

Students To Present First Drama Night In Gym Friday at 8

Evelyn Irwin, Georgianna McClure, and Norman Westling Coach Plays; Saxophone Duet, Piano and Band Numbers on Intermission Program

That the first Drama night of this year will be presented Friday, Oct. 27, has been announced by Norman Jensen, Drama Club president. This date has been set early to be during the Washington Educational Association meeting, P.L.C. Alumni members of which Parkland expects to entertain this week-end.

Three comedies are scheduled: "Green Shadows," coached by Georgianna McClure; "A Nephew in the House," coached by Evelyn Irwin; and "So You're Going to Paris," coached by Norman Westling.

Norman Jensen announces musical numbers between the plays to include a saxophone duet by Ray Hinderlie and Jack Hudson, numbers by the school band, and piano numbers by Irene Shatland.

Those in the plays are: "Green Shadows"—Eunice Arneson, Eldon Anderson, Lila Rudd, Dorothy Delmarter, Orwoll Dahl and Gerhardt Pfueger; "A Nephew in the House"—Eldon Hudson, Virginia Mahneke, Marion Peterson, Ida Thompson and Ruth Carlson; "So you're going to Paris"—Eleanor Raudebaugh, John Van Leuven, Audrey Ann Dale, Mauryne Christiansen, Gertrude Stenberg, Louise Jackson, Marie Wrag and Clifford Mesford.

Georgianna McClure has on her properties committee Gerhardt Pfueger, Ferdinand Bondy and Eula May Goff. Norman Westling appointed Clarence Monson to take charge of properties in his group; and Evelyn Irwin appointed William Rasmussen and Milton Nesvig. Evelyn also has a costume committee of Alice Peterson, Virginia Byers and Ann Engen.

W.E.A. Convention in Tacoma This Week

Annual sessions of the Washington Education Association will begin tomorrow morning in the auditorium of the Stadium High School in Tacoma. Teachers from Pierce, Thurston, Mason and part of Lewis counties will be in attendance at the convention.

Dr. Tingelstad will be one of the speakers, as also will be A. J. Beck. Many leaders in education fields from all parts of the country have been procured to address the teachers.

Many graduates of the normal department of Pacific Lutheran College will be in Tacoma for the convention. These will be honored at the P.L.C. luncheon to be Friday noon at the Colonial Club, 505 Broadway in Tacoma. Dean Hauge is toastmaster and general chairman for the affair. After the luncheon, many graduates will witness the football game in Lincoln bowl between the Ellensburg Normal and P.L.C. teams.

Ramstad Speaks to Mission Society

Rev. A. W. Ramstad was the speaker at Mission Society meeting last Wednesday evening. The musical part of the program included a vocal number by Ronald Martin, and a selection by a trio of Mildred and Evelyn Monson and Jennie Lee.

LEWIS G. HUNTER

14 Musicians Will Be in Orchestra

Director Lewis G. Hunter Finds Much Varied Talent in First Turnout; 8 Different Instruments Represented

With fourteen musicians at the first meeting last Tuesday noon, the Pacific Lutheran College orchestra has started its regular rehearsals. No definite plans have been made for the year's work, but Director Lewis G. Hunter says that the orchestra has promising talent, and that he expects an increased attendance at the next rehearsal. Any student who has musical ability on any instrument and those wishing to learn are eligible for membership in this organization.

Those who have signed up so far are: Violins—Winifred Butsch, Kenn Johnson, Eugene Burgoyne and Alice Peterson; piano—Thelma Daniels; trumpet—Dille Quale; clarinet—Madge Harmon, Lloyd Kretsch; alto—Harry Gribbom; saxophones—Jack Hudson, Don Reid; trombone, Eldon Anderson, Frank Elliott; and drums—Gerhardt Pfueger.

Braids, Waste Baskets And Fresh Eggs Feature Pep Club Initiation

Sights in the halls last Thursday reminded the students that the new dormitory girls were being duly initiated into the enthusiastic ranks of the Pep Club. Freshmen girls with their hair in braids and brilliant red paint on their chins carried fresh eggs to their classes to have them signed by the professors. Wastepaper baskets were convenient box carriers during the day. At dinner, a knife was the only implement with which the initiates were allowed to eat. Incidentally, peas were on the menu.

