An Open Letter

Dear Mr. McLean:

Your November 2, editorial, "Vote yes or no, but vote," cited, "The worse thing that can happen to this country is for elections to be lost by default." The November 7th election in the Franklin Pierce School district failed because the required forty per cent of the voters who voted in the Presidential race did not come out. However the sixty per cent "yes" votes needed to pass the four propositions was reached and exceeded.

It has been determined, one of the reasons people did not vote, was because of existing grievances and/or difference of opinion with the school system and district. Mrs. R. E. Johnson's Open Letter to the Times, November 23rd, is an example.

As beginning of our own civilization, theory, then experiments preceeded the progress of man, from the "cave man" to the "space man" age. This is very true in most everything today. Our schools are not to be excluded. Sight reading is cited as such a experiment along with the advancing experimental teaching machines.

If we are to determine, obtain, and provide the education needed for our children in this "Atomic space age," we must forego the comparisons of the "one room country schoolhouse," of the beginning of our century, and look ahead to the next century, where the students of today, our children, will be responsible for the welfare of mankind and the brotherhood of the world.

We parents, as laymen, should find out what we want in our schools for the children, bring our demands to the professional educator, then let them decide the channels to use to meet our requests, if they be for the betterment of all children's education, regardless of race, color, or creed.

It is my firm belief, there is nothing more expensive than education unless it be ignorance. Truly education is a profitable power for all mankind, while ignorance can be a costly destruction.

I do not believe, the failure to exercise our right to vote is the source to use to protest any dissatisfaction of the present school system, or the school district. We tend to lower the present standards in the school, preventing our children from receiving their rightful academic training. There are other ways to protest against and better our classrooms, why not through one of the many organizations, civic, school, and personal? The school board has a monthly meeting, the second Tuesday of the month, your community has service and civic clubs, and your school has it's P.T.A.

Sincerely,
Mrs. R. W. Switzler

The presentations for Co-Captain was made by Jim Mancuso to Dennis

Roufs and Randy Lumsden. Much could be said about Mr. Mike Steirbeck, who was the main speaker for the evening. His remarks were appropriate, humorous and well received. It could best be summed up by a statement from one of the boys, "That was one of the best talks I ever heard."

In January 1960 a Seattle architects firm Dorham, Anderson, and Freed, were hired to draw up the plans for the buildings. Contractors for the church are Korsmo Brothers Construction.

The history of the church dates back to 1906 when the first sanctuary was established. Part of the building now standing is a section of the first church.

