow cases etc. for the bazaars.

Patrol To Check Road Rest Areas

The Washington State Patrol has begun a policy of periodically checking all rest areas on Interstate highways to prevent vandalism, loitering and other abuses of the facilities.

The policy, issued by Assistant Patrol Chief, Colonel O. C. Furseth, is intended to safeguard the rest stops built by the State Highways Department and to insure the safety of motorists using them and to apprehend lawbreakers.

"We can be proud of the beautiful rest areas built by the State Highways Department," Colonel Furseth said, "and the State Patrol feels that they are a definite safety factor in relieving driver fatigue. The Patrol wants to do its share in protecting these rest stops from vandals and in protecting motorists who use them from possible physical harm."

Patrolmen making these periodic checks will not the condition of the rest area. If any vandalism or other damage to the facility has occurred, the Patrol will notify the State Highways Department district maintenance engineer so immediate repairs can be made.

This cooperation between the Highway Department and the State Patrol is expected to reduce the possibility of damage to the rest areas and keep them in the best possible condition for the safety and pleasure of the motorists.

"Campers will no longer need handle pennies in Washington State Parks", announced Richard S. Huebner, Parks' Assistant Director in charge of field operations. "Effective Monday, June 2nd, the charge for occupying a trailer site will be $2.25 U.S. currency and $175 for campsites. Further, in order to keep the pennies out of the Canadian change, the present 10 percent discount will be carried through the summer and will be rounded off so that the payment in Canadian currency will be $2.50 per trailer site and $2.00 per campsite. All prices include State sales tax."

THE NEW PRESIDENT of Pacific Lutheran University visited with Senator Henry M. Jackson in Washington, D.C., this week. Dr. Eugene Wiegman, right, will assume the role of head of the Tacoma institution August 1. He is presently Dean of Community Education at The Federal City College in Washington, D.C. Wiegman was selected from 56 candidates to succeed Dr. Robert A. L. Mortvedt at Pacific Lutheran. Jackson welcomed the Indianan to his Northwest assignment and told him of Pacific Lutheran's strong influence on Washington education over the years.

New Guides For Modern Brides

Organizing a new household today is actually a study in logistics. Today's bride must know the answers to a score of modern homemaking questions that her mother was never really aware of. What colors or design should I choose in towels, shower curtains, bedspreads and blankets? How many pillowcases will I need. How should the pattern of my sheets coordinate with the rest of my linens?

The "linen trousseau" questions most often asked by brides-to-be were recently researched by the makers of the Fieldcrest bed and bath linens, and here are some of the answers, pointers that are important to every new homemaker.

Did you know, for example, that you should stock 3 pillowcases per pillow? And four of each size towel - bath and hand - plus four washcloths are considered a minimum per person. A half-dozen fingertip towels are basic for guest use. You should plan on having 6 sheets and 2 mattress pads per bed. Each bed ought to have a minimum of one bedspread for summer and one for winter.

When decorators finally realized that people spend one-third of their lives in their bedrooms and baths, suddenly these rooms began to reflect the fashion tastes and personalities of the occupants. The bed took on king-and-queen-size elegance, and so did the bedding. Bath linens have been transformed from the all-white of Grandma's hope chest days to opulent decorator items in bright patterns and accent colors. For the bride-to-be this means that stocking the linen closet also requires a lot more knowledge of color values than before.

For example, we all know that red goes with white, but a third color, like a deep verdian green can create a striking accent that adds a new sophistication. Similarly, you might try combining black and brown shades with either the palest lemon yellow or a desert pink. Another important factor is the cool vs. the warm colors. Get to know them, say the decorating experts, as they can psychologically affect your rooms. Pinks and oranges can create a warm bedroom; blue and green towels can help give a cool look to the bathroom. With the enormous color selection available in bed and bath furnishings today - in both solids and patterns - you can match them up right at the counter to suit your own artistic imagination.

And here's an ingenious suggestion for providing an easy way to recognize the sheet size you need when it's folded in the linen closet.

Parkland Moose To Hold Aloha Dance

Junior Past Governor Robert Kennedy of Parkland Moose Lodge 1814 will be honored at the Loyal Order of Moose Aloha Dance which will be held on July 19th. Mr. Kennedy the inaugural Governor of this areas first Moose Lodge advocates Fraternal Force is an absolute necessity in all communities.

The Loyal Order of Moose, says Kennedy, weaves the desired goal of individual and group patterns of happiness, peace and tranquility so necessary for closer relationship of neighbors and friends and contributes to the progress of the community and adds to the joy of everyday living.