Climaxing the day's events, the Pep Club met that evening to receive the new members, who presented an impromptu program. After the program, Ruth Carlson and Margaret Craft served refreshments in the fudge kitchen. Initiates were Rhoda Hokenstad, Irene Shatland, Anne Johnson, Marie Wrag, Ruth Carlson, Bergjott Vogan, Mary Hudson and Margaret Craft.

Pres. and Mrs. Tingelstad Entertain Faculty Club

The Pacific Lutheran College Faculty Club, including faculty members and their wives, held their first meeting of this school year in the home of President and Mrs. O. A. Tingelstad Monday evening.

George Ramstad, former summer school teacher at P.L.C., spoke of Edward Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite." J. O. Edwards played piano selections from the same suite, and Miss C. O. Olson sang the "Solweig Song" from the same number.

Choir Meets For Practice Daily

Director Edwards Announces Changed Repertoire; Gives Final List of Members Chosen During Last Week

The final membership of the 1933 Choir having been determined, the group has begun regular rehearsals. For the opening number a pretentious, double choir composition, "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us" by J. S. Bach is to be used. Director Edwards has planned an almost entirely new repertoire, retaining very few of the numbers used last year. Some of the new selections being rehearsed now are: "Glorification," "Lost in the Night," "In Dulci Jubilo," all F. M. Christiansen numbers, and "Gladsome Radiance" by A. Gretchani-off.

The choir is showing willingness and cooperation by attending daily-noon rehearsals in addition to the regular afternoon meetings, according to Mr. Edwards. The women meet on Wednesday and Friday noons, the men on Monday, Tuesday and Thursdays.

The new members chosen last week are: Sopranos—Ann Engen, Madge Harmon, Amy Gilbert, Irene Shatland; altos—Gwendolyn Brownfield, Winifred Butsch, Norma Preus, Mona Byrd, Vivian Kampbell, Valborg Norby, Marie Wrag; tenors—Bert Myhre, Lloyd Thompson; basses—Harry Gribbom, Ronald Martin.

7 Students Practice Teaching at Parkland, Horace Mann Schools

To get a knowledge of the rudiments of teaching, seven members of the graduating class are doing daily practice teaching at the Horace Mann school in Tacoma and at Parkland grade school. The students and their work are:

Alice Alvines is teaching in the second grade at Parkland; Ella Johnson, third grade at Parkland; Kathryn Johnson, first grade reading and sixth grade hygiene at Parkland; Jennie Lee, first grade at Parkland; Georgianna McClure, fourth and fifth grades at Horace Mann in Tacoma; Clarence Monson is teaching fifth grade history and directing boys' playground activities during noon hour at Parkland; and Florence Post, second and third grades at Horace Mann in Tacoma.

2 Give Music Numbers On Program for Students

The board of control presented its first bi-weekly program on Student Body day in chapel last Thursday. Alvina Schlerman, recently-elected vice president of the group, presided over the first program of the year. Mrs. Roy E. Craver and Miss E. Katherine Randall, both of Tacoma, presented vocal and piano numbers, respectively. Miss Randall accompanied the vocalist.

Numbers which Mrs. Craver sang included "Waltz Song" from Romeo and Juliet; by Gounod; "Carabelle" by Handel; "Children of the Moon" by Dvorak; "Lullaby" by Scott; and "Rain" by Curran. Miss Randall, who is organist at Our Savior's Lutheran church, former charge of Rev. Ramstad, and is now director of music at McCarter Intermediate school in Tacoma, played "Fugue and Fugue in E Flat Major" by Bach; "Sinking Cathedral" by Debussy; and "Tarantella," a Spanish dance.

Next Week-End Is Not Annual Homecoming

Dean Philip E. Hauge announces emphatically that the week-end of October 27, 28 and 29 is not homecoming. Rumor to this effect have been spread, but these are groundless, according to word from the Dean and from Clarence Lemming, president of the Associated Students.

Although the game with Ellensburg Normal, scheduled for Friday afternoon, is the last home game announced, no plans for an annual homecoming are being made. This is due to the fact that none of the home games have been on a Saturday, according to Dean Hauge's announcement. However, all Pacific Lutheran College alumni are urged to be on hand for the Ellensburg contest in the Lincoln bowl in Tacoma Friday afternoon.

