

Development Association Completes Second Successful Year

New President's Residence to Be Dedicated Soon

Sunday Will See First Unit of Development Project Complete

A new $10,000 president's residence, first unit of the great development program planned for the College, will be formally dedicated Sunday afternoon, September 28, at 3:30. The new building represents the first real step in the development program, which, as outlined at present, should see a dormitory for girls and a library completed within a few years to be followed by other development projects which will extend for at least 20 years.

A novel and interesting program has been arranged for the event. The Rev. O. L. Haavik, vice-president of the Pacific District of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, will deliver the dedication address and President O. A. Tingelstad will give the response. The Rev. Geo. Henriksen, of Seattle, has charge of the invocation while the Rev. J. P. Pfeiffer will give the benediction. The remainder of the program consists of various musical numbers. A ladies quartet from the Trinity Lutheran Church, consisting of Mrs. E. C. Haakenson, Mrs. C. Olson, Mrs. A. W. Ramstad, and Mrs. J. U. Xavier will sing "I Love a Little Cottage."

This will be followed by a selection by a mixed quartet, consisting of college students, and a solo by Rev. Verne Giere of Tacoma. The program will close with the doxology and the benediction.

The dedication exercises will be followed by a "Development Association Supper" at which solicitors in the recent Mid-West follow-up campaign will be honored guests. At this supper, the plans for the next forward step to be taken by the association are to be developed and submitted to the board of trustees for approval at its meeting the following day.

Although but $8,000 has been expended on the structure at present, when the upstairs and the landscaping have been completed the president's residence will represent an expenditure of $19,000. The building was designed by Charles Atfrillisch, the College architect, who has already drawn up plans for the remainder of the campus development. Oscar C. Anderson, of Tacoma, and the building committee, consisting of H. E. Anderson, of Tacoma; B. L. Kirkebo, of Puyallup; and President Tingelstad, supervised the construction. Prof. Victor Elvestrom assisted the committee during the absence of Kirkebo, who was in Norway this summer.

Team to Play C. P. S.

Gladiator football men get their first chance to show what they can do when they clash with the College of Puget Sound Varsity on the latter's gridiron Friday afternoon. This is the first time that a football team from this school has played the first string from the neighboring college.

According to the schedule as it was first arranged, a game should have been played with Bellarmine this afternoon. This fracas was cancelled by the Bell officials, however, after which Coach Olson booked the game with the Loggers.

Meeting of Mission Society Wednesday

The first meeting of the Mission Society was held Wednesday evening in the general reception room. The meeting was called to order by the president, Walter Young, who also led scripture gave an address of welcome and explained the work of the organization.

It was decided to meet with the Luther League at Parkland in our large gatherings this year, at which the Mission Society will have charge of the program.

School Musicians Make Long Tour

"Arlons" Present Concerts in Many States Throughout the Middle West Of U. S.

To the "Arlons," a musical organization consisting chiefly of talent from this school, belongs the distinction of being the first organization of its kind on the Pacific coast to make an extended concert tour to the Middle West. This group, which specializes in sacred and classical music, left Tacoma June 17, and traveled a total of 10,000 miles during their summer vacation, giving concerts in ten states along the route. The group consisted of Henry Holm-Jensen, baritone soloist; Anna Mikkelsen, soprano soloist; Wallis Kerr, violinist; Cora Vista, accompanist; and Mrs. Holm-Jensen, who assisted in arranging the trip.

Although it is a private organization and its no way connected with the musical organization of the College, the group spent part of their time advertising the College a capella choir and the orchestra. Four of the members had prominent parts in the choir concerts presented last year and with the exception of Cora Vista, who graduated last spring will again take part in the choir programs this year. For this reason Holm-Jensen gave a short talk on behalf of the College and its musical organizations at each of the programs presented.

The tour included the following states: Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, Oregon, and Washington. Another trip is planned for next summer, but this will not include so many states. The "Arlons" are also planning a concert tour south into Oregon and California at the beginning of the second semester. On these trips, Harriet Benner will take Cora Vista's place as accompanist.

DELTA RHO GAMMA TO WELCOME GIRLS

Delta Rho Gamma girls held their first regular meeting of the year Tuesday, September 16, at 12:30 in the girls' reception room. It was decided to have a welcome party Friday evening, Sept. 23, at 7:30 o'clock for the new day student girls.

Marie Vandenburg, president, chose the following committees for the gathering:

General Committee—Dorothy Lehmann, chairman; Evelyn Olsen; and Ethel Stinette.
Refreshment Committee—Alma Hinderle, chairman; Alma Grande; and Mildred Breen.
Program Committee—Anna Mikkelsen, chairman; Stella Sorboe; and Nina Swanson.
Decoration Committee—Mildred Card, chairman; Evelyn Monson; Alice King; Olga Kell; and Pauline Larsen.

