

Round Up Days of 1951 Begins Tonight

White Dorm Now Called "Ivy Hall"

Residents of the White Dorm made history this week when they renamed the PLC landmark "Ivy Hall." Forgetting all traditions and sentiment, the 36 White Dorm occupants voted almost unanimously in favor of the new, more dignified title.

Full approval of the name-change was given by the faculty and a huge sign will soon be erected in front of the edifice, bearing the name "Ivy Hall." In keeping with it, ivy will be planted around the base of the hall immediately, according to President Phil Vorvick. Further landscaping will also be done to beautify the surrounding area.

Building Erected in 1946

The building was brought to the PLC campus and erected in the summer of 1946 as a part of the government education program for veterans. Its 18 rooms house a total of 34 students and the adviser, Mr. Reitan.

Officers of the group are: President, Phil Vorvick; vice-president, J. P. Carlstrom; treasurer, Duane Tolleson.

PACIFIC LUTHERAN COLLEGE, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1951

NO. 4

Naomi Roe Chosen As PLC Queen

Beauty will reign over PLC this weekend when the three lovely members of the royal Homecoming court take over official duties Friday evening at the traditional coronation. The queen will be crowned by Neil Hoff, state representative and former PLC student.

The crown and all its responsibility will rest this year, upon the gleaming red curls of Naomi Roe, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Kjelmer Roe of Parkland. Supported by the admiration and good wishes of her subjects, she will receive the official scepter before a crowd of alumni, students, faculty and college friends.

Born in Decorah, Iowa, where her father was teaching at Luther College, Naomi has always been active in school clubs. She began her education in Sacramento, Calif., where she lived for 15 years. During her freshman year at PLC she was secretary of the class, and in her sophomore year she was elected secretary of the Associated Women Students, yell leader and a Spur member. This year she is kept busy outside of class teaching two hours of folk dancing at the Parkland grade school and attending DRG and L.S.A. meetings. Since this summer she has been busy helping Paul Arlton plan the Homecoming festivities.

Plays Football, Too

Members of the Student Council have observed that Queen Naomi is a good halfback, having played the last two years for the DRG team. However, Naomi states that her royal duties will prevent her from donning her football uniform this year.

PLC's first red-headed queen for many years attributes her flaming tresses to the red hair in her father's moustache. This is something few people know about, she admits. The 5-ft., 7-in. 125-pound queen with sparkling blue eyes is majoring in Education, in the fields of Physical Education and Biology.

This summer Naomi worked on the college board at Rhodes Department Store with other representatives from the University of Washington, W.S.C. and G.P.S. Naomi represented PLC on the annual board.

Ruling with Queen Naomi will be her two princesses, senior Margaret Lucas and junior Marion Cummings.

Margaret Lucas is Princess. Princess Margaret was a transfer from Centralia Junior College in Centralia, where her father is minister of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

During her high school years in Centralia she was selected basketball queen in her sophomore year and a princess in her senior year. She was also the Homecoming queen at the Centralia College.

In Centralia, Margaret was president of the Co-ed Club and a member of the College Singers and the German Club. Since she arrived at PLC last year she has been active in the Inne Society, LDR and F.T.A. This year she is vice-president of F.T.A. and president of the DPK, dorm girls. Last spring she was elected junior May Day Princess.

Fall L.S.A. Retreat To Be At Camp Wyeth, In Oregon

"God's World—Our Mission." This stirring challenge has been selected as the theme for the Lutheran Student Association's Fall Retreat, to be held October 19, 20 and 21, at Camp Wyeth, Oregon, under the auspices of the University of Oregon L.S.A.

The retreat is part of the Christian fellowship program of the L.S.A.'s Pacific Northwest Region, which embraces the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Keynoting the retreat will be a message by Pastor Clyde Grimstedt, Western Regional Secretary of L.S.A. Formerly a resident of Seattle, Pastor Grimstedt now makes his home in Berkeley, Calif.

Other highlights on the schedule of speeches are talks by students Bill Smith, of the University of Oregon, and Ed Svensen, of Oregon State College, as well as reports on the Ashram, held this summer at Interlocken, Mich. Group Bible studies at the retreat will center about the two portions of the Book of Acts discussed at the Ashram, chapters three and 16 to 34.