Should Pacific Lutheran College football fans display willingness to support a post-season grid fray, such a contest may be scheduled. In this event, the homecoming will be scheduled that week-end, according to Dean Hauge's announcement.

Plan High School, College Broadcasts

KVI Gives Half Hour From 9:30-10 on Thursdays for Advertising Programs; PLC Broadcasts Nov. 3

According to the announcement of Maurice Webster, musical director and member of the announcing staff of radio station KVI in Tacoma, this station has set aside Thursday evenings from 9:30 until 10 o'clock for Tacoma high schools and colleges. Any of the Tacoma institutions within this realm are invited to take advantage of this advertising medium, and practically all of the schools above the grades are scheduled to appear four or five times during the year.

Pacific Lutheran College will be represented during the school year on November 2, December 14, January 25, March 8 and April 19. Pres. O. A. Tingelstad, as head of the broadcasts from this school, has appointed J. O. Edwards to arrange a program for the first date set for us, which is one week from tomorrow evening. Mr. Edwards announces possibilities suggested to include a male quartet, dialogues, saxophone selections, incidental music and announcements.

"Innovations are expected to be incorporated in these broadcasts so that each school may have the opportunity of displaying originality in some form or other," stated Mr. Edwards. This courtesy on the part of station KVI will be a good advertising medium for the Tacoma schools and colleges, since announcements concerning school functions may be also incorporated into the programs, according to Mr. Edwards.

Higby, Beck on Club Program

Featuring a talk on Hitlerism by A. J. Beck of the school faculty, the German Club met yesterday noon. Mr. Beck spoke in place of Conrad Reinhardt of Seattle who will speak at the next meeting.

To round out the program, P. R. Higby led the group in singing, and Mr. Shurek played two violin selections.

Margaret Wesson Names 26 Students On Yearbook Staff

19 on Editorial Department, 7 on Business Staff of Sage; Arnold Myhra to Manage Financial Work

Margaret Wesson, editor of the Sage, announces the staff of assistants for this year's edition of the yearbook, after receiving applications for the past two weeks. Besides the editor, there are eighteen positions announced for the editorial staff, while seven places on the business staff are being filled at this time. With the three copyreaders chosen last year, the staff is now complete and work on the bi-ennial yearbook will begin at once, announces Miss Wesson.

Because Clifford Ophelm and Victor Knutzen, last year named to be associate editors, did not return to school, two others were chosen for these positions. They are Rhoda Hokenstad and Edgar Larson. Arnold Myhra was chosen business manager to take the place formerly held by Myron Leque, who left Pacific Lutheran College to enter the University of Washington.

Class editors will be Gertrude Brunner, Freshmen; Jane Williams, Sophomores; Norman Jensen, Graduates; and Norma Preus, High School. Eldon Anderson and Herbert Norgaard will write up the organizations, and Mauryne Christensen will have charge of activities. Bill Rasmussen will write religion; Dorothy Delmarter, music; and Carroll Ertesken and Eleanor Raudebaugh, men's and women's athletics, respectively.

Snapshots will be taken care of by Shirley Savage and Emory Whitaker. Gerhardt Pfueger will write up high school features, and Kenneth Johnson will be the staff artist. Staff typists will be Selma Bafus and Agnes Langness.

Under Arnold Myhra in the business department as advertising managers are Evelyn Irwin and Leonard Wesson, and Ervin Dammel as assistant in the advertising department. Circulation will be taken care of by Roland Swanson, manager, and Virginia Byers, assistant. Ruth Carlson will do the accounting.

Those chosen last year to be copy-readers are John Van Leuven, William Gier and Hazel Monson.

Because no annual was published last year, the 1933 and 1932 Sages will be incorporated into the book published this year. No definite outlines of the book have been announced as yet, but some novel ideas are being formulated, according to Miss Wesson's announcement.

Kathryn Johnson Will Head Graduating Class

As a result of elections held last Tuesday noon, Kathryn Johnson will be president of the Graduating Class this year. She won over Oscar Anderson and Norman Westling, other candidates for the position. Oscar Anderson will be vice president; Georgianna McClure, secretary; and Edgar Larson, treasurer. A motion that there be no sergeant-at-arms for the class passed. As usual, Dean Philip E. Hauge will be adviser of the graduating group.