Figures Reveal Large Increase in Enrollment

Registration Shows Steady Encouraging Increase Since Reorganizing in Year 1920

On the basis of present enrollment figures, there should be a total of 240 students registered before the end of next semester if the increase in enrollment runs true to the records kept during the last 10 years. The close of registration days two weeks saw a total enrollment of 144 students as compared with 129 a year ago. By yesterday afternoon this number had swelled to 171, an increase of 12% over this time last year. If those enrolled in the summer session are included the figure would total about 190.

The growth of the school since its reorganization in 1920 has been steady and encouraging. Registration days in 1920 saw an enrollment of but 16 students, which number grew to 68 by the end of the year, just one more than the number graduating last year. By 1923 the registration had grown to 117 and the next year jumped to 162, only to fall back to 143 in 1925. The largest enrollment in 1924 was chiefly due to a greater influx of short-course students during that year.

Since 1925 there has been a very regular increase in enrollment figures. In 1926 there were 157 students; 1927-178; 1928-187; and 1929-214. If this increase continues throughout this year, it should mean a total of at least 240 before the year is over.

JUNIOR LEAGUE MEETS

The Junior League held its regular meeting, Sunday afternoon, September 21. Devotion was led by Olive Boe, after which the Junior Topic was read by Virginia Lou Harris, and discussed by Miss Irene Dahl, the adviser. Doris Wold and Audrey Dale played a piano duet, which was followed by a reading by Mildred Monson and a piano solo, "The Robin's Return," by Ida Thompson. The business meeting followed, during which the league adopted a constitution.

SENIORS WEEP AS KICKING POST IS STOLEN BY HUNTED MISCREANT

There is a dangerous glint in many a student's eye these days, and one that bodes ill for some miserable miscreant or miscreants, whichever the case may be. THE KICKING POST HAS BEEN STOLEN—SAWED OFF FOUR INCHES ABOVE THE BOTTOM AND CARRIED AWAY. The calamity came without warning sometime between two o'clock Tuesday morning (at which time the last couple to leave the Fountain of Youth for the College building reports that all was well) and some time Tuesday afternoon. None of the freshmen seem to know just when it happened, and the seniors are so overcome with grief or anger that they have given no serious consideration to when it happened.

But they have a thirst for justice—a thirst that will not be quenched until the culprit or culprits have been dealt with as severely as it is possible for respectable college students to do without losing their dignity—which would be quite a little bit.

THE KICKING POST (lately stolen), was planted in its present position (in the present position of what

Welcoming Party Given D. O. R. Girls

A welcome party for the Daughters of Reformation was given at 3:30 Tuesday, September 16, in the girls' reception room.

Thora Rasmussen, president of the club, welcomed the girls into the organization, after which a short program was given. The advisor, Mrs. Ramstad, talked to the girls about the purpose of the organization and her work with it as an advisor. Anna Mikkelsen, accompanied by Nelma Gullesen, sang two vocal solos and Ethel Stinette played a piano solo.

Irene Dahl, a pioneer member of the organization, talked to the girls about the history and the ideals of the members of the association. At the conclusion of the program light refreshments were served.

The D. O. R. girls met once a month, the next meeting to be held some time during the first week in October.

Many New Books Added to Library

Librarians Work to Get New Volumes Ready for Circulation

Librarians Xavier and Stuen have been working steadily since school opened getting new books ready for circulation. There is, on the new book list, everything from "Who's Who in America, 1928-29" to Vinjes "Skriver i Sapling" and B. Lie's "Samlede Fortaellinger." Other additions to the ever-growing library are: "Cumulative Book Index" by Burnham; "International Year Book" by Dodd; Young's "Source Book for Social Psychology"; Beller's "Medieval Foundations of Western Civilization"; "A Literary History of Religious Thought in France" by Bremont; "The Measurements of Man" by Harris and others; Lucas' "The Low Countries and the Hundred Years' War"; and 36 volumes on various subjects.

These have all been added since last June, and are now in the library ready to be used.

Development Promoters Enjoy Rally in Chapel Sunday Evening

THOSTENSON CHOSEN SOPH CLASS PRESIDENT

Arnold Thostenson was elected president of the College sophomore class for this year when that group met on September 11. Other officers elected were: vice-president, Ruth Jacobson; secretary, Cora Goplerud; treasurer, Millard Quale; and sergeant-at-arms, Herman Anderson. Ph. E. Hauge will act as faculty adviser for the class.