A full schedule of activities surrounding the Parkland Community has been placed on the Moose Calendar by Governor Jack Bjork which strives to include the principles of comradeship and personal isolation, but rather, offer their personal services as individuals and a group in bringing the fulfillment of all citizens in attaining the highest economic goals for their community. Governor Bjork has also scheduled the next regular meeting of Parkland Moose Lodge for 8 p.m. July 2nd at Midland Hall where these principles will be expounded.

Fieldcrest calls it "color-coding" your items. If you use pastels for all your fitted bottom sheets, floral patterns for all double-size top sheets and a classic stripe for all single top sheets, one glance will tell which sheet belongs where. Today, of course, you can get all these different patterns in coordinated colors that insure decorator-matched sets.

Now here are some tips to the bride on the care of her linens. All deep tone sheets should be laundered separately the first six times or until all the excess dye has been eliminated. That loss of dye does not mean that your linens are fading. An excess of dye is unavoidable in the dyeing process. Another pointer: when fabric softeners are used excessively, they tend to make towels incapable of absorption. For best results, use softeners occasionally, but not every time you launder. And terry towels are made to be fluff-dried, not ironed.

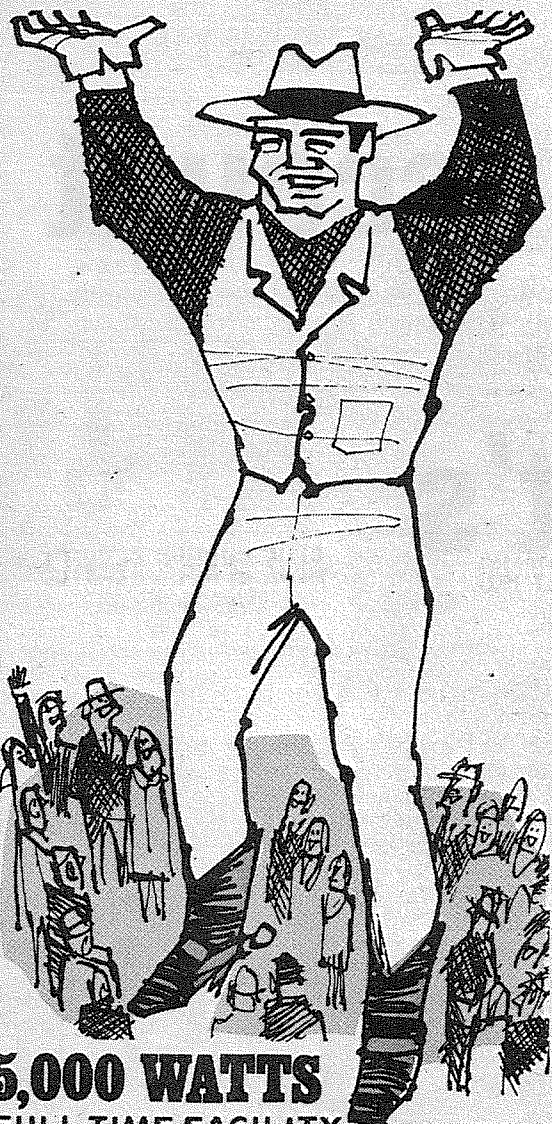

When bleaching, be sure to use as directed. Over-bleaching will weaken the fabric and dull the colors. When you launder permanent press sheets, enzyme pre-soaking can help remove difficult stains. Then just launder, using the wash-and-wear cycle of your automatic washer.

Continental Grand Prix
At Seattle International

SEATTLE, Wash. (SIR) — Tony Adamowicz, acclaimed last year as "the most promising young road racer in the United States," became the first official entry today for the July 5-6 Continental Grand Prix at Seattle International Raceway.

The surprise sensation of the 1968 Trans-American sedan series Adamowicz, 27, figures to encounter his toughest test to date in the $22,950 Continental GP, scheduled to go 50 laps over the tricky nine-turn SIR circuit in Kent.

At least 20 other nationally known Formula A pilots are expected to be on hand for the first-ever Continental event staged in the Northwest and anticipating a major battle, Adamowicz plans to spend an entire week testing at SIR prior to the big race.

"I'll arrive in Seattle on the Monday prior to the race and if things go as anticipated," Adamowicz explained, "I should be pretty well prepared by race time."

For the sleek formula machines, SIR will be the fifth stop of a 13-race coast-to-coast tour. Formula A cars are a cross between European Grand Prix racers and Indianapolis cars, equally as fast as both.

After three races, the youthful appearing Adamowicz is tied for fifth spot ahead of many of the nation's top throttle-jockeys.

A resident of Wilton, Conn., Adamowicz will be at the wheel of a Dan Gurney built Eagle powered by a Chevrolet engine. Marvin Davidson, New York investment banker, owns the car.

Last year, Adamowicz swept to the U.S. manufacturer's crown for Porsche during the Trans'Am series and in so doing earned the Tim Mayer award, given annually to the top young road racer in America.