Although Pacific Lutheran College has three different birthdays, it has never, to our knowledge, celebrated any. The reason is that its first birthday, that of Pacific Lutheran Academy, falls on October 14; the second, that of Columbia Lutheran College, on October 18; and the third, that of Pacific Lutheran College proper, on October 4. Naturally this makes it difficult to settle upon any one date for the joint celebration of the natal days of all. However, the time is near at hand for settling this matter. The fortieth anniversary of Pacific Lutheran Academy, the oldest component of Pacific Lutheran College, as well as the oldest Lutheran School on the Coast, will occur on October 14, next year. This is an event of great significance and should be commemorated in such a manner as to bring into relief the entire history of Pacific Lutheran College. Since the other two natal days with which we are concerned also fall within the month of October, one before and the other after the fourteenth, we would suggest that those in charge choose October 14 as the day for the joint celebration of all.

During the well-nigh forty years of its operation Pacific Lutheran College has been true to its aim—the building of character on a Christian foundation. Many changes have taken place, but the guiding purpose has ever been the same. The form of its service has changed, but not its nature and end. Its foundation—Christianity—abides.

This has resulted in the growth of that something which, for the want of a better word, we shall call a tradition, and which now is beginning to take definite form. This something, however intangible it may seem, is nevertheless a thing of power which makes its influence felt by all who came under its spell.

The Viewpoint-Makes a Difference

A person's conception of right and wrong whether in morals, manners, or general conduct is determined by his experiences—his contact with other lives. The sum total of his experiences—his education in the broadest sense of that word—is the point from which he views the lives of his fellowmen. As experiences differ, so do viewpoints. Hence the difference in judgments.

"What would your countrymen think of the behavior of American college students at a game of football," we recently asked of a student from a foreign country. "Why, they wouldn't tolerate it for a moment," he promptly replied. Thus, what is considered proper in one country or society may seem improper, silly, and even absurd in another. It all depends on the viewpoint.

Trinity League Meets

Dean Philip E. Haug was the speaker at the meeting Sunday of the Trinity Lutheran League, when members of the Pacific Lutheran College faculty and student body entertained for new members. "Our purpose in life" was Dean Haug's subject. Other numbers in the program included piano numbers by Rhoda Holmstad; a reading by Jean-Marie P. Wier; and a vocal selection by Ronald Martin. During the business meeting five delegates were chosen to represent the Trinity League at the South Puget Sound Circuit Lutheran League convention, to be held in the Ballard First Lutheran Church Nov. 3, 4, and 5.

HAVE YOU MET?

Tawny colored curly hair is her crown of glory. Blue green eyes and a Peppodent smile add much to her charm. She's a very popular co-ed and an exceptionally active student, being a member of the student council; and an enthusiastic and supporter and past officer of the Swimming Club. She greets one and all with an infectious smile and a cheery "Hi! Everybody agrees that she has a strong, husky pair of lungs.

Platinum blond hair (the envy of many a gal), is one of his many distinguishing characteristics. He's not so very tall, and he's not especially short. Recently he was elected to a very high position in one of the outstanding clubs of the school. He appreciates the finer arts, being highly proficient at the pianoforte. He is a member of the third-year normal class. Our hero also has a decided fancy for a petite blond.

Open Secrets

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH:
That Bud and Melba were duly chaperoned on the Parkland Limited by those two loyal brothers of that great fraternity, the Mystic Knights of the Sea, Anderson and Lemming;

That a black cat gave three gals a thrill when it crossed their path last Friday the 13th;

That Ruth Gordon made a record-breaking dash in front of the oncoming street car unaccompanied by her basifal swain, who discreetly retired from the limelight;

That the boys tried to dampen the freshie girls' ardor at the late initiation;

That Jane Williams has always had a fondness for Christmas Carols and otherwise;

That Dean Haug and Mr. Highby received tokens of high esteem in forms of slices of bread generously covered with jam, from two freshies performing initiation rituals;

That Pearl and Charlie are the new holders of the Bannister Leanege title;

That Eula Mae Goff, tripped up the aisle and blushingy presented Mr. Xavier with a rose-creaked apple;

That Mill and Helen are great athletes—always hiking t the kicking post;

That Bev Shuster, thanks to Marie, has practically deserted the ranks of the gay bachelors;

That Boen put Nolan way back in the dust the other noon, in their daily race;

That the freshie girls can take it; That even if there is a national depression, merchandise will never supplant good old-fashioned rage;

That Bondy ain't worth his salt as a haunter anyway.

