$16.5 MILLION DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM APPROVED BY BOARD OF REGENTS

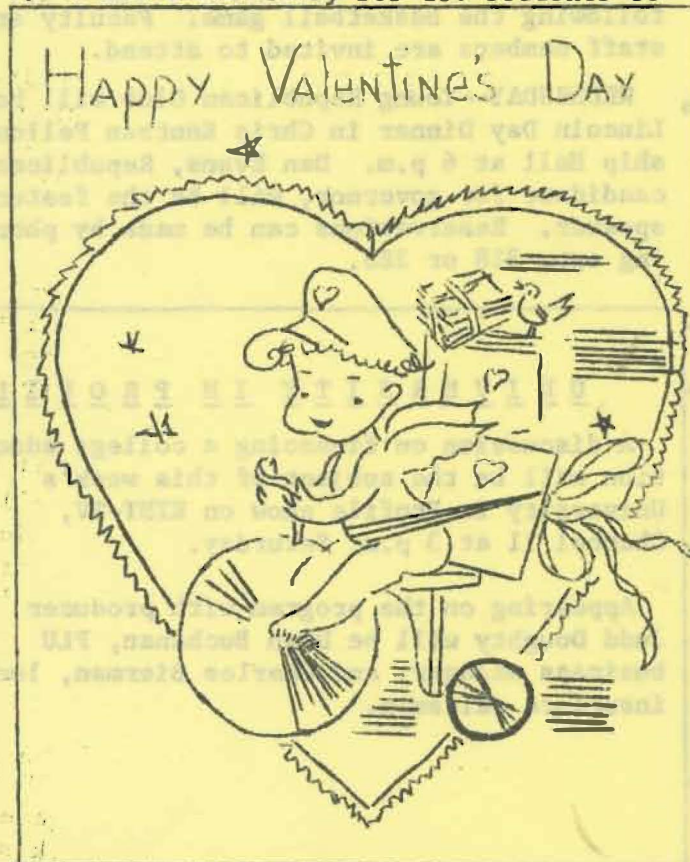

The next decade promises to be an exciting one in the history of our University. Decisions made by our board of regents at an historic two-day meeting last Monday and Tuesday will affect the lives of all of us.

Buildings will be springing up all over the campus, some of the present structures will be converted for other uses and others will be moved or raised.

Total cost of the program, to be completed in the early 1970s, is $16.5 million. This includes $2.5 million for the endowment fund.

Ticketed for immediate action are:

1. A men's dormitory for 180 students to be located north and adjacent to Pflueger Hall. It is expected that construction will begin this year.

2. An Olympic-size swimming pool. Students have been contributing toward this since 1958 and over half of the $190,000 needed for the building is now on hand. This building will be part of the physical education complex which will include the present gymnasium, a new varsity gymnasium and a fieldhouse. Construction on the pool will begin this year.

3. The vacation of Wheeler St. from Park Avenue to "I" St. Efforts will be made with the county commissioners to bring this about as soon as possible.

Architects are being interviewed for the two new buildings and as soon as they are engaged, the drawing up of plans will begin at once.

The campus master plan will be shown soon to everyone so that you can get an idea of what new buildings are being planned for the future and where they will be located. Quinton Engineers, Ltd. of Los Angeles did the planning and their chief planner, George Wickstead, presented it to the regents who adopted it in principle.

The master plan is a guideline for future expansion and is an attempt to coordinate the academic, residential and service structures of the campus into harmonious areas. Such factors as topography, student traffic patterns and existing buildings were taken into consideration in making the plan.

Buildings planned for the future include a library, a student center, an administration building (the present Tacoma-Pierce building is expected to be entirely for academic use), a museum and art gallery, a housing complex for married students, three men's dormitories and three women's dormitories. The present library will be used for art and other academic departments. An addition to the science

THE ROUNDTABLE

President ROBERT MORTVEDT will fly to Detroit and Minneapolis next week for three days of appointments and meetings. He will contact foundations to seek financial support of the University's program. He will attend the meeting of the Board of College Education of the American Lutheran Church. At this meeting he will present the new master plan and seek approval of the church for projects building plans. Dr. Mortvedt will leave Tuesday morning and return Friday morning.

Sunday is the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. College and University students throughout the land will join in the observance of this event which is a National Student Christian Federation project.

The MORTVEDTS will give a reception in their home following the UPS-Tacoma Symphony concert here Thursday night. Guests will include Leonard Rose, Edward Sefarian, Dr. and Mrs. R. Franklin Thompson, members of the music faculties of both UPS and PLU and Artists Series committee members.

PLU alum LUTE JERSTAD was one of three honored Monday as Washington Athletes of the Year at the annual TAC Hall of Fame banquet. Jerstad, who also was named Pierce County Athlete of the Year, gained state honors with fellow mountain climber Jim Whittaker and UW pole vaulter Brian Sternberg.

DR. MORTVEDT will be the featured speaker at the Walla Walla College annual Senior Recognition Assembly Monday. On this occasion the senior class is officially presented for the first time in a traditional ceremony.

THE COPY HOOK

Tonight at 8 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge, Dr. Park, president of Olympic Junior College, will speak to the PLU chapter of AAUP about the relation of the junior and senior college. All faculty and staff members are invited.

