Mt. View Baptists Start New Church

In an impressive ceremony Sunday afternoon, members of the Mt. View Baptist church broke ground for the new sanctuary they plan to build on the five acre tract at 34th and Vickery roads recently acquired.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Don Leach, spoke on plans of the church and Charles Ettinger of Westgate Baptist church, Tacoma, led the singing. There was a brief message by Rev. Marion Flint of Bethesda Baptist church, Tacoma, after which various church officials participated in the ground breaking.

The church services are presently being held in the Central Avenue school building. It is hoped to complete the new church before fall.

"It Pays To Advertise" Proved By Line-up At Shoe Store

FULL HOUSE—Al and Malcolm Soine of Soine's Parkland Shoe Store expected a big crowd for the clearance sale advertised last weekend. Values were amazing and the store has a host of friends. But Friday morning the line formed long before time for the store to open and most of the day found people trying to get into the crowded store. Needless to say, the Soine father-son combination was pleased and gratified by the success of the sale. Follow-up advertising will be found in this week's issue of the Times Journal. —Photo by McKewen.

It's the LAW
PRESENTED AS A PUBLIC SERVICE BY THE WASHINGTON STATE BAR ASSOCIATION
Joe Slob bought a new sofa under a conditional sale contract which required a dollar down and gave Joe 36 months to pay the balance.
Joe was very careless and dropped ashes on the sofa, burning a number of holes in it. He also permitted his children to climb over it with muddy feet. Inside of a few months the sofa was little better than junk. At that time Joe had paid only a small portion of the purchase price.
Joe decided that this sofa was not worth the balance due on it so he quit making the payments. Joe expected the seller to repossess the sofa. Much to Joe's surprise the seller sued Joe for the balance of the purchase price and attached his car, which happened to be paid for.

In Washington a conditional seller may, upon default in payments by the buyer, either repossess the property by court action, or he may declare the sale final and sue for the balance of the purchase price. If the property is repossessed, the prior payments made by the buyer are forfeited, if the contract so provides, unless an extension for time is granted by the court. However, the buyer is relieved of the duty to pay the balance.
If the seller chooses to make the sale final, the buyer owns the property but is liable for the balance of the purchase price. By appropriate court action this debt can be collected out of any property of the buyer.

With JACK BROWN

Recently teenagers have figured prominently in crime news. Stories of rape, murder and theft by those of tender years have shocked the nation. I don't know what else we adult Americans can expect. With scum like Chessman still alive and Dave Beck running around loose, what fears of justice can we instill in the minds of our youngsters who are watching these men make a mockery of the laws of our land.

We Americans have always prided ourselves on being a law-abiding people. It's the height of the obvious to observe that the "rule of law" is given almost universal respect. We know, of course, that there are lawbreakers to be found among us in all walks of life . . . the crowded court dockets and the jammed jails and penitentiaries attest to that. However, many of us try to reason that malefactors are just the exceptions that prove the rule.

Some time ago The Reader's Digest published an article by William Hard which took a dim view of the crime situation. It carried the intriguing title "How Law-Abiding Are We — Really?" In it, Mr. Hard gave a factual account of just how serious the law-breaking problem is in this country, and drew examples of the evil from some of the widely varied forms of crime and dishonesty that have been growing alarmingly more prevalent.

To begin with, he pointed out that J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI has reported that in a late year the number of criminal offenses listed by the police forces totaled 2,796,400. Of great significance, Mr. Hoover says that in the last 10 years the crime rate has increased four times as fast as the population — and that for every dollar spent on our churches, crime costs $12.

Most of us, Mr. Hard wrote, tend to shrug off statistics. To quote him, "Oh, we say, 'just the professional criminals. Just the criminal classes.' Really?"

As one example of the fallacy of this, Mr. Hard cited the obvious example of auto drivers. The driver who obeys all the highway laws is a rare joker indeed. Another good example, where supposedly good citizens are frequent law-breakers, is found in the game laws. In a single month, in the single state of New York, 350 alleged sportsmen were arrested and fined for violations. That's sportsmanship?

These infringements may seem of minor consequence to some of us. But, certainly, no one can say that of the form of crime that has been increasing most rapidly — fraud. Mr. Hard dealt with this in some detail. In one late year, the bad checks brought to FBI notice amounted to $8 million. The releases of the Federal Trade Commission are filled with accounts of misrepresentations. In communities across the country, people have fraudulently obtained relief funds. And employe dishonesty has really been zooming. Mr. Hard interviewed one authority in this field. He found: "The cost of employe dishonesty in American business enterprises of all kinds can safely be estimated at somewhere between $500 million and $1 billion a year." Another expert, who operates an unusual organization which investigates business and recommends control designed to prevent employes from becoming dishonest, told Mr. Hard that "60 per cent of dishonest behavior in business is by supervisors and executives — who are usually well-paid by their companies."

So it goes. And out of it arises what Mr. Hard termed "a woeful paradox." The paradox lies in the fact that this huge increase in crimes of all kinds has been accompanied by a massive increase in church membership. As he sees it, "Clearly we have achieved a split personality. We are having both a religious revival and a moral decline."

So there you have it. On one hand we're teaching and practicing righteousness and on the other setting an example of lust and lawlessness never equalled before.

In the words of Abraham Lincoln can be found the solution. Here they are: "Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap. Let it be taught in schools and colleges. Let it be preached from the pulpit. Let it be proclaimed in legislative halls. Let it be enforced in courts of justice. Let it become the political religion of the nation. And let the old and the young, the rich and the poor, of both sexes, and of all tongues and colors, sacrifice unceasingly upon its altars."