President Tingelstad Speaks on Accomplishments and Future Plans of Association

Almost two years to the day after it was launched in the chapel basement September 23, 1928, the Development Association held its first rally of the school year in that same room Sunday evening September 21. During those years the membership has reached a total of 5600. Just 4400 short of the goal of 10,000, and the amount of money secured is in the neighborhood of $35,000, according to Miss Irene Dahl, secretary of the Association. In the total membership are included people all over the civilized world with the exception of South America.

Rev. T. O. Svare, college pastor, led in scripture reading and prayer. He chose as his text the "Great Commission" taken from Matthew 28. The Trinity Guild furnished refreshments, the proceeds of which went to the Development Association. The remainder of the evening was given over to President O. A. Tingelstad, who spoke for an hour and a half to an interested audience. His speech was divided into three main sections, all dealing with the Development Association, its accomplishments, and its plans for the future.

The first section of the talk outlined the six major accomplishments of the last two years; the full accreditation in the state of Washington for all divisions of the school; the development of banking credit and a sound and efficient investment policy for endowment funds; the approval of a development program extending through the next twenty years, if necessary; the official endorsement of the American Lutheran Church, whose representative on the faculty is the Rev. J. P. Pfeiffer; and on the board of trustees, the Rev. L. Ludwig as advisory member; the guarantee of the maintenance of the present accredited status of the school for the next two years by the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America; and material progress as evidenced by the new chemistry laboratory, library improvements, the President's residence, and an expanded campus.

In the second section of his address President Tingelstad dealt with the next forward step to be taken by the Association, namely, the construction of a new biology laboratory, which should get under way with the return next week of Victor A. Elvestrom, field man for the College; the construction of the first unit of a dormitory for girls, toward which project about $1000 has been paid in and $7000 more pledged (construction can start when $40,000 are available); the erection of a library building, which is badly needed, and which might properly be a main objective of a Greater Tacoma Community Campaign.

The speaker gave as his reasons why these should be the next steps, the increased enrollment; the increased territory to be served since the closing of Spokane College; the increased constituency with the endorsement of the American Lutheran Church; and the increased recognition of the usefulness of the institution to public education in the state of Washington and neighboring states.

The third and last section of the speech was given over to the reasons why the Parkland community and greater Tacoma should support the Development Association. President Tingelstad closed with the Lord's Prayer and the Doxology.

Myhre and Larson Trophy Winners

Have Highest Averages for Year in College, High School

Harold Myhre, of the college department, with an average grade of 94.45 in his last year course, and Edgar Larson, of the high school, with an average of 97.23, are winners of the Manckhe awards presented to Pacific Lutheran College by Mr. Manckhe, Tacoma jeweler, in 1929 to promote high ideals of scholarship.

Every year the names of those students who rank highest in each of the high school and junior college departments are engraved on this trophy.

Ruth Brown, in the normal division of the College, ran a close second to Harold Myhre, who is enrolled in the liberal arts course, with an average of 94.32 as compared to Myhre's 94.45.

This is the second time Edgar Larson has received this honor, having had his name engraved on the cup last year. He also has the distinction of being the only straight-A student in the school this year.

Ladelle Winney had her name engraved on the trophy as a representative of the junior college department last year.

Formal Opening Of College Held on September 9

President Tingelstad Speaks on School Motto, "Build For Character"; Good Program

The group of students, teachers, and friends who assembled in the school chapel on Tuesday evening, September 9, enjoyed an interesting program which formally opened Pacific Lutheran College for the year 1930-31.

Mr. Edwards opened the program with an organ solo which was followed by a hymn sung by the audience. "Build for Character," the school motto, was the subject of an inspiring address by Dr. Tingelstad. Following his address the new assistant registrar, Mrs. Taylor and the two new members of the faculty—Miss Fowler, normal supervisor; and Rev. Pfeiffer, professor of religion and philosophy, Rev. Pfeiffer responded with greetings and pledges of wholehearted support and interest in Pacific Lutheran College from the American Lutheran Church, of which he is a member.

Following a soprano solo by Miss Anna Mikkelsen, the necessary announcements were made. The audience sang another hymn and the meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and the Doxology.

PRESIDENT'S RESIDENCE

A new president's residence, the first unit of the great development campaign planned for this college, will be dedicated Sunday afternoon, September 28. This dedication in itself will be an important event and all probability will be attended by multitudes of the school's friends and boosters who are all interested in the great development project.

The $10,000 structure will be worth viewing. All the ingenuity and wisdom of modern architecture have been combined to make this the ideal home that the president of the school deserves. Although not fully completed the building impresses one very favorably and is a monument to those who have constructed it.

While we are joyfully making this addition to the college campus, however, we must keep in mind that it is but the first step in a much greater enterprise, it is only a taste of better things to come. If present plans are executed a new library and dormitory for girls will soon be a reality, to be followed by the remainder of the great development project which will require at least 25 years to complete.