According to John Blom, Regional President of L.S.A., registration books will be opened at four o'clock Friday, October 19. The first meal at the camp will be served at six, followed by an opening mixer at 7:30. Although definite arrangements have not as yet been made with regards to registration of PLC students who wish to attend the retreat, Miss Grace Blomquist, faculty adviser of the PLC chapter of L.S.A., related that those who desire to take in the event will be able to sign up in Main hall during the first part of next week, upon payment of the one dollar registration fee. She went on to state that transportation will be available for about two dollars, and that the camp costs should amount to approximately five

1952 Saga To Be Out By Graduation

"The 1952 Saga definitely will be distributed the week previous to Commencement," Editor Joanne Nodtvedt stated last week.

This year's Saga will be divided into sections according to buildings on the campus. Each section will center around the activities of the particular building.

Helping Joanne will be the staff which she announced last week. Associated editor is Shirley Sagehorn, who will automatically become editor next year.

Heading the Student Union section is Joanne Schwartzwalter, assisted by Audrey Engstrom and Joyce Rasmussen.

Old Main editors are Inga Astrup and Joanne Schief. Their assistant is Delores Hagevik.

Janet Klippen is editor of the Chapel-Music-Speech section, assisted

Five Big Events On Agenda For Saturday

Tomorrow will be the "big day" for both students and alums, with five Homecoming events on the agenda. Starting the ball rolling will be the "Powder Puff Bowl" clash between the Dorm and Day girls on the turf between the library and the science hall.

Immediately following the contest, the frosh will engage in a tug o' war with their tormentors, the sophomores. If the frosh are victorious, their "frosh days" will end; if not the sophs will extend their period of enjoyment.

Some thirty floats will leave Parkland at 11:30 and parade through Tacoma via Pacific Ave. The queen and her court will ride in a gaily-decorated carriage. Leading the procession will be the PLC band.

The parade will terminate at Lincoln Bowl, just previous to the PLC-Central affair at 2 p.m.

A special barbecue ham supper will be served for the grads in the SUB at 6 p.m.

Ending the day's activities will be the "Round-up Rumble" in the gym at 8 p.m. Preceding the rambing will be entertainment provided by alumni.

SPECIAL MUMS ON SALE

Special mum corsages for alumni and students will be sold by Spur members at the game Saturday. The PLC mums will be placed on special sticks and will be sold at the main gates for $1.00.

Convertible, Carriage To Carry Royalty

For her transportation from place to place tomorrow, Queen Naomi and her princesses will command a 1951 chartrreuse Ford convertible, the personal auto of Leon Titus, owner of Titus Motor Co.

In the downtown section of the parade, the regal trio will ride in a genuine surrey with a fringe on top, supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Haakenson of Parkland.

by Mary Olson and Anne Knorr. The gym section will be laid out by co-editors Mary Lynn Myklebust and Kenny Johnson.

Thelma Stawick heads the Library section and her assistants are Ellen Sessen and Margie Hill.

Darlene Waldron takes care of the Science Building. Her assistants are Hermina Meyer and Ruth Moe.

Classes will be lined up by Mari-kanon. Registration Friday, Oct. 19

The last section, Organizations, will be headed by Hazel Johnson and Marcel Fink. Beverly Tranum and Joan Chermut will assist.

QUESTION of the WEEK

What do you think of Freshmen initiations?

Hal Ruddick, Senior—I think they are educational; educational for the sophomores and tragic for the freshmen. It's a kind of drama; they call it an educational tragedy. That's the reason it reminds me of "Cyrano."

Lola Murk, Sophomore—I sincerely think that the freshmen initiations are too lenient, and steps should be taken so that the lowly freshmen can sufficiently realize how fortunate they are to be able to attend this college and to associate with the honored sophomores.

Floyd Ohman, Freshman—It was a splendid way to find out who the sophomores are.

Garnet Lund, Sophomore—They're a great thing if taken in the right spirit.

Grace Foeg, Junior—It's O.K. if you're not a freshman.

Jo Nodtvedt, Junior—I think the initiations should go on through the year, because some of the students need it.

Al Fink, Junior—No statement for the press.

Larry Anderson, Freshman—I think the sophomores are entirely too rough, and furthermore they should be strung up to the nearest lamp post.

Paul Wangmo, Junior—I think they're O.K., but I think the freshmen should do more around the campus.