A first solo flight was made by Dick Van Zanten of Orting this last week with Slim Lawson instructing. Dick is self employed on a farm in the Puyallup Valley.
Dick Swearingen, who goes to Clover Park during the week and is line boy for Tahoma Flying Service on weekends, celebrated his 18th birthday Sunday by making his first solo flight in a Champion Tri-Traveler.

A Private License was issued to Randy Faulkner this last week. Randy and Duane Wagner have their Stinson based at Spanaway Airport. Larry Martin who flies out of Thun Field was also issued a Private License.

Fred Scheyer, of Puyallup, is now a Limited Flight Instructor and is instructing for John Thun at Thun Field.
Solo cross-country flights made out of Spanaway Airport were: Larry Lundstrum and Steve Bisig. Charles Ryan made a dual cross-country trip to Yakima and returned with Slim Lawson instructing.

Larry and Gene Martin have bought an Ercoupe and are basing it at Thun Field. Boone Willmott sold his Cessna 140 and is looking for a larger airplane. Johnny Schell purchased an Aeronca Champ.

John Schell made a trip to Spokane and return in Thun's 172.
Private Pilots Licenses were issued to Duane Wagner in his Stinson and Ray Jacobson in a Champion Tri-Traveler.

Saturday night Wes Hanson, Bob Villont, Slim and Jeanne Lawson flew to Seattle-Tacoma Airport in the Signaleers Cessna 172. Bob Villont flew over making a Ground Control Approach in to Sea-Tac. While there they visited the control tower. On the return trip Wes made a practice GCA at Sea-Tac and another at McChord before returning to home base at Spanaway.

Cecil Jackson purchased a Twin Cessna east of the mountains and he and Ward Clemo flew it to Thun Field where Cecil is basing it.

FORT LEWIS, WASH. (AHTNC) — Army Specialist Four Thomas D. The exercise, which involved nearly 4,000 troops, was designed to determine unit effectiveness in conducting cold-weather tactical movements under realistic combat conditions.

Completes Course
FORT GORDON, Ga. (AHTNC)—Army Pvt. Kenneth M. Riis, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton H. Riis, Route 3, Tacoma, Wash., completed the eight-week radio relay and carrier operation course Feb. 19 at The Southeastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Riis was trained to operate and maintain field radio relay systems and carrier equipment.

He entered the Army in October 1959 and received basic training at Fort Ord, Calif.

Riis is a 1955 graduate of Franklin Pierce High School and a 1959 graduate of Pacific Lutheran College.

There's nothing quite like a brisk wash-up with water from the pump on a nippy fall morning, for which we're very glad.

Fellow in this office we won't mention by name reminds us of a leaky faucet; the drip is annoying.

County Agent's Corner

From the Julius Gratzler top DHIA herd in 1959 comes the first calf offered for the 1960 Pierce county 4-H and FFA commercial dairy calf auction sale.

The DHIA sales committee is busy this week making farm calls picking the kind of calves that will be good project animals for showing and also the kind that will be in demand by dairy farmers when they are old enough to join a milking herd.

The Gratzler calf represents the quality of production prized by dairymen. She is a sister to the 1959 four year old class leader whose picture is in the last annual DHIA Report of the association. The sister "Elsie" won this recognition by producing 20,350 pounds of milk last year in a ten months period. Her fat production was 741 lbs.

This second commercial dairy calf sale will be at 1:00 p.m. Saturday, April 2nd, at the Western Washington Experiment Station.

Ron Crowe, of the Citizens State Bank, Puyallup, will clerk the sale. Age of the calves will range from two to six months.

The average price for the 1959 calf sale was eighty-three dollars. Long terms and low interest credit is available at most of the rural banks to 4-H and FFA members if arrangements are made previous to the sale.

Through earnings with the animals and their eventual sale good dairy projects in the county have helped many young owners get into college careers with less strain on their families' finances.

Kathleen Brown, freshman at UPS, and former Spanaway 4-H club member, started a college bank account when "Candy" her 4-H Jersey heifer came into production. Four years later her bank account was a $700 college scholarship, possible through the cooperation of "Candy".

Kathleen's scholarship had not been won but was earned as a result of her good planning, interest, and energy.

The DHIA calf sale committee is selecting calves so each boy or girl buyer at the 1960 calf sale can also start their own college scholarship account if they too desire to do so.

By Joseph Buhaly
Taking a better look at Pierce county's natural resources, and their potential, is the subject of a meeting that was held Monday, February 29th in the County-City building. The meeting took place in room 741 from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. to further the orderly development and wise use of natural resources in Pierce county.

Key people active in planning the meeting were Don Morgan, Al Moffat, A. F. Visell, Ted Knutson, Fred Kroph, and Joe Buhaly. Crop land and Grassland, Forests, Water, Fish and Wildlife, and Minerals will be studied in the committee's efforts to further the best long time use of local resources for our ever increasing population.

Benefits to the community such as more jobs, more mileage from existing resources, and better recreational opportunities are expected dividends from the study by landowners, as professional people, and interested citizens.

The Natural Resource Study committee is one of the five study committees comprising the Rural Suburban Research Council. Others are Youth, Family Life, Public Affairs, and Agriculture.

Persons interested in furthering resource development were urged to attend the meeting Monday.