It is a stupendous undertaking and one which will be realized only after many disappointments and difficulties. But the developments are sure to come. Pacific Lutheran College, the only one of its kind on the Pacific Coast, is growing and will continue to grow. Developments are inevitable and our only matter of concern is how long they will take.

Those in charge of the campaign have shown themselves capable and efficient in the face of big obstructions. Thousands of people have shown their faith in the project by donating both time and money. Where such spirit and zeal are displayed success is assured and that success will be the goal of every true student, alumnus, and friend of Pacific Lutheran College.

A TRIBUTE

Do you know of one mother, just one, who does not express a peculiar tugging at her heart when she sends Mary Anne or Jack to school for his first day of school work? Don't you see her standing at the gate, her eyes eagerly following her child as he wanders his way down the path—perhaps a tear may run astray? She turns back to her daily duties once more—every minute of the day filled with the thought of her boy and girl who has taken his or her first step in school. You know it, of course you do—you've heard your mother and lots of mothers say it. With this tinge of loneliness, I believe there is usually a little anxiety as to what the child will accomplish for himself, for his parents and for society. Of course, the normal parent wants that child to be true to himself and his fellow men.

What has all this to do with us "big college folks"? Just this: I'm firm in the opinion that most parents experience some of the same feelings when we leave home, for the first time, perhaps, to begin another chapter of our school life.

Our parents are behind us to the uttermost, fellow classmates; their patience, interest and love enable us to be here. Let us not forget it—and now at the beginning of a new term shall we determine to live true to their hopes and expectations.

E. W. A.

LET'S GET ACQUAINTED

No matter what the age, character or experience in life, there are few people who enter the portals of our educational institutions who do not stop to wonder what that school will offer him in the way of treasures to carry with him through life.

Treasures—yes. Mental and physical ones—treasures to be coveted and guarded. But of these treasures the greatest and most beautiful one is that of friendship. Each student is a brick in this great wall of friendship, which is formed during our school life. Everyone, undoubtedly, craves friendship; so naturally he will be much more impressed with an institution where he is welcomed in a friendly way and immediately made to feel at home.

It behoves each individual to do his bit to make new students a part of the large family at school. Each one of us has a part in the making or marring of a student's kindly feeling toward our school. No individual can be one-half as much an asset to an institution if he has the feeling that he is not welcome.

The new student has a duty also. He cannot just sit back waiting for friendship to come to him. He must meet it half way. One wise individual has said, "To have friends, one must be a friend."

So let us take upon ourselves to build up this great, wonderful brick wall; build it without a weak, faulty brick in order that it will weather all storms that may come. E. W. A.

A COLLEGE EDUCATION

It is interesting to note the changes that have of late taken place in the philosophy of education. The acquisition of knowledge in itself is no longer regarded as the only important element. The development of an independent viewpoint and of logical thinking is being stressed, as well as the ability to assume responsibility. Outside activities are assuming greater importance because they give the student experience with the problems of real life and develop his initiative in solving them. It is an age of strenuous and terrific competition, in which he alone survives who is fully equipped. This the student should keep in mind when he plans his school career. Book knowledge is not sufficient, theories are not practical in themselves but in their application. One gets a taste of competition in athletics, and whether one succeeds or fails, one gets invaluable experience. One gets a taste of leadership in various student organizations and offices, where initiative and independent thought are necessary, and responsibility must be borne. Such experiences form a very important part of an education, inasmuch as they help the student to make use of the knowledge he gains and train his character as well as his brain. It should be kept in mind, however, that these activities are only complements for what is still the most-important factor in school life—the pursuit of knowledge, and that a complete education needs both.

Dear Ma and Pa.

I guess I've gotten homesick this year agen. The other kids have got over their sobbin, and boo-hooin, but it seems that I'm just beginning to dampen the atmosfer. "Onest, last nite it begun to rain like drum-sticks and all the kids blamed me for it."

But gee-his shucks! theyed baw! just hears if they've lost a lot of friends like I've done. Gee whal! ther's Warner and Cora and Stanley and Eugenia and Dot and a whole bunch of maggies—AW! Ma I've gotta quit writin this way cause my tears are fillin up the inkwell. So I guess I'll start prattin along about somethin else.

The footballers are out playin in the dust. They say we gonna have a boom-snootin team this year. But how can they play swell when they've got funny colored socks like they got. I kinda like red socks cuz the giffer in the sunlitte. (When there is sunlitte. Millard has his nose scratched, but serves him rite for pullin my shoestrings. Snicker, snicker!

Goodbye

Your homesick daughter,

CHEROBA TERTIA.