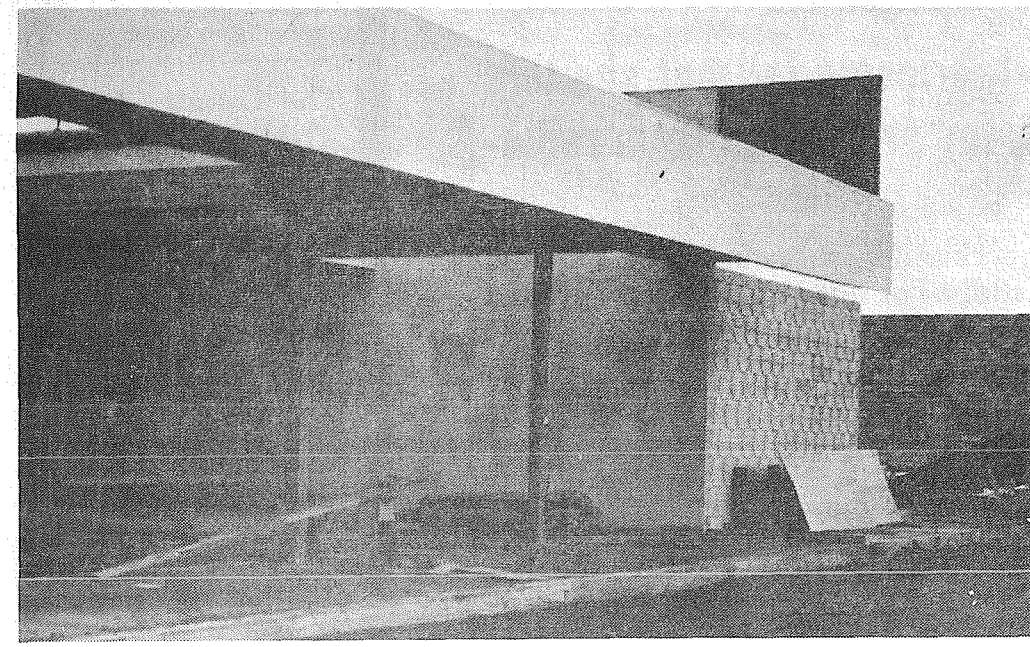

The present church was completed in 1916.

Let Me Tell One:

Positive Thinking

Watching the buildings which are rising all around us in this area makes me think that the problems which are supposed to be besetting the United States are problems of area and definition.

The problems of area are hard to solve overnight as people in West Virginia and Pennsylvania know only too well. And, we probably needn't look too far out of our own state for a few areas which have been depressed for one reason or another.

The problem of definition, however, is another matter. This is the problem which faces the country when, in a sweeping generality, someone with influence makes the statement that we are going into, hitting the bottom of, or rising out of a DEPRESSION.

I think if I had my way,

more with editors than with the others.)

The problem of more than umpteen million unemployed I think is many times overplayed. Now, I'm not talking about the fellow who is out of work and looking desperately for work. He has all my sympathy and I'll fight for his right to eat and to get a job as hard as I can.

But when economics say that there is a depression just because there are 5 or 6 or 7 million unemployed in this country, then I stop and remember back to a statistics class in college where the professor showed us what could be done with figures.

Getting back to the definition, I'll say that many times depression and recession are born in the minds of men and are not real until the thought comes (Continued on Page 4)

Macy, Park Head, Retires

Preston P. Macy, Superintendent of Mount Rainier National Park, will retire from the National Park Service, effective November 24. Macy's service, with the exception of a short period during the winter of 1925-26, has been continuous since 1924. He is one of the few remaining superintendents who served under all six Directors of the National Park Service since its establishment on August 25, 1916.

Macy was born in Americus, Kansas, December 28, 1891. He attended Friends University in Wichita where he received a degree in biology. Although a successful dairy farmer, Macy often thought of the Pacific Northwest as a place to settle. This, and a desire to participate in some type of conservation work, led to his accepting the appointment as seasonal naturalist in Mount Rainier in 1924, which was followed shortly by a permanent appointment as superintendent of the park. When, in 1934, there was a need for an acting superintendent to administer the newly acquired Mount Olympus National Monument, Macy was selected for the assignment. When, on June 29, 1938, the Olympic National Park was created, Preston Macy became its first superintendent.

In September of 1951, Macy returned to Mount Rainier as superintendent. Since that time, Macy saw MISSION 66 launched in the park in 1956. Under this program he has seen the completion of the Stevens Canyon Road, the construction of the Nisqually Glacier Bridge, the construction of the Marmot Point-Barn Flat Road to Paradise, construction of the Box Canyon Picnic Area and the beginning of enlargement and rehabilitation of the Ohanapeosh and White River Campgrounds.

The tables were set in the Thanksgiving motif and lighted tapers amidst a colorful bouquet of mums completed the decorations of the main table. A social hour was held following the dinner. Coming from Tacoma were Mr. and Mrs. Wooten who showed films entitled "God's Hand."

WHY SO MANY QUESTIONS? The making of final arrangements for a loved one is a trying experience for anyone. At a time like this a person is confused and their reasoning powers are dulled by their personal loss that only time will heal.

Often people at this time feel that the funeral director is a prying individual, digging, probing and throwing questions right and left. This is understandable for most of the time consumed in making final arrangements is spent answering questions.

Every question asked, although it may seem irrelevant, is important. Many of them are for the death certificate which is required by law. The remainder are to make sure that your personal desires and wishes are understood and fulfilled.

Any questions asked by a funeral director are considered a confidence and are inviolate as with your own physician, clergyman or priest.