Thelma Stawick, Senior—It's a good idea; most schools have a tradition like it, and PLC needs one, too.

Shirley Sagehorn, Junior—I think it's a good idea because it adds copy to the school paper.

Statistics show that home accidents have caused twice as many deaths as the fighting in Korea.

Dick Barclay Ex-Gladiator Wins $1200

Dick Barclay, starting guard on last year's Lute football squad, won a total of $1200 in prizes on the Chance of a Lifetime radio show.

The show visited the Navy Submarine base at New London, Conn., where Dick is stationed, Sept. 13. He is in Basic Sub school. His monetary awards came in the form of $200 in cash plus a $1,000 Defense Bond.

Dick came to PLC last fall from Lincoln high school in Seattle where he earned All-City honors in football. In his first try at college athletics he won a starting guard slot on the Lute varsity.

When Dick returns to Seattle in November he will be married to

Dick Svare, PLC Grad, Studies in Norway

Dick Svare, a 1950 graduate of Pacific Lutheran, is spending this year in Norway. His father, who was in the language department here at PLC, is an exchange professor at the University of Oslo, where Dick is attending part time.

Dick was active in the music and drama departments while at PLC and his former voice teacher, Mrs. Rønning, is elated about the fact that he is now studying under the former teacher of Kirsten Flagstad, renowned Norwegian opera singer.

During the summer Dick travelled in Europe and had the opportunity of attending the Festival of Britain.

The Svares will be in Norway until next summer, when they will return to PLC.

Prexy Says . . .

This is the first column by PLC Student Body president, Art Broback. It will be a weekly feature of the Mooring Mast. In future issues he will inform the student body about subjects discussed in Student Council meetings.

It's been a right nice week! The western atmosphere of our Homescoming is taking its hold. With corral, teepees and all the trimmings popping up all over the campus, it gives you a "hankering" for the old "cowpoke" days.

It has been a lot of fun and also a bit of work preparing for our alumni. However, our main objective is to make them feel at home. We want to extend to them a fine "Howdy do." We not only want to welcome back alumni, but also parents and friends of the student body. We hope that everyone will be able to take part in all the festivities which we have planned for them.

We especially want to have them see the fellows who push the pigskin around. They are really great. They have about the best spirit we have seen at PLC and it's going to take a mighty good team to beat them. Of course, we want to wish them (team) the best of everything, too.

Art Broback

Chapel Quotes

Dr. Eastvold:

"Without me ye can do nothing." (John 15:5). Jesus does not place a very high price on a Godless man. "Without me you are zero"—that is divine mathematics. It would be egotistical if any of us would say that. Napoleon could not say it; Caesar could not say it; but Jesus could say it!

There is a sense in which the text would fit everything. But Jesus was thinking here of the spiritual man. We get our values of who is important mixed up.

It doesn't make any difference how big or how small the zero, but where it is in relation to the decimal. You don't count until you get on the right side of the decimal—until you get in partnership with God. You will count not because of what you are, but because of the relationship you have. The Spirit of God can move you over if you let Him. As soon as you move over, you count.

Quotable Quotes:

"A man at his wit's end is not at his faith's end."

—Mathew Henry

Dr. Nodtvedt:

College is God's laboratory. When you became a Christian you registered in God's great school and you want to continue.

Professor Ramstad:

No other organization has, for such a long time and so effectively, done good deeds as the Church.

Alumni Association Elects Officers; To Provide Entertainment Saturday

The talent show preceding the "Round-up Rumble" in the gym tomorrow night, will be produced by the PLC Alumni Association as one of their many projects.

Directed by President Bill Ramstad, the group is working hard to get all PLC graduates active in alumni affairs. They plan monthly meetings throughout the year.

The Constitution committee is now working under the guidance of Neil Hoff, state representative, on a new constitution to be ready at the 1952 Alumni Reunion.

Professor Theodore Karl was appointed the new adviser, taking the place of Miss Blomquist, previous adviser.

Hearty thanks were extended by the group to Naomi Roe and Paul Arlton, co-chairmen of 1951 Homecoming, for their excellent work.

In addition to Prexy Ramstad the other officers are: vice-president, Harry Lang; corresponding secretary, Victoria Sanerud; recording secretary and treasurer, Helen Snyder.