He captured the honor by winning six class championships in 11 races he entered on the Trans'Am circuit.

In his Continental debut a month back, Adamowicz placed a strong third at Riverside behind veterans John Cannon and Lothar Motschenbacher. Cannon, incidentally, blasted Dan Gurney's Riverside record en route to the win-a-mark.

Gurney established in his Indianapolis Eagle last November while winning the Rex Mays 300.

Since the Riverside Continental opener, Adamowicz has been plagued by engine failures.

"I think we've got all the bugs worked out now," he revealed, "and at Seattle International I'm confident we'll be in the thick of things."

Adamowicz became interested in racing shortly after his enlistment in the Air Force expired. A communications technician, he served in the White Hot "hot line" room under Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson, working in daily contact with them.

Tickets for the Continental Grand Prix are currently on sale at Seattle International Raceway in Kent. Ducats are priced at $5, with free infield parking available with all advanced ticket purchases.

Ellensburg 1970
AA Wrestling Site

ELLENSBURG — The Washington Interscholastic Activities Association has notified CWSC Athletic Director Adrian Beamer that the Ellensburg school will be the site for the 1970 Washington State AA high school wrestling tournament.

The WIAA Board of Control announced dates for the tournament as February 27-28, 1970.

"CAUTION LOW FLYING AIRPLANES" reads two signs on 208th street East where it crosses the end of the Shady Acres Airport, and they mean just that, as the above depicts. Many local residents who pass the end of the runway daily and never see a plane are wont to think that the signs have been put up just to publicize the airport. Nothing can be further from the truth. The signs have been put up to prevent an accident between a car and airplane ever occurring. Shady Acres resident who fly are constantly alert for cars when landing on the runway but it does shake them up to see a multitude of cars whiz past the signs daily without ever so much as a look to see if a plane is on final for the airport. They have asked the Times Journal to remind residents of the area that planes do use the Shady Acres airport and to implore that you drive with care when passing the end of the runway, the same as you would when crossing a railroad track.

Parent Education Services Offered

By Constance Meyer
Consumer education plus parent education: that's the new lineup for Extension programs for Pierce County women's groups.

Parent education is a new offering says Miss Connie Meyer, county Extension agent. The program topics are Growth and Development of the Pre-School Child and Sex and Family Life Education and the Public Schools.

Other new programs for women's groups are Advertising and Consumer Decision Making, Good Buymanship in Fruits and Vegetables, Fabric Performance - A Consumer's Eye View, New Laundry Products and Appliances, Making Decisions, Communications Generation Gap.

Miss Meyer said the programs were developed for the county Extension service by faculty members at Washington State University and are available without charge to all women's groups in the county.

She added that most groups had received information about the series. However, club presidents who were not contacted may write her for more details. The address is 742 County-City Building, Tacoma 98402.

A series of similar programs was presented during the past year. Miss Meyer said that over thirty clubs participated.

County 4-H Tour

Twenty-six Pierce County 4-H dairy project members and leaders participated Tuesday, June 17, in Phase I of a Dairy Careers Program. The group toured the Darigold Dairy Processing plant at Issaquah, and Carnation Milk Farms, Carnation.

The Careers Tour, conceived and arranged by County Agent Eddie Thomason, is for the purpose of showing 4-H dairy project members some of the many segments of the dairy industry not related to farm milk production. "After all," says Thomason, "we know we can't keep 'em all down on the farm. The dairy industry is one of our most important industries, and there is a shortage of qualified personnel. Many of our 4-H dairy members don't realize the scope of dairy-related opportunities available, especially in the manufacturing end of the business."

At the Darigold plant tour participants learned about the various techniques involved in the production of dried skim milk powder, cottage cheese, ice cream mix, butter and yogurt.

The Carnation Milk Farm tour, always a hit with visitors, provided an opportunity to see and hear about calf raising, production testing, foreign cattle sales, artificial insemination service, and feeds research.

Those attending the tour were: Eunice, Lynette, and Alice Overland, Puyallup; Don, Ken, and Ron Hobbs, John and Judy Swetz, Kurt Hartley, Paul Fronia, Mike Schuller, and Mrs. Royce Woodward, all from the Graham area; Patty, Tim, and Barbara Evans, Yvonne Crask, Diane Greco, Barney Harkins, Parkland area; Mrs. Henry Haugen, Ray William, Steve and Stacy Erwin, Buckley-Enumclaw area; and Elmer Larson, Jeanne Larson, Terry Swain and Mark Swain, Roy-Yelm area.

Phase II of the program will be conducted later in the year.

State Highways Prepare For July 4

Motorists planning to drive through Washington State's Cascade Mountain Passes during the Fourth of July weekend are urged to "Keep Your Cool" to avoid accidents.

