Babe Ruth Booster Club Trustees Schedule Public Meet April 22nd

The Board of Trustees of the Parkland Babe Ruth Booster Club has announced that a public meeting will be held at the James Sales Grange on April 22nd at 7:30 p.m. The Hall is located on 113th and Park Ave.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss plans for the coming baseball season. Last year the local group sponsored four teams in the County League which provided an opportunity for boys between the ages of 9 and 15 to play in the organized program. This year plans are being made to sponsor an additional team and possibly a girls softball entry. Consideration will also be given to a proposal to change the name of the non-profit corporation due to the decision of the county parks to drop Babe Ruth in favor of an entry in the Colt League.

The agenda will also include the election of a new member to the Board of Trustees which has been made necessary by the resignation of Robert Tomberg who is moving to Bellevue, Wash.

Final plans for the group to again operate a fireworks stand at the Summit Thriftway Store will be considered. Last year the Booster Club raised over $900 in this manner which was used for youth activities in this area.

Treasurer Wes Templin has which will show how the promised a financial report Booster Club raised and spent $2200 since the corporation was formed last May.

The public is cordially invited to attend and take part in the discussion. Membership is open to anyone in the Parkland area who has an interest in youth activities. Dues are $1 annually.

Changes In Swine Care

Olympia — Three revised regulations dealing with the vaccination and movement of swine were promulgated today by State Director of Agriculture, Joe Dwyer. The changes were adopted following a public hearing March 26. They become effective May 1, 1963.

Dwyer said the changes bring state regulations into conformity with new federal requirements for the interstate movement of swine. The new federal regulations went into effect April 1.

The new state regulations establish approved methods of vaccination and set up requirements for the importation of hogs into this state. They initiate a federal-state cooperative program looking to the eventual eradication of this state of hog cholera, the most costly disease of swine. The program here will be supervised by the newly-created Washington State Hog Cholera Eradication Committee, representing various segments of the swine industry.

Republican Club Has New Location

with Jack Brown

I think this should be declared national "Kid Jack Brown" week, for I've taken a lot of joshing from people who say they can hardly wait for the next episode of the trials and tribulations in the lives of Jack Brown and his three sons. At least I don't think I've completely lost my sense of humor for I've got a kick out of the friendly remarks. If nothing else, some of you have at least proved to me that you do read this jazz.

I kinda hated to spill the beans last week and spoil things for the local gossipers who were having such a ball with my private life, but they should take cheer in the fact that someone else in the community is bound to have personal problems soon that they can stick their noses into before they get out of practice.

I still think America is the greatest though, and once in a while I come up with an episode to prove my point. The other day I landed at Boise with one sick employee on board (female type, in case you're wondering). She was apparently coming down with the flu.

We taxied up to the motel at Bradley Airpark and I told the operator what my problem was. Word spread around that I had a sick girl on the plane and talk about unsolicited help. The motel manager got a room ready for her right away and his wife helped her to bed. In a matter of minutes we had thermometers, hot soup, Seven Up, extra blankets and everything needed to make her comfortable.

Between the attentions of the motel manager's wife and my number one son, I think she got better care than she could have received at any of the nation's leading hospitals.

One fellow who works on the field jumped in his car and made the rounds of Boise drug stores looking for a particular remedy that he knew to be good, and another called his family physician. The doctor put in an appearance in record time and soon, with a few shots in the well known spot, our girl Friday started on the road to recovery.

I think the thing that impressed me the most was the amount of interest shown by people none of us had ever met before. It seems there was a steady stream of people dropping by the motel until the wee hours just to see how she was getting along. The motel manager and his wife couldn't have shown more concern had it been their own daughter.

The next day she was well enough to pour into the back seat of the plane and head for home. When we got ready to leave you'd have thought I was flying off with Doris Day, from the amount of people standing around to help load baggage and gal.

Like I say, America is the greatest!

Just to get in the old plug for aviation and still trying to get some more of you off the ground, take this into consideration. Exactly two hours and eighteen minutes from the time I tucked up the gear on the Mooney in Boise I was back on the ground at Spanaway, and it took just 24 gallons of av gas to top off the tanks to a tune of $9.60. Try that for time or cost in your family flivver.

Just to get in my ounce of acid for the week, here's a little item that may interest some of you, especially those of you in business, who, like myself, have just gone thru the annual income tax nightmare.