Margaret Wesson Wins Pearl Oratory Award

Margaret Wesson won a pearl pin in an oratorical contest sponsored by the Women's Christian Temperance Unit last Thursday evening.

To win the pearl award, one must first win a silver pin and a gold medal in similar contests. Miss Wesson won her silver award seven years ago, and the gold one two years later. She won over five contestants, each of whom had previously won silver and gold pins, and who represented widespread parts of the state in the contest sponsored during the W.C.T.U. convention held in Tacoma last week.

Parkland Golf Course

Reids Hitch Hike to School, After Being Taken to CPS; Stranded on Highway, They Take Ride in Ancient Ford

Imagine, if you can, Mr. Reid out thumbing his way to school. But he manfully swallowed his pride and climbed in to the poor excuse for one of Henry's ancient combinations which boasted powers to run.

It all happened like this, to explain that he really was not out of funds. As Mr. Reid and Don stepped out of their home to come to school yesterday mornink, a family friend happened along and offered to drive the two young men to school. He took them to the College of Puget Sound, of all places. Mr. Reid looked longingly at the street car he usually took, as it went its way without them. Finally he mustered courage to tell the driver that they were heading for Pacific Lutheran College at Parkland.

"Well, that's fine," remarked the obliging friend. "I'm going to Stella-loom, so the general directions are the same." When the party approached the division of highways on south Union Avenue where one road goes to Stellacoom and the other toward Parkland, Mr. Reid gently hinted to the driver that P.L.C. was only a little "step" to the left, with emphasis on the last part. Then "I'll just let you out here," said the unsuspecting friend. That's how it all started that Mr. Reid and his brother, stranded out by the seven-mile house, stopped the first old Ford that came along.

Even if Mr. Reid had to hold his hat in his hand because ceiling effects were low, the two were glad of the opportunity to ride. But bad luck was hot on their trail, as the driver announced his gas supply was low. No service stations were to be found on the highway. However, walking distance was constantly being lessened.

With a grateful sigh of relief, Mr. Reid informed the driver that their destination was "only a step down the road" and that they could walk. All this, when they had reached Modahl's Service Station on the airport road. And now Mr. Reid informs us that the airport road really is "quite a step" from school.

Delta Rho Gamma Meets, To Elect Fall Officers

At the meeting of Delta Rho Gamma last Thursday the group chose Eunice Arneson to be vice-president for the fall semester; Evelyn Irwin, secretary; and Alice Nolan, treasurer. As the need of a corresponding secretary was felt, the group chose Margaret Wesson to that position. This was the first meeting at which new girls were present.

Florence Post, president, appointed a committee of Melba Ross, Margaret Wesson, and Vivian Campbell to look into the matter of changing the club pin. Pins now on hand are 75-cents the felt shields 15-cents. A discussion of forming a mothers auxiliary was put off to a later date.

AMONG ALUMNI

Bill Shore, a former student and football star on the Gladiator team, is attending Washington State College.

Myron Leque, who attended Pacific Lutheran College last spring, is now at the University of Washington. Myron, besides being on the football team, was made business manager of the Saga for this year.

Helen Garbell, who attended Pacific Lutheran College last year, is now enrolled at Racine's Western Institute of Accountancy in Tacoma.

Alice "Buster" Roe '31, who attended college here last year, visited at school last Friday.

Arnold Thorsen '31, was last summer married to Solveig Waagen, also of the Class of '31.

Marie Vandlinburg '31, who is now teaching at Lakebay, is president of the Lutheran League at Lutheran Memorial Church in Tacoma.

Kenneth Roach, a student here last year, is now working at the Carsten Packing Co. in Tacoma.

Mabel McCarter, a former student, has announced her marriage to John Strong, to take place November 30.

Cora Lien, who led the honor roll here last fall, is attending business school in Aberdeen, Wash.