Students To Meet Here For Congress

With the crack of the gavel, the Congress of the United States will convene for a day on the PLC campus. Students from over 300 high schools, some as far away as Portland, have been invited to attend the Annual High School Student Congress on Saturday, October 27.

Bill Rieke, director of the congress, announced that each school will send two senators and two representatives, with one additional representative for every 500 students in a student body of over 300. The aspiring leaders will follow the complete history of a bill through Congress, including committee meetings, sessions of the House and Senate, and a final joint session. At this time trophies will be awarded to the top three participants and certificates of merit will go to other outstanding students.

Pi Kappa Delta, forensic honorary, is sponsoring the event. The Speaker of the House, Bill Rieke, and President of the Senate, Jon Ericson, Congress officials, temporary committee chairmen and judges will be experienced members of Pi Kappa Delta. Participation in the Congress, however, is not limited to members of the speech department. There will be jobs available for all Lutes interested in making the occasion a success.

Reformation Series Begins Today

At the right is the first in a series of articles on Martin Luther and the Reformation. Four articles will be run in successive issues, the series ending just previous to Reformation Day. They are sent out by the American Lutheran Publicity bureau.

Queen To Be Crowned Tonight In Student Union

Things will start popping in more than one way tonight!

Homecoming festivities will get underway tonight at 7:30 with three one-act plays and the coronation of the queen in the SUB, followed by some real fireworks at the pep rally.

Fireworks and a huge bonfire, built by the freshman class, will be features of the "Round Up the Wildcats" pep rally. Lute Coach Mary Harshman and Captain Bob Nielson will speak at the rally.

The three one-act plays, "They Clean the Attic," "Alma Mater," and "The Valiant" are sponsored by Curtain Call Club. The directors of the plays are Hazel Johnson, Helen Jensen and Howard Worley, and Harriet Olson, respectively.

Winners in the beard-growing contest will be awarded prizes tonight, also.

Following the pep rally, a special coffee hour will be held for alumni in the SUB.

WHAT MADE LUTHER GREAT?

Hundreds of biographies of the great Reformer have been written—in English, Latin, German, French, Danish, Swedish, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Polish, Lithuanian, and other languages—Why?

Says Monsignor Jos. McMahon: "In studying the life and work of Martin Luther, we must recognize frankly that he was one of the greatest personalities in the history of the human race." Or to quote Preserved Smith, noted historian: "Among the great prophets, the last of world importance, Martin Luther, has taken his place."

Or to repeat the words of the great English divine, Alexander Maclaren: "There were three men in the past who reach out their hands to one another across the centuries, St. Paul, St. Augustine, and Martin Luther."

But what was it that made Martin Luther "an Atlas who lifted the world upon his shoulders and carried it over into another age," as one historian describes him?

It was nothing but Luther's rediscovery of the Christian Gospel. Or, as another writer puts it: "Luther's first claim on our gratitude consists in this, that he took the truth from the shelves where it had reposed, dust-covered, through centuries, that he lifted the truth from the casket in which it had lain, smothered with sacerdotal garments, and called with a loud voice, 'I say unto thee, arise!'"

Luther taught nothing new! He taught no doctrine which Christ had not taught. But he did insist that men must teach and believe everything that Christ had revealed to them.

He insisted that all religion must be based on the Bible alone. 2 Tim. 3:16. He insisted that man is saved by grace alone; that salvation is 100% a free gift of God's mercy. Rom. 11:16. He insisted that man becomes a partaker of this free salvation alone by faith in the Atonement of the Savior. Gal. 2:16. And he insisted that the individual Christian has direct access to the father-heart of God through Jesus Christ without any human intermediary. 1 Tim. 2:19; 1 Pet. 2:9.

That was the secret of Luther's greatness. He had rediscovered the Gospel of Christ, which St. Paul had said was "the power of God." With that power on his side, the success of his tremendous undertaking was assured.

Girls to Battle In Bowl Tilt Sat. Morning

Preparations are tapering off for the annual Powder Puff Bowl football game which starts off at 10 a.m. tomorrow and matches the Bruising Bustles against the potent Galloping Girdles.

Coach Roger Larson and his Bruising stalwarts will be out to avenge their 13-6 defeat at the hands of the Girdles last fall. The Girdles, however, are determined to continue their winning streak to three straight.