We have been figuring out our federal income tax under new rules that apply to transportation, lodging, meals and entertainment costs. And remember, there is no exemption allowed us for productive time lost in daily bookkeeping.

It doesn't set well with me to discover the loose manner in which congressmen are permitted to list their expenses for travel on junkets around the world, for which tax money pays. Instead of an itemized statement they turn in a report that reads, for instance, lodging $400, meals $800, transportation $500, miscellaneous $300. No details are required about who, when or how they fed a guest, whether the cost for entertainment, transportation and lodging pertained to government business, etc.

Why shouldn't a congressman be required to fill out in detail the same kind of an expense account as you or I, before he turns it in to the government for payment? After all it is public money he is spending and that should be more carefully accounted for than personal income.

If the government is really trying to plug tax-loopholes, why not include the public officials who travel at our expense? In other words, let government set a good example for a change.

On Baptist Honor Roll Honor Court Held For Summit Boys

Valley Forge, Pa. — Fred Ganders, of Tacoma and Franklin Pierce High School has been named to the 1963 American Baptist National Scholarship Honor Roll, according to announcement on April 1, by Dr. Warren Mild, director of educational services for the American Baptist Board of Education and Publication. He will be presented a Certificate of Recognition in behalf of the American Baptist Convention by the Rev. Allen Hull, Jr., pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church.

He is one of the one hundred and fifty students who have been selected for the 1963 Honor Roll. To these students will go scholarship aid totaling $62,500.

Dr. Mild stated, "Increased funds have made it possible for us to offer scholarship aid ranging from $100 to $1000 to every Honor Roll Scholar whose family finances indicate sufficient financial need and who is planning to attend a school with an American Baptist campus ministry." Honor Roll students will use their scholarship aid at one of the 32 American Baptist-related colleges or one of the 149 public and independent colleges where there is an American Baptist ministry to students.

Last October 1140 American Baptist young people were nominated by their churches to compete in the National Scholarship Program. Selection of 150 for the Honor Roll was based on scholastic ability and achievement, personality and Christian commitment, leadership and service potential.

Fred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robley Ganders of 11321 East D St. He is a Senior at the Franklin Pierce High School.

Recognizing the importance of the Cowlitz River fisheries resource, Tacoma City Light has made extensive efforts to protect and assist the Cowlitz fish ever since the first serious proposals were presented to harness the horsepower in the river.

Approximately $4,000,000 has been invested by Tacoma in the construction of a unique system to successfully carry fish up, around and back again to pass Mayfield Dam. The investment in fish protection facilities for Mossyrock Dam cannot be accurately estimated since the project's design is incomplete. It is anticipated that they, too, will cost millions of dollars.

Fish swimming upstream are prevented from moving to Mayfield Dam by a fish barrier which has been erected across the Cowlitz in front of the powerhouse. Gradually, the migrants make their way upstream to the face of the powerhouse. They swim into fish entrances and move up a 24-foot ladder or "stair way" then proceed into two retaining pools.

Once there are sufficient fish in a pool, the gate is opened to the "Cowlitz cable car" and the migrants move inside. The specially-designed "cable car," operating on a tramway, is pulled up 228 feet to the top of the cliff above the powerhouse. Here, a trap door is opened and the fish are released into a long flume or pipe. The salmon, steelhead, trout and other species are then conveyed up this flume into Mayfield Lake. Then they swim to the spawning grounds upstream. A "Venetian blind" or louver system has been constructed to safeguard the passage of tiny fingerlings headed around the louvers of aluminum "Venetian blinds" suspended in a V-shaped fashion. The tiny fish slowly guide their way along the aluminum slats and slip into a flume carrying them down past the dam and back into the Cowlitz River again.

Instinctively, the small fish swim with the current maintaining direction by pointing upstream and guiding around obstacles. Thus, as they approach the entrance to the power tunnel, the fish are deflected by the small currents flowing around the louvers of aluminum "Venetian blinds" suspended in a V-shaped fashion. The tiny fish slowly guide their way along the aluminum slats and slip into a flume carrying them down past the dam and back into the Cowlitz River again.

Mayfield Lake

OUR NEWEST SCENIC STOREHOUSE OF POWER

MAYFIELD LAKE . . . Our Newest Scenic Storehouse of Power.