Margaret Craft and Alice Peterson Represent L.D.R.

Margaret Craft and Alice Peterson, vice president and secretary, respectively, of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation, represented that group at the South Puget Sound Circuit convention of the Women's Missionary Federation held Oct. 17 at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Crowlev, Virginia Mahneke, president of the Pacific Lutheran College, L.D.R. group was unable to attend.

Talks were given at the annual convention by Mrs. H. L. Poss of Seattle on "How may our women further the Spiritual life of the church;" by Mrs. P. C. Mason on "Faith—the heritage of our children;" by Mrs. A. W. Ramstad on "P.L.C.—a home mission enterprise;" and by Mrs. A. H. O. Erickson of Aberdeen on "The L.D.R. Northern Light."

Bardon Addresses 3 Groups

P. J. Bardon addressed the P.-T. A. at the Firgrove school, Puyallup, Sept. 29, on "Why the present conditions and trends of thinking are leading toward the solution of present problems." The next week-end he addressed the Campus Mission of Seattle on the subject "What part should Christians take in the solution of present-day problems." Tomorrow night he will speak at a father and son banquet in Gettlesman Lutheran Church, Seattle.

KAMPUS... COMMENTS

Everyone got a lot of fun out of the Delta Rho Gamma initiation. Among other things, we noticed:

Volly Norby presenting Mr. Hoog with a bunch of grapes;

The "scrub" team composed of T. Daniels, M. Harmon, V. Campbell, E. Bergstrom, and A. Engen, washing the front steps;

Audrey Dale with a stunning (it stunned everyone) mode of hair dress. All braids, rope n' everything;

The rows of galoshes outside the classroom doors, which, by the way, prompts the question—did Johnny Van Leuven confuse the girls when he mixed the galoshes about?

At this time Major is getting better and better. It would have been a shame to shoot such a nice dog. The staff heartily discourages remaining or mascot since the suggestion has been made that he be called "Mange-or."

Verne Peterson approached us the other day and asked, "What is college bread?" From first hand experience we would say that, they make college bread from the flour of youth and the dough of old age. The result is a three-year loaf.

Did you know that Jean (hyphen) Marie Fowler had a birthday recently? These children do grow up. How old is she? Ask Jean.

The student body joins in the wish that Hal Votaw will be back among us soon. It was tough luck, but those grid stars can take it. Ask Bev Shuster.

Another birthday! Wilma O'Brien has just turned nineteen. We, and especially Bud, wish her all the success and happiness in the world.

But that's not all. Charlie joins the student body in heartfelt congratulations to Pearl Homme, who celebrated nineteen last Friday.

No, Mesford, a coquette is not a small coca-cola.

Ye scribe considers himself very lucky indeed. Just before copy was due for this issue, we saw part of the Pep Club's initiation. The girls had to carry their books in waste-paper baskets, among other things. The big event, however, was seeing Bergliot Vogan all done up in long braids having people autograph an egg.

P. L. C. has it—one of those specimens, the absent-minded professor. Mr. Hong proved it when he forgot (or did he) to heed Clarence Lemming's invitation that the faculty members stay for the student body program in chapel Thursday.

Between initiations and birthdays all happening at once, this reporter is going to count thirty. See you later.

7 Will Represent PLC At Luther League Meet

The ninth annual convention of the South Puget Sound Circuit Luther Leagues will be held November 3, 4, and 5 in the Ballard First Lutheran Church, Seattle/Rev. O. L. Haavik's charge. "Let the light shine" from John 7:12 will be the theme. Highlights will be a reception by the Ballard League Friday evening, a fellowship supper Saturday evening, and a choral union concert, under the direction of Kenneth Lyman Sunday afternoon.

Delegates who will represent Trinity Luther League at the annual convention are Milton Nesvig, Ronald Martin, Edgar Larson, William Pflueger and Mrs. Kenneth Jacobs. Irene Dahl and Berdine Knutsen, president and assistant secretary of the circuit, respectively, will also attend the convention.

Major Braden Speaks on 'Life and Leisure' Oct. 15

"Life and Leisure" was the topic of a chapel address given Monday, Oct. 16, by Major George W. Braden of Pasadena, Calif. Major Braden, the western representative of the National Recreation Association, told of work being done throughout the country along recreational lines.