It must be catchy. Now we have walking record players and slide projectors. Dr. Arne Hagen reports that the Education Library is missing two record players, one slide projector and one portable screen. If you've seen them strolling about the campus, report their whereabouts to Dr. Hagen, ext. 273.

Faculty and staff members are invited to a pair of lectures sponsored by the Health Service. Dr. J. W. Bowen, Tacoma Ophthalmologist, will speak on "Our Eyes" February 17. Dr. J. M. Shaw, Tacoma Dermatologist, will talk on "Care of Skin" February 24. Both lectures will be held in Eastvold Chapel at 7:30 p.m.

FACULTY MEETINGS--The Faculty Senate will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the Faculty Lounge. The regular Faculty Meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in Jacob Samuelson Chapel. The report on the recent meeting of the Board of Regents will be presented.

Copies of the talks given by Dr. William Rieke and Robert Curtis at the Faith in Life Week chapel services can be obtained from the Alumni Office.

The PLU Alumni Association Board will meet Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in the large conference room.

hall is envisaged, and the sewage treatment plant will be expanded.

In the finance area, the regents adopted an operating budget for next year of $3,196,464, the largest in history.

To meet rising costs of operation and to improve the quality of education, the regents raised tuition for next year by $50.00 per semester. A nominal increase of $15.00 per semester was made for room and board.

Faculty salaries were increased with the range running from $5,800 per year to $10,500 per year.

Dependents of staff members were given a break. For staff members who have been in the university employ for three years or more, their dependents will be given 50 percent off on tuition at PLU.

A HEART-RENDING MESSAGE TO EVERY PLU EMPLOYEE

The Assistant Business Manager is a very compassionate man. Late at night, tucked into his warm little bed, he thinks of and weeps for all those lovely expensive office machines at PLU sitting there naked and shivering. Can't you at least put the "nighties" on the machines in your care when you kiss them good night before you go home? It will keep them cleaner (our maintenance workers are industrious and kick up a lot of dust!) and give them longer life. You can probably find those dust covers lying around lazily in some office nook: they, too, will be happier to be useful again. Sniff, sniff.

ANNUAL "DAD'S WEEKEND" PROGRAM OPENS THIS EVENING.

Dads will go to college this weekend when the PLU Associated Men's Students hold their annual "Dad's Weekend."

Approximately 350 fathers from six states are expected to attend the three-day program which includes a wide variety of activities.

Highlight of this evening's program will be the appearance of Lowell Thomas, Jr., who will present an illustrated lecture on "Tibet--Out of This World."

Sports activity keynotes Saturday's program. Saturday morning a Father-Son bowling tournament is scheduled. In the evening they will take in the PLU basketball encounter with Western Washington.

A special reception will be held Saturday afternoon to enable the fathers to meet and talk with members of the University administrative staff.

The Rev. Roy Olson, director of church relations at PLU, will be the featured speaker at the annual Father-Son banquet Saturday evening at 5 p.m.

The weekend's activities will close with the Sunday morning worship service.

Dan Selman and Bill Kees are chairmen for the "Dad's Weekend" program.

CELLIST LEONARD ROSE TO APPEAR WITH UPS-TACOMA SYMPHONY THURSDAY

Cellist Leonard Rose will be guest artist with the UPS-Tacoma Symphony at a concert to be given Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock in Eastvold Chapel.

This first appearance of Director Edward Sefarian and his symphony at PLU will be sponsored by the PLU Student Artist Series. Dr. Vernon A. Utzinger, series chairman, states that all season ticket holders must be in their seats by 8 o'clock. The public will be admitted, without charge, to seats which are available after that hour.

Feature work of the program will be "Concerto in B-Minor for Cello and Orchestra" by Antonin Dvorak, with Rose as soloist. Movements of the work include allegro, adagio ma non troppo and allegro moderato.

Conductor Sefarian will open the program with "Three Pieces for Orchestra" by K nt Kennan. Com osed in Rome in 1936 by an American, this selection has three dance images with the titles Promenade, Nocturne and II Campo dei Fiori. Vilem Sokol will be viola soloist for the Nocturne.

Final work on the program will be the powerful "Symphony No. 2 in D Major, Opus 73" by Brahms. The symphony will be played in its entirety including the movements allegro non troppo, adagio non troppo, allegretto grazioso and allegro con spirito.

Hailed as one of the world's greatest artists, Leonard Rose is a native of the United States and a graduate of Philadelphia's Curtis Institute of Music. In 1938 he was engaged to play in Toscanini's NBC Symphony, and in 1944 he was appointed first cellist of the New York Philharmonic. Since 1951 he has been a concert soloist appearing all over the world.

Rose made his first trip to Israel in 1961 and has appeared there for three consecutive seasons. He has toured Europe extensively as a solo artist and with chamber music groups. He has teamed up with violinist Isaac Stern and pianist Eugene Istomin to give a series of distinguished chamber music concerts. In 1962 he was featured at the Seattle World's Fair series of opening concerts.

Rose plays a rare Amati cello, dated 1662. With this instrument he has recorded a veritable library of great cello music.