Beautiful Mayfield Lake, with 33 miles of scenic shoreline, is destined to become one of the primary tourist attractions in Southwest Washington. According to Clayton Anderson, State Parks Director, Mayfield Lake will provide one of the most scenic and attractive state parks in Washington. Camping facilities for 1,200 persons are scheduled for the park, to be developed on a picturesque site provided by Tacoma City Light.

Mayfield Lake will be a boating and fishing favorite. Already famous Kamloops, Rainbow trout and Silvers have been planted by the State Game Department. Four million dollars has been invested by Tacoma City Light at Mayfield for fish facilities to move fish up, around and back down again to pass Mayfield Dam.

Tacoma City Light urges you to visit this new lake in neighboring Lewis County. And . . . here's wishin' good fishin' . . . in our more than 10,000 acres of lakes . . . Cushman, Alder and Mayfield.

Man vs. Insects Never-Ending War

A war is raging and we don't mean Communism vs. Democracy, but man vs. insects and diseases for survival. This battle is ages old and where do we stand now?

Long before man learned to cultivate plants, insects and diseases were using plants as their only means of living. Consequently, a struggle began when man entered into competition for the same food plants. The competition was rather one-sided for many centuries. Man simply planted and harvested what the insects and fungi did not consume or destroy.

But as civilization grew, new discoveries and inventions enabled us to compete more effectively with pests for our food. Today we are still on the defensive, still fighting the war and a long way from winning. If you don't believe this is war, then try commercial farming for a time and you will be quick to learn that it is you or them.

The battle began with man using magic and sorcery in one form or another. Then the idea occurred that insects disliked things that were offensive to man. Thus began the home made concoctions that have plagued us to this very day. Mixtures of dung, ashes, urine, and scraps of various kinds have all been recommended at one time or another for every calamity that befalls our plants.

Then sulfur, nicotine, rotenone, pyrethrum, oil and other materials began to be used for pest control. Gradually we began to conduct research and a whole new field of pest control opened. The light of scientific research and development began to break through.

Today, we are armed with a vast array of pesticides, we understand the functions of nature better than ever before. This information and material places us as a civilization in a position where hunger could be practically eliminated from the world; something we have never been able to do before. The use of pesticides have contributed greatly in placing us in this position. Pesticides have had a tremendous effect upon our standard of living and our general economy. They have helped to place our agriculture production on a level that no other country at present can approach. They have contributed greatly to maintaining the cost of family food at only a 4 per cent increase in the past ten years, while the overall cost of living rose 12 per cent.

Until research can develop better methods of pest control, then chemical pesticides represent our ability to maintain a growing standard of living and a surplus of food that represents our margin of safety in a hungry and envious world.

Sodworm Cause For Lawn's Dead Spots

If your lawn has dead areas then suspect the sod worm as being the cause. County Agent Jack Parsons reports the webworm larvae are among the earliest pests to begin chewing on your lawn in the spring. The larvae are light brown in color, covered with a fine hair and less than an inch long. This pest's diet is grass; his appetite is enormous and he eats from early spring until the larvae change to moths in late July through early September. The moths in turn lay eggs that hatch into larvae that begin munching on grass and the whole cycle starts again. Only this time around there are several thousand more larvae because each moth lays several hundred eggs.

Almost every lawn in Pierce county had moths flying in it last year, yet this spring not all lawns have a heavy population of larvae. The moths are particular where they lay their eggs and will usually pick the healthiest lawn in the neighborhood for their young's home. Therefore, if you do detect a heavy number of larvae this spring in your lawn, consider them a status symbol, symbolic of excellence in lawn care.

Cancer fighters / 12 to 84

Henry Karp, 12, raises money for the ACS because a favorite uncle died of cancer. He makes and sells plaster plaques of ships, eagles, Indians and horses. Last year he raised $126 for the Crusade.

Dr. Thomas Carlile of Seattle, Wash., as ACS President, traveled over 100,000 miles from Honolulu to Moscow to address many public and professional meetings. He is one of 50,000 physicians, scientists and laymen who serve voluntarily on ACS national, state and local boards of directors.

Mrs. Emma Dick, 84, one of the Society's 2,000,000 volunteers, prepares dressings for cancer patients. ACS distributed 22,000,000 dressings to 61,000 patients in 1962.