P. S. Oh! wait a minut. I forgot almost to ask you somethin. Could I have a little money. I need some for books and ritin paper and pens and pencils. Send lots of money cuz I got some left over I can get some new shoes like Ida's, and then if I got more I can always buy all day suckers.

THE FRESHMAN'S FIRST DAY

I've never been out here before
But my chum had—that's why I'm sore.

Mad and "re-gusted" through and through
To think he such a thing would do.

He said, "Any car Thiry-eight and 'Yak."

"Will take you out and bring you back."

I caught the first car at that point
But everything went out of joint.

At nine I was wandering in the sticks
'Twas a Larchmont car. What a pretty fix!

I walked ten miles to the college gate
Grim smile told me I was late.

I rushed up steps and ran inside
The halls were empty, bare and wide.

Not a soul was there—far less a noise!
Oh, where were all the girls and boys?

Rooms were vacant! Library locked!
One lone clock tick-tocked, tick-tocked!

I walked on tip-toe, full of dread
My hair was rising on my head!

The moisture started on my chin
Thought I, "What spooky place am I in?"

Then suddenly through the college doors
The girls and boys trooped in by scores.

They all had answered chapel call
I was the dumb-bell of them all.

But though a tremble I may be
The wise, I like to hear and see.

Guided by Fowler, Pfueger, Hong,
I hope to somehow get along.

But if I never can get through
I hope they all will stay here, too!

I study Chology now, named "Sik"
My "intelligence" test will soon rank high.

And when I get as wise as he
Some dumb-bell will look up to me.

Chapel Talk

"And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness even so must the Son of man be lifted up." John 3:13 and 14.

Few young people have any idea of what the want to do in life. Many have come to P. L. C. "Why have they come?" some may ask. There are various reasons. Some may be here only to satisfy their parents, while others may feel that there is no other place to go, but come here for it is cheaper.

A very small percentage would say, "I came here to study." Of all the young people who start at college, only about one third get their diplomas. May all P. L. C. students be included in that one third!

Many take their physical and spiritual lives as lightly as they do their school work.

This life is a preparation for another. Do not be discouraged when you make a mistake. Try, try again, and press onward to your goal.

Choir Personnel Almost Decided

Membership Is Practically Complete; Rehearsals to Begin Soon

With the personnel of the choir practically decided, Director J. O. Edwards will next week begin his ensemble-and part rehearsals for the coming year. There are many back who were members of the choir last year, and many of the new candidates have showed marked ability in the try-outs.

Last year the choir took several trips, the longest of which was to Bellingham, giving concerts both on the way up and back. Prof. Victor Elvestrom, manager of the choir, is in the East at the present time, working for the Development Association, but will be back by the end of the week. As Mr. Elvestrom has not been here, the plans for the choir this year have not been completed.

The membership, which will be added to later, is as follows: Ladies—Anna Mikveland, Dorothy Lehmann, Solveig Wangen, Ruth Jacobson, Kathlyn Patten, Ingrid Gold, Dagny Hjerstad, Cora Cooperud, Margaret Porath, Esther Westly, Ruth Howard, Irene Dahl, Evelyn Olsen, Ruth Brown, Eleanor Loftus, Helen Tingelstad, Helen Thrane, Berdine Knutzen, Ida Hinderlie, Ruth Norgaard and Margaret Himlo.

Men—Ted Evjenh, Carroll Svare, Alvene Schumann, Eric Hauke, Fred Lee, Myron Leque, Robert Monson, Sankey Johnson, Henry Holm-Jensen, Arnold Thostenson, Jack Hudson, Carl Perival, Gilbert Sydow, Evans Carlson, and Wallis Kerr, (violinist).

Tingelstad brought out various financial, social, educational, and spiritual reasons. He also pointed out certain obstacles that had to be overcome in order to attain that end.

The entire meeting was characterized by religious earnestness and a deep sense of responsibility and should result in increased support from the local community at large.

The whole problem of the Development Association's undertakings will receive the attention of the Board of Trustees at their meeting September 29.

...We Say...

Signed contributions from readers will be accepted by this column provided that the articles are in harmony with the policies of the paper.

A few days back the students were asked to take seats to the front of the room when they attended chapel exercises. The response was sudden and pleasing. If they do so well during the rest of the year, a desirable tradition will have been inaugurated.

Where's the funeral? Or is it just another traffic tie-up. Judging by the size of the crowd that failed to appear for the yell leader tryouts last Monday, the rooting at the football games this season won't be as much in evidence as it has been in former years. Things did pick up a little by Thursday, but let us hope it won't take us quite so long to get going when the team trots out on the gridiron.

As the school year with drawing to a close last year, students and faculty members were practically swamped by events that had been postponed to the eleventh hour. The result was a mental and physical strain that didn't leave too many people in a perfect state of mind for the commencement exercises. True, no single individual was to blame, but we should all work together this year, thus profiting by our mistakes.