65th Anniversary For Children's Home Society

The annual Red Stocking membership drive this month marks the 65th anniversary of community service by the Children's Home Society of Washington. Since it was incorporated as a statewide non-sectarian charity in December, 1896, the Children's Home Society has helped more than 18,000 homeless children in all parts of the state. Nearly 1,000 of these have been cared for by this UGN agency within the past year alone.

Members and friends who receive the Society's traditional Red Stocking letter are urged to subscribe more generously than ever before. According to Lowry Wyatt of Tacoma, chairman of the Society's West Central District board, assistance of the organization has been sought this year for unprecedented numbers of children and troubled parents.

From November, 1960 through October, 1961 the Society has responsibility for 996 children without parents able to make homes for them. Carefully protected adoption was arranged for 367 children from earliest infancy to 12 years of age. Skilled personal counseling was also provided for 560 young unwed mothers. One out of every two mothers counseled received complete maternity care, and 280 babies were born under the confidential maternity care program.

Growing demands upon the Society's facilities, including its four homes for adolescent boys and girls, place a severe strain upon its financial resources. The United Good Neighbors regularly attempts to balance the Society's budget for local service (after all other income sources are considered), but at least $2200 in individual subscriptions is needed from Pierce county members this year, Wyatt reports.

The limited membership effort is approved by the United Good Neighbors. A personal membership in the Children's Home Society may be had for as little as $2.00 annually, Wyatt adds. The Christmas letter asks that subscriptions be sent to the Society's office at 3316 Pacific Avenue in Tacoma, from which Pierce, Thurston, Mason, Kitsap, Lewis, Grays Harbor and Pacific counties are served.

Sponsors of the Red Stocking effort in Pierce county, in addition to Wyatt are: Dr. Myron A. Bass, John H. Binns, Russell Buehler, Addison H. Forrester, Edward Gonderman, Mrs. Ernest C. Grindley, T. O. Hageness, Kenneth Janek, Dr. David H. Johnson, Mrs. Donald R. MacDonald, Hugo Metzler, Jr., Louis Pederson, Dr. David Sparling, Jack Tanner, Mrs. Raymond J. Wery and Mrs. Margaret Williamson, all of Tacoma; and R. D. Campbell and Glen Cushing of Puyallup.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Eshpeter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ognoskie, and Mr. Victor Eshpeter, Jr., from Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Burcar, and Mr. Henry Eshpeter, of Tacoma. They were the guests of the ship's commanding officer, Captain J. R. Zullinger.

A combination Thanksgiving and Birthday Party was held at the Midland Cooperative Play School on Tuesday, November 21st, with Cindy Christofferson and Jerry Crawford, each with a November birthday, as honored guests. Breezy Comedy Set At Little Theater

"THIRD BEST SPORT," which will open at the Tacoma Little Theatre Dec. 1st, is breezy comedy that takes a facetious slap at the quaint disciplines and rituals of the organization man. It is an intrinsically effervescent frolic by Eleanor and Leo Bayer, with the pungency of gentle satire.

The focal character is a recent bride whose husband, a rather big wheel in his firm, suggests spending their honeymoon in Florida, presumably at company expense, where his industry is holding a convention. When the nuptial jaunt turns out to be all convention and no honeymoon the bride rebels.

Bette Langseth will be radiant as the rebellious bride. Gene Skidmore will be convincing as the new husband, and the supporting cast consists of Frank James, Bryon Stensen, Norman Bradley, Horace Geer, Marion Plauquet, Eleanor Geer, Arthur Froney, Billie Kennedy and Tom Conley.

"Third Best Sport" is under the direction of Olan K. Carson, and will close Dec. 16th.