Rounding out the backfield for the Day Girls will be big Carol Schuler at quarterback; Joy Gilmore, left half; Betty Hall, fullback; and the right half position will go to Dorothy Sweet or Sharon Morgan.

Linemen for the DRG'ers are: Barbara Ahlberg and Mary Olson, ends; Ila Eide, Martha Coolick and Marilyn Jensen, tackles; Charlotte La Qua and Shirley Francis, guards; and Deadeye Faith Buelتمان, center.

DPK Favored

As for the Galloping Girdles, the coaches, Nielsen and Schrupp, have been sending their charges through hot and heavy drills for the past week in an attempt to forge a team that can perform as well as last year's. The Girdles' main offensive threat is Hot Foot (JoAnn) Swartzwaller, fullback, who battered all opposition last season. Three sensational freshmen round out the backfield: Joanne Freeman, quarterback; and Katherine Biery and Marceil Fink, right and left halfbacks, respectively.

The formidable 213 pound line of the Girdles promises to be a treat to see in action. With the signing of 220-pound freshman Helen Anderson and the veteran Hermina Myer as tackles, the forward wall should be greatly strengthened. Other 200 pounders are Helen Enger and Janet Franklin, ends; Marilyn (Speed) Wallace and Eileen Hessen, guards. Captain and center, Molly Spitznagel, weighs in at 177.

Gladiator Gridsters Continue Football Which Began in 1926 Under Ramstad

Football was inaugurated at Pacific Lutheran the fall of 1926. Since then the teams and their coaches have made interesting history for PLC admirers.

Rev. A. W. Ramstad started the sport and held the reins until 1929 when Cliff Olson came over from Spokane College. Ramstad is now head of the chemistry department. Olson stayed on until 1947 when he turned over the coaching chores to his proteges, Marv Tommervik and Marv Harshman. He then went into business in Tacoma.

Tommervik coached the squad up until 1950 when he went into business for himself and left the chore for Marv Harshman.

During the 25 years of gridiron history at the Parkland school, the teams have played 158 games (not including the three this fall). The Lutes have won 87 games, lost 55 and tied 16.

Back in the early '30s when the depression was at its worst, Pacific Lutheran grid teams were playing to empty seats. The fans just couldn't afford to pay.

Coach Cliff Olson came up with a novel idea in the fall of '34. He let the fans in free. Tacoma Stadium was jammed to capacity for every game.

"We passed the hat between the halves," Olson relates, "and we took in a lot more money than we did before with admission. The move also served to build up interest in our team and school."

When "Rammy," as Ramstad is affectionately called, had his initial turnout, there was only one man who had had previous gridiron experience. He was Gerhard Lane, who had been a substitute quarterback at the Stanwood high school eleven which had lost every game it played the year before.

Lane became a missionary to China, and was killed in the Philippines when the war broke out in December, 1941.

The rest of the men on that first eleven are living on the Pacific coast, with the exception of Theodore Fedt of Silverdale, who died several years ago.

Six of them ended up in the teaching profession. Clarence Lund is principal of the Downing school, Lydell Kreidler is at Federal Way, Carl Colton is at McKinley school, Wilbert Nyman is in Olympia, Arnold Thomsen is in Everett, and Olaf Ordahl is in Kirkland.

Alfred Lund, brother of Clarence, is an engineer in a Longview sawmill.

Alvar Beck returned to his alma mater to teach history during the mid-thirties. He left the teaching game to go into business. Now he's working as a plumber with a construction crew up in the Aleutians.

The field of agriculture claimed three of those gridders. Walter French has a farm in Burlington and Garvik Olson has one in Stanwood. Sverre Omdal of Bow is the director of agri-

Lutes Defeat Vikings 14-0 At Bellingham

PLC's hard-driving Gladiators thoroughly trounced the much bally-hoed Western Washington eleven at Bellingham by a decisive 14-0 score last Saturday.

It was the second consecutive win for the Lutes and put them in a tie for first place with the other Tacoma school, CPS.

Statistics for the fracas show that PLC outgained Western 289 yards to 141 on the ground and in first downs, 18 to 15.

Although the Glad backs were driving with everything they had, and the forward wall made holes at times big enough to drive a jeep through, the defensive play almost overshadowed the offensive performance.