Perhaps it would mean a great deal of extra work, but wouldn't it be a good idea to have the all-school play presented the first semester rather than as a prelude to the senior class play? There is also a "Saga" editor to be chosen as soon as possible. It is not necessary to pick the rest of the staff until mid-year, but there is plenty of work that the editor can do between now and that time. These and other problems are at least worth considering.

"Pa," said little Sankey, "I bet I can do something you can't."

"Well, what is it?" demanded his Pa.

"Grow," replied the youngster triumphantly.

Four Additional Teachers Added

Fowler, Pflueger, Bomstead, Taylor Join Faculty This Year

Four new teachers have been added to the faculty this year to take care of the increased enrollment and also to fill the places of the members who left last year.

Miss Sophia Fowler is the successor of Miss Stuxrud, who was the former Normal supervisor. During the past two years Miss Fowler attended the University of Washington where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Education in 1929. During the summer she obtained the degree of Master of Science. Miss Fowler formerly was the Registrar at Ellensburg Normal School.

Rev. J. P. Pflueger is a graduate of Capital University, Columbus, Ohio. He has graduated from the Arts and Science departments, and also from the Theological Seminary. He studied medicine and Hygiene at Tulane University, New Orleans, Louisiana. Rev. Pflueger took graduate work at Leipzig University in Germany in 1915. He served as a pastor in New Orleans and did Foreign Mission work in India from 1914-1918. Since then he has been a pastor at the Queen Anne Lutheran Church at Seattle, Washington.

Mrs. Louise Taylor, a former teacher at this institution, has returned to act as assistant registrar besides teaching classes. Mrs. Taylor was principal of the high school in Glenwood for three years, and

SOOCIETY

On Saturday evening, September 15, the college reception hall was the scene of the annual formal reception given by the faculty of Pacific Lutheran College for the new and old students. Headed by Dr. Tingelstad and Mrs. Tingelstad, the faculty formed the receiving line and everyone had the opportunity of meeting everyone else.

To open the program President Tingelstad gave a welcoming address. Mrs. O. Olson sang three soprano solos and Mr. Edwards closed the program with two piano solos.

The students enjoyed several "get acquainted" games and the evening closed with the serving of refreshments by the faculty.

Miss Belsey Jane Porter, graduate of the 1928 normal department, was married last May to Elden Kiler. Their home is at Port Ludlow, Washington.

Miss Dagmar Hagness, '29, is at present attending the University of California.

A graduate of 1930, Grace Card, is teaching at White, Washington.

Frida Tayer, '30, is now teaching at Rhodes Lake, Washington.

A graduate of 1926, Alfred Anderson, has entered St. Olaf College.

Mrs. Archie Noble, formerly Alice Davie of the class of 1927, is now living at Moore, Idaho.

Erling Jacobson, '29, has left for Washington State College, where he will continue his studies this year.

A graduate of 1930, Miss Cora Vista, is teaching at Cromwell, Washington.

Walter French, '29, who has been teaching in Yelm, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Tacoma General Hospital, last Monday.

Ruth Brown spent the week-end of September 12-14 at her home in Everett.

Margaret Himmo was the guest on Wednesday evening, September 17, of Miss Meredith Minter of Tacoma.

Miss Beana Jorgensen, graduate of '30, was a week-end visitor at P. L. C. Miss Jorgensen is teaching this year at Cedarhurst, near Stanwood.

Hugh Tallent, '30, from Wilbur, Wash., was a visitor at P. L. C. last week.

Miss Dorothy Eber-sole spent Sunday visiting with the dormitory students. Miss Eber-sole is teaching at Vaughn.

Miss Dagny Hjermstad and Miss Margaret Himmo left Friday, September 19, for their respective homes in Anacortes and Everett to spend the week-end.

Prof. A. J. Beck and John Zachrisson motored to Anacortes on Friday, September 19, to spend the week-end.

Alice Roe had as her guest her sister, Margaret Roe, from Seattle.

Mr. Gustav Skance, father of Ernest Skance, who is a freshman in high-school here, passed away Thursday morning, September 11. Rev. T. O. Svare officiated at the funeral services, which were held in the Trinity Lutheran Church, Saturday afternoon, September 13. Miss Solveig Rynning sang the hymn, "I'm But a Stranger," as a solo.

Miss Anga Dale entertained a group of friends at dinner in honor of Mrs. L. E. Rynning and her two sons, Robert and John. Mrs. Rynning and her children, who have spent an enjoyable summer with friends and relatives in Tacoma and Parkland are sailing, October 5, for their home in Nome, Alaska. Mrs. Rynning, whose maiden-name was Inga Olson, was formerly a student of the Pacific Lutheran Academy.