He stated that with the ever increasing amount of leisure time on the hands of the American people, the recreational problem is steadily becoming more complex. Major Braden recommended that people use their leisure time to their own cultural advantage, by interesting themselves in a hobby, and told of several instances in which this has been done.

Rev. Johnson To Speak

On Friday, Nov. 3, Rev. Elmer Johnson of Olympia will speak at the regular chapel exercises. Rev. Johnson, who also spoke in chapel last year, made the baccalaureate address for the Class of 1952.

Gladiators Defeat Albany College 6-0 In Tacoma Friday

Tuffy Smith Plunges Through Right Tackle to Collect Only Score of Game in Last Four Minutes of Play

Displaying the best brand of football they have shown this year, the Pacific Lutheran glidders defeated Albany College 6-0 last Friday at the Lincoln bowl. Despite the muddy condition of the gridiron, both teams presented a good exhibition of open football.

The only touchdown of the game came when Mary Hansen, Gladiator guard blocked a punt on Albany's 32-yard line. The Lutherans recovered and started a sustained drive which culminated in the score. After a pass, Smith to Gene Jack, advanced the pigskin to the 13-yard line. The Lutherans applied straight football to make a first down on the two yard line. "Tuffy" Smith plunged through right tackle from the two yard line.

The first period saw the Gladiator passing attack functioning very effectively, several long gains being garnered via the aerial route. Immediately after the opening kickoff the Lutherans started a sustained drive which brought the ball to the Albany six-yard line, but the big red team presented an impenetrable defense and held for downs.

With muddy uniforms slowing up the game somewhat, the two elevens played even-seven football in the second quarter. Albany's opportunity came when they penetrated Gladiator territory to the 20-yard line. After repeated line bucks they were stopped, they elected to try a place kick. The ball fell short however, ending Albany's scoring activities for the half.

The Lutheran defense showed up formidably in the third quarter when the Albany machine passed its way to the three-yard line. After three successive line plunges did not gain yardage, the visitors lost the ball when a pass over the goal line was incomplete.

Late in fourth canto the Gladiators scored the touchdown and were well on their way toward another when the game ended.

The lineups:

Pacific Lutheran (6)	(6) Albany
Mackie LER	Alpaugh
Cronquist LTR	Miller
Schlerman LQR	Nichols
Johnson C	Cox
Hansen RGL	Patterson
Swint RTL	Coffield
Willard REL	Keilbrook
O'Connor Q	Barnes
Moore LHR	McClain
Gerlitz RHL	H. Keith
Smith P	N. Keith

Substitutions:
Pacific Lutheran: Sandy Levinson, Jack. Shuster, Pedersen, Martin, Piper, Eviding, Sanderson; Albany: Buchanan, Lewellan, Studell.

Sport Slants

By Milton Nesvig

After taking two games on the chin, the Gladiators snored out of it last Friday and Albany was the victim. Although PLC scored only one touchdown, the Albany goal line was in danger during the entire fracas. Lots of fire and drive and an impenetrable defense were the reason for the victory, which, according to the team, should have included at least three more touchdowns.

S. S.

The devastation of injuries has again struck our camp. This time in the form of a broken ankle; and the victim—Hal Votaw, sensational little halfback. The injury, sustained in the first quarter of the St. Martin's game, brought an untimely end to what promised to be a brilliant season for Hal. His loss is keenly felt and leaves a tough assignment for Coach Olson to fill. One of our best tackles Earl Enochs, has been out for a week with a bad leg, but will be back in the lineup soon.

S. S.

In every game this season our backfield has shown a weakness in pass defense. Maybe the same thing is present on our team as what the Gonzaga Coach Pecarovich, says—"If you see the attacking team throw a pass which sails through the air right into the arms of a waiting player to be carried for a long gain, don't think the trouble is with the defense plan. It is because some one on the defense is thinking of some blonde up in the stands."

S. S.

Here are a few more interesting things to think about which Coach Pecarovich says regarding this problem: "The idea that girls are an inspiration to a football player is a hoax! Keep your players away from them as you would away from poison." We don't know Coach Olson's views on this subject, but you know how coaches are, girls. He probably agrees.

