

Auction Block Placed In CUB for Tonight

PLC's second annual all-campus auction will be held tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the CUB dining hall sponsored by Inter-Club Council as one of the three events offered on campus this spring to raise money for the Campus Chest, an equivalent of the Community Chest.

All students are welcome to come and bid on any and all articles, prizes and other surprises to be offered, announced general chairman Darrell Hines.

Such prizes as food from professors' wives and bakeries, clothes and other articles from local Tacoma and Parkland stores will be put on the block.

To liven up the festivities, late leaves, dates, girls to clean rooms and cars, a professor's car for a date, and even a ski trip sponsored by a group of faculty members will be available for bidding.

Homes have been opened for students also, and Miss Wickstrom has put up for auction her apartment for an evening, as well as Mr. Haley offering his recreation room for an evening. Many other items are also expected to be up for bid.

Entertainment at the auction will be provided by students, with Bob Fleming, '56 PLC graduate, acting as master of ceremonies. Auctioneer had not been announced at press time.

The majority of the proceeds going to the Campus Chest will go to the Tacoma Community Chest.

Assisting Darrell Hines in arranging the auction are Art Ellickson, George Fisher and Jon Soine.

Campus Soon Hosts High School Debate

February 21 and 22 will mark the dates of the Annual PLC High School Tournament.

Debaters from the Northwest area high schools will compete in events held both on the campus and in the Educational unit of Trinity Lutheran Church. Bettelou Macdonald, tournament director, invites "all members of the student body and faculty to feel free to attend as many of the events as they wish."

Herb Dempsey, head of the rooms and judges committee, asks that all who wish to judge at the tournament contact him or fill out one of the slips that will be passed out in chapel some time next week.

On the slip will be several blanks to be filled in. The assignment will be made and the final portion of the slip will be returned to you.

Debaters Cross City For Weekend Meet

Twenty PLC debaters will take part in the Tyro (beginners) Tournament at CPS February 13, 14 and 15. There will be a few senior categories.

The Oxford and One-man (Lincoln-Douglas) debate styles will be used in the competition for which some of PLC's senior debaters will act as judges. Professor T. Karl and Dr. V. Utzinger of PLC will, with one other professor, help in the judging also.

Following are the team entries in the Junior Men's Division: Jim Traynor, Orin Dahl; Cal Capner, Dave Stuart; Bob Wagner, John Olson; and Gordon Schnell, Dan Alne. In Senior Men's Division are Don Douglas and Herb Dempsey, and Dick Kraiger is entered in the One Man Senior Division.

Teams for the Junior Women's Division are: Jackie Slater, Jeris Randall; Judi Johnson, Louise Kraabel; Joyce Alton, Dolores Nims; and Nancy Walker, Carolyn Bloomfield. Bettelou Macdonald will compete in the One Woman Senior Division.

"Catsup Carnival" Set for February 13

"Catsup Carnival" time will soon be coming to PLC's campus, as APO members prepare for the annual blood drive, to be Feb. 13 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Donors must be 18 years old or over, with those 18 to 21 requiring written permission from parents.

Students wishing to give blood may sign up for an appointment the first part of next week in the CUB. The bloodmobile is scheduled to handle from 10 to 14 people per hour. Instructions state that no food except black coffee, fruit juice, and water is to be taken 3 hours prior to the donation.

This blood will be put into the PLC blood bank, to be used primarily by college students. Information regarding its access when necessary may be obtained through the dean's office.

Nurses Return For Semester

Back for their final semester at Pacific Lutheran after two years of clinical work are the nineteen members of the senior nursing class.

In February of 1956 the girls left PLC to continue their education at Emmanuel Hospital in Portland, Oregon. Last summer the nurses spent three months doing clinical work at the Oregon State Mental Hospital in Salem.

Upon completion of this semester the seniors will graduate and receive their Bachelor of Science in Nursing degrees.

Those nineteen now back are: Alice Brunner, Joan Flaig, Ruth Haugse, Julie Johnson, Betty Johnson, Dorothy Johnson, Marcia Lein, Beverly Krampitz, Janet Towe and Janet Smith.

Charlene Peterson, Karen Malfait, Donna Giger, Maurine Swanson, Virginia Weyerts, Beatrice Scheele, Rose Ann Jacobson, Janice McKechney and Margaret Wilkinson.