Twice the PLCites held off Viking touchdown drives. In the second quarter they held on the two-yard stripe. Then came the play of the game. Western was awarded the ball on the 1-yard line and in three plays gained only seven inches. PLC took over when they recovered a fumble, after the Viks third try at the line.

Al Fink scored both TD's for the Parklanders on a 15-yard off-tackle play and a 25-yard scamper. Bill Stringfellow converted twice.

The first score came in the second quarter, climaxing a 70-yard drive. The clincher came in the third period.

culture for the state of Washington.

The Vikings' love for the sea lured Peter Flott who is first mate on a merchant ship sailing out of Long Beach.

Arthur Knutzen became a Lutheran minister, and at present he is in Canby, Ore. For nine years he served at a parish in Gig Harbor.

The rest of the men are in business. Alfred (Cap) Anderson is a Tacoma hardwareman. Selling gas and oil is keeping Clifford Olson (no relation to the former Lute coach) of Parkland busy. Arling Sannerud lives in Parkland, and is on the road for a magazine publishing concern. Norris Engling (of the Tacoma Langlois) is an executive in a Port Gamble lumber mill.

When last heard from, John Wiese was in some phase of the business field in southeastern Alaska. Prior to that he was a reporter for the Ketchikan Daily Chronicle. William Hopper is a salesman in Glendale, Calif.

Rudy Sanderson, another member of the first Lute outfit, is now a florist in Olympia.

Every team in those days had a mascot. Billy Ramstad, son of the coach, had the enviable spot. Today he is teaching in the Shoreline district in suburban Seattle.

LUTE LOCKER DUST

By Jerry Martin

Well, it looks like we missed the boat on our prediction of the PLC-Western game last week.

Offensively we were only one point off, but defensively we sunk out of sight. This week we will try to profit by last week's mistakes.

Let's take a look at Central; what do we know about them?

Their line is rated as one of the strongest in the conference (so was Western's), their backs tricky and their coach smart.

In our opinion the outcome of the game will be largely determined by whether or not the Gladiators' forward wall can out-charge that of Central.

As this issue of the Mast went to press it was doubtful whether defensive star Glen Huffman would be seeing action tomorrow night, due to a leg injury received in practice. Definitely out of the lineup will be guard John Waldorf, who suffered a severe sprain of his left ankle earlier this week in scrimmage.

Injuries such as these do not brighten the picture for the Lutes, but after careful analysis of the situation at hand we are forced to draw the conclusion that Pacific Lutheran College will once more come out on top. This time by a score of . . . 14-0.

Spliters

The Lutherans definitely showed "intestinal fortitude" last week when they held on their own 5-inch line for three downs without letting the Vikings score.

Chips

Early Saturday morning on the upper level of the campus will be played a very special football game.

Information concerning these two teams is scarce. In fact about all we know is the names: "Bruising Bustles" and the "Galloping Girdles." Since our information is so limited concerning the two teams we will have to resort to the old "heads or tails" routine to pick the winner. So here goes the coin (heads—the B.B.'s; tails—the G.G.'s). Up, up, it goes and how it lands . . . ah, I know!

It's the "Galloping Girdles" by one touchdown. I'm afraid to venture a final score.

Lutes vs. Central In Homecoming Tilt

Wildcats Out To Spoil Homecoming

Marv Harshman's "proteges" will be up against one of the roughest, toughest ball clubs this side of the Washington-Idaho border, when they meet the Central Washington Wildcats tomorrow night in the Lutes' Homecoming debut at Lincoln Bowl.

Central's line is noted for its strength and stability and should prove to be a good test of the drive of PLC's entire team.

Coach Harshman has been working hard on his "ground force" with which he hopes to give the Wildcats the same treatment the Vikings received last week.

Use Winged-T
Central works off a wing-T formation which could well give good blocking for a strong-armed quarterback, but their largest threat seems to be in the running department.

Information on the Wildcats is very scarce and as a result a feeling of anxiety has arisen on the campus which will only be relieved when the final gun sounds tomorrow afternoon.

Spectators can look forward to seeing powerful Al Fink try to break through the Central defense as he did last week against Western.

Art Swanson, Frank Karwoski, Ron Billings, Bill Stringfellow, Glen Huffman and Jim Ball will be the mainstays on which the Lutes will depend in both the offense and defense departments.