Smorgasbord At Firgrove

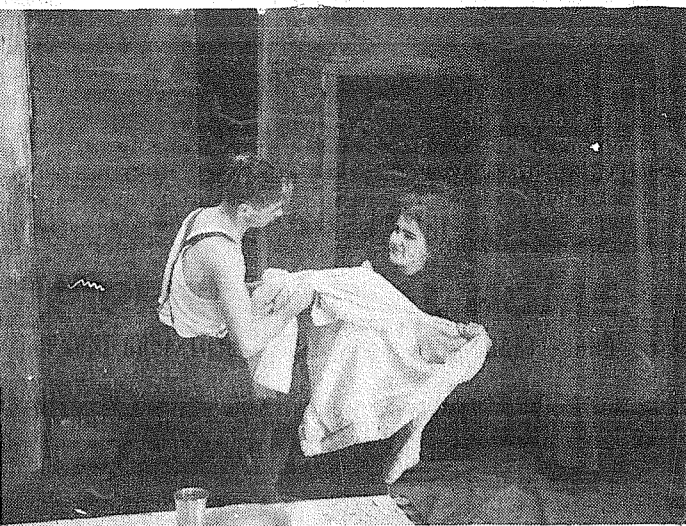

The public has been invited to a smorgasbord dinner sponsored by the Firgrove PTA on Friday, December 1, between 5 and 8 p.m. in the school multipurpose room, it was announced this week.

The menu will be a choice of baked ham or salmon, several salads, scalloped potatoes and peas and carrots, hot rolls, choice of pie or cake and coffee, tea or milk.

Two movies, "Beaver Valley" and "Olympic Elk," both by Walt Disney will be shown in two separate rooms after dinner. Mrs. Burgmeir and Mrs. Wedland and the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire girls will offer baby sitting for preschool children in the library.

The donation for the dinner is $1.25 for adults, and 50¢ for elementary and kindergarten children.

Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech.

Want to know "What the Tax Collector has in Store for You?" U. S. News and World Report tells the story, under that title, in its issue of Nov. 20th. It is based on interviews with officials of the Internal Revenue Service. The gist of it, as a subhead says bluntly, is that "a real crackdown is coming on the man who fails to report and pay taxes on all his income."

In Sec. of the Treas. Dillon's phrase, we are on the verge of a "New Era" of tax collecting. And a major reason for it is that modern miracle, the electronic computer. These machines can be arranged to do practically anything in the realm of mathematics and analysis, and now it seems they are about to go to work on us taxpayers. The joker who chisels, practices fraud or simply forgets is due to get some lumps. In U. S. News' words, taxpayers reports will be instantly "matched with other reports received on taxpayers incomes. Offenders will be trapped automatically.

It used to be that all we had to worry about was what our neighbors knew about us. Now we've got to worry about what the machines know about us. I don't know about you but I know that although sometimes it hurts, I'd rather pay my income tax once a year and live in this country than live someplace under communism where it's all tax and no income.

I'd also rather pay up in full than try to stash a few undeclared bucks and have to sweat it out for the next seven years. My bookkeeper has his instructions. I want every cent that is due me and I'll pay every cent that I owe. In that way the man with the briefcase doesn't cause me any loss of sleep when he comes around.

I've got an idea that many of you may wish you had taken that course of action yourself by the time the machines get through with you.
 * * * *

For years we have always had company on Thanksgiving day and since I have published the military paper for McChord for many years it seems that we have had the pleasure of having service personnel at our home on many such occasions.

This year we did something different. We had Thanksgiving dinner with the military personnel Dolores and I crammed the kids into the back of the plane and took off Thanksgiving morning. We visited friends of ours at an air force base down near the Cal. line. We ate our dinner at the mess hall and I must confess that it was one of the finest Thanksgiving dinners I have ever partaken of.

All I can say is that once more in some way my eyes were opened to the greatness of this country in which we live. Our service men have the best land has to offer and well they deserve it for even though it may be by choice that they serve they are away from home and loved ones on days such as this and who deserves the best more than those who guard our way of life and our very lives as well.

Survival Without Farm

By Jack Crawford

If the nation's productive farming acres disappeared or became useless overnight, how long could people go on eating?

This question is not a purely theoretical one in this atomic age. As for the answer, Dr. C.B. Hartson, WSU Extension soils specialist passes along these comments.

The stores bulge with food. Yet the retail stores of the nation have on hand enough food for only 10 days. At least that was the situation in 1957. Stores in Washington State could supply the residents with food for an additional day.