Contest Going--Beards Growing

Beards are being groomed and mustaches trimmed as fellows compete in the annual APO beard-growing contest. According to chairmen Craig Johnson and Bill Olson, termination of the contest will be during halftime of the Whitworth game on Feb. 15. At this time prizes will be given in four divisions:

1. Best goatee and mustache combination,
  2. most colorful beard,
  3. best full beard, and
  4. smoothest face—for those too young to shave.
- To date nearly 80 students (including a reported six girls) have registered in the competition. Judging will be done by three qualified college professors, who are as yet unannounced.

New Housing Opens in Fall

PLC will be opening for the fall semester a new boys' dormitory which will house 69 men and a house-father.

Planned for are 23 rooms with three men to a room; the house-father will occupy the last room. Each room will be 15x20 feet, each with a private bath and shower. There will be electric heat, thermostatically controlled.

The dorm will be constructed in an "H" shape with the ends of the "H" closed off. A 28x40 foot lounge will occupy the middle section of the "H." Entrance to the rooms will be made by passing through the lounge area.

A new exterior finish will be given the dorm and the interior will have a new tile flooring. One unit is to be completed before the close of this semester which will allow the men to see what they will have in the way of new living quarters for next fall.

Making Float Plans

Plans are now being made for the construction of a Daffodil Parade float for Pacific Lutheran College.

Jay Tronsdale, general chairman for the float, has appointed Jerry Hansen as construction chairman, with art chairman still to be chosen.

Classes To Plan Tuesday Chapel

An experimental system will be adopted by the student body in an attempt to improve the quality of the Tuesday chapel programs.

For the coming semester the four classes will be in charge of the meetings for each Tuesday of the month. The senior class will have the first Tuesday, junior class the second, sophomore class the third and freshman class will have charge of the fourth.

This does not mean that the class will have to present the program, but that it will be responsible for the program. The class can arrange for anyone to present the chapel.

At the end of the semester a committee will vote on the quality of the programs and the class which has the best record of consistently good programs will be awarded the trophy.

Children's Show Cast Named For 'Jack and the Beanstalk'

Cast members for the second Children's Theater production of the year, "Jack and the Beanstalk," will be announced today or tomorrow on the stage bulletin board in the CMS. The show will be presented March 11-15 on the CMS stage under the direction of Eric Nordholm, originator of the PLC Children's Theater.

National acclaim was given the PLC Children's Theater last week when the Lutheran Herald, the Evangelical Lutheran Church magazine, ran a four-page feature and picture story of the history of the Children's Theater here and of "Flibbertygibbet," which was the Fall semester production.

All sets and costumes are made by PLC students under the direction of Mr. Nordholm who directs and designs the shows.

Written by Chorpenning

"Jack and the Beanstalk" was written for the Children's Theater by the late Mrs. Charlotte Chorpenning who was one of the founders of the Children's Theater movement in America.

Mr. Nordholm, who worked under Mrs. Chorpenning for several years, remarked that "this play promises to be quite interesting because of its popularity with children." He also stated that publicity in the Tacoma schools would be highly accelerated for this play.

Three-Act Play

The play, which will be presented in three settings on the PLC stage, is full of magic—beginning in the first act which opens high up in the clouds where the magic maker is hunting for someone to take his magic things away from the Giant.

The Man in the Moon tests Jack's courage in one scene on the beanstalk. Jack proves his courage by managing to rescue the Giant's wife plus his own mother who was being cheated by Raff Heywood, the villain.

Climax of the well-known story is the chopping down of the beanstalk—with Giant on it.

Mrs. Chorpenning's tailor-made audiences at the Goodman Memorial Theatre in Chicago taught her to write for all ages. It was her philosophy that adults who attend this production will enjoy the plays as much as the children will because of the deep adult overtones throughout.

Officers Knutson, Cornell Go to G.U.

David Knutson, PLC Student Body president, and Donald Cornell, vice-president of the Student Body, will attend the Evergreen Conference Student Association Winter meeting at Gonzaga University in Spokane on February 7-8.

Main function of the meeting will be to plan for the Spring Convention to be held March 6-8 on the campus of the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

The PLC delegation to the Fall meeting has revised the constitution of the ECSA. The proposed revision will be presented at the winter meeting.

Roll Up Your Sleeve

I believe you all have what it takes: namely, blood. Next Thursday, February 13, Alpha Phi Omega is sponsoring the annual blood drive at PLC. In keeping with America's famed urge to have the biggest, and agreeing with APO that the blood drive is a very worthy cause, I believe we should not only top last years total (which was well below one hundred) but set a new all time high for pints donated.