Last Last Year
Last year the Luteville warriors lost their Homecoming game to the Western Washington Vikings, 47 to 0. The same score, by the way, that many prognosticators predicted they would lose by last week.

This year the Lutes are favored to win by many, especially PLC alumni and students.

Injuries, however, may make this hard for the Lutes to accomplish. In scrimmages earlier this week, four of "Harshman's boys" were injured. They

HOPING TO KEEP the Gladiators unbeaten will be Bill Stringfellow, halfback; Chuck Forsland, at tackle; Marv Fink, center; Captain Bob Nielson, guard, and Frank Karwoski, quarterback, when they clash with the Central Wildcats in the big Homecoming game at Lincoln Bowl tomorrow afternoon.

The Wildcats are rated by many prognosticators as possessing the strongest line in the Conference Pacific Lutheran, on the other hand, is rated as having one of the fastest backfields.

Watch these boys, Alums, they'll make history tomorrow!

dollars. It is expected that, as usual, a good sized delegation will represent PLC at the retreat. Of a total of 170 students who attended the Spring retreat at Camp Wascowitz, 65 were from PLC. At that time, two PLC students were elected to regional offices in LSA. Helena Littau was named as secretary, and Art Broback was chosen financial secretary. In addition, Herb Neve and Bill Hampton were appointed Study and Witness chairman and Special Projects secretary, respectively. Miss Anne Knudson, member of the PLC faculty, is serving a two-year term as regional treasurer.

are John Waldorf, guard; Bill Waddell, tackle; Glen Huffman, end, and Doug McGrath, guard.

Of these four all but Waldorf are expected to be suited up tomorrow afternoon.

If the Gladiators take Central, it will leave only Eastern Washington and CPS between the Lutes and the Evergreen Conference title.

Chorus To Sing For Circuit League

Not only the Choir is busy preparing for performances, but PLC's smaller group, the Chorus, is working hard, too.

Under the direction of Gunnar J. Malmin the chorus will sing at the Circuit Luther League Convention at Phinney Ridge Church in Seattle, on Nov. 18. The chorus will also appear with the Choir in the Christmas festivities.

The following are members of the Chorus:

Second soprano: LaWanna Huber, Karen Kvern, Arlene Carlson, Alta Presthly, Judy Larson.

Naomi Roe Chosen Homecoming Queen

The summer for this princess was spent attending summer school at PLC and other than that, according to Margaret, she has always led a very ordinary life.

This 5-ft., 8 1/2-in., 128-pound princess with blue eyes and blond hair likes all types of sports except boxing and wrestling and is very fond of music.

Margaret, who is majoring in Education, is kept busy student teaching the third grade at Fern Hill in Tacoma and at Stewart Junior High School.

Gunning: To Santos.

Princess Marion, from Smelterville, Idaho, is another active member of the PLC family and spends most of her time this year recording the Student Body and Student Council business minutes.

She is active in Linne Society, Alpha Sigma Lambda, LDR, DPK and AWS, and was a member of the Spur organization in her sophomore year.

During her second year she was elected secretary of the Business club the first semester and treasurer the next semester, and treasurer of AWS. This year she is vice-president of the Linne group and Student Body secretary.

Her summer was spent in Hawaii attending the University of Hawaii.

In between blushes she admits that she took hula lessons during her stay in the islands.

Marion left the states by plane on June 13 and returned again by plane in the middle of August to spend a week's vacation in Portland, before returning to school. According to Marion it was a very exciting vacation since she and her sister were the only women on the Army Post which housed 5,000 men.

This 5-ft., 4-in., 112-pound princess with hazel eyes is also majoring in Education in the fields of Biology and Psychology. Because of her busy academic and activity schedule she states that she doesn't have time for any hobbies this year. Outside of class she works part time in the Registrar's office.

An urgent plea is being made by the Mooring Mast for more staff members in every department.

According to Dave Nesvig, editor, there are reporter openings for any student who has had any previous journalistic experience. Especially lacking on the M. M. staff are feature and sports writers.

For those students who prefer not to write, ad solicitors and circulation helpers are also in demand.

All those interested in helping on the paper, please contact Dave Nesvig or come to the staff meeting which will be held Monday night at 6:30 in the Mooring Mast office.