S. S.

The support which the team has received this year is gratifying. At the St. Martin's game in Olympia, we had as many out as the home team; and our rooters made twice as much noise. Last Friday at the Albany game another good crowd presented itself, and let the team know they were there. The result—a victory. That's what support does, keep it up!

S. S.

Why the lack of interest in golf and swimming? Attempts have been made this fall to run a golf tournament, but only a few students have signed up. Although it's getting pretty late, the matches will be run off if enough enter. The same thing is true of swimming. Last year we had a fine club and at the opening meeting this year more than sixty turned out. Parties have been planned on two occasions, but both had to be cancelled. All of us like swimming, it doesn't cost much, and its lots of fun. Let's get behind these activities, students, and put them over.

S. S.

Next Friday when we play Ellensburg is the last chance we have to see our Gladiators in action on their home field. Ellensburg has always fielded a strong team and this year will be no exception. Our team is out for a victory against them, as they have come out on the long end of the score the last two years. In the Gladiators' last home encounter, let's get out and give them all the support we can muster and pack those stands Friday.

20 Co-Eds 'Pass Hat' At Albany Game Oct. 20

At the game with Albany last Friday, Coach Olson used the same plan for collecting revenue as he did at the Lincoln game, that of girls passing the hat between halves. This plan was adopted to replace the usual admission fee.

The twenty Pacific Lutheran College co-eds who took up the collection were Margaret Wesson, Ellen Bergstrom, Virginia Campbell, Madge Harmon, Gertrude Steinberg, Elspeth Andrak, Enid Hutson, Marie Johnson, Evelyn Monson, Louise Jackson, Audrey Ann Dale, Thelma Daniels, Elizabeth Stuen, Maurryne Christensen, Dorothy Delamarter, Winifred Butsch, Norma Preus, Eleanor Raudebaugh, Mildred Monson, and Melba Ross.

PLC Prepares to Face Ellensburg, Columbia

After breaking into the win column by defeating Albany College 6-0 last Friday, Coach Olson's Gladiators are working hard in preparation for the invasion of Ellensburg Normal Friday at the Lincoln bowl.

Although little is known of the strength of the Ellensburg team, they have always given the Gladiators stiff competition in previous games. With the W.P.A. convention tomorrow and Friday attracting many Pacific Lutheran followers, a large crowd is expected to attend the game.

Saturday, Nov. 4 Coach Olson will take his squad to Portland to meet the formidable Columbia University team. Advance reports indicate that the Portland Irishmen represent the strongest aggregation on the Gladiator schedule.

However, Coach Olson has two weeks in which to prepare his gridirers for the clash and should have them in the best possible condition.

Lutherans Taken By Rangers, 197

Playing an approved brand of football, a fighting Lutheran team went down to a 19-7 defeat at the hands of St. Martin's, in Olympia Saturday, Oct. 14.

In the center of the Lutheran line, the Rangers found a stone wall but around the ends and via the air they made many long gains. The Gladiator offense sparked well at times and succeeded in producing one score. In the making of first downs the Rangers had quite an advantage, 14-5.

A long pass from McMillan to Whalen in the first few minutes of the game placed the ball on the four-yard stripe. On the next play Reichman went over and converted.

The remainder of the half was a saw-saw affair with neither team threatening to score.

The Gladiators came out of the rest period, took the kickoff, and let loose with a sustained drive that resulted in a touchdown. A pass from Smith to Mackey resulted in the score. O'Connor converted.

Until the last of the quarter, the Lutherans had the upper hand; but a pass, McMillan to Reichman, caught them napping and resulted in a touchdown.

Consistent gains on running plays resulted in another score for the Rangers. Reichman again scoring.

"Tuffy" Smith, Lutheran fullback, stood out both on offense and defense.

and Cronquist and Johnson looked good in the line. The star of the Lutheran backfield, Hal Votaw, broke his ankle in the first quarter and will be out for the remainder of the season.

Reichman was the star for St. Martin's and scored all their points. Old-john at guard was outstanding in the line.

The lineups:

P.L.C. (7)	(19) St. Martin's
Jack LER	Frye
Cronquist LTR	Tucker
Schlerman LQR	Weibler
Johnson C	Hagerty