There should be no excuses for not giving blood. A note of parents' approval for those between 18 and 21 years of age is the only legal restriction. The entire procedure is painless, takes only a few minutes at the Red Cross Bloodmobile and can be done at your convenience. If you can't stand seeing blood, close your eyes. If you just don't like the idea of donating, remember, some day you might be wishing someone had donated for you.

PLC should be able to give scores of pints of blood, so let's roll up our sleeves for the Red Cross! Let's give what it takes: blood. — Dave Crowner, editor.

Tale of a Soda-Jerk---
With Emphasis on the Soda

by Danny

Once upon a time long years ago I had the ideal opinion that the only kind of job to have was that of soda-jerk, with emphasis on the soda. But let me clue you in, buddy, it ain't what it's cracked up to be.

My first experience as soda-jerk was in a Ketchikan, Alaska, restaurant in 1954. Ah, such fond memories (the job lasted exactly seven hours at which time the boss came in and stated very much to my dismay, "Dannie boy, you just don't have it," and proceeded to fire me).

The Fate of It All

But do you think that stopped ole Ignatious? You guessed it . . . So three long years later, which were filled with beautiful memories of being a non-employed college student, I reached a point which every poor college scholar reaches—I realized in my quiet, unassuming way that I was financially embarrassed, or in the words of that immortal ballad, "Ya Gotta Have Something in the Bank Frank." I realized there was only one answer for this kid (sigh). I almost fainted saying the words, "I have to get a job," and I rushed out before I changed my mind.

Being a never-say-die-hard I decided to approach my old friend Ona with a proposition. "Ona," I told her, "I need a job but I can't see working for these lousy wages. I think a buck fifty an . . ." Needless to say I got the job (with a slight drop in wages) and settled down to the life of an average, if not somewhat neurotic soda-jerk.

Ach, Himmell!

My first day on the job happened to be Sunday night. You know what that means: "No money, honey; no food, funny?" My first thought on seeing the masses milling in the sacred hollows of Ye Ole Coffee Shoppe was "Let me outa here!"

But I stayed; worked like a dog; and while everybody rushed their orders at me, no one seemed to notice that upon reaching low into the ice-cream refrigerator I didn't come up for a full ten minutes.

The truth of the matter is, and I feel I should clear it up, is that my head was stuck in the Rocky Road. On top of that I hate Rocky Road. So, anyway, there I was, and as soon as I got off work I went home and took a shower . . . but to this day I still have the strange feeling that I smell like Rocky Road, mainly because so many dogs lick me.

Well, that's just a brief resume of Ye Ole Coffee Shoppe life—all the hard work; but I wouldn't trade my experience in it for all the water in the Mojave Desert.

Special note to Miss Quast: I think I deserve a raise.

Fleming Sez

by Bob

It's nice to be writing this thing again. I would've started sooner but I had a bit of bad luck. I hurt my back. One night during the holiday season I came home, saw a spider on the ceiling and tried to step on him. . . . POME: Roses are red, violets are blue, your roof is steep and my socks are fuchsia . . . Have you heard The Juvenile Delinquent Stomp? It's a little like the Sabre Dance only with switchblades . . . I can see her now, standing on a hill with the wind blowing her hair, and she too proud to chase it . . . Please, please don't mind Don Cornell. He isn't such a bad guy until you get to know him . . . AND THEN I WROTE DEPT.—SONG TO BE SUNG TO THE TUNE OF YOU ARE MY SUNSHINE: When I said I love you, and you gave me a lock of your hair; When I said I need you, and you gave me a lock of your hair; You gave me a lock of your hair, when I asked how much you did care; But now, dear, I don't want you at all, cuz you're as bald as a billiard ball. (If you could sing that to the tune of You Are My Sunshine, contact Dr. Solberg, he's running experiments next week) . . . I used to be unpopular but I never knew why. Then last year I started writing this column. Now I'm still unpopular but at least I know why . . . Overheard: "I didn't know she had an upper plate until it came out in the conversation." . . . NEW SONG: She Stole My Heart In a Subway. When I Got Up To Give Her My Seat. . . . Public Service Feature: Although the moon is only one 49th the size of the earth, it is further away. . . . Due to the huge popularity of my contest last year to find the girl on campus with the prettiest ears (Ed. Note 2 entries) I am going to run it again this year. So, girls, all you have to do to enter is come into my office in the coffee shop and I will personally pick your ears. . . . Many thanks for the opportunity to write this column again, Dave; although it's a chancy job, and it makes a man watchful and a little lonely. (sigh).