Reminders of our dependence on the soil are our three daily meals. For the nation as a whole, meals add up to over half a billion daily reminders for 183-million well-fed people.

The meals we eat are just one facet of our dependence on fertile soil. Others include the 16-million farm people who look to agriculture for their paychecks and the millions engaged in agribusiness. These include processors, manufacturers, distributors, transporters and many others who work in industries using products from or indispensable to agriculture.

Small wonder there is concern over "the interrelation between prosperity on the farm and economic health of the city" referred to by President Kennedy.

A strong healthy nation requires productive soil used, maintained, and appreciated by enlightened citizens.

Burkhart Honored

Pvt. Denis L. Burkhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burkhart, Route 1, Spanaway, Wash., recently achieved recognition as a top Army marksman by qualifying for the expert marksmanship badge while firing the M-14 rifle in Germany.

A light-vehicle driver in Company A of the 8th Infantry Division 20th Transportation Battalion in Bad Kreuznach, he entered the Army in January 1960, completed basic training at Fort Ord, Calif., and arrived overseas last January.

The 19-year-old soldier is a former student of Bethel High School.

UNDER THE CHRISTMAS TREE

When suddenly it's Christmas, you can solve the problem of the perfect present by combining a "most wanted" gift with a gay and imaginative wrapping.

Lustrous sterling silver is just such a "most wanted" gift — cherished by homemaker, career girl, or the teen-ager just starting her own sterling flatware service.

This year, make her Christmas a memorable one. A six-piece place setting, for example, can be packaged in a brightly decorated Christmas tree of its own. Just paste fancy paper over lightweight cardboard, form into a cone, and decorate with beads, stars, and other festive trimmings. The flatware, wrapped in tissue, is tucked inside.

A conventional package containing a sterling bon bon dish can also be given a unique touch by tying the accompanying spoon to the ribbon bow on the outside of the box. It's pretty — and gives a pleasant hint of what's to be found on the inside!

Surprised By Group

Jerry Siler, 10804 A St. and Past President of the Volkswagen Club of Tacoma, was surprised with a gift at the Club's last business meeting Friday, for his faithful service to the group.

Joseph H. Kelly, the club's road Captain, made the presentation speech, honoring Mr. Siler for his long and active service which made the club's extensive activity program a success.

Mr. Siler served briefly in the summer of 1957 as Vice-President. He became President at the Club's October 1957 election. He served as the group's top executive officer until October of this year, at which time he retired from office.

The bottom of Lake Chelan, which nestles deep in the Cascades at an elevation of 1,100 feet, is 319 feet below sea level — making it one of the deepest fresh water bodies in North America.

Eatonville Man Elected

Bill Wood, dairyman from Eatonville, was elected to head the Pierce County Dairy Herd Improvement Association as its president for the coming year. Wood succeeds Julius Gratzler, Jr. who remains on the board and will fill the post of vice-president. Richard Starkel was elected treasurer, to fill out the term of Willett Palmer who resigned earlier in the year.

Other board members are Lou Fisch and Ray Barth. The DHIA Board of Directors operates the affairs of the association which engage in production testing of dairy cattle. The association is a non-profit organization of dairy farmers who hire supervisors who assist in production record keeping on the dairyman members farms.

Warren Anderson and Arthur Fries are the Association Supervisors and Mrs. Winnie McKinney serves as secretary.

Holiday statistics show at least 400 people will be

... will you be one of them?

How ironical it is that the happiest holidays of the year exact the grimmest toll of killed and maimed on our highways! Unfortunately, the up-coming holiday week-end will prove no exception to the rule that when MORE people take to the road in MORE of a hurry (and often in something LESS than tip-top condition for RESPONSIBLE driving) the tragic total of accidents soars to record heights.

Keep yourself and your family OUT of these sad statistics! Drive with particular care and caution. Faithfully observe all traffic rules. Keep your eyes on where you're going and your mind on what you're doing. If you drink, don't drive! If you drive, don't drink!