Thirty Receive Good Averages

Edgar Larson Again Enjoys Distinction of Being Only Straight-A Student

For the semester ending June 3, 1930, thirty-three students received the creditable average of "B" which entitled them to place on the Pacific Lutheran College honor roll. Of this number, eight were from the high school department, eight from the liberal arts department, and seventeen from the normal department.

Edgar Larson, high school, again deserves special credit. He, as he did all last year, received a straight-A card.

Dorothy Bodley, high school; Inga Goplerud and Harold Myhre, liberal arts; Ella Williams, Marjell Vetter, Gerhard Molden, Gladys Jorgensen, Sena Johnson, Christine Johnson, Ruth Johnson, Ruth Brown, and Mildred Berven, normal, received the distinction of having no grade below "B."

The complete honor roll follows: High School: Dorothy Bodley, Nedra Dubick, Katharine Gould, Ray Hindlerle, Dagny Hjermstad, Edgar Larson, Jens Rikshelm, and Gilbert Sydov.

Liberal Arts: Irene Dahl, Inga Goplerud, John Goplerud, Inga Hokenstad, Stella Johnson, Harold Myhre, Arthur Olson, and Margaret Parath.

Normal: Ella Williams, Florence Warren, Marjell Vetter, Marie Vandenburg, Frida Tayer, Viola Taw, Thora Rasmussen, Gerhard Molden, Irene McCulloch, Gladys Jorgensen, Sena Johnson, Christine Johnson, Ruth Jacobson, Margaret Holmberg, Mildred Card, Ruth Brown, and Mildred Berven.

Thirty-five Grid Men Respond to Coach's Summons

Eleven Lettermen Plus Other Inexperienced Pig-Skin Chasers Promise Good Year

With eleven lettermen and many other experienced pig-skin chasers turning out, the prospect for a successful team at the College is better than it has been since the introduction of the grid sport, four years ago. In all, there are over thirty-five men out, which in itself is a promising feature.

The lettermen who have returned and who are making strong bids for positions on the team are: Bill Nyman, quarterback; Lynn Anderson and Evans (Red) Carlson, half backs; and Jack Lisherness, fullback; Sankey Johnson, Arnold Thostenson, and Carl Colton, ends; Walter Young and Earl Percival, tackles; Captain Fred Scheel and Alvene Schiermann, guards. The center position is the only berth where there is no letterman returning, but John Fadness, who played on the reserves last year is back for that job.

Coach Clifford Olson for the first two weeks worked on the fundamentals of the game, emphasizing blocking, tackling and carrying the ball. For the past week and a half, the team has been learning plays. The men have just about all the plays mastered and will be ready to play this week-end if Coach Olson is successful in scheduling a game.

The team was originally scheduled to play Bellarmine on Friday, but the Lion management cancelled the game, leaving the Gladiator men without opponents. Manager Anderson and Coach Olson have been trying to schedule a game, but the outcome of this was not known at the time this publication went to press.

If no game is played this week-end, the first action of the season will be seen when the P. L. C. machine meets the College of Puget Sound Reserves on October 4. The Logger team has many good men turning out and expect to give the Gladiator eleven a trimming.

The men who will undoubtedly start for the Paradisers in the first game of the season are as follows: Nyman quarterback; Carlson and Leque halfbacks; Lisherness, fullback; Thostenson and Johnson, ends; Young and Percival, tackles; Captain Scheel and Schiermann, guards; Fadness, center. This combination has shown good in scrimmage, but some other men are showing up well and may work themselves into a position before the opening whistle is blown.

The new prospects who are coming up well are: Hauke, quarterback; Vernon, Leque, and Quale, halfbacks; Ware, fullback; Hageness and Southworth, ends; Mortenson and Knapiund, tackles; Campbell, Erickson, and Dammel, guards; J. Johnson and C. Scott, centers.

PRACTICE TEACHERS TAKE UP THEIR WORK

In order that the "future educators" who are this year finishing normal work at Pacific Lutheran College, may acquire experience and test their ability, Miss Fowler, supervisor, has assigned them as practice teachers to the following schools.

Fern Hill

- 6B—Bill Nyman
- 5A—Marie Omdal
- 2B—Solveig Wangen
- Parkland
- 7th—Olaf Hageness
- 5th—Mildred Berven

- 4th and 5th—Ida Hinderlie

Sport Slants

By Harold Gray

Hoeddy folks! This column needs no introduction, but for the benefit of the new students I will explain to you its purpose. It will be the aim of this column to bring to its readers items of interest in Gladiator sports and to elaborate or explain things that are found in the columns of this page or to give you other interesting facts that can not be satisfactorily told in our regular sport stories.