Princess Julie Chosen For Mt. Hood Carnival

Miss Julie Renhard, 19-year-old blonde sophomore in education, will climb the slopes of Mt. Hood this weekend to represent PLC as candidate for queen of the second annual Intercollegiate Winter Carnival.

Seattle is now Julie's home, but she's originally from New Jersey. Her qualifications for queen seem adequate as Julie has been skiing for six years. PLC's Ski Club, which is sponsoring Julie, gave her a complete outfit of parka, pants and sweater which will be identical to those of the other candidates.

Various events, from snow-man building to fashion shows, are planned for the weekend which will begin at 8:00 a.m. Saturday, February 8, and end with a banquet at 4:30 p.m., Sunday, February 9.

Christie Ofondahl, Rod Berntson, Ron Harmon, Jim Johnson and Ken and Tim Olson are the six PLC skiers who will enter the downhill and slalom events of the Carnival.

Portland State College, which is heading the festivities, has invited 25 colleges of the Pacific Northwest to attend. For PLC, 45 members of the Ski Club signed up, with Misses Helen Enger and Connie Nelson of the faculty to be official chaperones.

Council Coursings . . .
New Table; New Lights?

JANUARY 21

Two major items of business were the appointments of Jay Tronadale as Daffodil float chairman and Jon Soine and Eugene Hapala as co-chairmen of the athletic banquet to be held this spring.

It was reported that minutes and notes from the Evergreen Conference Student Body Association fall conference had arrived, and delegates from PLC who attended the meeting were to revise the ECGA constitution. Dave Knutson and Don Cornell will be PLC's representatives at the ECGA Winter conference in Spokane February 7-8.

FEBRUARY 4

Mention was made of the possibility of putting lights on the tennis courts as the PLC recreation equipment fund was discussed. Report was made that the tops of the ping-pong tables in the GUB are soon to be replaced and a third table added.

The Council decided to pay the delegates to the ECGA conference six cents per mile plus meal expense. And it was reported that the revised ECGA constitution has been mailed to the Evergreen schools.

See if you can answer this question about your own future:

How much will you get back on your insurance dollar?

Many people think it costs them money to have insurance protection. The facts are quite different. For example, if you take out a $10,000 Brotherhood Provider policy from Lutheran Brotherhood when you are twenty years old, you will actually receive $1.74 at age 65 in return for every dollar you have paid in. That's a profit to you of 74¢ on every dollar you invest—and you have full protection from the day you sign up for the insurance besides. At 65 you have a choice: you can have $12,255—or you can have a monthly income of about $77.20 for life. This figure is based on current dividend rates.

Protection for your beneficiary increases with the years, too. It starts with the $10,000 face amount, and rises steadily to $15,979 if you should die at age 65.

These are some of the reasons we say Lutheran Brotherhood gives "Living benefits for Lutherans through life insurance." You get the protection you need during your entire productive life, then get back much more than you have invested.

Talk to your Lutheran Brotherhood representative about the advantages of beginning your insurance program early, when the rates are lowest.

Gladiators Meet Vikings, Thunderbirds

Lutemen Travel to Western, UBC for Weekend Contests

Coach Marv Harshman's Gladiators travel north this weekend to meet the Western Washington Vikings on Friday evening and round out the road tour against the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds on Saturday night.

The Lutes have beaten both of the quint in earlier contests

Lutes Move Into Driver's Niche

As a result of their 87-68 drubbing of Eastern and 57-45 win at the expense of the powerful Central Wildcats last weekend on the PLC maples, the Lutes took over undisputed possession of first place in the Evergreen conference.

The Lutes, seeking their fourth consecutive Evergreen crown, chalked up their 19th and 20th consecutive conference victories in a streak that originated in the '55-'56 season.

Coordes Leads Central

Central, who went into Saturday's game with an unblemished record, rallied in vain in the second half after the first period found them trailing by as much as 15-1. The brilliant shooting of All-Evergreen Bill Coordes couldn't atone for the first half deficit which found the Wildcats hitting only .207 per cent of their shots.