World Fair Ticket Booths In Operation

The advance sale of tickets for next year's Seattle World's Fair began in Tacoma and Pierce County this week with the opening of booths in all banks and at the Chamber of Commerce. The booths will remain open during business hours until the six-month "Century 21" opens April 21.

Officials of the fair, working with Chamber committee headed by James R. Bellamy of the Bank of California N.A., completed arrangements for the ticket sale last weekend. Under the arrangement, according to Bellamy and Chamber Secretary-Manager E. R. Feterolf, the Chamber will be the Tacoma Pierce County agency for ticket sales, although most applications are expected to be received in the numerous banking agencies of the community.

Included in the tickets being made available to Pacific Northwest residents prior to the fair are Family Bonus Books -- $6.50 for adults and $3.75 for children under 13 -- with each book providing (pageants, stage shows, films or other selected entertainment), two Fine Art exhibit admissions, and an official Exposition Guidebook.

Applications will be taken in the main offices and all branches of the Puget

Best wishes were extended to Mrs. Joyce Andrews at a birthday luncheon held in her honor by Mrs. Evelyn Bacon. Guests attending were Mesdames Margaret Hoffman, Opal Lateral and Wilma Folk.

Thanksgiving was more than a holiday in the Cliff McCann home when little Tammy McCann their 2 year old daughter who got in back of her daddy's car when he backed out of the garage, was found to have nothing more serious than some bruises after spending 3 days in the hospital.

Mrs. Fieta Panchot of East 84th had her house bulging at the seams over the holidays. Her Grandson Marshall from Central Washington College in Ellensburg, from Portland were her son and daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Panchot and Karen, her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Hayes (Mary) and from California was her youngest daughter Fieta. To make the day complete was a recording from her other daughter Lisa from Kansas.

It's Coloring Time Again

It's coloring time again! This year, as in the past, the Times Journal is sponsoring the annual coloring contest which has become so popular with the children in the Journal's distribution area.

Every child in the district may submit an entry at each of the stores participating. All youngsters from five to 14 years of age are eligible.

In awarding the prizes, judges will take into consideration the age of each contestant, thus giving the little ones an equal chance with the older boys and girls.

The contest features a page of outlined pictures to be colored by the young "artists," who may use water colors, crayons, or any other medium they wish.

Space has been left below each picture for the name, phone number, address and age of the contestant, also the printed name and address of the business firm sponsoring that particular space.

When finished, each picture will be taken to the store sponsoring that space and deposited in a contest box provided there. Each store will choose its own judges and their decision will be final.

The contest closes Dec. 10 and the winner's names will be announced in the Dec. 15 issue of the paper. A list of each store's prizes will appear in the next week's Journal.

The store located at 14801 Pacific Avenue is a self-service laundry and dry cleaning establishment featuring some of the finest names in clothes cleaning machinery.

General Electric commercial washers, Cook dryers and Duplex dry cleaning machines will be available for all cleaning and washing of clothes. Engebretson announced that the hours of the store will be from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

He also pointed out the fine lounge area for people who wish to wait while their clothes are in process.

As an opening special, Engebretson has set up an introductory offer of a regular dry cleaning load for half price. He said that trained attendants would be on hand to help those who wish to dry clean clothes in the store.

Mail Early PM Warns

Postmaster John P. McMonagle launched his "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign today with the announcement that he expected the 1961 holiday mailing season to be the biggest ever in Tacoma.

In addition to the usual normal growth which makes each Christmas bigger than the one which preceded it, a population explosion caused by military expansion will substantially increase demand.

"With the assignment of some twenty thousand men to North Fort Lewis and the resultant influx of families into the perimeter districts to the south of the city, the Tacoma Post Office has been placed in a pre-Christmas situation which will tax the ingenuity and resourcefulness of every employee of this office," McMonagle said.

For this reason, he reminded Tacomans that it was most important for them to get their shopping and mailing done as soon as possible. The following deadlines for mailing letters and parcels should be strictly observed:

All mail for over-seas points: Should be posted at once and sent by air.

Packages and unsealed cards for Alaska & Hawaii: November 30th

Mail for Eastern and Southern States: December 10th.

Western States, other than Washington: December 15th.