The first game of the original football schedule for this season was to have been played with Bellarmine at American Lake this coming Friday. In order to play a game with all other school, the Lion Coach, cancelled the game without consulting Coach Olson. Although the Bellarmine officials probably had their reasons for cancelling the game, had they felt any fears as to the outcome of the contest, they should not have scheduled the fracas in the first place.

In spite of these interruptions, Coach Olson is still working the team hard for the first game which will be played on October 1, with the C. P. S. Reserves on the American Lake field. Mentor Olson is dickering for a game this week-end, but whether he was successful or not was not revealed at the time this paper went to press.

With ten lettermen back and many new prospects who have performed like veterans in the past scrimmages, the Gladiator eleven this season should surpass the record made by any other band of pig-skin toters that ever represented this institution.

Now that we are going to have an exceptionally good team, let's show our appreciation by supporting the team with our presence at the games. The coach and men have worked hard every night and deserve our undivided support. All right, students, let's get behind the team.

Now that the first elimination golf tournament for the championship of the College is in progress, another sport is in full swing. The students and faculty members have shown unusual interest in this tournament, as thirty-two have qualified. It is the plan to have a match played each week. The first round is being played this week.

Football Discussions Three Times Weekly For Improving Plays

In order that all the men turning out for football may become better acquainted with new plays and new rulings, the period from 12:30 to 1:00 p. m. each Monday Wednesday, and Friday afternoons is being set aside for special football meetings. These are being held under the personal supervision of the head coach, Clifford Olson. New plays are thoroughly discussed and diagrammed at each meeting. All phases of new ruling, and possible questions which may arise on the gridiron, are being thoroughly thrashed out. Discussion of offensive and defensive tactics of each position take up half of each meeting.

"In order to have a team," says Coach Olson, "we must have a group of men working together all the time. Each man must know exactly what to do and do it. The idea that the backfield is the brains of a football team is long ago obsolete. The ends, tackles, guards, and center must know where the ball is going just as well as the backfield, for if the line fails to function, the backfield has no place to carry the ball. So, in order to have a machine which works like a high-geared automobile, I want all my men to know football from beginning to end. This is why I insist that every football man attend these meetings."

In response to Coach Olson's plea for regular attendance, those out for the fall sport have shown up one hundred per cent.

Hold Elimination Golf Tournament

Both Students and Faculty Try Out for College Championship

With thirty-two students and faculty members entered, the first elimination golf tournament for the championship of the college is being played off on the Parkland Golf Course. The qualifying round was played last week, with the first round matches being decided before October 1. There will be three flights, the championship, first and second flights, with prizes probably being given to the winner and runner-up of all three flights. Prof. O. J. Stuen was medalist with a score of 83.

The first round pairings are as follows: Ben Palo vs. Roy Hanson, Cecil Scott vs. Alvene Schierman, Harry Southworth vs. Ludvig Larson, Harold Gray vs. Lloyd Erickson, Evans Carlson vs. Arnold Thostenson, John Stuen vs. Erwin Dammel, Harold Trulson vs. Walter Young, Clifford Olson vs. O. A. Thigebstad, O. J. Stuen vs. William Rasmussen, Bill Nyman vs. Clifford Mesford, Olaf Hagness vs. Bud Anderson, Dorothy Lehmann vs. J. O. Edwards, Ray Hinderlie vs. Myron Leque, Berdine Knutsen vs. A. J. Beck, Edgar Larson vs. Sankey Johnson, J. U. Xavier vs. John Zachrisson.

Gridmen Have Heavy schedule

Although the schedule for the approaching football season has been somewhat disrupted by the cancellation of the Bellarmine game by the latter, the remainder of the contests will be run off in good style, giving the Gladiator pig-skin tossers the heaviest schedule they have had since the introduction of the ball-lugging game in this institution.

One game will be played with the C. P. S. Reserves, Lincoln, Stadium, Centralia Junior College, Mt. Vernon Junior College, and the Bremerton Navy team. Coach Olson and Athletic Manager Herman Anderson are dickering for a game for this week-end and also for Nov. 8, which is as yet, an open date.

Three games will be played on the Gladiators' home field, while two will be played on the opponents' territory, while the C. P. S. clash will be played on neutral turf.

The complete schedule to date for this year is as follows:

- October 4—P. L. C. vs. C. P. S. Reserves, at American Lake.
- October 11—P. L. C. vs. Bremerton Navy team, at Parkland.
- October 17—P. L. C. vs. Lincoln High, at Tacoma.
- October 24—P. L. C. vs. Centralia Junior College, at Parkland.
- November 1—P. L. C. vs. Mt. Vernon Junior College, at Parkland.
- November 8—Open.
- November 14—P. L. C. vs. Stadium, at Stadium (night game).