Central's zone defense to some extent held down conference scoring leader Chuck Curtis, but when the points were totaled, the rangy Richland junior still wound up with 21 points, despite fouling out with over nine minutes remaining.

The defensive battle between the then-conference co-leaders resulted in a decrease in field goal percentage from the norm of the two squads: PLC hit on 21 of 57 for .362 while Central canned 18 of 51 for .353.

Lutes Dump Eastern

Four Lutes scoring in double figures led PLC to a 87-68 victory over Eastern Friday evening. Curtis dunked 24, Bob Roiko and Jim VanBeek had 15, and Iverson hit for 12.

The Savages battled the Lutes basket-for-basket in the first half and at one point trailed only 39-37, but the Gladiators pulled away in the second half.

The visitors outshot the Lutes percentage-wise, .419 to .375, but the Lutes took 26 more shots and led in rebounds 52-39, with Curtis pulling in 20.

Kent Matheson hooked in 24 for Eastern, while Dick Koford chipped in with 13.

In preliminary action last weekend, the JV's tromped over the Motors 68-50 as Ardeen Iverson scored 20, but were edged the following night by Lane's 66-65 in a thriller, although all JV starters scored in double figures.

DEEN BACK ON VARSITY

The best news of the week seems to be the announcement by the registrar's office of the scholastic eligibility of sophomore hoopster ARDEEN IVERSON. IVERSON made the trip to Kansas City with last year's champion Lutes, but was forced to sit out the first part of this year's campaign due to scholastic deficiencies. Iverson's determined effort paid off Tuesday when the announcement was made that he was again eligible.

GPA PLAN

Many people have commented down through the years on ways to help athletes in their studies, but few people have done anything to remedy the situation. A Portland daily carried an article from Washington State College last week in which someone is trying to help the felt winners.

Head football coach JIM SUTHERLAND has initiated a plan whereby athletes who are having difficulties will report to the gym a couple nights a week to receive help from other members of the squad who boast an impressive GPA. This plan could easily be incorporated at PLC and other schools.

Each year many promising athletes drop out of school after their first semester because of scholastic deficiencies. Instructors can often help the students, but usually a student will not bring it to the profs' attention until it is too late. If such a plan as COACH SUTHERLAND proposes was put into action we believe there would be less talk of ineligible athletes.

Maybe the use of Ivy Hall as a dormitory for athletes could be an answer to our own problems. A senior counselor could work with the men having difficulties and thereby prevent the many withdrawals after only one semester of college.

ANOTHER UNDEFEATED SEASON

Many Lute fans are talking about another undefeated conference basketball season and the pressure continues to build up. We must keep in mind that the Lutes are just at the midway mark through the league schedule and every team has improved.

No one knows better than Coach Marv Harshman that an undefeated season is hard to come by, and he will be looking forward to only the next game and not the game two weeks from now.

The intramural basketball teams are winding up their first round and will be ready to go on the final play-off round when all teams complete first round action.

The "game of the week" was between the Ivy "A" squad and the DeJardine club. The flashy DeJardines kept a good pace with the Ivy team, but in the end John Mitchell's 13 points along with a supreme effort of all the Ivy men proved to be too much for the DeJardine five. Ivy came out of the contest as definite victors, crushing their runner-ups by a 46-31 score.

The Eastern Parkland Road Runners clinched a second place tie in the "A" league by squeaking past the Brewers 50-49 and edging the Prairie Dogs 49-48. Larry Ross pumped in 16 counters in the Brewer encounter while Jerry Scheele dunked 20 points in the Prairie Dog game to lead the Road Runner wins.

In the "B" league the Hesters beat 5th Floor 45-35 in both teams' final first round game. Jon Wefald turned in another high score for the Hesters as he hit for 27 markers. The impressive victory gave the Hesters a defeatless season and "B" league championship.

Gladiator All-American hoopster CHUCK CURTIS was selected by the Tacoma Athletic Club as the "Athlete of the Month."

Intramural director MARK SALZMAN will be enjoying home slide showings with the portable screen and projector given to him at the Intramural "Banquet" on January 16. Mr. Salzman was the honored guest at the affair sponsored by the Lettermen's Club and the Mooring Mast.

GORDIE GRADWOHL is doing the duties of assisting Mr. Salzman in the intramural basketball program. A big hand of thanks is extended to Gordie for his help in making the "round robin" a success this year.