Eastern Washington: December 15th.

Local, Tacoma, Seattle and Western Washington: December 17th.

Tardy mailers who let these deadlines sneak past should use Airmail or Special Delivery and perhaps add a small prayer that their mailings escape all bottlenecks, the postmaster advised. With a bow to the Red Arrow Division, he also reminded its members that, in these parts, Wisconsin is considered an Eastern State.

To accommodate the tremendous volume of mail expected to flood the local office, the Post Office Department has accumulated a record reserve of manpower and equipment. It is anticipated that, unless adverse weather conditions interfere, all Christmas mail will be delivered before December 24. "It always hurts me to see the Postal employees forced to give up a chance to spend Christmas Day at home with their families because they have to be distributing or delivering letters and packages which, had they been mailed in time, could have been resting under the tree without this sacrifice by our people," McMonagle said.

F.P. Skiers Vie In Turkey Day Slalom

Parkland and Franklin last week at Timberline on Mt. Hood.

Senior Don Bledsoe boomed down the intricately woven course in 45.3 for the fastest time of the day and took home a first place trophy in the Junior Expert division. Gerald Parker, senior, was hot after Bledsoe's winning time when he caught an edge on the last gate and fell. Although Parker fell, he still placed a fast fifth.

A former Franklin Pierce student, Kathy Rust, also brought home a first place trophy when she won the Junior Girls' Novice Division. Kathy, who is now a sophomore at Puyallup, skied the course 11 seconds faster than her nearest competitor.

Forestry Group Election

A forestry 4-H group, named the Wood Chucks, elected officers for the coming year at the home of their leader, Gilbert Carlson, recently.

Steven Pullin was named president. Other officers are: Kenneth Jones, vice-president; Jerry Houser, secretary; Richard Jones, reporter; Kelly Houser, historian; Al Downs, phone chairman; Cole Favre, food chairman; and Tommy Hoots, sergeant at arms.

Plans Meet

The public affairs study committee of the Rural Suburban Council will meet at 8:00 p.m. Wed., December 6, 1961 at the Western Washington Experiment Station conference room. The Chairman Harold Olson announces that the group will evaluate the highway educational meeting held recently at the Franklin Pierce High School. Committee members also will plan a Civil Defense Educational Program for rural citizens.

Rural Council

The next meeting of the Pierce County Council of PTA will be held on December 7th at Bethel Junior High School. Coffee will be served from 9:30 to 10:00 a.m., and luncheon will be served in the school cafeteria. The Spanaway Pre-School group will supervise a nursery for children from two years to kindergarten age.

The program for the day will be provided by the Tacoma Council of PTA on the topic "When Parents Study Their Job." Panel participants will include Mrs. Helen Varo, guidance counselor for the Tacoma Public Schools; Mrs. Jack Young, 1st Vice-President of Tacoma Council PTA; Mrs. John Drane, Tacoma Council Magazine Chairman; Mrs. John McQuade, Pre-School Section Treasurer; and Mrs. James Scott, Parent Education Co-Chairman.

During the sections meetings the delegates will receive helpful tips from the Pierce County Council history book chairman, Mrs. Andy Ketter, and the Founders Day chairman, Mrs. James O'Ravez. There will also be time for discussion and exchange of ideas.

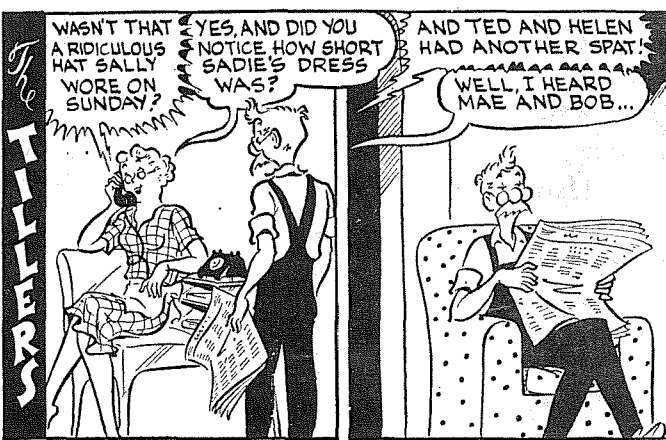

Entertainment will be provided by the "Spotlighters," a group from the Bethel Junior High Music Department. They will present vocal and instrumental numbers, under the direction of Mr. Hull.