The Washington State Highways Department and the Washington State Patrol are devising methods for alleviating traffic congestion on Washington State highways, particularly over the Fourth of July weekend.

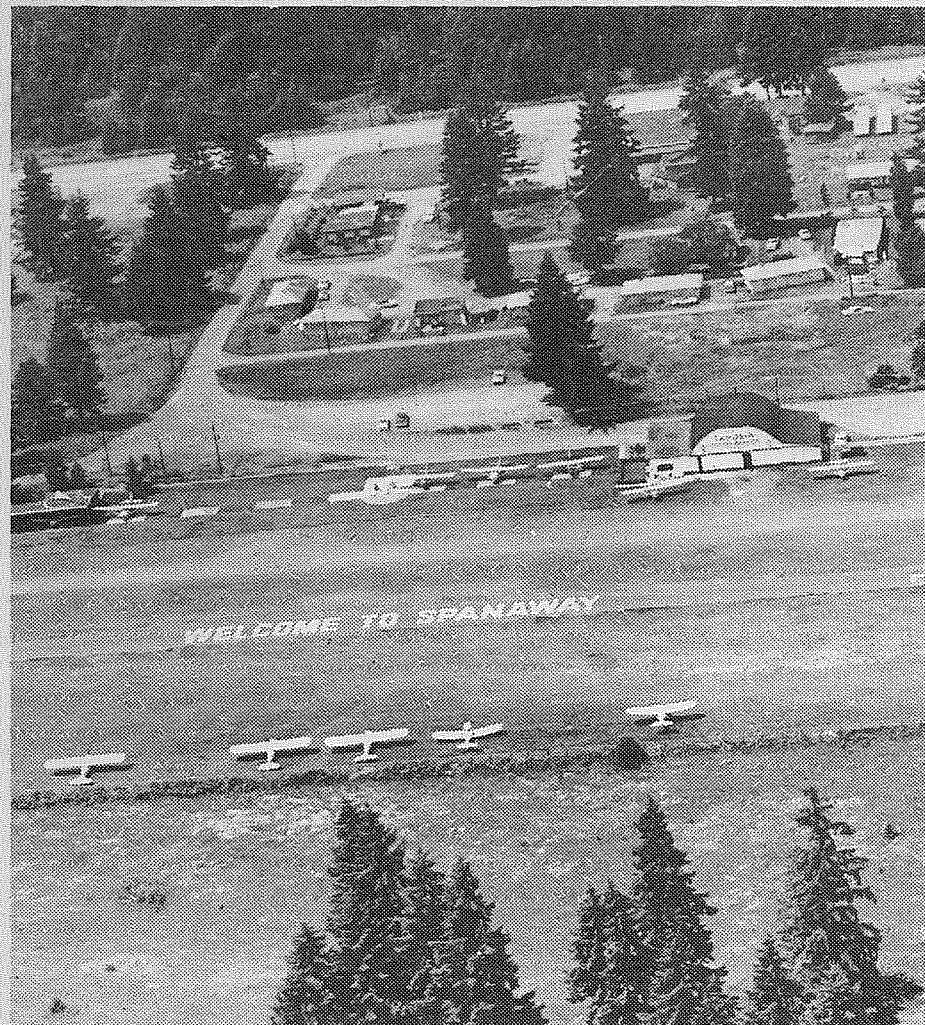

The Washington State Highways Department announced today (June 17) that a two-mile section of Interstate 90 on Snoqualmie Pass will be extended from two lanes to four lanes to facilitate the heavy flow of motor vehicles. This will occur only during the Fourth of July weekend. In addition, steps are being taken to keep traffic moving smoothly through the city of North Bend.

The $4-million Snoqualmie

Pass construction project awarded May 23, 1968, calls for four new lanes of highway to be completed in time for September's Labor Day weekend driving.

Special funds have been allocated to re-open the two westbound lanes on Interstate 90 from Hyak to the Denny Creek Road at the summit of Snoqualmie Pass, and to cover the cost of maintaining the sections of unpaved, gravel roadway. The contractor will maintain the gravel lanes from Thursday noon, July 3 through Sunday evening, July 6. The roadway will revert back to two lanes on Monday, July 7 to permit the contractor to meet construction deadlines.

Getting away early and traveling alternate routes — Chinook Pass (Highway 410), White Pass (Highway 12) and the Columbia River Gorge — will help avoid traffic congestion, especially during the critical period from about 3 p.m. Thursday, July 3 to Sunday evening, July 6 when great numbers of automobiles towing trailers and boats, and campers and other vehicles will move through the passes.

Lion Of Year

Earl Hardie, Spanaway, was named Spanaway Lions Club "Lion of the Year" Friday night during the club's charter ball banquet at the Firs.