Vikings Seek Win

Viking Coach Jack Hubbard will field his usual five in hopes of stopping the Lutes' journey to an undefeated conference championship. Forwards Bill Wright and LeRoy Nelson will very likely be the concentrated attack for Western.

Wild, Levy Lead UBC

On their home floor in Vancouver, B. C., the Thunderbirds of UBC also will be out to throttle down the Glads. Play-making guard Ed Wild, who led the B.C. punch in the first game against PLC this season, will again with his teammate, center Lyall Levy, lead the UBC team in its effort to bounce the Lutes out of the "clean slate" slot.

Loggers Tackle Lutes Here

On Wednesday evening, February 12, the Gladiators will be back on the campus court to face the cross-town rivals, CPS. The Loggers have lost to PLC in two contests earlier this season. Senior guard, Don Moseid, will be the Logger the the Lutes to control.

Posing more of a threat than expected in pre-season forecasts, the Puget Sound team now holds a 3-3 win-loss record.

That's Not Bop, It's Just Eurythmics

MORE FOR THE MUSIC PEOPLE

A new group designed primarily for music majors—Eurythmics—will have its first meeting Tuesday, February 11, at 7:30 p.m. in CB-200.

This group will be presenting a new approach to one of the musicians' or music teachers' oldest problems: How to show people (students) to feel rhythm rather than just see it intellectually.

Similar to interpretive dancing it is really not related to the dance at all. As Patricia Thompson, instructor of theory and eurythmics, says, "It's easier to say what it isn't than what it is."

Anyone interested may contact Miss Thompson in CMS 228.

There will also be another class held at 7:30 Wednesday nights for those who cannot attend Tuesdays. Meetings will be weekly.

BUSINESS WAS RELATIONS

Alpha Sigma Lambda, the business club, met last Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. in the College Union lounge.

Mr. C. Peterson, representing the American City Bureau at PLC, spoke on the topic "What Is Public Relations." He explained how public relations fits into business and industry and illustrated his points with some case histories.

He concluded with a question and answer period. After the program and a short business meeting a coffee hour was held.

RESEARCH TO BE STARTED

Several research projects have been launched by the Sociology Club, under the direction of Miss C. Nelson, Dr. E. Knorr, and Mr. H. Anderson, of the sociology department.

At the last meeting the membership chose the projects of special interest to them: "Dating Patterns at PLC" (Dr. Knorr); "Ethnic Backgrounds and Attitudes" (Mr. Anderson); and "Problems of Annexation in the Parkland Area" (Miss Nelson).

The project groups will be meeting at different times throughout the coming months in order to formulate their problems, devise methods of investigation and carry out the research. Any students interested in such activity may contact the members of the department or attend the project meetings scheduled for Monday next week: "Dating Patterns at PLC," 8:00 p.m. in Library; "Ethnic Backgrounds and Attitudes," in the CUB at 12:30 noon; "Problems of Annexation in the Parkland Area," in the CUB at 7:30 p.m. Purpose of such study groups is to stimulate interest in the Sociology Club by directing club members to practical application of classroom theories. Leaders of the club hope that it will be more than just another organization, in that it may prove to be of help in the solution of social problems on campus and in the community.

World Traveling Professors Settle At Pacific Lutheran for Teaching

On a bicycle built for—oops, time out for a recount—one, PLC's drama professor, Miss Jane Smith, spent a summer touring Europe. Another summer Mexico beckoned, and there she went.

Miss Smith has studied at Hastings College in Nebraska, Northwestern University, Denver University, Portland State College and Colorado State.

Again making use of her summers, she has acted in Sharon, Connecticut, and Alberta, Canada. While teaching in Portland she acted and directed with the television workshop of the Portland Civic Theatre.

Another traveler on our faculty is Mrs. Richard Mayfield, who has taught in Orleans, France. A native of West Virginia, she earned both her Bachelor's and Master's degrees in English from Marshall College.

After instructing in high schools in West Virginia and in France, Mrs. Mayfield taught English at the College of Puget Sound.

Iowa has given us many things, including Rev. H. M. Anderson. Iowa is the home state of the new professor in our sociology department.

This Dane has toiled over books at Grand View College, Grand View Seminary, the University of Washington and the University of Washington graduate school. He has been a pastor in both South Dakota and Washington and now has a congregation in—not Buckley!—Enumclaw, where he lives with his wife and three children.