There is no readier way for a man to bring his own worth into question than by endeavoring to detract from the worth of other men.

New Type Berry

Research is developing new varieties of strawberries to replace the Marshall, long-time king of Northwest berries but which has toppled to disease in many areas, Senator Warren G. Magnuson, D., Wash., reported today.

Magnuson said last year alone, eleven new varieties of strawberries were screened at Agricultural Research Service stations in Puyallup and Prosser. Of the eleven evaluated, the new Cascade and Columbia strawberry varieties were found to be comparable to the less disease resistant Marshall and Northwest varieties.

Now these new strawberry varieties are being made available to growers, Magnuson was informed by Dr. B. T. Shaw, ARS Administrator.

A part of the screening process includes suitability for processing for preserves and frozen products as well as checking the varieties for field growth, Magnuson was advised by Dr. Shaw.

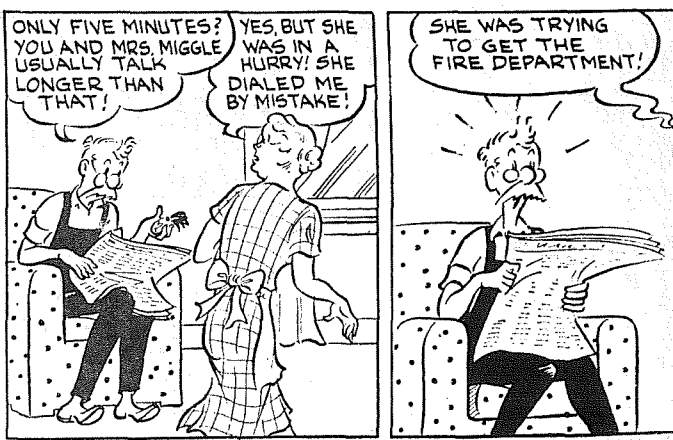

Dr. Shaw also told Magnuson that his agency is continuing work in cooperation with Washington State University to develop new and improved processing methods adopted to fruits, berries and vegetables of the Pacific Northwest.

Congress Representative

Sophomore Lance Perryman spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Chicago as Pierce County's sole representative to the national 4-H Congress. Lance who won the honor in the field of electronics has been in 4-H for the past six years and is an expert sheepman as well as a talented carpenter.

He built his own barn for two sheep which he raised and then wired the barn to "eliminate problems during the lambing season." This wiring feat won him the Chicago trip.

It's The Law!

You like to watch TV or listen to radio plays containing dramatic courtroom scenes. But you've wondered if the legal procedures dramatized there are really like what goes on in an actual courtroom trial.

At tense moments the opposition lawyer is always jumping up to shout: "Objection! The evidence is inadmissible, incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial."

Then the judge will say, "Objection sustained," or "Objection overruled. The witness may proceed."

Does this really happen just like that in a trial? The answer is, pretty much that way, except that it may not be quite so dramatic in the courtroom. Writers of courtroom drama for the radio and TV have to know some law, or the station would get hundreds of letters of protest -- some of them from lawyers.

The law holds that an objection to evidence must state grounds on which it is based -- at least where the reasons for the objection are not apparent. The classifications, "inadmissible," "incompetent," "irrelevant," and "immaterial" are well known to lawyers and judges as grounds for objection, and usually the judge does not need further explanation. Sometimes, however, when the grounds are not apparent, he will ask for it. In such cases the judge may have the jury leave the courtroom while the lawyers explain what they hope to prove if the evidence is admitted.

Have you ever noticed that an attorney never gets up and says, "Your Honor, I'd like to object to some testimony given yesterday." That's because legally an objection to admitting evidence must generally be made when the evidence is offered, or not at all. These rules, technical as they may seem, are to assure a fair trial by keeping out testimony that is not pertinent and proper.
